Bicycle Riders Target Of Police Crackdown

Monday, Lowell Chief of Police Barry Emmons ordered a crackdown on all bicycle riders found in violation of the law . . . those who repeatedly disregard the traffic and safety regulations.

"Within the next month," Emmons announced, "we hope to have a local ordinance drawn up that would require the registration and licensing of each bicycle in the City." "The implementation of this type of ordinance," Emmons explained will make our job easier, plus it will be a vital tool for the citizens who have their bikes stolen, or they want to report an incident involving a bike rider."

"As it now stands, Emmons commented, "all bicyclists caught violating the law, such as weaving in and out of traffic, riding on the wrong side of the road, etc., will have their bikes impounded at the scene, and they will be subject to a fine." "Under the State of Michigan's Motor Vehicle Code, all bicyclists must obey the same traffic regulations imposed on motorists."

"Any rider caught riding after dark, without the proper equipment," Emmons revealed, "will also be under the new enforcement."

"Alert is Alive," is the theme of these thirteen bike driving tips, developed by the Michigan Traffic Safety Information Council, and promoted by the Lowell Police Department:

1. Know and obey all traffic signs.
2. Drive on the right side of the street, as close to the edge of the road as you can. Go in the same direction as the cars.
3. Even though you have a legal right to the road, always be ready to give cars the right-of-way. Some car drivers may be so busy watching out for other cars, they don't notice your bike.
4. Don't drive out from between two parked cars. When you drive beside parked cars, watch out for a car door being opened.
5. When you cross a busy street, get off your bike and walk it.
6. Never carry packages unless you have a basket or carrier. And never let them be in your way.

7. Always drive with both hands on your handlebars. The only time you take a hand off the handlebars is when you signal to let someone else know what you plan to do.

8. Never carry a rider on your bike. It makes it hard to control your bike, as well as harder to see where you are going. It's also against the law.

9. If it is legal in your town, drive on the sidewalk. Be sure you have a bell or horn on your bike. Ring your bell when you are coming close to people walking (pedestrians). Always give pedestrians the right-of-way.

10. Slow down or stop at cross-roads (intersections), side-streets, and driveways. Look both ways before crossing.

11. Never hitch rides from another moving vehicle.

12. Never show off on your bike. When you want to do any trick bike driving, get away from all traffic, including people on foot. Don't bother others and don't try tricks that could hurt you, other people, or property.

13. Get off the streets when it begins to get dark. If you are going to be out after sunset, your bike must have a strong light on the front and good reflectors on the back. You should wear light colored clothes. Stay away from busy streets and streets where there is fast traffic.

Ten Candidates File For School Board Seats

A large field of candidates is slated to run for seats on the Lowell Board of Education next month when incumbent Roger Roberts and Eugene G. Kaye will oppose each other for the lone three-year term, while incumbent David W. Miller, Mary Ellen Biermucki, Robert Wallace Blatt, Jack E. Butterworth, William E. Heintzleman, John J. Lalley, Mrs. Terry L. Zandstra and Roger L. Kropf will vie for the two remaining four-year seats.

Board members were informed Monday night that no bids had been received on the Koevers' house for the minimum $18,000 so work was proceeding on repainting both the interior and exterior and landscaping was underway. After the work is completed, Business Manager, Jerry Wabeke, indicated that the school would put the house up for rent until such a time as it could be sold.

Following an updated report by Agricultural Instructor Peter Siler, in which he indicated that pre-enrollment lists show that the number of students taking agricultural courses will more than double next year, the board voted to approve an expenditure, not to exceed $6,900, to enlarge the present classroom facilities and purchase additional equipment. Student Tim Bergy added to Siler's report with a review of FFA activities this year.

Two contingents of high school students also appeared before the board. One group of seniors requested permission, and $300, to landscape and construct walkways in the school's courtyard just east of the cafeteria. Their plan also called for the construction of a wishing well topped by the old school bell that was saved when the former high school and junior high building was torn down last year. Scott McNeal displayed a plan he had drawn up for the project while Kurt Yost, spokesman for the group, explained that the work would be done by the landscape and shop classes for a total cost of approximately $450. Yost indicated that the Student Congress would donate $50 to the cause and each class treasury would be approached for $25, leaving a balance of $300 for the board to pay.

The students felt that it would not only be a relaxing place to spend their noon hours, but it would also upgrade the appearance of the building and provide a place of honor for the old school bell and an accompanying plaque.

The board agreed to take it under advisement.

The second group of students, representing the Student Congress, was also led by Yost and requested that the board consider an early graduation procedure whereby students could take six subjects in each of their first three high school years and thus be able to graduate in January of their senior year.

Stating that a mid-year graduation would allow students going on to college to get in several extra months of working to earn their college tuition or would allow those who intend to enter the business world to begin earlier, the student representatives indicated that they felt it would also be an extra incentive to work harder during the first three years.

The board informed the group that they would look into it as there are apparently many pros and cons to the suggestion.

Lippert Gets Red Flannel Presidency

Chuck Lippert, proprietor of the Lippert Pharmacy on East Main Street, Lowell, has taken over the presidency of the board of the Red Flannel Factory in Cedar Springs.

Speaking to the firm's stockholders after his elevation to the top post, Lippert described some of the goals he was setting for the factory during the fiscal year 1975-76.

He said he will aim at a sales year of $150,000. The final sales total for the fiscal year ending March 31, 1975, was $90,000.

Lippert spoke about introducing new garments into the line, and said he will work for increased production, efficiency and volume. He is also president of the Lowell Showboat Corporation.

Campaign Chairman For Lowell Drive

Mrs. Pat Unger was today named local Chairman of the 1975 Breath of Life Campaign to fight children's lung diseases. The newly-appointed Chairman is a resident of Lowell and will lead local volunteers in raising funds to support the research and care for children suffering from Cystic Fibrosis, severe asthma, chronic bronchitis and other related lung-damaging diseases.

The 1975 Campaign will be conducted during the month of September, which is C/F month nationwide. Cystic Fibrosis, presently incurable, is inherited when both parents carry the recessive gene.

It is believed that one in twenty persons carries the C/F gene, usually without knowing it. When C/F research began in 1960, a child's life expectancy was only two years. Today it is eighteen years.

The key to continued progress and eventual cure or control lies in expanded research to be funded by Breath of Life Campaigns throughout the nation such as the one presently being organized by Mrs. Unger.

FROM THE EDITOR'S DESK

IN FLANDERS' FIELDS

In Flanders' fields the poppies blow
Between the crosses, row on row,
That mark our place; and in the sky
The larks still bravely singing fly,
Scarce heard amid the guns below.

We are the dead,
Short days ago we lived, fair dawned glow,
Loved and were loved and now we lie
In Flanders' fields.

Take up our quarrel with the foe,
To you from falling hands we throw
The Torch—be yours to hold it high;
If ye break faith with us who die
We shall not sleep, though poppies grow
In Flanders' fields.

By Colonel John McCrea

On May 15, 16, and 17, all of us will be asked to wear a red memorial poppy. As most of you certainly know, once each year Americans observe Poppy Days which is a voluntary tribute to our dead and disabled servicemen.

By accepting one of these poppies from a member of the Lowell American Legion or V.F.W. Auxiliaries, we aid the living victims of the past wars while honoring our dead.

The poppy grew in the battlefields of France and Belgium where American servicemen have fallen during two World Wars. In the years following the first World War the poppy came to be recognized as nature's tribute to the war dead, and it was soon adopted as the official memorial flower of service organizations such as the American Legion and V.F.W.

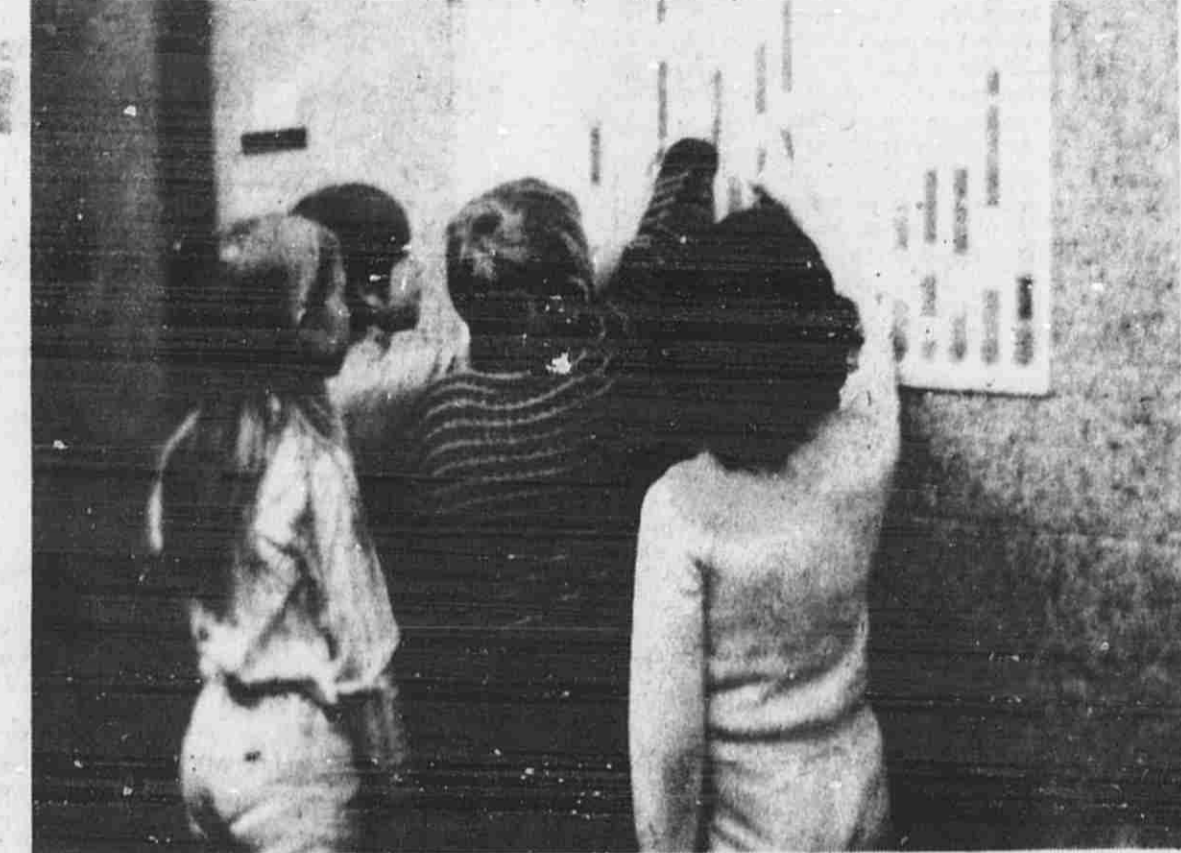

The poppies you will wear on Poppy Days (May 15, 16 and 17 in Lowell) have an even greater significance than the flowers which bloomed on the battlefields of Europe. These memorial poppies you will be offered have been made in hospitals and workshops where the suffering of war still exists. The disabled veterans who make these flowers are able to gain a dual benefit from their work—the poppy program gives many men their own opportunity to support themselves and their families; and it offers them a productive pastime with which to combat long hours in the hospital wards.

Volunteers who offer the poppies to the public—unlike the disabled veteran—receive nothing tangible for their work. However, these workers gain satisfaction from their contribution to a program which honors the war dead while assisting the living.

Money dropped into contribution boxes in exchange for poppies goes directly to the welfare activities of the American Legion and V.F.W. Auxiliaries; all funds are used for the aid of disabled veterans, their families and the families of deceased servicemen.

Understanding the character and purpose of Poppy Days, would any of us wish to ignore this appeal? I am sure all of us will consider it a privilege to wear a poppy again this year on Poppy Days.

It's Super Saturday At Ada School

Students at Ada Elementary School check the chart to see which class will earn a trip to Farrell's. The contest is being conducted in connection with 'Super Saturday' (May 17) from 1 to 4 p.m. at the school.

'Super Saturday' at Ada Elementary School this year will be May 17. It will be a day full of fun, food, games and prizes for the entire family, between the hours of 1 and 4 p.m.

Two new events have been added to this year's carnival, announces Sue Cook, chairman. "There will be the Space Walk and a Cake Decorating Contest. Other surprises will also be on, popping up throughout the festivities, she revealed.

Mrs. Marilyn Crawford, in charge of coupons and raffle tickets, said the students are busy collecting coupons for raffle prizes, to see which room will win a trip to Farrell's.

Mrs. Vada's fifth grade students are once again sewing a beautiful Roman Road quilt, which will be auctioned off on Super Saturday.

The Carnival's Country Store will be bigger and better... there'll be many new handcrafted articles, penny candy and fudge, challenging checker matches, a popcorn machine, plant seedlings and school stationery.

An old fashioned cake walk will be held, a Spook room will delight all ages, balloon and dart games will challenge all contestants, and there will be many others.

For the hungry carnival goers, a delicious lunch, consisting of hot dogs, sloppy joes, potato chips, brownies, pies and beverages, will be served in the Multi-purpose room.

Plan a fun-filled family afternoon Saturday, May 17, with the students, teachers and carnival workers at Ada School.

1876 Atlas Being Reproduced As Bicentennial Project

An 1876 atlas of Kent and Ottawa counties is being re-issued by the Grand Rapids Museum Association as a bicentennial project, and a pre-publication sale campaign is entering its final weeks.

The Association is having reproduced an "Illustrated Historical Atlas of Ottawa and Kent Counties, Michigan," and is offering it for sale at a pre-publication price of $12.50 through May 31. After that the price will be $14.50.

The 128-page book contains 43 pages of engravings of farms, businesses and prize animals of Kent and Ottawa County residents; maps of original townships showing both landowners and their acreage; biographical sketches; patrons' directories; and county and township histories.

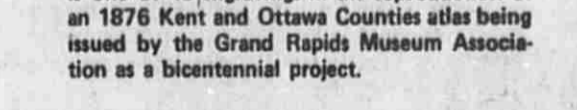

The black and white reproduction will measure 14 by 11 inches and will be bound in library-quality buckram.

The original atlas was published by H. Belden of Chicago, and printed by the Chicago Lithography Company. It is being reproduced for the Museum Association by Unigraphics, Inc., of Evansville, Ind., one of the largest such publishers in the country.

The 1876 atlas was published in two editions, one just a Kent County edition, and the second the combined Kent and Ottawa Counties edition. Only a few copies of either is known to exist. Both the Herrick Public Library in Holland and the Grand Rapids Public Library have copies. There is an edition of the Kent County atlas on display in the Grand Rapids Museum gift shop.

Copies of the atlas may be reserved by sending a check for $12.50 for each copy, made payable to 1876 Atlas, c/o the Grand Rapids Museum Association, 54 Jefferson S.E., Grand Rapids 49502.

Atlases sold within the immediate Grand Rapids zip code area will be picked up at the Museum, and all other books will be mailed directly to the purchasers.

Read The "Want Ads"

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

Through several years of reading the Lowell Ledger I have noticed that you never shy away from a good fight, you apparently have a deep interest in the Lowell School System, and you say what's on your mind.

I have something to say, perhaps to alert you to what many consider a real danger and to reach, through you, the voting public.

In the upcoming school election at least five of the candidates for the Board of Education are teachers, former teachers or a close relative of a teacher. Now, electing teacher-sponsored candidates is, for the most part, giving up the control of the school by the general public and turning it over to the teachers. Perhaps, at first glance, this might seem like a good thing, but actually it is a very real danger.

Teachers do an excellent job of teaching—that's what they are trained for and that's where their expertise lies.

However, they are inexperienced in financial matters, in budget control and in seeing the overall educational picture from the standpoint of financing as well as spending.

Back in 1973 Terry Herndon, the executive secretary of the National Education Association, spoke at the association's national convention in Portland, Oregon, and among other similar remarks said, "Simply stated, the goal in this offensive is to give teachers the decision making authority, the public esteem and the economic remuneration they deserve and must have."

Since that time teacher-sponsored candidates have been working their way into elective positions throughout the country and even at the grass roots level on local boards of education. In Lowell we now have two former teachers as members of the present Board of Education. They are, I might add, doing a fine job in presenting the other board members with teacher input. However, there are five other businessmen members of the board who serve as a check-rein on items that might be nice for teachers to have but that the community cannot, at this point, afford. The balance would swing in the other direction if, in the coming election, three new teacher candidates were added, making the ratio 5 to 2.

As I stated in the beginning, the control of the school board should remain within the realm of the general tax paying public, not the teachers.

Remember, when you go to the polls on June 9, a successful business concern doesn't turn its checkbook over to its employees.

A successful school board cannot be run by teachers.

Sincerely,
David W. Miller

Game Dinner Is Epicurean Delight

The Big Game dinner, hosted by Bob and Doris Ellis last Saturday night at the American Legion Hall was acclaimed a triumph of titillating taste treats by the fifty fortunate guests who attended the annual affair.

The dinner, made possible by Bob's successful hunting trip last fall in Montana, was prepared Italian style by Bob's sister, Joanne Siciliano, who though Italian only by marriage, nevertheless, whipped up a mouth watering Lasagna, made with elk meat.

Platters of breaded elk steak, Italian salad and whole string beans with pieces of kabasa made from deer meat and Italian garlic bread completed the fare, topped off by bowls of shimmering jello with whipped cream and plenty of hot coffee.

After an intermission, during which KP duties were performed graciously (?) by several of the men chosen at random by host Bob, (they had little recourse, having just gorged themselves at his table), guests settled back and enjoyed slides of the beautiful scenery of Montana country.

For the past several years, the call of the wild has lured Bob and several friends back to an area near Hysham, Montana. There, together with Bob's old Montana friend of World War II days, Stern Riley, they quest for some of the big game animals of the west, deer, antelope, elk, etc., has most often been a rewarding one. But one detects that the camaraderie of the male species and the enjoyment of the great outdoors contribute as much to the success of the hunt as a beautiful kill.

P.S. We are sorry to report that the Ledger has learned Bob suffered an accident Monday night and is reported to have lost the tip of a finger when it tangled with a lawn mower. We wish him a speedy recovery.

The countdown has begun on the 1975 Miss Lowell Showboat Scholarship Pageant, now in its fifth year, under the sponsorship of the Lowell Area Jaycees.

Seven of the area's most talented girls will vie for the coveted crown during the pageant Saturday, May 31, at the Lowell Middle School Cafeteria, beginning at 8 p.m.

Primary motivation for the girls entering the pageant will be the scholarship awards offered by the Jaycees. Individual awards, Miss Congeniality, etc., also await the entrants.

Planning for the 1975 pageant began almost immediately following the crowning of Leisa VonEhr as Miss Lowell Showboat last June. Scott Gietzen, a relative newcomer to the Jaycees, has assumed the role of candidate coordinator, and announced this week five more contestants. They are:

Robin Childs, a senior at Lowell High School, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Childs, 209 King Street, Lowell.

Sandy Thompson, a junior at Lowell High School, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Thompson of 1286 Laurie Gail Drive, Lowell.

Kim Andrews, a sophomore at Lowell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Al Andrews of 917 Lincoln Lake Road, North, Lowell.

Diane Rickert, a senior at Lowell High School, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Darle Rickert of 421 North Lincoln Lake Road, Lowell.

Jayne McNally, a senior at Lowell High School, daughter of Mrs. Jane Buchner of 1435 Carol Lynde

Marketing Men Of The Year

Jay VanAndel and Richard M. DeVos, co-founders and chief executive officers of Amway Corporation, have been named "Marketing Men of the Year" by the West Michigan Chapter of the American Marketing Association (AMA). Announcement of the selection was made by Dr. Conner Ottosen, president of the area AMA organization.

Presented annually, this award recognizes success and achievement in all aspects of the marketing profession. Innovation and particular success during the previous year are considered most specifically during the selection process.

Amway Corporation was founded in 1959, and is now one of the largest members of the direct sales industry. Total sales have grown from $500,000 during the first year to over $230,000,000 estimated sales at retail during 1974. Expansion has also included international development, including Canada, the United Kingdom, Australia, Hong Kong, Guam, Puerto Rico, and West Germany. Home offices and manufacturing facilities are located in Ada, Michigan.

Official presentation of the awards will occur at the Grand Rapids Hospitality Inn on May 21, 1975. Former recipients of this award include Frederik Meijer of Meijer, Inc. and James S. Gilmore of Gilmore Enterprises.

Freedom Train's Schedule Includes Stop In Ada

Kent County's Freedom Train Committee announced today that the American Freedom Train will arrive in Grand Rapids on July 7. Public viewing of the many historical and educational artifacts aboard the train will occur between 8 a.m. and 10 p.m. on July 8th and July 9th. The train will depart on July 10th.

Amway Corporation, located on M-21 in Ada, has been selected as the display site for the Grand Rapids stop on the Freedom Train's schedule. Safety of the visitors and technical railroad requirements were the determining factors in the selection.

Exhibits collected for this project include a variety of educational presentations, depicting different aspects of our 200 years of history. Ten boxcars have been refurbished completely, and visitors are moved through the cars on a conveyor system with a capacity of 1,800 people per hour. In addition to the Freedom Train, many trackside exhibits by local groups are being planned, and entertainment will be scheduled throughout the two-day event.

Tickets for the Freedom Train are $2 for Adults, and $1 for Youth (under 18) and Senior Citizens (over 65). Proceeds will be used to pay for the costs of sponsoring the train, with any profits being donated to the local Boy Scout and Girl Scout Councils for use in their Bicentennial activities.

Tickets for the event will be available during the first part of June. Groups of fifty (50) or more may write to: The American Freedom Train, P.O. Box 1776, Ada, Michigan, 49301 for reservations. Further information can be obtained by calling 676-6600 between 8:30 a.m. and 5 p.m.

Speeding Tickets By Mail From Friendly Robot

State Police are considering use of a new device to catch and ticket speeding motorists without a policeman ever laying eyes on them.

The machine is a combination camera and timer, which electronically clocks a speeding car and takes a picture of the offending vehicle and driver. The camera has an infra-red capability so it can even take your picture at night.

The timer legally establishes whether a car is speeding. The photo identifies the car and license number, as well as the occupants of the car. After determining the license number and checking motor vehicle files, a traffic ticket is mailed to the owner of the car.

SOVIET UNION YOUNG ADULTS VISIT STATES

Overlooked in the important events of the past several weeks in Indo-China was the visit to the U.S. by sixteen young adults from the Soviet Union. The group was the first to come under the new exchange agreement reached last November in Moscow by the YMCA and the Committee of Youth Organizations of the USSR.

One of the many highlights of the Soviets' three-week stay was the laying of a wreath at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier in Arlington National Cemetery.

REGULATION AND TRUCKING

Some people feel the regulated transportation system of the United States should not be regulated. They argue, the industry which approves of regulation, must be lining their pockets because of it. And for these reasons, they argue the Interstate Commerce Commission should be abolished.

We have regulation for one prime reason—to insure transportation service and standardized rates for communities located away from major shipping centers such as Detroit. Here, there is no cutthroat competition or biased rates. A shipper in Alpena can send his freight for the same rate as a shipper of similar freight in Detroit.

Shippers and merchants in places like Muskegon, Jackson, Petoskey and Midland can count on regular service and standard rates that do not change daily or hourly because of ICC regulation.

The way we see it, without regulation, Michigan communities would have little to depend upon, except extremely poor service and a very unfair rate system.

A regulated transportation system is not the best of all possible worlds. But it is far better than no transportation system at all. Or worse, a government-run system.

NOW FACES BIGGEST CHALLENGE

Remember when you could send a postcard for 3¢, and for only 5¢ you could buy a candy bar? When 15¢ bought you a hot dog and 10¢ a refreshing root beer? You probably didn't know, but that also was the year your parents could buy a kilowatt-hour of electricity from us for 2.38 cents.

Things have changed a lot since 1960...music, politics, sports, our entire life style — and prices. Especially prices! For example, the same 10¢ root beer today will cost you 25¢. Why? Because sugar is essential in making root beer. And as the price of sugar goes up, so does root beer. That's exactly what has happened to the price of our kilowatt-hour.

Prices have soared for just about everything we buy. A coal-burning power plant, comparable in size to one built in 1960, would cost us over four times more to build, today, than 15 years ago. The equipment used to protect the natural environment adds from 15 to 40 percent to the cost of new generating stations. And the cost of coal used in electric generation has more than doubled.

Everyone's biggest challenge, yours and ours, is to make ends meet in these inflationary times. And we will be the first to admit that it isn't easy.

So, along with the price of everything else, the price we must charge you for electric service has been increasing. However, the average price you pay today for electricity has only increased approximately one cent per kilowatt-hour since 1960. And, when you consider what inflation has done over the past 15 years to the price of almost everything — including a root beer — we hope you will think your electric service is still a good buy.

'Super Striders' Walk Under Bright Sunny Sky

The Footsteps for Burns Walkathon drew 340 men, women, and children to join in the endeavor to raise funds to aid burn victims last Saturday for the Lowell Area Jaycees Walkathon.

The first four walkers back at the starting gate were Tami Clemenz, Barbara Phillips, Phyllis Courser and Mary Rosenberg.

For those who lost clothing, sunglasses and numerous other articles along the way, they may possibly be retrieved by calling 897-8071, Mr. Sheffer states.

Alto Cow In Top Twenty

A cow owned by an Alto dairy man has qualified for listing among the Michigan Dairy Herd Improvement Association's exclusive "Milk and Butterfat Top Twenty" high producers for the month of April.

Joe Oesch's 32-month-old Holstein cow, with the barn name Missig 1, has completed her 305 ME lactation record with 24,246 pounds of milk, 878 pounds of butterfat and a 3.7 test.

Oesch has his herd enrolled in the DHIA testing program and is supervised by Walter Longbach of Lake Odessa. They work in cooperation with Robert Kinsey, Kent County Extension Agent, and Michigan DHIA, Inc.

DAHA, Inc., a state-wide dairy production testing organization, provides production management records for 2,100 Michigan dairyman milking 127,000 cows.

Further information about the production testing program can be obtained from your county extension agent or by contacting DAHA, Inc., Box 1240, East Lansing, Michigan 48823.

IN MEMORIAM

IN MEMORIAM In memory of D. Daniel Tarson, who passed away two years ago, May 19. A precious one from us is gone. A voice we loved is still heard. A place is vacant in our hearts which never can be filled. We often sit and think of him when we are all alone. For memory is the only friend that grief can call its own. He left a beautiful memory. A sorrow too great to be told. But to us who loved and lost him. His memory will never grow old. The many things he did for us. Lives within our hearts each day. And keeps him near and dear to us. Since God took him away. He filled our lives with happiness. And gave us all his love. For all the years we shared with him. We thank the Lord above. His Family c6
