Slogan, Help

Help. One single dramatic word establishes the goal for this year's United Fund Campaign. A direct request for action that demands a response. A cry from those in need that touches everyone. A situation that focuses the attention on what the United Fund is all about.

Too often, the appeal of fund raising efforts is aimed at the pocketbook rather than the heart and the fundamental need of man to offer part of himself to his neighbor.

In this period of time, when society is re-evaluating its standards, its aspiration, its life styles, and is moving towards a system of basic values—the opportunity to help, to assist, to succor, to show concern, has moved to the forefront of people's minds.

In application of this theme we need a heavy concentration of its statement in the early period of the campaign. We want the community to be thinking of the help they are providing as they make their campaign pledges. We want our campaign workers to be asking for help and pledges of help. We want to place the focus on the benefits of the United Fund and the personal involvement of every individual—not the gift of money.

To accomplish this objective we need your help.

Lowell Moose To Treat Kids On Halloween

All of the witches, ghosts, goblins, etc., of the Lowell area will be treated to a gigantic party on Halloween, Thursday, October 31, by the Lowell Moose Lodge, No. 809's Civics Affairs Committee.

Serving as co-ordinator of the party will be Charlie Doyle, Lowell postmaster, who predicts this year's trick or treat gathering will be the best ever.

"The party, starting at 7 p.m., will be held at Burch Field," Doyle announced. "There'll be games for all ages, plus prizes for the best costume."

"This year," Doyle revealed "all children in costume will be judged in three age brackets—pre-school through first grade; second through fifth grade; and sixth grade on up."

Following the costume judging and awarding of prizes, the Halloweeners will be treated to free cider, donuts, candy and apples, served by the Civics Affairs Committee, assisted by the Women of the Moose.

"We also invite the parents to join in on the fun," Doyle concluded. Watch next week's paper for further details.

Reagan Resigns From Lowell School Board

Dr. Robert Reagan, a dedicated member of the Lowell Board of Education for the past 12 years, resigned Monday night in a formal letter read to the group by Board President Richard Siegle.

The resignation came as no surprise since Dr. Reagan announced before he ran for re-election last Spring that he would not complete his term but only intended to remain active until several school projects with which he was involved had been resolved.

Apparently Monday night's awarding of the general contractor's contract to Pioneer Construction for the addition to Alto Elementary took care of the last of Dr. Reagan's unfinished business so at the close of the meeting his resignation was submitted.

It will become effective as soon as the board appoints a new member. Although members met in a brief executive session following the regular meeting to discuss a possible appointee, no announcement was made and speculation ran high as to who the individual would be.

Whoever the new board member is, he or she will be appointed to serve only until the next general election in June whereupon the public will elect the permanent member.

As stated, Pioneer Construction was the low bidder on the Alto addition with an under-budget base bid of $492,900. Visser Brothers, who last week was awarded the Bushnell Contract, was the next low bidder with a submitted figure of $494,780.

The board also okayed several alternates for the Alto building program including rolling grill dividers, a central vacuum system and detection system but held up any decision on air conditioning until further study.

Finally passing on the Bushnell air-conditioning, board members gave the nod to Westinghouse equipment. A detection system was also approved for the Bushnell building.

Even though Athletic Director Bob Perry informed the board that there is a strong possibility that the board may have to help in order for that department to balance its budget this year, board members still deemed the continuous request to add ice hockey to the program important enough and finally voted to make it a varsity sport on a one-year trial basis. Lowell is one of the very few schools with a practically self-supporting athletic department and since most other schools in the district subsidize their program with any where from $4,000 to $14,000, it was felt that it could go along with some additional support so that Lowell could compete on the ice with other schools.

Participation in a new "Right To Read" program, jointly sponsored by the State and the Kent Intermediate School District, was also passed by the board where by one staff member from the remedial reading department will be sent to the Intermediate office three days each month for seminars presented by top reading technicians from all over the State. The local teacher attending the seminars will be provided with special materials as well as up-to-the-minute innovations for the Lowell reading program.

Before the possibility of constructing a new administration building on the Bushnell School site is seriously discussed, board members decided to have one more "go" at attempting to come up with some sort of a joint arrangement with Lowell City offices.

It's too bad more people don't attend the school board meetings (held the second and fourth Mondays of each month) to get a first hand picture of what's going on in one of Lowell's biggest industries—the molding of young men and women.

In these days of run-away inflation and corruption in high places, it's reassuring to watch a group of people volunteer so much time simply trying to make the youth of the community better prepared to make a better world.

The soft chimes of the old junior high clock, just to the right of the seated board, seem to serve as a gentle reminder of a slower more trustworthy era.

Another candidate has joined the race for the office of Bowne Township Treasurer. Running as a write-in candidate on the Republican ticket will be Kendall Porritt, a long-time Alto area resident.

Absentee ballots for the November 5 general election in Bowne Township can be secured by calling 868-6846 or 868-2511 between 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. or write 6054 Bancroft Avenue, Alto.

Color tour time is here. This is the most beautiful time of the year, when all the foliage is changing color. Many people travel many miles, mostly northward, to see the magnificent array of different colors that are seen in the woods and wild.

It's obvious the summer growing season is over . . . no more grass cutting . . . but, those pesky leaves need to be raked up!

Well, President Gerald Ford has come up with a solution for the war on inflation. One can't help but wonder just how Federal spending and added taxation can help, as much as everyone tightening their belt, and going back to the days of pay as you go, live within your means, and a few other differences that seem to have disappeared from our society.

How about it readers, what are your views?

Looking Back

Cascade Township's Gove Lake—Indians feared its Evil Spirit.

Mineral Springs Hotel Gave Cascade A Luxury Touch

(Editor's Note: Time and progress have blotted out most of Kent County's physical links with early days, but the colorful story of its past has been carefully preserved by area historians. Here, we look at Cascade Township. Watch next week for Vergennes Township.)

A weird mixture of tragedy and gaiety marked the early days of Cascade township.

At one extreme were the deaths of two men by freezing and three in accidents involving horses and wagons.

At the other were the festive times spent at the old Cascade Magnetic Mineral Springs hotel where guests enjoyed themselves among pagodas, fountains, bubbling springs and strutting peacocks.

Then, of course, there were the incidents that might have been either tragic or hilarious, depending on the viewpoint. Such was the case of a man designated only as "Mr. S—" by Franklin Everett in his book, "Memorials of the Grand River Valley."

He had a horse and wanted a yoke of oxen. Fortunately, he heard of a man in another part of the township who had a yoke of oxen and wanted a horse. So, he saddled his horse, rode to the owner of the oxen and made the exchange.

He still has the problem of what to do with the saddle. The oxen's former owner told him to put it on one of the oxen and ride it, adding that the ox was used to being ridden.

In Everett's words, "S—saddled the ox and mounted to go home. The ox took to its heels, and there was no man to cling to. The saddle slipped over behind the ox dragging S—by the stirrups to the imminent peril of his life. Seeing that death or release must come, by a desperate effort he got free with a poor opinion of his ox as a saddle beast."

The first white man to make his home in Cascade was Lewis Cook, a native of New Jersey, who arrived in 1836. The same year Cook's sister and her husband, Hiram Laraway, came from New York. Laraway, however, soon became discouraged and returned to the sharply reduced their numbers. During the next 11 years many died from disease and many left, cutting the tribal population from 200 to 50 at the time they left for a reservation in 1856.

Postoffice At Whitneyville
The township's first post office was established at Whitneyville in 1847, and for several years the office at Boone took its mail from Whitneyville. It was carried in a little bag suspended from a boy's neck. At this time there were only three homes for six miles to the south and only one settler within 10 miles to the east. Postage during the first three months at the new station amounted to $2.25.

Approximately 50 voters attended the first township meeting at Zerah Whitney's house in Whitneyville on April 3, 1848. Peter Teeple was named supervisor and John R. Stewart clerk of the township which formerly had been a part of Ada.

Henry Holt, whose family played a prominent part in township and state activities, came to Cascade from New York in 1852. Holt's father, as a soldier during the Revolutionary war, assisted in the removal of a statue of George III from its position at Bowling Green. The statue was melted down into bullets for federal troops.

Was Lieutenant Governor.
Holt's oldest son, Henry H. Holt, served as lieutenant governor of Michigan from 1872 until 1876. His second son, George, was killed by a run-away team of horses on December 14, 1859.

Holt's first wife died in 1835 and he married again. One of seven children of this marriage was Horace Gaylord Holt, a professor of music who gave instruction at his home near Cascade Village.

Another son was Charles F. Holt, founder of the Cascade Magnetic Mineral Springs Hotel. A 1915 newspaper account says that Charles Holt, having just finished service with the army during the Civil War, was suffering from a lung affliction and was doomed to die soon.

Drifting down the Thornapple with his father one day, he came upon a spring half hidden under a bank of the stream. Charles, having heard of magnetic mineral springs and their alleged healing powers, suggested leaving their knives in the spring water. When the father and son returned a few hours later, they found one of the blades highly magnetized.

Charles began drinking the water and regained his health speedily. When the newspaper story was written in 1915, he was still healthy at 72 years of age.

Charles Holt found a second spring near the first when the settlers called "the black tongue" broke out among the Indians near Whitneyville. The outbreak

NEW SMALL FURY—Fury Sport is Plymouth's new mid-size, two-door hardtop entry. The Fury name replaces Satellite on intermediate models for 1975. The Plymouth features formal styling with upgraded ride, sound and interiors. Standard-size Plymouths carry the "Gran Fury" designation. The cars made their debut October 1.

NEW SMALL CHRYSLER—Cordoba, an intermediate, personal luxury car, debuted in Chrysler-Plymouth dealer showrooms throughout the country Oct. 1. Offered are many luxury features normally available only in bigger cars.

Plymouth Fury Offered In Two Sizes

Plymouth Fury buyers will have a choice of two full lines of cars in two distinct sizes for 1975—a completely restyled intermediate-size Fury and the standard-size Gran Fury. The Plymouth Fury intermediate size models will replace the Satellite line while the mid-size Road Runner will be retained in the lineup. Standard-size Furies take on the "Gran" prefix to their model identifications, replacing the Fury I, II, and III names used previously. The Fury models have been upgraded to a new level of excellence in appointments, ride, sound quality and style for 1975, Chrysler-Plymouth Division General Sales Manager, F. G. Hazelroth, said. Hazelroth pointed out that the marketplace is in a state of flux and he believes the consumer is re-examining his size preference in automobiles. "The intermediate and standard segments are the heart of the marketplace and both cars appeal to approximately the same audience," Hazelroth said. "To those people re-examining their small car and luxury car purchases, the Fury and Gran Fury cars should be right on target." Extending the Fury name over two distinct car lines simplifies the decision elements and reduces it only to a choice of size and style, Hazelroth said. It simplifies the name use and gives the buyer a broader choice of product under the Plymouth Fury name brand. "Car buyers now seem to be turning to the middle ground... the intermediate and standard size car segments will make up about forty-five percent of the domestic car market and we have the newest entries in both areas," Hazelroth said. The Fury will come in a 115-inch wheelbase two-door hardtop and a 118-inch wheelbase sedan and station wagon in eight models including the Road runner. The Gran Fury series will offer 124-inch wheelbase sedans and hardtops and a 124-inch wheelbase station wagon in five models.

The New Mid - Size Cordoba

A "small Chrysler with a new nameplate—"Cordoba"—will debut in model 1975 as a fresh competitor in the rapidly expanding intermediate specialty car market, it was announced by F. G. Hazelroth, Chrysler-Plymouth general sales manager. "Cordoba, a two-door hardtop built on a 115-inch wheelbase, is a mid-sized personal luxury automobile designed to reflect the Chrysler name and heritage of fine road cars," Hazelroth said. The new entry, contrasting the 124-inch wheelbase of the Chrysler Newport, New Yorker and Imperial, is aimed at a market segment where the average buyer is in his early thirties—70 percent are under 40-of upper income, and distinctive styling is a prime consideration. Hazelroth pointed out: "The intermediate specialty segment is one of the fastest growing in the industry. It accounted for 2.4 percent of industry's total in 1970, jumped to 7.6 percent by 1973, and is expected to reach 9.6 by the end of 1974.

New Warranty The 'Clincher'

"The Clincher," Chrysler Corporation's brand new Owner Care Program, has been designed with today's smart buyer in mind. The program is a whole new concept in after-the-sale service. It's so strong, yet simple, that once one has seen it, they'll call it "The Clincher," too. For the first 12 months of use, any Chrysler Motors Corporation Dealer will fix without charge for parts or labor any part of their 1975 passenger cars they supply (except tires) which proves defective in normal use, regardless of mileage. As an extra, they'll replace, without charge, any of the following parts that simply wear out in normal use. And they'll do it any time during the first full year, regardless of mileage. Brake drums and linings; disc brake discs and pads; clutch and pressure plates, mufflers, tailpipes, shock absorbers, and headlamps. As you can see, these are the parts that could prove to be very expensive if you got stuck with the cost of replacement. With Chrysler Motors' one-year unlimited mileage new car warranty, these repairs won't cost you a cent. The new car owner's part in the program is very easy... take care of your car and follow the guidelines found in the Operator's Manual. "In short, you take care of the little things (changing filters, wiper blades, etc.) and we'll take care of the big ones," reveals Chrysler Motors Corporation.

NEW MIRRORS

Standard on intermediate-size Chrysler Cordoba and Plymouth Fury sedans and hardtops for 1975 is a windshield mounted rear view mirror. A remote control right hand outside rear view mirror is optional. The right hand outside mirror is conveniently controlled by a lever on the lower instrument cluster bezel. Previously, these mirrors were available only on full-size Chryslers and Plymouths.

NEW OPERA LIGHTS

The new 1975 intermediate-size Chrysler Cordoba features opera lights mounted on the center roof pillars. The opera lights have a milk-white inner lens and a clear prismatic outer lens to create a sparkling appearance. The lights operate when the headlamps or parking lamps are on.

RADIAL USE EXTENDED

For 1975, steel belted radial tires as standard equipment are included on both full-size Chrysler and Plymouths and the intermediate Chrysler Cordoba. The radials offer improved tread life, road hazard protection, a smoother ride at highway speeds, and better traction in wet weather than last year's radials. Reduced rolling resistance improves fuel economy.

IMPROVED WARMUP

Most 1975 Chrysler and Plymouth engines with automatic transmission have a single-stage electric assist choke system which more accurately controls the fuel/air mixture during warmup. As a result, the engine runs more smoothly and efficiently when cold.

COOLING IMPROVEMENT

All Chrysler and Plymouth engines for 1975 have a new and improved swivel-top design for radiator caps that are made from rust-proof stainless steel. The cap is easier to remove than last year's... and has a longer life because stainless steel eliminates corrosion. A rubber upper gasket replaces asbestos for better sealing.

Fallasburg's Fall Festival Deemed Very Successful

The second annual Fallasburg Fall Festival is considered to be very successful by the committee in charge. Leonora Tower, Chairman and Doris Myers, co-chairman. There were fewer participants in the Arts and Crafts Show with as much diversification as last year. The weather was about as good as last year, somewhat colder. The estimate at this time is for at least as much profit with fewer expenses due to more limited food variety. Cider, hot and cold, and coffee with donuts sold very well, also hot dogs, chili dogs, barbecues and baked beans. Pies, cookies, cakes, breads and those delicious apples from Kropfs were sold out early on Sunday. Mrs. Antonia Klekoda, talented entertainer, columnist and hand writing analyst was a very special attraction on Saturday. Wesley Miller, with his dog, Tread Mill, provided interest for the crowd on Sunday afternoon. Saturday and Sunday were especially interesting days for Clynis and Ida Benson and Gordon Johnson at the School Museum. They have worked very hard with the help of Mildred King to improve the arranging of displays and all were grateful for the large turnout. Everyone who so generously gave of their time and energy to make for a successful event is to be commended. Pat Myers and Lois Finkler, helping their mother so faithfully, Kathy Ritzdorf, so helpful with the food, also Evelyn Briggs, Irma Richmond, Delores Laux and Betty Wieringa, gave many hours of their time. Ferris Miller did another superb job of supervising the planning of exhibitions, cleaning and general work. Dr. Robert Kyser, Raye Fosenden, park caretaker, all those who donated food, the Bradshaws, McPhersons, Overways, must know how much their help is appreciated by the Board of Directors of the West Central Michigan Historical Society.

Playing For JC

James Harden of Lowell High School and Don Bigelow, a Forest Hills Northern High graduate, are starting members on Grand Rapids Junior College football team this fall.

Harden, a freshman, has been playing offensive half-back and tossed a 40-yard touchdown pass in a 35-7 victory over Triton JC of Illinois.

While attending Lowell High, he was named All-Tri-River Conference selection. Harden looked impressive as a runner in last week's win over Oakland Orchard Ridge.

Bigelow, also a freshman at the two-year college, plays middle linebacker on defense and rated one of the finest looking young prospects on the squad. He was named to the Ottawa-Kent White Division All-Star team last fall.

Grand Rapids JC lost its opener to Centerville, Iowa, 14-7, and to strong Northwood Institute, 13-12. The Raiders then blasted Northern Michigan University junior varsity, 42-0, followed by the one-sided triumph over Triton JC. The Raiders then pinned a 35-6 decision over Orchard Ridge last week.

ROCKFORD CAPTURES TITLE IN GOLF TOURNAMENT

Rockford High School captured the Class B Regional Golf Tournament held last Saturday on the damp and cold 18-hole Deer Run Golf Course in Lowell.

Along with East Grand Rapids and Ionia, which finished in the second and third places, Rockford will travel to the Burroughs Farms Golf Course in Brighton October 19 to participate in the State "B" Golf tournament.

Lowell's team of Rick Lenartz, Ted Miller, Dave Abel and Jim Miles finished in sixth place.

In Cross-Country Arrows Defeat Cedar 21-35

Lowell's cross-country team ran to its second Tri-River Conference win last week as the Red Arrows defeated Cedar Springs 21-35.

Lowell placed four runners in the top five, led by Mike Dey who covered the three-mile Fallsburg Park course in a time of 16:43. Cedar Springs' Tom Szarowicz was second, followed by Lowell's Kevin Mulder, Scott McNeal, and Craig Mulder.

The other conference action last week, Fremont remained undefeated by downing Belding 25-31; Sparta edged Greenville, 27-28, and Lakewood topped Coopersville 20-39.

This week's only action finds Lowell hosting Greenville in a dual meet starting at 4 at Fallsburg Park.

Earlier last week Lowell played host to 22 schools at Fallsburg Park for the 13th Lowell Cross-country Invitational. Approximately 250 runners participated in the Varsity and Junior Varsity races. When everything was over and the scores tallied, Greenville High School had walked off with both the Varsity and JV team championships.

In the Varsity race, Grandville piled up 54 points. The closest anyone could come was Grand Rapids West Catholic, which finished with 80 points.

Jeff Zylstra of Grandville was the individual winner, setting a new course record of 14:33. Zylstra's teammates were close behind, finishing 8th, 10th, 16th and 19th to set up the championship. Steve Sanders of West Catholic and Rich Parsons of Godwin finished 2nd and 3rd.

Lowell finished 14th in the team standings, led by the 13th place performance of sophomore Mike Dey. Dey had his best time ever at Fallsburg Park, covering the 3 miles in 15:23.

In the JV race, the Lowell entry took seventh, led by the 17:12-16th place finish of sophomore Dave DeNolf. Rog Hoogewind was the individual JV champion with a time of 16:15.

Lowell Freshman Stop Fremont For League Lead

The Lowell Freshman Football team made the long drive to Fremont worthwhile Thursday with a hard-fought 16-6 victory over the previously undefeated and unscored Fremont Packers.

Lowell scored first in the second quarter when a Randy Kropf to Mike Herring pass to the Fremont 1 yard line set up a score by Kropf. The extra point from Kropf to Brian White was good.

Lowell scored again in the 3rd quarter when Dick Beach intercepted a Fremont pass and returned it 25 yards for a touchdown. Kropf threw to John Wilder for the extra point.

Fremont scored with four minutes left in the game. Fremont rushed for 186 yards to 202 yards for the Red Arrow frosh. Leading ground gainers for Lowell were John Wilder with 43 yards, Mike Herring with 35 yards, Chuck King with 32 yards and Dick Beach with 26 yards rushing.

Coaches Mike Clark and Gail Hirschy cited the entire offensive line for their fine execution in moving the big Packer line. Defensively Wilder, Tim Hendrick, Brian White, Larry Alverson, John Whaley, Mike Herring, and John Gerard who, along with Randy Kropf, also had interceptions, and Glen Bailey were cited.

The Lowell Freshmen are now in first place in the league with a four win, 0 loss record and are 5-0 on the year.

The Frosh will play their final home game of the year on Thursday against Sparta at Burch Field at 5 p.m.

Tractor Safety Program Offered

Farm women and youth will be able to take advantage of an excellent program on tractor safety held from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m., October 18, 26 and November 2 at the Caledonia High School. The Caledonia FFA and 4-H Youth Program of Kent County have teamed up to bring to the citizens of Kent County a much needed tractor safety program.

It must be reminded that the Department of Labor restricts tractor operation to those youth under the age of 16. However, youth 14 and 15 years old may operate a tractor only after completing such a program as described in Caledonia. Failure to have a safety certificate can result in a $10,000 fine to the employer. The course totals 12-15 hours and is followed by a tractor operation test that must be passed successfully.

The program encourages farm women who help drive tractors to be a significant part of this program. Although the certification does not apply to those over 16 years old, it would be to the advantage of many women to sharpen their skills on driving and operating a tractor.

Make your reservations at 456-4475, as soon as possible as there is a limit to the size of the class. Lunch will be available at the class location site. For further information, you can contact FFA instructors Jim Thompson, or Al Steeby at 891-8129 or John L. Marra, 4-H Youth Agent at 456-4475.

Hastings Considers Joining Tri-River Conference

With the West Central Athletic Conference losing its members, Sup. of Schools Richard J. Guenther has recommended to members of the Hastings Area Board of Education that they authorize the administration to apply for admittance to the Tri-River Athletic League effective for the 1976-77 school year.

The Tri-River League includes Lakewood, Lowell, Greenville, Belding, Coopersville, Cedar Springs, Sparta and Fremont.

It is understood that Ionia favors the Tri-River which, with Hastings, would make a 10-team circuit.

Alto Library, member of the Kent County Library System, had a window painting for Fall.

Local artists drew everything from ghosts and pumpkins to a birthday sign for Peggy Monks who celebrated her 11th birthday in the library that afternoon.

The Librarian, Linda Tilma, is planning more paintings soon with this last one being such a success. She says "stop into Alto and see some really good work."

The Kent County Library provides an unusual "free" service. What's available? Recordings of current books and magazines; a special record player and mailing service for anyone who cannot see well enough to read regular print. The service is also available to anyone who is physically handicapped, preventing them from holding a book.

Linda Tilma, Alto Librarian, suggests "anyone that is interested in the service for a friend or relative should ask for a certification and application form on their next visit to the library."

SCOUTING NEWS

Parents of Lowell Boy Scouts of Troop 102 were very proud of the 40 scouts and scout leaders as they marched smoothly into the campfire circle at the Fall Campore.

Marching to the familiar cadence that Dale Johnson taught them during their week at Mackinac Island, the Lowell scouts were a very impressive group not only at the campfire ceremony but during the entire two days of the Grand Valley Fall Campore held Friday and Saturday, October 4 and 5 near Ionia.

Other Scout activities include their regular Monday night meetings. Emphasis is being placed on qualifying for skill awards, advancement in rank and earning the merit badges necessary for the coveted rank of Eagle Scout.

Zeeland Dominates O-K White League

Zeeland remained undefeated and asserted its authority in the O-K White Division when the top five Chix runners broke the 17-minute mark en route to a 23-32 win over Forest Hills Central last week.

Dave Lambert ran a fine 16:06 for first and Larry Kortering, Doug Kalkman and Steve Lambert added positions 3-5 for the win. Central's Steve Johnson took second in 16:16 and Tom Brown finished fourth.

Forest Hills Central Keeps Hopes Up For Division Title

Forest Hills Central won the survival battle in O-K White Division competition Friday night over Godwin Heights 23-7, keeping their hopes flickering for a division title.

Godwin zipped into an early 7-0 lead by marching 70 yards on the opening kickoff. Mark Dood plunged in from the third yard line, and Jim Bergstrom kicked the extra point.

The visiting Central Rangers got on the board when Tom Zuidervren kicked a 26-yard field goal.

A 55-yard pass from Jack Sherry to Zuidervren set the stage for the Rangers' go-ahead score in the second quarter. Shawn Gary, who rushed for 112 yards in 15 carries, popped over from the 2 and a 9-7 Ranger lead at the intermission.

Dan Faulkner scampered 42 yards in the third quarter and Gary scored from the 12 to finish the point production.

Begin New Year

The Flat River Snowmobile Club of Lowell will begin their 1974-75 year Sunday, October 20, with a potluck dinner at 12:30 and a business meeting following.

Plans for the children's hay ride will be completed at this meeting, plus a short review will be made of some of the anticipated plans for the forthcoming hunt season.

Also, up-to-date information will be given on the development of the new Western Michigan snowmobile trail connecting Gun Lake with Wabasis Lake.

Hunting Program

To test public access to private farmlands for recreation, U. S. Department of Agriculture's Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) is continuing its 2-year-old pilot program in 5 counties: Berrien, Branch, Hillsdale, Kent and Livingston, said Walter Wittenbach, Chairman of the Michigan State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

Shoot Insulators

Parts of Kent, Barry and Ionia Counties nearly were as dark Monday morning as they were 482 years ago when Columbus made his historic landing.

Two insulators were shot out on a corner pole between Saranac and Clarksville near Pine Tree Grove, leaving 4,300 customers without power from about 11:45 p.m. Sunday to 2:30 a.m. Monday. You can see the lead markings on the insulators," he reported.

Enthusiasm Plus . . .

The word for the meeting of Lowell Rotary on Wednesday, October 9, was enthusiasm. The Rotarians ate with enthusiasm, and sang with enthusiasm. Even the speaker's message was enthusiastic and optimistic.

Indian Summer Having Tough Time Coming

Indian Summer is having a tough time coming, however, conditions are good at the present time for salmon fishing and looking very good for the fall hunting season, reveals the Michigan Department of Natural Resources.

Very good fishing is to be had along the Lake Michigan shoreline from Holland to Whitehall. Fishing from the piers or surf casting from the beach. Best baits are night crawlers, spawn bags or a variety of spoons and spinners. This fishing is for steelhead, brown trout and salmon.

Officers apprehended two subjects fishing Monday morning, one of whom had 11 salmon and the other having 19 salmon. For only having fished a couple of hours, this is a real nice creel full. However, the judge, I am sure, is going to make it rather expensive.

Squirrel hunting remains good with many of the bushy-tail little critters running around the woods. However, the heavy foliage is making the kill somewhat lighter than it could be.

Put and take pheasant hunters are still quite satisfied with the program with most hunters with dogs able to take home a bird or two. Naturally, the best hunting comes immediately following a bird planting and these are not announced.

Bow and arrow hunters are having quite good success this year with a larger than usual number of kills made. Hunters report an abundance of deer in the fields, so it should be a very good season.

Waterfowl season opens Wednesday, October 9, and it looks as if we have a very good population of native ducks.

Fall colors are holding up quite well considering the heavy frost and high winds we have had. Many leaves are falling, however, this enhances the aesthetic value of a nature hike.

Citizens Can Participate In School Budget Planning

MAKING SCHOOL BUDGETS COUNT
Editor's Note: The facts in this article have been compiled by Cynthia Parsons, an educator who has worked with school districts and citizens' groups in analyzing school budgets, exploring ways to cut school costs and still maintain quality education.

Citizens who want to find out what school officials do with education tax dollars should remember the law is on their side. Every relevant business transaction, every bookkeeping sheet, every budget justification is a public document.

This means the public may scrutinize such material at will. The public may form commissions or task forces for the sole purpose of studying first, how school dollars have been spent, and second, how they can be better spent in the future.

This is not to assume that every school or school system is run inefficiently. There are many school organizations that are managed by highly skilled administrators who keep costs close to the bone, especially in these times of high inflation.

But citizens' groups should know that every single school district in the United States is subject to the Freedom of Information Act. There can be no "secrets" about the way any public school dollar is disbursed. Invoices, bills, work-sheets, payroll accounts, records of savings deposits, retirement funds, Social Security monies are all public documents.

You may wish to exercise a little community muscle to get this point across to school officials. But, any good lawyer experienced in school finances can clarify the issue for any reluctant administrator or school board member.

Because the issue of how school monies are spent is sensitive, a task force or citizens' committee might be wise to start by studying last year's budget rather than this year's budget and matching it against last year's actual spending. This will help to alleviate some anxiety on the part of school personnel.

Work with actual debits and credits. You can begin to divide up what was spent, not by the categories in the official budget, but by program, or by school, or by grade, or in any way that helps clarify how much was spent for what.

It is easier to find out where a dollar has been spent than to foresee where it will be spent in the future. Any citizens' committee must work closely with the school administrator most responsible for spending. This may be the business manager, the assistant superintendent for business, the chief accountant, or the superintendent himself.

CHARGED WITH CAR THEFT
Wyoming's off-maligned cut de sacs were the undoing of an Alto man fleeing in a stolen car, according to police.
Danny L. Crosby, 37, charged with auto theft, demanded preliminary examination to be held Wednesday in Wyoming Municipal Court. Bond was set at $1,000.
Crosby was charged with theft of the 1975 auto of James Irwin of Dor while Irwin was working at the Dor Recreation Department's ox roast at the Earl Robson Department Store, 4339 S. Division Ave.
Among those watching Irwin's car leaving the parking lot with someone else at the wheel was Wyoming police Cpl. Fred Holbrook, who during off-duty hours is Dor's police chief.
Holbrook ordered a group of men in pursuit of Irwin's auto and Crosby was taken into custody when he became trapped in the 40th St. cul de sac near S. Division Avenue.

INCONVENIENCE POLL WON BY ELECTRICITY
Most Americans say that shortages of electricity would inconvenience them even more than oil shortages.
A recent public opinion survey conducted nationwide by Roper showed that 64 percent of those questioned ranked the inconvenience factor of oil cutbacks second, then grains, both items behind electricity.
Sixty-six percent believe that too little is being done to increase the nation's energy supply, and many expressed support for energy conservation measures such as lowered thermostats, year-round daylight savings, and early closing hours for stores.
SNACK TIME
During the last few decades, Americans have radically changed their way of eating with snacking and smaller meals becoming more prevalent.

Founded in 1919 to promote the interests of working women, B & P W, then and now strives toward full participation for all our nation's working women. Forty-four percent of America's work force cannot be ignored; it is only fitting that the people who comprise it—the women—should be honored.

rently serving as second Vice-President of the Michigan Federation of B P W Clubs, as well as being a full time state employee.

Participate in America

The primaries are over, but the important contests are yet to come. Between now and November 5 when millions of voting Americans cast ballots on issues of local and national importance, candidates will be campaigning hard. Get involved. Ask questions, write letters, find out what their positions are on problems that bother you most. An informed voter is the best assurance we have for a living democracy.

Share some flowers. You're going to love what happens.

Because flowers add color, fragrance and life. They'll turn a not-so-special day into something beautiful.

Just stop by or call. Naturally, we can't foresee your future. But we can help make it brighter with flowers and plants.
