Public Hearing Draws Better Attendance

At a better attended public hearing held last Thursday evening at the Lowell City Hall, citizens had an opportunity to share their views and offer suggestions, as well as ask questions concerning the proposed Community Development Program.

Plans for the revitalization of the downtown business community have long been on the drawing boards, and, as William Doyle, chairman of the Lowell City Planning Commission, stated, "this is really the culmination of seven years' work."

However, Mayor Carlen Anderson said though the proposed redevelopment is jointly sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce and the City—"it is not something the City is trying to cram down anybody's throat, but rather, a means of helping the business community—if it feels it needs help."

Dennis Elsen, planning consultant and an engineer from Williams and Works, reviewed the aims of the proposed program: to upgrade the central business area, provide ample parking, removal of undesirable structures, beautification of river area and, hopefully, improved business for merchants.

The total rehabilitation would be done in stages, with the first year's main thrust the demolition of buildings on the bridge and the relocation of those merchants into new quarters—a matter of synchronization.

Dave Clark of Clark Plumbing and Heating, suggested the business community be given first chance to form their own developmental body rather than bringing in an outside developer. "By using local contractors, the money would stay in Lowell, and construction costs would probably be a lot less," Clark suggested.

Funds for revitalization of the business area would come in the form of a 100% federal grant from funds made available through the Community Development Act of 1974. Of the $11,400,000, about eighty percent is earmarked for cities with on-going federal programs—the remaining twenty percent reserved for other communities such as Lowell. Officials have stated Lowell has about a 50-50 chance to share in that 20% reserve.

HUD (Department of Housing and Urban Development) will begin receiving applications December 1st and a decision on funding should come within 75 days after submission of application.

Thursday night's meeting seemed to reveal, if not total embracement of the proposal, at least a willingness to carry on a courtship.

IT WILL COST MORE FOR LESS NEWSPRINT

Conservation efforts will account for U.S. newspapers using less newsprint next year but the industry's annual newsprint bill is expected to increase—$2.6 million in 1975 as compared with $1.8 million in '74, according to Editor and Publisher.

The trade magazine estimated that consumption would drop from 10.5 million tons in 1974 to about 10 million next year.

Interested Parents 'Should' Attend

Interested parents, both moms and dads, are being urged to get into the 'swing of things' by taking an active interest in a P.T.A. or P.T.O. group now being formed in the Lowell area.

Parents from all schools—Runciman, Bushnell, Riverside, Middle and High—are being asked to join the organization.

With temporary officers elected, the group will meet again on Tuesday, November 26, at the High School in room J-3. Coffee will be served at 7:15, with the meeting getting underway at 7:30 p.m.

For the convenience of the parents, babysitters will be provided at a very nominal fee.

Run on an open forum basis, the meeting is designed to give parents an adequate opportunity to air their views concerning school problems and needs.

All persons interested in the happenings of 'our' schools, especially those having students in the system, should find this type of meeting advantageous, and are prompted to give their support by attending on November 26.

New Law Overhauls Juvenile Justice

Of the 316,000 persons arrested last year for burglary, the Federal Bureau of Investigation reports 54 percent were under age 18. Of the 188,400 auto theft arrests, 56 percent were of persons under 18. Of the 121,000 persons arrested for vandalism, 69 percent were younger than 18.

The frightening statistics of juvenile crime go on and on whether it be juvenile crime from the city, suburb or rural area.

And these numbers are even higher when it is added in that the 1973 FBI statistics cover less than 75 percent of the U.S. population and also don't include those crimes that were not reported nor those in which no arrests were made.

The statistics for the rise in juvenile crime are just as somber. Comparing the years 1960 and 1973, the FBI reports that arrests increased 35 percent. Most of that increase came from the under-18 population.

Between those 13 years, juvenile arrests shot up 144 percent, while arrests of all persons over 18 inched up only 17 percent.

Juvenile crime has become a serious problem in the United States—so serious that many juvenile authorities are calculating that actually more than 50 percent of all crimes are committed by juvenile offenders.

As bleak as it sounds, the situation is not hopeless. In late summer, Congress passed and President Ford signed a bill that could dramatically turn around what has come to seem a habitual rise in juvenile crime.

"The Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention Act of 1974 is the most significant legislation relating to youth since the Social Security Act (which contained Public Welfare's Aid to Dependent Children) was passed in 1932," said Justus Freimund, director of action services for the National Council on Crime and Delinquency.

The new law will unify and administer previously scattered juvenile justice programs—at least 34 programs were scattered throughout federal agencies—under the one roof of the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration (LEAA) in the Justice Department.

It authorized a three-year, $350 million matching grant program to state and local governments to develop innovative programs to prevent and treat juvenile delinquency and authorized a $10.5 million program for runaway youths. It also provided for basic procedural rights for juveniles in federal court.

Many of the changes are targeted at the juvenile justice and institution system, the latter of which a report by the Senate subcommittee to investigate juvenile delinquency called a major contributor to recidivism among juveniles.

"Approximately one million juveniles will enter the juvenile justice system this year," the report stated.

"Although 50 percent will be informally handled by the juvenile courts' intake staff, 40 percent will be formally adjudicated and placed on probation or other supervisory release. "Ten percent, or approximately 100,000 young people, will be incarcerated in juvenile institutions," the report said.

Maintaining the juvenile justice system is costing nearly a billion dollars a year, the report said. And that cost is increasing by $50 million annually. "By far the most expensive and wasteful part of this system is the

Audience Will Get Money's Worth

A hilarious takeoff on the mystery plays of the late 20's complete with sliding panels, robed figures, will be read at midnight, etc., will be the action on stage at the Lowell Senior High School auditorium Thursday, Friday and Saturday, November 14, 15 and 16.

When the curtain goes up nightly at 8 p.m. on the All-School Play "Any Number Can Die," the audience will get their money's worth of laugh from the production being directed by Ivan Haney.

The comedy-mystery is set in an old island mansion in the late 1920's and is spiced by odd servants and assorted murderers. The play was written by Fred Carmichael, and is filled with intriguing ingenuity.

Starring in this year's production will be Ken Brower as T.J. Lathrop; Dewey Prins as Edgars; Denise Cadwallader as Sally VanTiller; Tom Schiedel as Carter Forstman.

Tony Ulichnie as Jack Regent and Cliff Walker as Hannibal Hix. With the experience of several actors returning from last year's play, and much good new talent, the play is expected to go over in smash forum.

It was reported to the Ledger Monday that Dr. Myers has the "rare type AB-negative blood" and already has received six units; four obtained in Grand Rapids, and two flown in from Lansing. Replacement blood does not have to be the rare type.

Donors may give blood at the Michigan Community Blood Bank, 1055 E. Fulton St., Grand Rapids, Monday, Thursday, Friday, 8-5 p.m.; Tuesday and Wednesday, 8-8 p.m. and Saturday, 8-12 noon.

Highway Funds Have Decreased

For the first time in more than 20 years—ever since Michigan's basic highway law was enacted in 1951—quarterly income for the Motor Vehicle Highway Fund has decreased instead of increasing, the State Highway Commission reported today.

The fund, generated by the state's tax on motor fuels and license plates, is the major source of revenue for construction and maintenance of the state highway system, as well as providing road and street financial assistance to Michigan's 83 counties and 531 incorporated municipalities.

John P. Woodford, director of State Highways and Transportation, said collections by the fund for the July-September quarter decreased by nearly $3 million from the same period a year ago.

The quarterly collections totaled $113,647,675, compared to $116,574,221 a year ago, a drop of 2.9 percent.

"It is clear that the decrease can be attributed to Michigan motorists driving less and slower, using less gasoline," Woodford said. "Unfortunately, our decrease in revenue comes at the same time that highway construction costs are escalating by a rate of 36 percent a year."

That portion of the fund's quarterly collections from motor fuel taxes went down from $108,848,065 last year, to $105,705,772 this year, a drop of more than $3 million.

That portion of the fund's quarterly collections from license plate fees increased by 2.8 percent, from $7,726,156 last year, to $7,941,903 this year.

"This is the first decrease in gross receipts for the Motor Vehicle Highway Fund in any quarter, compared to the same quarter of the preceding year, since the fund was established by law in 1951," Woodford said.

The actual amount of the fund's quarterly income to be distributed to the state, counties and incorporated municipalities is $102,308,669, a decrease of 3.1 percent from the same quarter last year.

The amount to be distributed is determined after deductions from the total collection for the Waterways Commission (1.25 percent), one-eighth for the General Transportation Fund (public transit), and administration and collection costs. Once a year, $3.5 million is deducted to help retire bonds that financed construction of the Mackinac Bridge.

According to a formula established by the Legislature, 44.5 percent of the collections goes to the Department of State Highways and Transportation; 35.7 percent to the state's 83 counties; and 19.8 percent to the state's 531 incorporated municipalities.

Under this formula, the Highways and Transportation Department is receiving $45,450,653 as its quarterly share. The counties are receiving $36,293,105 and the municipalities $20,564,910.

Specific amounts of funds allocated to counties, cities and villages are determined by a variety of factors established by the Legislature, but generally are based on a ratio of population and miles of roadway within the jurisdiction to the state totals.

Third quarter distribution amounts to counties in this area, compared to the same period of 1973, are as follows:

	1974, 3rd Quarter	1973, 3rd Quarter
Barry	237,010	243,948
Ionia	264,334	273,812
Kent	1,464,485	1,491,294

The amounts distributed to cities and villages for the third quarter, as compared to 1973, were:

Belding	20,375	21,058
Clarksville	1,926	1,967
Ionia	20,337	20,760
Lowell	13,521	13,523

Under the ownership of Mrs. Kitty Brenk, the shop will carry a large variety of items for hobbyists, including macrame, beads, kits for cars, trains, airplanes, etc. Watch for their grand opening!

James Bolt of Ada was found guilty of negligent homicide this past Tuesday in Circuit Court before Judge Joseph B. White. The charge stemmed from the accident which occurred on East Main Street, June 9, which claimed the life of Judith Wierenga, 32, of Lowell. Bolt will be sentenced at a later date.

Officers from the Lowell Police Department arrested an escapee from the Ionia Reformatory, late Sunday night at the Kent-Ionia County line, who had been at large for approximately six hours.

The game machines at Zzano's Pizza on East Main Street were broken into early this past Wednesday afternoon.

Lowell Police report that approximately $20 to $40 was taken.

A southbound C & O freight train jumped the tracks at the switch Tuesday evening, November 5, tying up Main Street and South Hudson traffic for a short time.

All traffic was re-routed until the train could be moved, by C & O personnel, assisted by authorities from Lowell.

C & O officials stated that the cause of the derailment was a "frog" in the switch.

Sometime over the past weekend, entry was made into the Kellogg Vinegar Company on South Broadway St. To-date, investigating officers have found nothing missing.

A dangerous situation existed early Sunday morning at the intersection of West Main and Hudson Streets, when vandals moved construction barrels and barricades into the roadway.

Luckily no one was seriously injured before the debris was cleared away as visibility was almost "null" due to low lying fog.

Dear Hunters, remember, the first person to bring their buck and/or doe to the Ledger office on the opening day of the 1974 statewide firearm deer season this Friday, will get a two year's subscription to the paper. The second successful hunter will get a one year subscription.

A resident living next to the covered bridge at Ada reported to the Ledger this week, that contrary to news media reports, the bridge sustained no damage on Halloween.

Letters to the Editor

Dear City of Lowell:
 How beautiful you looked one Fall day this October past! Coming back after so many years, back from my travels, back from my grown up ways, you looked as delicious as when High School days ran warmly in my life. Mom, Dad, brothers and sisters and I lived in the white house on Riverside Drive. How the years go by!
 The river we swam in is, perhaps, not so clean and clear, but the streets are even nicer now and the Showboat—grand, I can hear the old shows now with the strains of "Rag-time Cowboy Joe" and "California, Here I Come", plunked artistically as only the "Banjo King", Eddie Peabody, could.
 Lowell, I'm not overly sentimental but... Do you realize that my sister, Margie, and I hitched rides from Ionia one Spring just to graduate from your High School? You know how parents are—sometimes moving away in the middle of your school year.
 Coming back last month, after so long—coming back home, memories were so fresh, like racing home for lunch on school days, and the shows at the Strand. Weren't Abbott and Costello hilarious? And wasn't Al-an Ladd the bravest?
 Dear Lowell, I wrote this letter to tell you that I came back this year, and you were there to greet me, in warm, bright, Fall colors.
 Thank you,
 Mary Lint Simmons

Dear Editor:
 Last Sunday afternoon many of us from the Lowell area were enjoying a musical treat that lasted just short of sixty minutes.

 I just want to express heartfelt appreciation to Paul and Noreen, Ron and Sue for sharing themselves and their music with us.
 Sincerely yours,
 Dean I. Bailey

Roberts Begins Board Term

Monday night's Board of Education meeting was routine almost to the point of being dull with the exception of two items.
 Number one, it marked the beginning of Roger Roberts' first term on the board and the white-mustached gentleman plunged right into discussions like he'd been on the board forever.

Secondly, it afforded Mrs. Jean McKay with the opportunity to comment on what she considers a dangerous pedestrian pattern for students around Bushnell Elementary. Mrs. McKay was interested in the paving and sidewalk construction for Howard Street and what the plans are for students walking to and from school when the new addition is complete. "Even now people hold their breath while children are walking in that area so unless something is done to improve it, it will be an impossible situation when even more students are assigned there next fall," Mrs. McKay said.

Asst. Supt. Don Kelly agreed that it was a definite problem and stated that the school is definitely looking into it and plans call for re-doing the entire area as far as traffic and students are concerned.

The interesting thing about the brief discussion was really that Mrs. McKay cared about it in the first place. She does not live in the area of the school nor does she have children attending it.

It is, unfortunately, surprising but extremely reassuring that there are still people like Mrs. McKay around who actually care about things that might happen to others and not just as they pertain to themselves.

The board okayed the hiring of Daniel L'Herault as a full time fourth grade teacher replacing Paul Smith who asked to be released for the balance of the school year due to ill health. L'Herault was already teaching half-day sessions in the system.

Four principals reported on the success of last week's parent-teacher conferences in their buildings. John Gabriel said that approximately 70 percent of the Middle School parents attended with extremely positive comments. He added, however, that there was a general complaint that it took too long to see all the teachers in the building and stated that his staff will now work on a solution to this for further conferences.

Dave Burdette, principal of Bushnell, stated that in his building an over-all turnout of slightly over 90 percent of all parents attended while Roger Back, principal of Alto, reported that not all of the parents in his building had been requested to attend but that 90 percent of those requested actually did attend the conferences.

Dennis McMahon, high school principal, added that although only 50 percent of the high school parents attended, the results of the conference were very favorable.

3 M's View Films, Learn About France

The 3M's of the First United Methodist Church of Lowell enjoyed a most excellent presentation of Miss Jane Rivette's visit to France this last summer, on November 9.

This was sponsored by the Youth for Understanding program, and covered several weeks stay in various regions in mid-France. Her host families took pains to acquaint her with local customs and family life there, and also to see that she visited many points of fame.

The trip was well documented by about 200 slides and prints, well organized for presentation and most interestingly narrated by a very engaging personality.

This all took place in the recreation room at the Schneider Manor, a beautiful, spacious and well equipped area. The program was organized by Lynn and Pauline Johnson, and the evening was continued with a short business meeting including the welcoming of guests, Gould and Ethel Ann Rivette, Mabel Scott and Bonnie Church.

General hostess for the evening was Marian Notware, who served light refreshments, and a social hour completed a very enjoyable and informative evening.

'Crazy Supper' Served Youth

Enjoying such delicious menu items as Cool Cookie Cats and Teenagers Delight, thirty senior highs of the First United Methodist Church of Lowell participated in a "Crazy Supper" activity last Sunday evening.

The Senior High Fellowship plans to travel to Central Michigan University for an overnight this weekend. Twenty-five youth are registered to go. The group will be headquartered in the Wesley Foundation Center, the college based ministry of the United Methodist Church.

Ladies Of Leisure At Breakfast

Saturday, November 2, 1974 was a day to be remembered by the women of the Forest Hills Snowmobile Club. We were treated to a delicious breakfast, a great snowmobile orientation, and an interesting First Aid talk.

The only things missing were white aprons on our Head Chef, Bill Colvin, and his cooks and waiters—Bob Fey, Lee Cobb, Bob Palma, Joe Korienek, Dale Alger, Tom Reimerma, Bill Koert, Rudy Roth and Toby Wier. They cooked and served scrambled eggs, sausage, pancakes, juice and coffee to over 35 women.

While the men cleaned up the kitchen, we were given a great orientation from Don Vanderhoff on operating, maintaining and safety of a snowmobile. WOW! What we learned. Don't be surprised fellows when you're on the trail this winter in trouble to have a woman be able to tell you what's wrong with your machine as well as fix it for you.

After a short break of doughnuts and coffee, Judy Vanderhoff gave a talk on First Aid and snowmobiling. I am sure 35 women came away with much knowledge that day, and would thank each and everyone who participated in giving the time to put on a well spent Saturday morning for the women of our club.

Rotarians Hear Education Speaker

The girls served a real Thanksgiving special, roast turkey and dressing, mashed potatoes, brown gravy, cole slaw, and a very fancy pudding cake.

Lowell Superintendent of Schools Leonard Sinke was program chairman, presenting Grand Rapids Assistant Superintendent, Dr. Elmer Yruggink, who gave a very interesting address on the subject of the school curriculum or the instructional program.

It is a little known fact that sometimes super-bright kids are more difficult to handle in school than dull ones. Dr. Yruggink told the Rotarians of the scores of innovative developments in Grand Rapids to handle most any kind of kids from programs in the zoo to learning experiences in furniture factories and garages.

Most everyone refers to the students, including Dr. Yruggink, as "kids" because legally they are children and it would seem inappropriate to refer to a sophisticated high school student as a child.

Arrows End '74 Season

The Lowell Red Arrows played their final game of the 1974 football season at Burch Field last Friday night hosting the Huskies from Forest Hills Northern High School.

Finishing the season with a 5-4 overall record, Lowell who finished in a third place Tri-River League tie with Coopersville, lost the encounter to Forest Hills 28-6.

Lowell was quick to get on the scoreboard on a four yard run by Bruce Block, but found the Huskies defensive unit unmovable throughout the remaining quarters.

Chaffee ran for 248 yards in 29 carries and Elliot registered 106 yards as the Huskies rolled up 429 yards on the ground.

Central Losses

Before some 2,500 fans at Forest Hills Central High School's football field Friday night, the Rangers were downed by the "kings" of the Ottawa-Kent Red Division, East Grand Rapids, by a score of 19-0.

Forest Hills, who finished second in the O-K White Division and ended the season on a 6-3 note, just could not operate against the heavier, fast charging Pioneer front line.

Central's only major threat of the game came late in the first quarter when they moved from their 43 yard line to East's one. The drive was halted when the Pioneers recovered a fumble at the goal line.

BEEF GRADING CHANGE DEFENDED BY AGRICULTURE

Some consumer advocates don't like the proposed changes in beef grading, but a researcher says your taste buds will not be able to tell the difference.

The U.S. Agriculture Department is holding hearings around the nation on its plans to permit younger, leaner beef to be graded as prime or choice meat.

LHS Varsity Band Notes

The Lowell High School Marching Band performed its final football pre-game and half-time show for the season Friday, November 8. This final show was dedicated to the seniors in the band, the theme, "The World of Cartoons."

For pre-game, the band marched on the field with a routine to "Varsity," which put them in concert formation. At this time, the seniors, Craig Anderson, Linda Callen, Lynn Denevan, Carol Doyle, Sandy Hansen, Colleen Kelly, George Lessens, Joy Posthumus, Jon Rash, Dianne Rickert, Nancy Stark, Wendy Stinecomb, Cathy Stuart, Tom Stuart, and Cindy Vader were introduced. After playing the "Star Spangled Banner," the band moved in to form a tunnel for the players.

To start off half-time, the band marched on with a routine to an introduction which put them in a large box. While in this formation, under the direction of Robert Rice, they played "Rocky and His Friends," and "Dudley DoRight." To the latter, the majorettes did a short skit with Kathie Irwin as Nell, Val Videan as Dudley, Suzy Sinke as Snidely Whiplash, and Dianne Rickert portraying the train.

After changing formations, the band played the "Pink Panther." Another change in formations enabled the band to get in concert formation for the "Road Runner Theme."

For a finale, the band formed Mickey Mouse ears, played the Mickey Mouse Theme song and sang good-bye to the crowd. The band then marched off the field playing "Tag."

Big Bird... First

The Forest Hills Snowmobile Club Masquerade Dance was an evening of good music (provided by the Szotko Band), good dancing and a lot of laughter over the great costumes that everyone wore.

First prize went to Joe Korienek for his Big Bird costume, which, incidentally, was made by his wife and was fantastic. Dale and Mona Alger captured second prize with their costumes of the Devil and the Angel and Frankenstein (Bob Palma) took third.

When the clock struck 12, the music stopped and doughnuts and coffee were served before everyone turned into a pumpkin and headed home.

Freshmen Down Northern Huskies

The Red Arrow Freshmen capped a nine win, 0 loss year with second and third quarter touchdowns to seal the victory. Lowell gained 223 yards on total offense while the defense held Forest Hills to 122 yards.

Lowell had 13 first downs to six for the Huskies. Each team intercepted two passes and each recovered two fumbles. Lowell's interceptions were by John Gerard and Gary Stuart.

Offensively Lowell rushers were: Randy Kropp, seven yards in five carries; John Wilder, 104 yards in 15 carries; Mike Herring, 33 yards in nine carries; Chuck King, 50 yards in 12 carries, and Dick Beach, 20 yards in four carries.

Touchdowns were by John Wilder of one yard, and Randy Kropp, one yard. Extra points were a Kropp to Brian White pass and a run by Chuck King.

Defensively the Red Arrows stopped Forest Hills' drives twice inside the Lowell five yard line with fine team effort defense. Brian White, John Savage, Mike Herring, Tim Hendrick, John Wilder, Randy Kropp, Greg Ball, Lindsey Fonger and Larry Auberton were cited for their fine defense.

Chuck King, Dick Beach and John Gerard received praise for their pass coverage. Coaches Mike Clark and Gail Hirschy also praised the White offensive and defensive units for the fine play, including an interception to preserve the victory for Lowell.

The coaches would like to thank all the followers of the Red Arrow Frosh for their support this year and especially to 29 fine, young men who are the Lowell Freshmen Football team of 1974.

COPPER CONSUMPTION

The United States will need major new sources of minerals in the future, according to a prediction by the Interior Department, which estimates that by 1985, primary copper consumption alone will be up by about 1.4 million tons.

NOW, MORE THAN EVER IT'S IMPORTANT THAT YOU HAVE ADEQUATE INSULATION.

The greatest heat loss is through your roof. So one of the best ways you can help conserve natural gas (and save money, too) is to make sure you have at least six inches of high quality insulation in the attic of your home.

We have a free booklet with answers to questions about home insulation. Stop by and pick one up. Then talk to your insulating contractor, or to us, about installing insulation. We can recommend qualified contractors...we can even arrange financing for you. It's all part of a Michigan Public Service Commission program to help conserve scarce energy.

A Glance At The November 5 Election Results

Gov. William Milliken survived voter distress over Watergate and Michigan's battered economy November 5 to defeat Sander Levin, and win re-election to a new four-year term. He apparently was one of two Republicans holding governorships in the nation's 10 largest states.

Notably forces of U.S. Rep. Richard F. VanderVeen joyfully chanted "VanderVeen in '76" as they celebrated the victory of Michigan's Fifth Congressional District Democratic candidate in Tuesday's election. Republican Paul Goebel Jr., his usual gregarious self, said he had no regrets about the campaign: "It's a once-in-a-lifetime experience. I wouldn't have done it any differently. I feel I'm a winner either way. I've got a nice business and my family and I enjoy living in this community."

It was a significant victory for VanderVeen, who successfully withstood a last-minute campaign appearance by President Gerald R. Ford on behalf of Goebel. VanderVeen received 73,473 votes or 52.3 percent and Goebel 61,698 or 43.9 percent.

Democratic incumbents Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley and Secretary of State Richard Austin swept to easy and expected victories over Republican challengers.

The Democrats put up only token opposition to former Senate Majority Leader Robert VanderLaan, who collected 70 percent of the votes in the 31st Senatorial District, defeating Robert D. Fahey, 42,962 to 18,274.

Despite the odds in the election, VanderLaan was taking no chances. He spent about $6,000, triple that spent by Fahey, in retaining the seat he has held since 1962.

Incumbent Martin D. Buth, 56, assistant minority leader in the House, won a ninth term, defeating Democrat Loren Pritch, 46, of Byron Center 16,747 to 9,729 for the 90th District for the House of Representatives.

State Proposals - Limiting Gas Tax Funds, 1,049,550 Yes; 1,090,500 No. Veteran's Bonus, 1,588,637 Yes; 680,060 No. Sales Tax Amendment, 1,278,823 Yes; 1,018,250 No. Transportation Bonds, 931,299 Yes; 1,233,812 No.

Incumbent Arnold A. Wittenbach, 66, of Lowell, squeaked out a majority by a handful of votes in his home area, but carried the rest of his district convincingly for an easy election to a second term as a Kent County Commissioner in the 3rd District.

His Democratic opponent Harry E. Hough, little-known in county politics, did not campaign much. Wittenbach, a real estate salesman, was elected 5,241 to 2,636.

Marketing The '74 Corn Crop

With corn market prices at harvest time the most favorable in over two decades, farmers are debating whether to store or sell their 1974 crop at harvest, according to Walter Wittenbach, Chairman of the Michigan State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

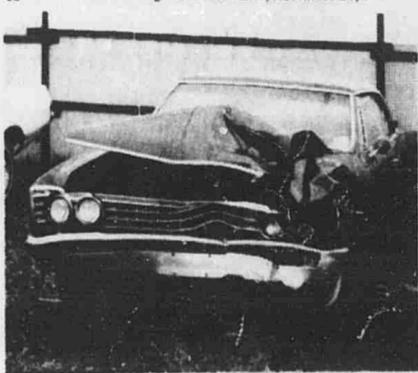

Many Michigan corn farmers were hard hit this year with a cold, wet spring causing late planting and then the mid-summer drought stunting growth and capped off with early frosts in September and October. While some farmers had extremely poor crops, he noted, the estimated production of the Michigan corn crop is still nearly 116 million bushels; the third highest in history topped only by the record harvest in 1972 and 1973.

Wittenbach stated that with no Government stocks to threaten the market and aid interest by foreign buyers along with the lowest national corn crop in four years, market prices could prove quite volatile. He hedged his analysis somewhat by saying that there are so many factors affecting the corn market such as number of cattle and hogs on feed, increased transportation costs, and this year because of the poor quality, quality discounts will be substantial. Each farmer will have to make his own market analysis to determine whether to sell at harvest time or store for a possible better price later on.

Wittenbach pointed out that the county loan rates range from $1.08 to $1.15 per bushel throughout Michigan and that commodity loans will be available on the basis of where the corn is stored. This is intended to encourage the flow of corn into principal consumption areas. Loan rates are up in most Michigan counties and information on the county loan rate can be obtained from the local county ASCS office.

He added that market prices tend to decline during the harvest season and prices for new crop corn may drop from current levels. Producers with storage space available in approved warehouses or on the farm may be interested in holding their 1974 corn crop for market later in the season. He pointed out that many producers used the loan program in recent years have netted considerably more by marketing their crop later in the season. More and more producers are taking advantage of the price support loan program in their marketing plans, but there are still many producers who have a general tendency to market their grain on the spur-of-the-moment basis which often results in accepting a lower price for their crop.

Area Accidents Hospitalize Nine

Two traffic accidents, almost simultaneously, in the Lowell area last Friday night, saw nine persons hospitalized; one in satisfactory condition.

Kathleen Doran, 14, of Lowell, was reported in satisfactory condition at Butterworth Hospital with an ankle fracture and back injury she sustained when the car in which she was a passenger crashed into several trees on Alden Nash Road about 10:15 p.m.

Timothy McCormick, 16, of Lowell, driver of the car, was southbound in the fog on Alden Nash Road, and apparently was not prepared for the change in the road at Bailey Drive, N.E.

The airborne vehicle hit at least six trees before coming to a halt. Neither McCormick nor his other passengers, Annette Beebe, 14, and Carol Peckham, 14, both of Lowell, were seriously injured.

According to Kent County Sheriff's Deputy Michael Fairbrother, McCormick's speed was estimated at approximately 60 miles per hour. Fairbrother revealed that due to the fog in the area, visibility was about 15 feet.

The second accident occurred when a car driven by Pam Galbreath of Lowell crossed the center line while negotiating a curve on Bailey Drive, near the railroad tracks, hitting a truck driven by Gene Kaye of 1626 Alden Nash Road, Lowell.

Kaye and his passenger, Michael John Kaye, 12, were both hospitalized as were the riders in the Galbreath auto, Tony Osterburg and Rosalee Kay Sterling, both of Lowell.

The Kent County Sheriff's Department reported that the area was heavily laden with fog, and that neither driver was exceeding the speed limit.

Sunday evening, a vehicle driven by a Portland woman was involved in a car-deer collision on M-21, west of the Lowell City limits.

Lowell Police officers also handled two property damage accident reports and one personal injury accident over the weekend.

Timothy McCormick of Lowell and his three passengers were hospitalized Friday night, when his car hit several trees on Alden Nash Avenue at Bailey Drive.

This car, driven by Pam Galbreath of Lowell, was involved in a car-truck collision last Friday night on Bailey Drive, north of Lowell.
