Drain Hearing January 7

A meeting to hear objections to apportionments of cost for the Adacraft Relief Drains will be held at 11 a.m. on Tuesday, January 7, in Room 311, Kent County Building, Grand Rapids.

The plans, specifications and estimates of cost of said Adacraft Drain in Ada Township, and a description of the area to be served are on file in the office of the Kent County Drain Commissioner, George Grasmann, at 1500 Scribner, N.W., Grand Rapids.

The estimated cost is $24,000, but the apportionment percentages as finally established by the Drainage Board shall apply to the actual cost of the drain when finally completed. The project is to be financed wholly by Ada Township.

After consideration of all objections to the apportionments the Drainage Board shall determine whether the apportionments fairly reflect the benefits to accrue to each public corporation and the extent to which each public corporation contributes to the conditions which make the drain necessary.

If the Drainage Board determines that the apportionments are equitable it will enter a Final Order of Apportionments confirming the apportionments.

Section 483 of Act No. 40, Public Acts of Michigan, 1956, as amended, provides that the Final Order of Apportionment shall not be subject to attack in any court, except by proceedings in certiorari brought within 20 days after the order is filed in the office of the Kent County Drain Commissioner, the Chairman of the Drainage Board for the Adacraft Relief Drains, and that if no such proceedings shall be brought within said 20 day period the legality of the assessments for the drain shall not thereafter be questioned in any suit at law or in equity, either on jurisdictional or non-jurisdictional grounds.

If the Drainage Board enters the Final Order of Apportionment a special assessment roll assessing the estimated cost of the drain against the public corporations in accordance with the confirmed apportionments will be prepared and presented to the Drainage Board for approval. The Drainage Board then intends to issue orders or notes of the Drainage District for Adacraft Relief Drains in anticipation of the collection of installments of said assessments and the interest thereon.

Each public corporation assessed is obligated to levy sufficient taxes to pay the assessment installments and interest as the same become due unless there has been set aside monies sufficient therefor.

Miller Project Engineer For Major Highway Improvements

By: Dave Barnes

A Lowell man is the project engineer for two 1975 major highway improvements along M-21, to cost a total of about $3.6 million.

He is David W. Miller, 50, of 224 Riverside Dr., who will be overseer of the $3.2 million, 4-lane divided highway from the East Beltline east to Amway Corp., Ada, and the $400,000 resurfacing of 8.3 miles of M-21 from east of the Ada bridge through Lowell to the Ionia County line. The costs are estimates.

Although resurfacing bids will not be taken until next May and widening bids not until late next summer or early fall, a field office already has been set up at 5565 E. Fulton Rd. (M-21), Ada, which Miller heads. He has a staff of six, but this will be increased when the projects get under way.

Miller is affiliated with the Grand Rapids district of the Michigan State Highway Department.

He has a wealth of experience behind him, took engineering courses in the early 1950's, and has been a project engineer since 1959 when he passed his civil service examinations with flying colors. Before this, Miller was a rodman for an MSHD surveying crew and later was promoted to instrument man heading a three-man surveying crew.

As a project engineer, he worked on the US-31 and Int. 96 freeways at Muskegon, on Int. 94 in the Kalamazoo area, the enormous Brighton interchange of Int. 96 and US-23 north of Ann Arbor, and on the Edsel Ford Freeway in Detroit, through the Grosse Pointes and to Mount Clemens in the 1960's.

Miller took engineering courses at Michigan State University in 1943, but left college to earn his living. He joined the MSHD in 1949 at Remus, Mecosta County. In the early 1950's, he took several courses in civil engineering from the International Correspondence Schools. Over the years, he has read many technical magazines, having to do with highway construction.

For the last five years, Miller has been certified as a senior civil engineering technician by the Professional Engineering Society for his excellence as a project engineer.

Miller lived in Lowell in the 1930's and early 1940's. When he was transferred to the Grand Rapids district highway office seven years ago, he picked Lowell for his residency.

He and his wife, Patricia, have four sons.

Property Tax Hike Is Likely

Very substantial tax hikes appear virtually certain in 1975 for property owners in the outlying areas of Kent County.

Citing inflation as the chief cause, James Neller, Kent County Equalization Bureau Director, said last week that assessments on real property, land and buildings, need to be raised an average of 17 percent in these areas. "Hardest hit is Algoma Township with 36 percent," he said.

Property owners in Lowell, Rockford and Cedar Springs will see the jump reflected in their summer city tax, which comes out July 1. Those in the townships—excluding Plainfield, Alpine and Grand Rapids, not up for consideration this year—will notice the increase in their winter tax which comes out next December.

Theoretically, taxes would not go up if there is a corresponding dip in the tax rate, but Neller conceded this is unlikely.

The County's Legislative, Judicial and Taxation Committee has accepted Neller's figures for ten townships and two cities.

Besides Algoma, the townships show these percentage increases: Bowne 11, Caledonia 21, Cannon 14, Grattan 14, Lowell Township 10, Nelson 26, Oakfield 16, Solon 24 and Tyrone 20. The city of Cedar Springs will be up 16 percent and Rockford 9.5 percent.

Figures for eight more townships and the City of Lowell will be presented to the committee at their next meeting.

Neller emphasized that the percentages do not necessarily mean a person's real property taxes will rise that amount.

What it does is to correct the 1974 assessment figures to conform with state law that they be 50 percent of true cash value. This, then, will be used as a starting point in figuring the 1975 tax as determined by the individual township supervisor and city assessor.

These local officials decide exactly where the increases will fall within agricultural, commercial, industrial and residential property and what 1975 hikes are necessary.

Neller said the county equalization bureau conducts an in-depth study every two years. Grand Rapids, Wyoming, Kentwood, Walker, East Grand Rapids, Grandville and the townships of Plainfield, Alpine and Grand Rapids were considered last year.

Neller said the true value of agricultural and open space land has risen 1.5 times; faster than other real property since the last in-depth study of outlying areas two years ago. "The competition for large parcels of land within a reasonable distance of the population centers and job opportunities is the reason," he said.

The revision is based on 1972 and 1973 property sales," Neller noted.

"Two years ago, assessments on outlying areas shot up 22 percent on the average," he said.

Neller is charged by state law with ensuring that assessments represent 50 percent of cash value. County Commissioner Stephen Kishkorn called the practice unfair: "This is a way for government to get into your pocket without you having any say about it."

Criticism also came from Supervisor Max Bird of Courtland, Manager Lee Patterson of Cascade and Supervisor Emil Kober of Sparta Township, who said they did not have enough time to check Neller's figures against their own prior to the meeting.

Finnish Students To Visit Cascade Library Sunday

"Around the World—Around Kent County," a holiday series of programs presented by the Kent County Library System, will feature customs, celebrations, decorations and festival foods of several countries represented by local foreign exchange students.

The Cascade Library will welcome Finnish exchange students and a Grand Rapids girl who was a visitor in Finland on Sunday, December 29, from 1 to 3 p.m. They are Marjatta Mannisto, Pirkko Aho, Heikke Vabatalo and Susan Colby.

A part of the festive decorations of the library, 2839 Thornapple River Drive, SE, will be a traditional Finnish heaven. This is the plating of a canopy of straw suspended from the ceiling with shiny paper stars hanging below. The old custom is to represent a starlit sky to the Finnish children. Straw formerly was spread on the floor of the farmhouses to suggest a manger, and Finnish families enjoyed it as the center of the Christmas games.

Charles Burlingham, a member of the Cascade Library Board, will build the frame to be anchored to the ceiling and the Friends of the Library will hang the straw and silver stars from the heaven. The library Christmas tree will be adorned with hand-made ornaments such as those used in Finland.

Marjatta will show slides of her native country and the other students will give their impressions of both countries and their festival days. Christmas caroling and refreshments supplied by the Friends will complete the program.

Heart-Saving Resolutions For The New Year

The New Year is a time to start anew to take better care of your heart.

"Resolve first to get a complete medical checkup," urges Dr. Donald Albert, Royal Oak cardiologist and president of the Michigan Heart Association. "Only your doctor can tell whether you are building toward a heart attack or stroke. Only he can prescribe the proper health measures to help prevent cardiovascular diseases."

Dr. Albert cites these grim statistics: an estimated 3,940,000 have coronary heart disease and 1,680,000 in the United States have been crippled by stroke. And he adds:

"The importance of keeping your heart-saving resolution takes on added significance when you realize that most heart attack deaths occur outside a hospital, before the victim receives medical treatment. In 1972, heart attacks killed nearly 700,000 Americans—half of them before they reached the hospital. Many thousands of these might have been saved if they had heeded the warning signs."

"In addition, more than 210,050 suffered a fatal stroke the same year. Many of these might have been saved if they had been diagnosed and treated for high blood pressure, a leading cause of stroke."

The Heart Association president urged every resident to learn the warning signs of heart attack and stroke. He said, "This knowledge could easily mean the difference between life and death for you, a friend or neighbor."

Following are the warning signs of heart attack:

- Prolonged, heavy pressure or squeezing pain in the center of the chest, behind the breastbone.
- Pain may spread to the shoulders, arm, neck or jaw.
- Pain or discomfort is often accompanied by sweating.
- Nausea, vomiting and shortness of breath may also occur.

These are the warning signs of stroke:

- Sudden, temporary weakness or numbness of the face, arm or leg.
- Temporary difficulty or loss of speech, or trouble understanding speech.

- Temporary dimness or loss of vision, particularly in one eye.
 - An episode of double vision.
 - Unexplained dizziness or unsteadiness.
 - Change in personality, mental ability, or in the pattern of your headaches may also occur.
- "What you should remember," the Michigan Heart Association's president added, "is that the symptoms of heart attack and stroke can ease up, then return. Don't treat your resolutions—or the warning signs—casually. Act at once, before catastrophe strikes. Call your doctor and describe your symptoms in detail. And if he's not immediately available, get to a hospital emergency room at once."
- You can help prevent heart attack and stroke. Resolve now to get that medical checkup. And reduce your risk by keeping the following heart-saving resolutions:
- Don't smoke cigarettes.
 - Control high blood pressure.
 - Eat foods low in saturated fats and cholesterol.
 - Exercise moderately and regularly.
 - Maintain normal weight.
- Michigan Heart Association is a United Way of Michigan agency.

Greetings

Happy families everywhere gather together to celebrate this festive season we wish you and yours every joy.

Potato Situation

The 1974 potato harvest is promising to consumers, both discouraging and favorable to growers, and beneficial to processors. Here's the situation and outlook according to Dr. Tom Pierson, Michigan State University agricultural economist.

The fall potato crop is about 13 percent larger than a year ago. Production in the eight eastern states is up 23 percent over 1973, in the central states production is up 13 percent; in the West, up 10 percent.

To growers, this means lower fall prices with only a moderate price rise during the storage season. However, the big supply also promises sharply lower seed stock prices in the spring of 1975 and increased consumer use of fresh and processed potatoes.

As for processors, they will have enough raw products to meet their upcoming increased processing capacity. Also, processors' use of potatoes for frozen potato products may grow by 2 or 3 million hundred-weight. And they'll use 4 to 4.5 million hundred-weight more potatoes for dehydration (mostly flakes).

Consumers will likely respond to lower prices and increase their use of fresh potatoes by about 5 million hundredweight.

FROM THE EDITOR'S DESK

The Silver Living in high gasoline prices is that by discouraging unnecessary driving they help ease our air pollution and traffic problems. We can also glimpse a touch of silver in the cloud now hanging over the world sugar market.

Housewives are aghast at the recent surge in sugar prices, but dentists and doctors may be less upset. They have been telling Americans for years that they eat too many sweets. Our national sweet tooth—leading to consumption of an average of 100 pounds of sugar per person every year—has a lot to do with dental and weight problems and is suspected of a role in many organic disorders.

If a siege of high sugar prices breaks some of our sweet-eating habits, we might wind up saving money in doctor's and dentist's bills.

As the U.S. recession bites deeper into individual pocketbooks, an increasing number of middle-class families are having debt problems.

And the nonprofit agencies that normally help people out of personal credit crunches are being swamped. If the demand for debt counseling continues unabated, some debtors may be forced into bankruptcy because they could not get timely help finding another solution, credit industry sources say.

"Three to four times as many" people as normal are coming into local credit counseling services, says Robert E. Gibson, president of the National Foundation for Consumer Credit. Many local counseling offices are "booked up until the end of the year," he says.

Public opinion polls are always interesting, but their real significance, in terms of shaping the future of the United States, is often vague—to say the least. One such poll has shown that only 14 percent of college youth in 1973 favored living the traditionally clean moral life. But, at the same time, both college and non-college youth agreed that there should be less emphasis on money as well as major reform in business and politics.

Apparently, the young people feel that honest personal relationships fully expressed are more important than stereotyped behavior between individuals, and there is much to be said for this. Still, it is very likely that when it comes time to raise families and pay the bills, the old institution of marriage will, for economic as well as religious reasons, prove to be quite durable. Also, the seeming lack of interest in moral values hardly jibes with concern over immoral behavior in business and political parties. It is time for the old folks to have a little faith in the young people of today. They'll probably turn out alright after all.

Michigan high school youth is getting together to try to reduce the tragic loss of life among young people using the automobile. Under the sponsorship of the Office of Highway Safety Planning and the Office of Substance Abuse Service, a state-wide youth organization has been created called SMASH, an acronym for "Students of Michigan Attaining Safer Highways." Plans call for organizing high school groups and representatives through 17 geographic regions building up to state youth advisory board. Its message to youth summed up thus: "Young people in Michigan are being killed at the rate of more than two a day. Statistics show that about half of the accidents involve alcohol. These young people are not necessarily being killed by a drunk old man with a bald head and a pot belly. They're being killed by someone like you."

While automobile industry executives bemoan the decline in new car sales, an Associated Press survey of auto dealers shows an upsurge in used-car sales and repair and maintenance fees on older models.

It seems that the government's continual increases in taxes is the biggest contributor to inflation. Rising taxes cause the producer to increase prices. In turn labor must have more to meet the increase in the cost of the product. The government then spends more of our money. It seems that a decrease in taxes and government spending could just cause a reverse of this trend.

Man's best friend may be the dog, but when it's just you and that shopping cart in the supermarket, those tempting rolls of trading stamps give Rover some tough competition. For over a century, millions of Americans have supplemented their buying power with trading stamps. Now, with inflation as the overriding concern of most families, stamps are a means of purchasing a few of the staples and luxuries of life that might otherwise be too expensive.

Well, here we go again! You know those expensive catalytic converters required on all 1975 cars were supposed to eliminate harmful exhaust emissions. Now federal Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) scientists fear the converters may be causing more air pollution problems than they cure. The new exhaust systems apparently emit a mist of sulfuric acid in quantities sufficient to cause a possible health hazard in cities where there is high-traffic density. The problem, it is expected, will show up in from two to six years.

Now the EPA is spending more money conducting accelerated research to determine possible health hazards posed by the new pollutants put out by the muffler system which it requires. The head of EPA's Human Studies Division points out that sulfuric acid contamination in the air could aggravate heart and lung diseases and be very tough on older persons and children with allergic problems, such as asthma. It looks like the environmental protectors are going back to the drawing board, while the diving public pays the bill once again.

'Fisherman's Island' A New Park Site

Experts in Michigan Department of Natural Resources have proposed a 3,300-acre "Fisherman's Island" park site along Lake Michigan, southwest of Charlevoix.

The park would include about 1,800 acres of already owned state forest land, as well as a four-acre island offshore, from which the project gets its name. It would include the present Bell's Bay Forest Campground with its 40 rustic campsites.

The park's basic theme would be preservation of the shore line's wild areas, but some extra overnight camping facilities would be installed.

LOWELL LIGHT & POWER

OWNED BY THE PEOPLE OF LOWELL

Thirty-five Inducted Into National Honor Society

The National Honor Society of Lowell High School inducted thirty-five new members on Wednesday evening, December 11, in the "T" Quad of the high school. An audience of about one hundred parents and friends attended the traditional candle-lighting ceremony which emphasized the four principles of scholarship, service, leadership and character upon which National Honor Society is founded.

President Ronald Krebs welcomed the inductees and the audience and introduced the guest speaker, Reverend Richard Greenwood of the Lowell Congregational Church, whose message was entitled "The Unexpected Door."

Roseanne Ritzema gave a brief history of the society noting that this was the eleventh annual ceremony for the Lowell Chapter. Those participating in the candle-lighting ceremony were: Tom Stuart, Sue Christenson, Linda Bailey, and Gil Fonger.

Mr. Dennis McMahon, principal, and Mrs. Virginia Fonger, chapter advisor, presented the pins and membership cards to the following new members: Craig Anderson, Kathleen Anderson, John Bergy, Susan Bieri, Rose Bobko, Glenda Burton, Lloyd Callahan, Robin Childs, Paulette Clark, Barbara Dey, Dan Flier, Pam Galbreath, Teresa Hale, Sandy Hansen, Joy Homolka, Dana Keim, Colleen Kelly, Sandra Kimball, Paula Kirby, John Lauby, Rick Lenartz, William Maurice, Steve Nofke, Cheryl Parsons, John Piper, Dion Ritzema, Jane Rivette, Gary Roth, Joy Singh, Barbara Sterzick, Wendy Stinchcomb, Lori Sypher, Cindy Vander, Pat VanSlyke, and Susan Yost.

The evening was concluded with refreshments served in the Carl Hagen Media Center with the following second year members as hosts and hostesses: Gail Kloosterman, chairperson; Linda Bailey, Susan Christensen, Gilbert Fonger, Ronald Krebs, George Lessens, Rick Loughlin, Craig Mulder, Robert Pfaller, Roseanne Ritzema, Tom Stuart and Kurt Yost.

It is an honor to be selected to NHS. To be eligible a junior must have a 3.0 scholastic average and cannot have a "D" grade for a semester mark. A senior who has maintained a 3.0 and "D" is eligible. The Guidance Office Staff prepares a list of those juniors and seniors who have qualified scholastically. Next, the NHS sponsor asks the faculty to rate those students on the basis of service, character and leadership. Finally, the Faculty Advisory Committee (principal and heads of departments) selects those students who obviously qualify using the rating sheet totals and their own best knowledge and judgment.

CONSUMERS LACKING CONFIDENCE

Consumer confidence is at a 25-year low, according to a University of Michigan survey of consumer attitudes published recently.

The quarterly survey, conducted by economist Jay Schmiesskamp and George Katona, shows attitudes toward buying cars and houses are at record lows and that sentiment toward buying large household durables have also turned significantly downward.

Increased worries about recession and a slowdown in the economy were given as reasons for the sentiment decline.

The economists said that unless consumer confidence improves, through a change in government economic policy, "the current recession could be long and severe."

MORE MURDERS

Serious crime rose by 15 percent during the 1st quarter of the year, continuing the upward trend in the last quarter of 1973 and murder and assault both increased 7 percent, according to the FBI.

BIG OL' WINEMAKER
About 86 percent of all wine produced in the United States comes from California, according to the Wine Institute in San Francisco.

STRIKING FIGURE

Some 5,600 strikes are estimated to have begun in 1973—an increase of almost 500 over 1972 and the third largest number of strikes on record for a single year.

Here's our special wish: seasonal good tidings for happiness—sincere gratitude for letting us serve you.

'Heart Of Gold' Produces Million Dollar Smile

Thanks to 'Uncle Carl' Behnke, the lives of thousands of underprivileged and handicapped children have been brightened over a 45-year span.

Pictured is one of the 44 doll houses built and given to children's institutions by 'Uncle Carl,' the man with the golden heart.

The scale model house is fully equipped with furniture, lights, carpeting, doorbell... everything including the kitchen sink.

This doll house will be 'Uncle Carl's' Christmas gift this year to Altoft School of Special Education on Coats Grove Road, Hastings.

Mr. Behnke retired as a safety engineer in 1968 after 25 years of working for the Hartford Insurance Group. Since that time his Cascade Township workshop has produced colorful items to delight children of all ages... plus senior citizens, too!

His craftsmanship has produced besides the doll houses, sleighs designed to pull several children at a time; playground swings; animated objects for playrooms; bird feeders and dog houses.

Despite the fact that he has received many citations for his accomplishments, including one from the Vatican, one from former President Richard Nixon, and many organizations, he says his greatest reward for his service is derived from the children he helps.

"One of my most thrilling moments was strapping a doll to the foot of a bed of a little girl who didn't have either arm, only a million dollar smile of delight."

"Of course," Uncle Carl added, "my work for the kids couldn't have been possible without the cooperation of the wonderful people at Meekhof Lumber Company in Cascade, and the many persons and organizations that have stepped in and helped."

"Until recently, the Behnkes, who have been wed 51 years, lived in Cascade. Now, their home is in Lake Odessa, where their two daughters, Mrs. Martin Johnson and Mrs. Roy Benson reside.

Synopsis, '74

The Lowell Senior Center opened at 214 East Main Street—the scene of many activities for Lowell area senior citizens. Howard Clack was named its director.

Michigan residents complained during the winter months as Michigan joined the rest of the nation in an energy-saving time change.

Some local store-owners shortened their business hours as an energy-saving step.

Early in the year, State Police reported fewer traffic deaths as a result of both the gas shortage and the 55 mph speed limit.

Lowell Township officials moved into their new Township Hall on Showboat Highway (Alden Nash Avenue).

Area gas stations observed shorter hours and Sunday closings during the critical fuel shortage in the first six months of the year.

The Lowell Police Department received new radios for cruisers, together with walkie-talkies for better communication.

Lowell Area Jaycees sponsored their first drive for the Lowell Area Blood Bank—a program to provide blood replacement credits for residents who live, work, worship or belong to a civic organization in the City of Lowell.

Showboat Corporation conducted a drive for funds for the construction of a new $60,000 Amphitheatre with the completion date set for July 15.

Democrat Richard VanderVeen became the new Fifth Congressional District Representative.

The City of Lowell, through the efforts of the Lowell Police Reserve and the Police Department, acquired an emergency Rescue Unit. Many area residents and organizations contributed towards its purchase.

George Kirby and the Christy Minstrels were the headliners for the 1974 Lowell Showboat.

Dr. Richard Siegle became the new president of the Lowell Area School's Board of Education.

President Gerald R. Ford was on hand for the dedication of the new Showboat Amphitheatre during Showboat week.

Gerald Rudolph Ford became the 38th president of the United States upon the resignation of Richard M. Nixon.

The Kent County 4-H Youth Fair was declared "bigger and better" than ever by fairgoers attending the 1974 event held the first week in August.

City officials and Lowell businessmen studied plans for revitalization of the Central business area.

Lowell's athletic field was renamed Burch Field in honor of Carroll (Chris) Burch, former football coach and athletic director.

Dr. Herbert Mueller was appointed to the newly-formed nine-member Barrier Free Design Board by Governor Milliken.

Lowell State Savings Bank completed a new front on the bank, and the new M-44 office opened for business November 25th.

'Captains Korner,' a new men's shop and 'Kits and Krafts,' offering a variety of arts and crafts supplies, joined the Main Street bunch.

Additions to Bushnell and Alto Schools were underway.

With Hope For Tomorrow

Well, here we are . . . the old year fast fading . . . to become, what? Another chapter in a history book?—people, places and events reduced to the printed page?—soon blending into a fine tina of memories to be taken out and dusted off occasionally when we play "remember when?"

For each of us, the year has had its usual share of happy times . . . along with some we'd just as soon forget.

There are the several things we, all of us, had planned to do which remain, as yet, undone . . . a visit with a special friend . . . projects started, but not quite finished . . . others, still in the 'job jar'—seed for next year's good intentions.

This year, all of us, to a greater or lesser degree, have been affected by inflation, rising prices, job layoffs and energy shortages. Daily the headlines and news reports have served to induce a psychology of fear for the future—not only for ourselves, but for our children . . . we wonder what the world will be in another 10 or 20 years.

We find ourselves searching for words of reassurance . . . solutions to the problems of feeding a world whose population continues to increase while our food reserves decrease . . . of crimes committed against every strata of society . . . of the use of hard drugs and their effect on a generation hence.

But today is the tomorrow we worried about yesterday, and the problems of today will soon be recorded in the annals of history, where coming generations will attempt to find their answers and understanding of the perplexities confronting a world most of us will never know.

There is both faith and hope to be drawn from the lives and times of our forefathers. Every era has had its share of problems; famines, wars, violence, corruption are not unique to our time, but have been visited upon the peoples of the earth since time began.

"This, too, shall pass" is often quoted in times of stress. It says, take heart—all is not lost; there is hope for a better tomorrow.

As we celebrate this Christmas season and 1974 draws to a close, I wish you all good health . . . and many happy tomorrows.

Honey Bee Hive Rentals

More than 100 enthusiasts were briefed on beekeeping December 10 while the Michigan Beekeepers Association debated 1975 hive rental prices.

Consideration for higher hive rentals stems from increased cost inputs to the beekeeper. In a prepared statement, the association stated "due to increased expenses, the Michigan Beekeepers Association goes on record as recommending a price of $18 or more per colony for pollination purposes."

Some of the increased expenses cited included: higher costs for bees, hive materials, honey processing energy, transportation and basic supplies.
