Board Decision Accepts Carpeting And The Savings

History repeated itself Monday night when Lowell Area School Board members were informed that the carpeting for Bushnell and Alto's new additions didn't quite meet specifications.

Although the variation in stitching, found through two separate tests, was only slight, it still did not meet the specs and the board was faced with a decision to reject it entirely and wait for more to be manufactured or to accept a reduction in price of $6,500 from the manufacturer, Marjohn Corp. Business Manager Jerry Wabeke stated that he had consulted with several carpeting experts and was assured that the variance would not affect either the quality or wear factors and added that the Marjohn Corp would issue the same guarantee that covered the original specifications.

Don Beachum, local merchant from whom the carpet was actually purchased, appeared before the board and stated his position both as a supplier and a local tax payer. "There is probably nobody more upset by this than I am," Beachum began, "and my first thought is to send it back and make them right this wrong. However, as a taxpayer, the price reduction is really too good a deal to pass up since the carpet will stand up to what is required of it."

Board members carefully considered the financial savings plus the added problem of being able to open school on time if final construction were to be delayed while waiting for new carpeting. Those two items, together with the assurance of the same guarantee, brought about a unanimous decision to accept both the carpeting and the savings.

The question of whether or not the board would accede to a student request for an early January graduation date for some future seniors, was not resolved but was referred to the policy making committee for study and recommendation.

Supt. Leonard Sinke cautioned that since the State is at least considering the possibility of taking a student count for State Aid payments twice each year, he would like to see the Board agree to review individual cases but not make it a blanket policy when the district might some day lose part of its revenue.

The Board did, however, approve another student request for improvement of the High School courtyard with the installation of the old school bell and benches to make it a relaxing study area. Their approval was given with the stipulation that it meet with the approv-al of the State Fire Marshall.

The possibility of assigning elementary bus students to the three elementary schools by the area in which they live was discussed briefly. It is felt by bus personnel that a great deal of money is spent in having all buses stop at all three schools. Since those students living within the Lowell City limits are assigned to an elementary school in their area, depending upon which side of the river they live, it is felt that the same thing should apply to bus students in order to operate the bus fleet more effectively and economically.

It was suggested that perhaps parents should serve on a study committee with the board to resolve the question.

With the announcement of the election results near the end of the meeting, retiring board member Phil Kropf remarked that some money had been saved since school stationery will still have Miller and Kropf on the letterhead.

Kropf also took a few minutes to pass out tongue-incheek plaques to each of the seven he will be leaving after having served the school well and earnestly for the past four years. He will be missed.

Notes Must Be Erased

Last year should be recorded as a most significant year in the history of the Lowell Showboat. As tangible evidence to support this fact, the bank of the Flat River now hosts the beautiful new Showboat Amphitheatre. This was one of the largest fund raising projects that has ever been attempted in Lowell, and thanks to many of the citizens of Lowell and businesses in and around Lowell, we were successful in raising over $40,000 last summer toward our goal of $60,000.

At the beginning of our fund raising project last year we promised that it would be a two-year project. Now we must face the second year. It is always more difficult to generate the same amount of enthusiasm the second year as all of the glitter has worn off. But the need is still there. Several individuals in Lowell were gracious enough to personally sign notes in order that the Showboat Corporation might pay off its creditors which accumulated during the construction phase. Now we must erase these notes this year and once again strenghten our financial picture.

When you are contacted this year to do your share no matter how large or small, please give this matter careful consideration. Support the Showboat Amphitheatre project in various ways such as the "Bike-athon," etc. Your help is needed. For those who helped last year, a great big thank you!

Participation Needed For

Ada's Fourth Celebration

In the village of Ada, where each year a spectacular schedule of events is held on the 4th of July, plans are being formulated for this year's happenings, which promise to be bigger and better in every way.

The arranging of an agenda for the day's activities is underway, and any group or organization wishing to participate in the parade, or have a booth, are urged to call 676-9705, 676-1163 or 676-1898. Bands are also needed to march in the traditional 4th of July parade, as are groups, organizations and individuals.

After an afternoon of fun-filled events for the whole family, the dusk hours of evening will bring a big display of fireworks, provided by the Ada firemen.

A recent day in the life of Mr. Leonard Morrison, a resident of Cherry Creek Nursing Home was brightened through the receipt of a letter containing ten dollars from someone who wished to remain anonymous. It was not as much the money as it was the sender's reason for writing the letter, that gladdened the heart of a man, who at the age of 91, enjoys recounting years from the past.

In the letter, the writer confessed to having taken "candy from your little store when nobody was around.

"Who I am is not important-why I am sending you this money is. Since I have been saved, the Lord has changed my life. This ten dollars may not be much, but it could stop me from going all the way with Jesus. I hope you know him as your friend and Savior, too."

Mr. Morrison easily recalls that candy was always being stolen when he and his wife owned a little store "on old 21 (M-16) across from the South Boston Grange Hall for a number of years after he had had to give up farming because of an injury to his back.

Born in 1883 on what is now the Lee Lampkin farm, Mr. Morrison was orphaned at 12 years of age and went to work in a lumber camp, cooking for "sometimes 75 or 80 lumberjacks-even making bread." This was in the "wild woods of Mason County" and he remembers playing with the young Indian children of the area and the name of their chief, Charlie Chicka-

Mr. Morrison also revealed that about 35 years ago, as a result of a search of the family tree, he learned he was related to Abraham Lincoln through the marriage of his mother's father to Lincoln's sister.

As a young man, he ran a steam-powered threshing machine-later going into business for himself with the purchase of his own threshing machine for harvesting grain for area farmers-a service he continued for some years before going into farming himself.

In 1954, when he was 70 years old, he built a new house on Peck Lake Road, near Saranac, where he had a bicycle repair shop and also did some furniture repairing

Although he gave up his shop about 20 years ago, he fixed his last bike just two years ago, when he was 90 years old. Mr. Morrison will be 92 on November 1 this year.

Estimate Given For Pedestrian Walk-Lights

by Dave Barnes

Michael L. Jones, district traffic Engineer for the Grand Rapids office of the Michigan Department of Highways and Transportation, was to have sent Blaine Bacon, Lowell City Manager, an estimate of $3,192 early this week for pedestrian walk-lights and other traffic-control improvements at Hudson and Main Streets.

Bacon had requested an estimate for pedestrian walk-lights. Jones did this and recommended the relocation of the traffic signal pole now too close to the street corner, a wider turning radius at each corner and the replacement of overhead cables from the pole to the traffic signal.

The MDHT and Lowell would share equally in the cost

Dear Editor

I would really like to know what makes some kids "tick" when they get behind the wheel of a car! Last night, Sunday, my husband could have been killed as a result of two smart alecs "dragging" on Alden Nash. To avoid hitting the one car head-on, he had to take to the ditch and as a result, we have a smashed up 1975 car, he has facial lacerations, possible head injuries, and, has re-injured his back-which of course has put him out of work for we don't know how long yet-so-"Thanks" (???) kids for your foolishness!!

I realize all kids who drive aren't reckless-they respect and realize the value of life, limb and propertybut, the others seem to think driving a car is like playing with a toy-if someone or something gets smashed up it makes no difference. If these people want to endanger their own lives, then let them go to a regular race track and "play" to their hearts content! Stay off public roads!

I want to thank Jim Dart who came upon the acci-dent and found my husband and brought him home. We also want to thank the Police Department, Sheriff's Department and the E-Unit in coming to our aid so quickly and for taking my husband to the hospital for examination and emergency treatment.

Mrs. Jack W. Stevens Lowell, Mich.

Dear Editor

Thank you for the opportunity to respond to the letter written by "The Eight Neighbors" which appeared in the June 5th edition of the Ledger.

I can only conclude that the letter reflects the sentiments of one family in our area. On one, and only one occasion have I ever reprimanded or yelled, and I did yell, at a neighbor's child. When we found pony tracks over a substantial part of the area immediately surrounding our house, which had been newly seeded for a lawn, and about twenty of the eight-inch pine seedlings which we had planted crushed by ponies' hooves, my husband asked the children to avoid those areas and ride only on the driveway.

On one occasion last fall, we saw one of the children of the family in question riding through the pine seedlings. I wasn't fast enough to stop him. Fifteen minutes later, his older teenage brother was riding into the newly seeded area and I did stop him. As I was delivering a lecture on respecting other people's property, my husband interceded and told the boy to stay off the property with the pony. I did not tell the boy that he or his family were trash. That statement in the letter is a fabrication.

It is puzzling that the writers of the letter regard our property as being "overly marked with no-trespassing signs." We own ten acres and have two signs, one in front and one on the back boundary, both of which have been torn down three times. We did have three no-hunting signs posted, as well, all of which have been torn down. Of course, we have no idea who has been tearing the signs down. The father of the family in question, however, did express his irritation to us over our refusal to allow him to hunt on our property.

Sincerely, Mary Ellen Biernacki

Dear Editor, Last week a letter appeared in these columns condemning our local merchants and "the local drug store" in particular. Since we are the local drug store. I must assume that we are the guilty party.

First of all, I take offense to the accusation that it is almost impossible to cash a personal or payroll check in this town. We practically have become the "Second National Bank," especially on Thursdays, and will gladly cash checks if we have the necessary funds or the check does not involve an out-of-town individual as a third party. I would welcome the virtually hundreds who regularily avail themselves of this service to step forward and support what I have said.

Secondly, Lippert's Pharmacy certainly cannot be accused of jumping on a customer and then "watching them like a hawk." Shoplifting has become a multivillion dollar business in the U.S.A. today. Those merchants which aren't alert to this problem will not be merchants for long. Our employees are trained throoughly in this area and one of the most important points of their training is discretion. I was not able to find out which one of my employees allegedly falsely accused the nine-year-old girl, but if this did indeed happen, it is an extreme rarity. On my behalf, I am confident that there are many parents in Lowell today that will step forward and defend my approach to our city's young people. We have a very positive approach to these young people, and in the event that they are apprehended for shoplifting, we usually are able to make a positive situation out of that too.

We, as the only pharmacy in town, realize our responsibility to this community and try to perform accordingly. Hidden are the many free services we provide our customers such as check cashing, postage stamps at no profit, Consumers Power collections, etc. This is done daily and with a smile.

Dear Editor:

Last Tuesday I attended the Middle School's Choir Concert. I thoroughly enjoyed it. They put on a great program. It's too bad that there weren't a few more parents there.

These young people worked very hard for this par-ticular evening. They have worked several months for this; practicing and practicing and repeating. Mrs. Davis really works hard with the kids. She really deserves a lot of credit. Each and every one of them deserve all the praise they got for such a fine job. It was beautiful Keep up the good work young people. You're Great!

Dear Editor

After reading the letter in your June 5th issue from Ms. Racine and Plowman, I felt compelled to respond First, I do not know of many stores in Lowell that will not cash payroll checks or accept personal checks for the purchase of merchandise unless it's for the possible reasons (1) Many of the smaller stores do not have sufficient amounts of cash in their tills to cash large payroll checks or (2) The personal check is on a bad check list, which, by the way, large stores have also, Bad checks are such a bad problem that many large chain operations are requiring courtesy cards, finger printing and even photograph taking when cashing personal checks.

Secondly, it's true that the minute you walk into a local store someone is there asking if they can help you. Why? Because this is the difference between doing business with local merchants who values the customers' wants and needs, and the big supermarkets that lack the personal one to one contact. Try asking a stock boy about the particulars of any product and see if you can get the right answers.

Third, concerning the shoplifting incident at the local drugstore. It seems to me that lately the store has been a target for shoplifters. A situation like this can make any salesperson edgy. People do not realize that a shop owner cannot stop a potential shoplifter until the person is out of the store itself. Granted, a mistake was made in the situation of Ms. Racine and Plowman, and an apology was due. But we are all human, even shopowners, despite what certain people may think.

So to Ms. Plowman and Racine, if you feel uncomfortable shopping in Lowell, by all means shop in Grand Rapids, but stay clear of closed circuit television cameras that watch you or be leery of men and women walking around in pairs, because ladies, these people are watching every move you make!

Sincerely

Terry H. Raab, President Lowell Area Chamber of Com.

OPEN LETTER from^{*}

Dear Friends,

died, and for those who live on. It is important that the bereaved family not discourage relatives, friends and associates from showing their sympathy and offering comfort at this time. Freely given and freely received, such shared consolation is beneficial both to the bereaved and the visitor.

I've discovered an exciting new concept for TV enertainment. So much bad, it's silence. Some housewives are the kind who put off today, what their husbands can do on the weekends.

I know a man who is working with 3,000 people under him. Where? He cuts grass in the cemetery. One of the hardest things to give away is kindness; it keeps coming back!

A girl becomes a woman when she stops looking on the ideal man and starts looking for a husband. Summer: Good and bad. Outdoor picnic and insects. Nothing makes you feel better off than your first service with the Universal Division, Leigh Products Inc. in Saranac. Otto began working at Universal on May 31, 1955, in the Steel Door Fabrication Department. The Personnel Mana-ger, Roger Hattem, presented him with a gift certificate and a 20 year pin in honor of the oc-casion. After the presentation Otto and his fel-low workers enjoyed cake and coffee.

FOR CHEAP POWER Electric rates there went up a paltry 6% in the 18-biggest power companies. Only in Belgium and Italy were increases bigger than here-85.4% and 83.3% re-spectively. The U.S. used to be known for its cheap power. The way things are going, says the National Utility Service (which advises industry on how to save on power outlays), we may have the highest electric bills in the world by 1980.
