Ford To Make Dedication

This Thursday night the Vice-President of the United States, Gerald R. Ford, will be in Lowell to take part in dedication ceremonies for the new Lowell Showboat Amphitheatre.

Ford has been coming to the Showboat every year for over 25 years, so we feel it only fitting that he take part in the dedication of our new Amphitheatre. The Showboat Board of Directors would hope that we can fill the stands Thursday night to welcome the Vice-President back to Lowell.

The Showboat Board would also at this time like to give a great big thank you to the community for their great support in our effort to get this big project completed. Many hundreds of people have stepped forward and contributed with many hours of hard work as well as tinancially

Just one year ago this project was just a dream of a few people. Just a short 90 days ago the ground-breaking ceremonies got the project underway. Today, we have one of (if not the finest) outdoor Amphitheatre type of facility in the State.

Again, a great big "thank you" to everyone in the community for their many, many hours of hard work and dedication.

The Showboat Board of Directors

City Considers Change In Refuse Hauling

City fathers wrestled with some of the many problems of running a city at the regular meeting of the Lowell City Council, Monday night, from refuse to rezoning. Currently under consideration is a proposal for the collection of garbage and refuse by private contractors. Presently garbage and trash pick-up requires two City employees working four days a week.

To date, bids have been received from three private haulers-bids averaging $28,500, but council members postponed taking action on the matter until they have a better idea of the performance record of the private contractors.

Lowell now maintains its own landfill operation located on Ware Road in Ionia County. City Manager Blaine Bacon believes it has another five years of life. Cost of operating just the landfill was $10,900 for the year, including bulldozer rental and the required man

Though the City would derive some savings by contracting with the private hauler, cost is not the primary reason for the considered change. The lack of future landfill sites plus the cost of operation is the biggest problem, one confronting many communities, large and small.

But, there is the human element to be consideredthe possible elimination of two city employees. And it is the weighing of all factors involved which poses a #### natty problem for council members. Thumbs Down on Spot Zoning

A sizeable group of Alden Nash residents were present at Monday night's meeting to protest the proposed rezoning of 4.4 acres of land just north of the DeMull junk yard, from A-1 Agricultural to D-1 Industrial. The request to rezone was made by James Barber for the purpose of erecting a building to house an electrical assembly and manufacturing plant. Basis for the arguments was that it would be too close to an established residential area.

Robert Christiansen, present at the meeting, stated his main objection to the rezoning is that would establish the precedent, leading to possible further development.

Councilwoman Laura Rogers stated size had walked the area and felt such a plant would not be detrimental to the area. After further discussion, Councilman Mueller said, while he disliked discouraging business and felt the City should make every effort to help Mr. Barber locate another site, he was opposed to spot rezoning and was supported in his move to deny the request by a vote of 4-1 with Councilwoman Rogers against.

P.U.D. Concept Adopted

Planned Unit Development (PUD), a concept currently receiving considerable attention by professional planners, governmental officials and private developers alike, has been studied for some time by local officials After a recommendation from the City Planning Commission, Council gave its stamp of approval to the PUD Zoning Ordinance amendment, Monday night.

Through the PUD process, the City is provided the opportunity to review plans at the concept stage, insuring the development will provide the proper amenities within a PUD zoned area. Such things as maximum permitted density and minimum required open space, number of dwelling units per acre, types, dwelling units, number of commercial and office units are established by the City in advance of development.

Increase for Election Inspectors

In other business, Council approved the City Manager's recommendation for an increase in remuneration of election inspector to $35 a day for precinct chairman and $30 a day for precinct inspectors. For absent voters counting board; chairman, $25 a day and inspectors $20. County election school attendance, $5 each and City election school attendance, $2 each.

Bacon said the present scale for paying election workers amounted to about $1.75 an hour, which is below the minimum wage and they were entitled to the in-

As one of the older members of the Showboat Chorus this year, it compels me to write a few words to some, only a few, of the younger singers in the group, regarding the lack of respect shown our choral director, Mr. Arr Brown. I, along with others, can't help but notice, night after night, the sassy-mouthed remarks and lack of attention shown Mr. Brown and the rest of the chorus. We are all there to work and do the job well. We should all be great if we can channel all our voices

So please, you few who are making rehearsals a bit difficult, stop fooling around and shape up. We want to make "The Lowell Showboat" especially proud of its chorus and director this year.

Marie Muldaur Goes 'Solo'

After 10 years of relative obscurity, a great-sounding lady named Maria Muldaur has recorded an LP on the Reprise label, and it's as fine as any female vocal album presently on the market. The album is titled simply "Maria Muldaur," and features backup musicians like Dr. John, Jim Keltner and Ry Cooder. Maria was long involved with the folk scene, first emerging as a member of the Even Dozen Jug Band with Steve Katz (of Blood, Sweat and Tears) and John Sebastian, one of the founders of the Lovin' Spoonful. She then joined the Jim Kweskin Jug Band, but didn't enjoy much popularity.

Maria's style is quite uncommon; some say she developed it as a child in Greenwich Village listening to Bessie Smith, others say as a young woman in Appalachia listening to Memphis Minnie. She can sing Dixie, honky-tonk, and jazz-pop, as shown on the LP's hit single. "Midnight at the Oasis."

'Maria Muldaur" is one of the finest debut albums I've heard in a long while, and Maria is now supposedly considering an LP of music by female composers. Her first LP features two songs which were written by women: "Mad, Mad Me" by Wendy Waldman, and "The Work Song" by Kate McGarrigle. You can expect to hear much more from-and about-this lady in Leon Russell's latest, "Stop All That Jazz," is the strangest album I've ever heard. Trying to predict what Leon is going to do next is like driving: you learn to expect the unexpected from him. After playing rock 'n' roll, blues, gospel and C&W, Leon is now getting into the easy listening field. "Stop All That Jazz" in-cludes the Tim Hardin classic "If I Were a Carpenter, which is the last song I would ever expect to hear Leon Russell sing. The album also contains a beautiful instrumental version of "Spanish Harlem," with Leon's piano playing at its finest. Backup musicians include Carl Radle and Jamie Oldaker (who are presently touring with Eric Clapton), John Cale, Willie Nelson and

Speaking of Clapton and crew . . . be on the lookout for '461 Ocean Boulevard,' the upcoming LP by Eric and his new band. The members are Clapton, Oldaker, Radle, George Terry, Dick Sims and Yvonne Elli-

Horse Accounting Treasurer's Hobby

Kay Boeskool of Grand Rapids, winner of the na-tional Junior Achievement Treasurer-of-the-Year Award, has increased her knowledge of accounting by applying it to her other main interest-horses.

She set up a double-entry bookkeeping system on the eight horses for which she was caring, she told members of the National Association of Accountants at their Annual Convention held in Detroit recently where she received a certificate of recognition. She had received her title and $500 last August. Robert Chapman, National NAA President, presented the award. Now ready to begin her second year at Michigan State University, 18-year-old Kay served as treasurer of her JA company for two years, which led her to winning the JA Treasurer-of-the Year title.

She earned the title as a result of competition based on a general understanding of business principles, knowledge of accounting and management, and familiarity with the Junior Achievement program. Contestants were judged on the results of a written exam, personal interviews with current financial executives representing NAA, and a practical test based on an actual company's operations. The final decision was made by a committee of NAA members who assembled at Indiana University. To get to the national competition, each contestant had to hold the position of vice president of finance in his or her own mini-company. Kay's company was FIASCO, a manufacturing company sponsored by Old Kent Bank.

Kay Boeskool is typical of the link between JA and NAA in her JA activities. She was runner-up Treasurerof-the-Year for 1972 and winner of this award in 1973, both for Grand Rapids. She also won JA Progressive Awards-Achiever Award, Junior Executive Award and Executive Award. Kay said she and other JA members could not have come so far without the help of NAA

Local Residents In London For Summer

While in London this summer, Louise and Sharon Doyle of Lowell will have a chance to contrast the hubbub of Piccadilly Circus with the awesome silence of a medieval cathedral.

They are amont 50 Michigan State University students who are participating in the Humanities in London program offered by MSU this summer.

The London program combines formal academic work with experiences outside the classroom. The city with an ancient history and international cultural resources offers Louise and Sharon a chance to follow the footsteps of Chaucer's pilgrims to Canterbury, see the performances by the Royal Shakespeare Company, and hear debates in the House of Commons. Students will live in private rooms in Hanover Lodge, which is located on the edge of Regent's Park within easy walking distance to Bedford College. Classes will be held on the Bedford College campus for six weeks (July 8-Aug. 15). Classes meet in the mornings Monday through Thursday, leaving students free afternoons and long weekends to visit sites in London or travel. Louise and Sharon are the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. King Doyle of 623 Amity. Louise is an MSU freshman majoring in natural science. She is a 1972 graduate of Lowell High School, Sharon is an MSU freshman in criminal justice and a 1973 graduate of Lowell High School.

Everything Is Set

Left to right, Mrs. Martin Schneider, and Mrs. Robert Rittenger, chairman of the Scheduling Committee, confer with Mrs. John Troy, General Flower Show chairman, to see that everything is set for the Lowell Showboat Garden Club's Flower Show "Garden Graffiti" July 26 and 27.

This year's show will be held in the Runciman Elementary School building on Friday, July 26, 4 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. and Saturday, July 27, 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. The classifications are catchy and the general rules are clear, now all we need is you, there!

Entry tags may be picked up in advance at the Lowell Public Library and at the Lowell Area Chamber of Commerce office, both on West Main Street.

Carol Smith Becomes Mrs. Alan Hovinga

United in marriage on July 6, at the First United Methodist Church of Lowell were Miss Carol DiAnne Smith and Alan Ray Hovinga. They repeated their vows at five o'clock before the Rev. Dean Bailey. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Smith of Lowell, and Raymond Hovinga and the late Mrs. Hovinga of Lowell. The bride's attendants were Laurie Swan, Lowell, maid of honor; Belva Rhines, Lowell, Mrs. Thomas Briggs, Grand Rapids, and Mrs. Patrick McDonough, Council Bluffs, Iowa, bridesmaids.

Attending the groom as best man was Tim Jones of Lowell. Seating the guests were Mike Smith, Low-ell, Tom Briggs, Grand Rapids, and Dale Lieffers of Miss Lisa Garcia was the flower girl, and Brian Gabrion carried the rings. Following the ceremony a reception was held at Shady Acres. The newlyweds are residing in Lowell.

National Farm Safety Week

The week of July 25 to 31 has been proclaimed National Farm Safety Week by President Nixon. Leaflets promoting farm safety week and reminding farmers to be safety conscious are being sent to about 2,000 of the State's farmers by the Michigan Crop Reporting service. This year's leaflets stress Alertness, Balance, and Care; the ABC's of avoiding falls.

All farmers in the State are urged to be safety minded and use extreme caution, whether they are in their fields, barn yards, or on State roadways, Mr. C.A. Hines, head of the Michigan Crop Reporting Service, notes that many accidents involving farmers happen on the State's highways. Hines urges all motorists and farmers to be on constant alert as Michigan State Police records show 393 farm equipment accidents happened on Michigan roadways in 1973.

Medicare Premium Rates Went 'Up'

Monthly premiums on the medical insurance part of Medicare went up July 1. The basic premium rate went from $6.30 to $6.70 a month, according to Raymone C. Backus, social security district manager in Grand Rapids.

The medical insurance helps pay doctor bills and other medical expenses and is funded by individual premiums and Federal general revenues. The protection is offered automatically to people reaching 65 who are eligible for social security benefits-and to disabled people under 65 who have been entitled to social security disability benefits for 24 consecutive months or "The Medicare law requires an annual review of the cost of the medical insurance program and adjustment of the monthly premium rate to cover the estimated medical expenses of Medicare patients," Raymond Backus said.

The 40-cent increase in July is related to a rise in the cost of medical services and compares to a 50-cent increase in the medical insurance basic monthly premium rate in 1973, according to Backus.

Medicare hospital insurance premiums must also be increased starting July 1. "The basic premium rates will go from $33 to $36 a month." Mr. Backus said. Hospital insurance protection is extended automatically, without premium charge, to people reaching 65 who are eligible for social security or railroad retirement benefits-and to disabled people under 65 who have been entitled to social security disability benefits for 24 consecutive months or more.

"People 65 and over who aren't eligible for social security benefits can get Medicare hospital insurance by paying a monthly premium if they also sign up for the medical insurance," Mr. Backus said.

The hospital insurance premium rate is based on the average monthly Medicare hospital insurance payment for patients who have the protection.

Medicare is administered by the Social Security Administration, an agency of the U.S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare. "People can get information about signing up for Medicare by calling, writing, or visiting any social security office," Raymond

Mrs. Pearl Murphy asked about increased fire and theft in their area if other businesses are allowed to move in, stating her property wasn't even saleable because of the junkyard.

Manager Bacon gave a background of the Land Use Map stating that the first 250 feet of land on either side of M-21 is zoned Commercial, for use by the motoring public. This means gasoline stations, food stores, etc. North of the Commercially zoned area is AA-Agricultural and Residential which includes homes and farmland. In February of 1971, land was set apart south of Gee Drive for a "Major Street" running east and west to connect Alden Nash with Center Street. The proposed street would run across the north line of the property in question for rezoning. Some of the land south of the proposed street would be used as a "green belt" for bike trails, hiking paths, etc. Then to the east would be a "free standing commercial zone" for multi-family housing and office building space. Manager Bacon then stated that the ordinance revision being considered by the Planning Commission and Council would help to implement some of the uses he had explained. He then explained briefly the P.U.D. type

Mrs. Ann Jankowski asked why the Planning Commission and the Council can just take anyone's property and rezone it any way they want to.

Manager Bacon explained that the Planning Commission and the Council must plan for future growth and development of the entire City, and that most of the new growth will be to the west side of the City, therefore they must try to stay one step ahead of that growth, instead of letting any type of residence or business locate anywhere that they might want to. Mrs. Emil Paulsen asked if the City cannot main-

The Manager read section 9.1 of the Zoning Code which pertains to structures and businesses allowed and those that are not allowed.

Mr. Paul Potter then stated that he was in agreement with the new P.U.D. type of zoning rather than rezoning plot by plot, but, that he and the other property owners had bought their property for exactly the reason that it was zoned AA-Agricultural, Residential, so that there would not be any other type of buildings or any businesses nearby. He also stated that if Mr. Barber were to go out of business in the future, the parcel being then zoned D-1 Industrial, any other type of industrial business, such as a "punch-press operation" could then move in, and wished to go on record as being def-

Learning To Repair Bicycles

Lowell High School's Gordon Hill and Dan Sietsema of Forest Hills are going to know the full workings of a

The two prep students are taking some of their spare summer time to learn the fundamentals of repairing a bicycle in classes at the Kent Skills Center on the East Beitline.

Hill, a junior at Lowell High and Sietsema, a student at Forest Hills Northern, are part of the 14 area students gaining knowledge in the first bicycle repair class being offered by the Kent Skills Center. It's also believed the class is the first such offered around this sec-

A request for such a course was received by Kent Intermediate School District officials and installed in the summer program. Tom Walquist, a retired bicycle repairman in Grand Rapids, was named instructor for the four week course.

Sietsema and Hill and the 12 other students attend the class six hours daily for the four week summer program period and at the conclusion will receive one credit hour toward their high school graduation.

While Hill and Sietsema are not figuring on going into bicycle repairing for careers, they enrolled in the course to gain the knowledge to repair their own bikes. When something is wrong with my bike, it takes a long time and is very expensive to leave it in a repair shop. So, I am learning enough about the fundamentals of repairing so that it will be cheaper and quicker for me to repair my own," said Hill.

And Sietsema, a sophomore at Forest Hills Northern, is taking the course for almost the same reason.

Parts for the various types of bicycles are furnished by the Kentwood Police Department. "This really helps us as parts are very expensive, especially in some types of bikes," commented Walquist. "The kids are really taking to this course and we try and cover the basics of almost every type of bicycle made.'

The course has proven so popular with the younger set that Kent Skills Center officials indicated they will probably add it to its adult night program this fall.
"We are planning to add it to our program since so many people, not only young, but a number of the adults are riding bicycles these days. With just a few hours in our program they will be able to repair the minor breakdowns on their bikes," added Robert W. Fry, Building Director at the East Beltline Center.

Ionia Downs Lowell 6-2

In a game played at Lowell on July 2 to see who would represent the League in the N.B.C. Tourney to be played in Grand Rapids starting Friday, July 19, Ionia, the Southern Division leader, beat Lowell, the Northern Division leader, by the score of 6 to 2.

Paul Mathews picked up the win in a relief role as Lowell repeatedly failed to get the big hit when it counted, (leaving 13 runners stranded). Morrison took the loss for Lowell. Lowell outhit Ionia 13 to 8, but, the big blow for Ionia was a booming triple to left-center by Pete Schanski in the 4th that knocked in 2 runs and put Ionia ahead to stay. Schanski also had 2 singles to pace the Ionia attack, Olson had 2 hits to continue to Schanski also had 2 hits to continue his fine hitting for the Ionia nine.

Mathews seemed fully recovered from a knee injury, shutting out Lowell the final 8 innings, leaving 13 Lowell runners on base.
