Board Levies 25.0 Mills For Operation; 7.4 For Debt Retirement

The Lowell Board of Education's final decision on last Spring's high school student request for an early graduation came Monday night with a somewhat modified ruling.

Apparently in complete agreement, Board members stated that they felt that "time," as well as 20 credits, was needed to graduate from high school and that they would rather see students take additional courses than leave school one-half year early.

They did, however, stipulate that students can apply for early graduation and the administration will rule on individual requests making it possible for a senior to complete his senior year at mid-term if the request is reasonable and in the student's best interest.

This year all requests should be submitted to the superintendent before October 1.

After brief discussion, board members agreed to grant the Assembly of God Church permission to use the high school vocal music room for religious services for another six months. The religious group has been meeting in the high school for the past two years.

Assistant High School Principal Gary Kemp, who has been with the system for two years, submitted his resignation Monday night to become high school principal at Leslie, Michigan. In agreeing to release him from his contract, board members stated that they would not stand in the way of his personal advancement even though they would like him to remain with the local system.

Citing individual student advancement and showing colored slides of the program in action, Headstart Teacher Fran Hoag pleaded the board with a report of the program's progress this past year.

A total of 3,305 volunteer hours were contributed by parents of headstart children last year, Mrs. Hoag said, and this goes a long way in promoting the effectiveness of the program since it is important that the parent understand the best methods of helping the child develop.

For the third straight year board members voted to levy 25.0 mills for operation and 7.4 for debt retirement which is again less than the school district voted that they would allow. To date the board has never found it necessary to levy the full amount on the taxpayers. This year's audit showed Lowell Schools operating well within their budget and even exceeding all expectations on the year-end balances.

Since rising prices are playing havoc with budgets all over the country, good management has obviously played an important part in the Lowell financial picture.

Supt. Leonard Sinke assured the board that the administration would again make it through the coming school terms but that the following year may well be another story. "The key is what the state legislature does as to whether we will be able to make it through another year without increasing the millage," Sinke said, "but for the present time the status of the district looks good."

Official open houses for the new additions to Alto and Bushnell Elementary Schools were set for Sunday, October 19. Nearly 1,000 students will get their first look, however, on opening day Tuesday, September 2.

Lowell Showboat To Present Exciting Afternoon Circus

Bill Brickle's Poodle Fantasy

An exciting array of professional circus acts will wind up the Lowell Showboat's 1975 summer schedule with an afternoon performance (the organization's first) Sunday, September 7, at the Showboat amphitheatre on the Flat River. Seven fast-moving acts will comprise the show beginning at 3 p.m.

Nationally-renowned John Luxem will perform on his breathtaking 50-foot Wheel of Destiny and Bill Brickle's Poodle Fantasy of elegantly dressed performing dogs is sure to amaze and delight the audiences as they do wherever they appear on the country.

Other acts well-known to circus audiences include the comedy trampoline and car act of Hap and Karen Davis; the Aquilars and Yickins, a sensational tumbling act; Johnson's Bears with Carmen Del Molina; and Gus, Ursula and Don, juggling par excellence.

Grand Rapids area's favorite, Bozo the clown, will join the Showboat Family of Clowners to add local spice to the star-studded afternoon. Personable ringmaster Kenny Milton will come from Chicago for the show and Don Jeris' lively orchestra will back the acts with his circus time music.

"This is the first time in Showboat history that it has offered an afternoon performance. Ours is a family showplace and we believe the Circus is an ideal presentation for a family audience; there's something for everyone. We're combining the thrill of professional circus acts with the enjoyment of a Sunday afternoon in the out-of-doors," said Charles Lippert, Showboat president. "We feel it's an ideal package."

Tickets for the Circus are available at Grinnell's in Grand Rapids, Battle Creek and Kalamazoo; Herp's in Grand Rapids; the Walker Arena in Muskegon and at the Lowell Showboat box office, 897-9237. In case of rain the Circus will be presented in Lowell High School.

Holiday Traffic To Be Heavy

Michigan motorists will drive a few more miles over the 1975 Labor Day holiday than they did in 1974, the Department of State Highways and Transportation has predicted.

Department traffic analysts estimate 643 million miles will be driven from noon Friday to noon Tuesday, Aug. 29 thru Sept. 2, 2.5 percent more than the 627 million miles driven over the same four-day holiday last year.

The record for Labor Day travel was set in 1963 when motorists rolled up 783 million miles on a five-day weekend. Traffic analysts say the 1973 figure of 653 million miles, driven over a four-day period, was the heaviest concentration of traffic ever over a Labor Day weekend.

Preparations to meet the holiday traffic rush include termination of all highway construction between 3 p.m. Friday and normal working hours Tuesday morning, removal of heavy equipment from roadsides at construction sites, a ban on moving heavy equipment over highways during the weekend and a check on all signing at detours and construction sites. Only emergency work will be performed during the four-day period.

Ride A Rickshaw At Fall Festival

On Saturday and Sunday, September 27 and 28, the third annual Fallasburg Fall Festival will be held at the Fallasburg Park Pavilion and the school museum. The event is sponsored by the West Central Michigan Historical Society.

The response of the public towards these autumn events has been most heartening, and the Board of Directors of the Society have made arrangements to hold the Fall event two weeks earlier this year for more assurance of cooler and ideal weather.

Many of the most talented artists and craftsmen, men, women and children are entered in this outdoor show. They are enthusiastic about the setting within the circle drive and the time of year that will wind-up a season in Michigan... another happy memory to carry through the long winter.

There will be the usual food concessions (more volunteers are needed in all phases, especially the meal preparation), country store, trash and treasure tables, books, and fun. There will also be rides available; even a ride in a rickshaw.

Open for touring will be the Fallasburg School Museum, which is yearly improved through the work of Clyns and Ida Benson, who have added and rearranged many artifacts.

Fallasburg Covered Bridge and the village, once a thriving agricultural community, is a most historically significant spot, where the rural nostalgia is unsurpassed.

It is the goal of the WCMHS that a restored village of the late 1800's can be erected on this site, as the area holds a unique history.

It is the goal of the WCMHS that a restored village of the late 1800's can be erected on this site, as the area holds a unique history.

It is the birth-place of a most prominent botanist of our time, Edwin Fallas, who was founder of the famous Botanical Gardens in Petoskey, Michigan. His notes and collections of specimens began near his boy-hood home are maintained at Albion College. An original Fallas home still stands in the middle of the village. The one room school where elementary grade school children walked to classes until 1959-60 is a landmark to be revered. Other original buildings are maintained as private residences in the village on both sides of the covered bridge.

The old stage coach stop, the hotel or inn, home of the blacksmith, the store and Post Office building, the parsonage, church meetings were held in the school building. Also, other social events. There is an original Fallas barn across from the school house. There are other barns and tool sheds. Remnants of a board sidewalk can be detected in front of one of the homes. A fence post is embedded in the root system of a huge elm, dated from Civil War time, the fence making was interrupted when the builders left for the war.

There is evidence along the river bank, north of the covered bridge of the old mill, where feed was ground and logs were sawed. The cemetery at the eastern end of the village on top of the hill is the resting place for many pioneers who braved the wilds of this area nearly 140 years ago to make new homes in some of the most beautiful terrain to be found.

Flat River winds its way serenely through Fallasburg Park providing a natural boundary on the west, reflection and meditation on its banks are impelling.

Do feel most welcome to attend the Festival and/or participate actively, urges the WCMHS. "We look forward to meeting you on Saturday and Sunday, September 27 and 28, at Fallasburg Park and Village."

A Bicentennial theme is being incorporated in the observance this year, and in October there will be a commemorative dinner for the owners of Historical Buildings in Vergennes Township.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

Isn't it ironic the Federal Government is spending hundreds of thousands of dollars to plant trees along the highways to beautify Michigan, and the KCRC and to the people of Cascade is to be either degraded in rank or summarily dismissed from the department.

Mr. Buttick was one of the original founders of the department and for many years unselfishly gave his service without any remuneration whatsoever. Now at the whim of a Johnny-come-lately he can be demoted to common fireman or resign.

The former assistant chief, Jack Buys, has served thirty years with the department, most of this time without pay and many times he has closed his place of business to work on fires.

There are also others who have served for many years on the department without pay and they have been dismissed.

Our Township Board should be very proud of their decision to allow a newcomer chief to reward these men in such an ungrateful manner. Perhaps Cascade needs a change of Township officers.

Sincerely,
Raymond Phillips

Woman Killed In Car-Truck Crash

Mrs. Dorothy Blanchard, 42, of 3952 Cametot Drive SE, Grand Rapids, was killed Friday afternoon, August 22, in a car-truck accident on M-21, just west of Ada.

An employee of the Atwood Corporation in Lowell for the past four years, and a bride of only three months, Mrs. Blanchard was pronounced dead at the scene of multiple fractures.

The mishap occurred when Mrs. Blanchard was heading west after leaving the parking lot of the Baker Book House, 6030 E. Fulton, at approximately three o'clock, and a truck driven by a Cedar Springs man crossed the centerline and into the path of Mrs. Blanchard's vehicle.

The truck driver, Kenneth Brecken, said he crested the large hill on M-21 and saw a semi-trailer truck making a right turn onto Rippling Drive, and three cars backed up behind the truck. He applied his brakes, causing the truck to veer across the centerline into the path of the oncoming car.

The crash pinned Mrs. Blanchard's small vehicle beneath the left front tire. Rescue workers from the Ada Fire Department used a special power tool to open the driver's door.

Mrs. Blanchard is survived by her husband, Arden; a son, Charles Millwood of Belding; three daughters, Mrs. Michael Hoekstra of Grand Rapids, Miss Jacqueline Millwood and Miss Penny Millwood, both of Orleans; two step-sons, George Blanchard of New York City and Robert Blanchard of Grand Rapids; her mother, Mrs. Ralph Millard of Chicago; two brothers, Jack Millard of New York City and Ralph Millard of West Bend, Wisconsin; a sister, Mrs. Jean Clare of Milwaukee; and a granddaughter.

Funeral services were held Monday at the VanStrien-Alman Funeral Home in Grand Rapids, with private burial services following at the Sand Lake Cemetery.

Approval Given To Rezone

The Ada Township Planning Commission has handed down a nod of approval to rezone 171 acres from A-1 Agricultural and R-1 Residential to P-1 Planned Unit Development.

Recommendation for approval to the Township Board is expected to end the six-month long controversial issue over the property owned by the Kent County Conservation League.

Before final action on the issue can be undertaken by the Ada Board, the proposed rezoning ordinance must be reviewed by the Kent County Board of Commissioner's Buildings, Parks and Transportation Committee.

Several complaints on the shooting range prompted the Township Board to ask the league to rezone part of its property or consider relocation. According to township ordinances, the shooting range was in violation of agricultural and residential zoning.

Zoning changes to be made by the league will include realigning their shooting ranges to avoid conflict with properties adjoining the area; placing additional trees on the property lines to provide a buffer zone for abatement and greater aesthetic value; and post signs along the west side of the land warning hikers of the shooting range's activities.

LOWELL AREA SCHOOLS OPEN SEPTEMBER 2

BACK TO SCHOOL

New Buildings, Classes, People And Classmates

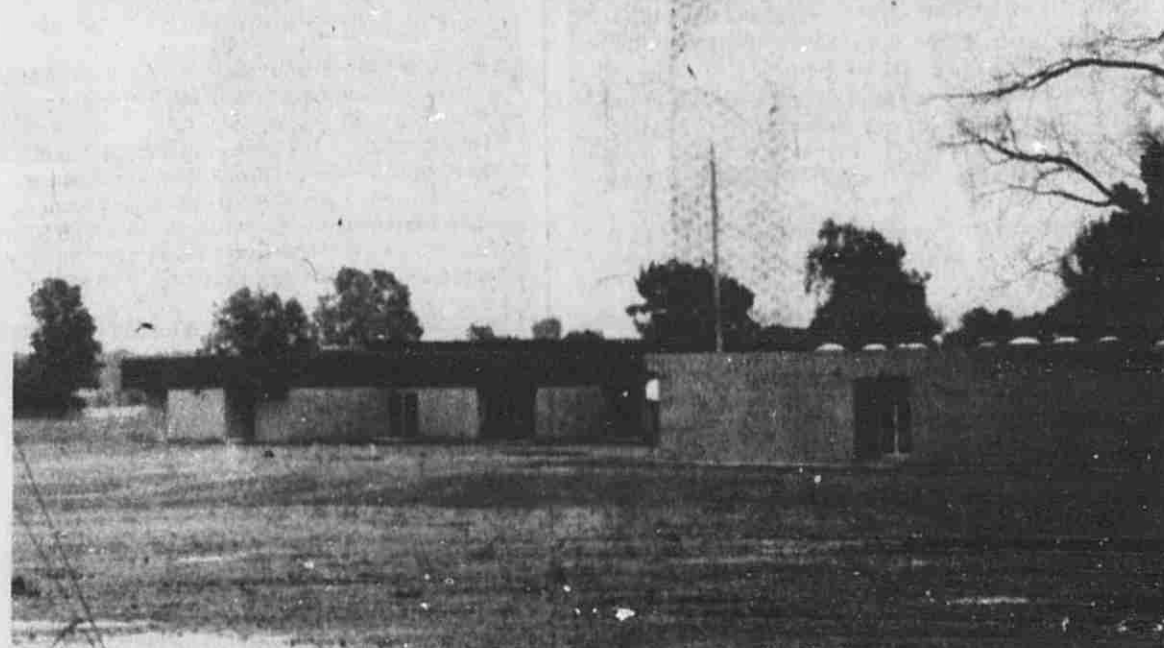

The Lowell Area Schools, being an organization of people, is a continually changing institution. Some of the major changes that students and parents will find next week will involve the school buildings where classes are held; some will involve new people teaching classes, and some will involve new classmates since no two classes are ever the same.

The most important change in school buildings involves the opening of the Alto and Bushnell additions. These additions will enable us to house all of our classrooms in our own buildings for the first time in many years. Kindergartens will move back from St. Mary's, the fifth grade will be in elementary buildings, many special education students who have been bused to Forest Hills will return, and our pre-school children will meet in Bushnell as the old "home ec house" has been torn down.

While we do not have many new teachers in our regular classrooms, we do have a significant change in the special education staff. We are making some very important strides in trying to provide better educational opportunities for children with special problems. For too many years these children who need the most help have found it difficult to get an education. We are most elated to get classrooms back in the district for as many of these children as we possibly can.

Next week we start the annual process of a new teacher, a new room, and some old and many new friends. All of this inspires us to look forward with anticipation to starting again. We hope everyone looks forward eagerly to a new, successful school year.

Kindergarten sessions will begin on Tuesday, September 2. Please pin a tag on your child the first day, giving his or her name, address, phone number, building, and teacher assignment.

If you have not registered your child, call the Bushnell School at 897-8471, or the Runciman School at 897-9257 for the Lowell Area. Call the Alto School at 868-6111 for the Alto students. Serving 'Hot' Nutrition Meals

The Hot Lunch Program in the Lowell Area Schools will begin serving good and nutritious meals the first day of school, Tuesday, September 2. Again we invite the students of St. Mary's School to participate in the Hot Lunch Program at the Bushnell building.

The price of lunches and milk will be the same as last year—35¢ for students attending the Alto, Bushnell, and Runciman schools; 40¢ for students in the Middle and Senior High schools, and 60¢ for adults. All milk will be .05, except for the milk served with Type A meals which is included in the price of the meal.

Students may purchase lunch tickets every morning in their rooms at the Alto and Runciman buildings, and at the ticket booths in the Bushnell hallway and in the Middle School cafeteria. Senior High School students will pay when they go through the lunch lines.

Free and reduced price lunches are available, upon proper application, to families who qualify for the program. Applications are available at all of the school offices. Parents who think they may be eligible are urged to get their applications in early so that they can be advised whether or not their children are eligible before the first day of school.

Parents having any questions about the Hot Lunch Program should call Mrs. Bovee at 897-9223.

Adult Education Classes Offered

"You Can" earn your high school diploma, learn to repair a car, paint, sew, cook, improve reading or math skills, and make friends while learning through enrollment in the Community Education Program of the Lowell Area Schools.

Anyone who is interested in talking about any of those courses, knowing what the requirements for a diploma are, or in signing up for any of the high school completion courses should stop in to the Community School Office, located in the High School, or give them a call at 897-5164.

The fee for taking any of the high school completion classes if one has graduated is $15.50. For those who have not graduated, there is no fee. There is also no charge for high school graduates under twenty years of age or veterans.

Several Leisure Time and Kent Skills Center classes are also available. Credit earned from Kent Skills Center classes can be applied toward the high school diploma. Classes begin the week of September 8, 1975.

Health Requirements

Parents of kindergarten children are reminded that ALL children entering kindergarten must have their green sheets with the physical, dental, immunizations, and vision test completed. The child's birth certificate must also be presented if it has not been checked previously.

Michigan State Law requires that all students from first grade through senior high entering the Lowell Area Schools from out of state must bring a doctor's certificate, showing proof of all immunizations, including a tuberculin test.

Notice To Parent And Student Drivers

Lowell School officials are requesting drivers in the Bushnell Elementary-High School area to take note of some changes in operation.

First: Howard Street is now a through street, instead of Elizabeth, and leads to the parking lot on the south side of the Bushnell Elementary building. Bushnell students should be dropped off at the west end of the parking lot.

Second: The Elizabeth Street entrance will be closed during bus loading and unloading times—7:45-8:30 a.m. and 2:45-3:15 p.m.

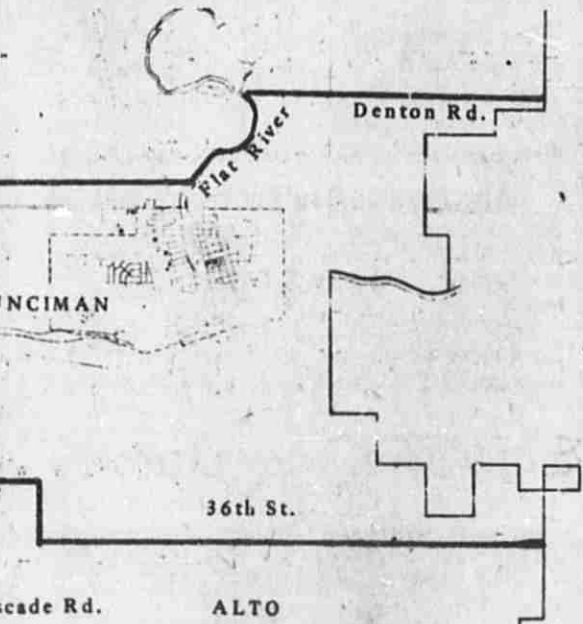

Third: The Service drive between the High School and Bushnell Elementary will be closed to all traffic except buses during the same loading and unloading times.

New Service Area Plan

Recently, the Lowell Area Schools' Board of Education adopted a plan to gradually move into an elementary school service area plan. This is not completely new in that they have had a designated area of attendance for the Alto Elementary School since its inception. Some of the advantages to be gained from this move are:

1. Children will attend school with their friends from the neighborhood where they live.
2. When the plan is in complete effect, there will be a substantial dollar savings in transportation costs.
3. It will be alleviating a great deal of bus traffic congestion in town at busy times—a significant safety factor to everyone.

Questions relative to school assignment are welcome by the building principals at the following telephones: Alto, Wm. Kirby, 868-6111; Bushnell, David Burdette, 897-8471; and Runciman, Dirk Venema, 897-9257. All elementary buildings are now open daily, 9 a.m. to 3 p.m., until school opens.

Knowing Which Are Weeds Or Wildflowers

Which is a weed and which is a wildflower is often an individual preference. Queen Ann's lace, or wild carrot is a common plant found on light, well drained soils. It is often overlooked as a wildflower.

If you stop to carefully examine the flower you will find that it is actually a dense cluster of tiny white flowers. Usually there will be a tiny dark blossom which marks the center of the cluster or head.

Many insects will make this flower their home while others, including many bees, visit the cluster to obtain the sweet nectar. In the winter, the blossom dries up and forms a "bird's nest" that can be used in winter flower arrangements.

There is a world at our feet that few people appreciate. Take the time to closely examine a flower, blade of grass, or a handful of soil and you may discover a world you never knew existed.

The South 80, a parcel of 80 acres owned by Lowell Area Schools, is located on 28th Street just east of Pratt Lake Road. This area is available for the community to enjoy and has many weeds and wildflowers along the marked trails.

Public Hearing On Construction Code
Proposed changes in the general rules of the Construction Code Commission, including those on barrier free design, will go before a public hearing Wednesday, September 10 in Lansing.
Robert C. Hilprecht, executive director of the Construction Code Commission, announced today that anyone interested in presenting data, views or arguments on the proposed rules will have an opportunity to be heard.
He urged anyone planning to attend the session to submit a written presentation when the hearing opens at 10 a.m. in the Law Building auditorium, 525 West Ottawa.
Hilprecht added that the written statements would not limit the right of the individual to speak out at the public hearing. He noted also that anyone unable to attend could submit material in advance by filing a statement with Keith Molin, director of the Michigan Department of Labor, no later than 5 p.m., Tuesday, September 9.
The proposed rules provide for administration and enforcement of the State Construction Code; requirements for appeal boards and hearings; incorporation of the code, and provisions for permits, inspections and fees.
The existing rules reference the Building Officials and Code Administrators (BOCA) Basic Building Code. The first three revised sections deal with general administration and enforcement of the state code. The fourth provides for adoption of the 1975 BOCA Basic Building Code.
Proposed amendments to the building code include fire regulations, barrier free design, use of the one and two family dwelling code, safety glazing and administrative procedures.
Copies of the proposed rules may be obtained by writing to the Director's Office, 300 East Michigan Avenue, Lansing 48926, or the Michigan Department of Labor, 15th Floor, State of Michigan Plaza Building, 1200 Sixth Avenue, Detroit 48226.
Copies are also available for review at both offices from 8:15 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

SARANAC COUNCIL SETS BRIDGE LIMIT
Saranac's village council announced it is necessary to post three-ton load limits on the two bridges over the Grand River.
The deterioration of the two structures was discovered in the routine inspections required every two years by state and federal regulations.
The other four small bridges in town were found to require only minor use restrictions and repairs.
The limitations will result in major adjustments in school bus and fire truck routes. Six school bus routes are affected. All buses serving the north side of the Grand River will be detoured 14 miles through Lowell or 16 miles through Ionia. On the basis of a 182-day school year, School Superintendent Earl Cady estimates that the detours will result in an additional $3,240 miles per year for the buses, at an additional cost of approximately $40,000 a year.
The lower load limits will allow ambulances, police patrol cars, passenger cars and pickup trucks with light loads to cross. However, the bridges are only one lane wide and each vehicle must come to a complete stop before proceeding.
The two bridges to be posted span the main and over flow channels of the Grand River.
Saranac's fire department is considering a possibility of stationing one truck on the north side of the river. The village is responsible for fire protection service to parts of Boston and Keene townships, as well as the remainder of Boston and Berlin townships to the south. Both fire trucks are presently stationed on the south side of the river. The load limits will make it necessary for fire trucks to be detoured and extends the time required to reach a fire by up to 30 minutes. The present average response time is approximately five minutes.

The village council has instructed their consulting engineers, Williams and Works of Grand Rapids, to prepare applications for federal and state funding for the replacement of the two bridges.
Grant funds are available through the federal special bridge replacement program and the Michigan critical bridge program.
Priority for bridge replacements will be established on the basis of the needs of Saranac evaluated against the needs of other communities in the state and nation that also have critical bridge problems.
The cost of two new bridges is estimated at $1,500,000.

Dr. Ruth Herrick's Collections On Display At Public Museum

A good way to display a collection is to show it in a museum, but how many people build their own private museum to house such a collection of collections. The late Dr. Ruth Herrick of Lowell did just that to show off the largest and most varied private collection of anyone in the area.

"A Fever for Collecting" will feature some of the articles from the various collections of Dr. Herrick in the Grand Rapids Public Museum beginning Saturday, September 13 and continuing through Sunday, November 9. The exhibit is open to the public without charge.

Probably one of the things Dr. Herrick was most noted for was her collection of Greentown glass which she began specializing in after she had spent 30 years collecting and studying glass. In 1951, she began digging in the ruins of the Indiana Tumbler & Goblet Company in Greentown, Indiana which burned in 1903 and was never rebuilt. She found bits and pieces of all authentic colors and patterns so she knew exactly what to look for when adding to her collection.

She was living in Grand Rapids at that time and started her first museum in her residence. She started with the laundry and coal bin and hired carpenters, contractors, plumbers and electricians to build rooms to house all of the materials she had been collecting. She soon ran out of space and had to expand even more by converting her garage for more exhibition space.

She wrote a definitive book "Greentown Glass" published in 1959. It became the "Bible" for Greentown glass enthusiasts estimated to number twenty-five to forty thousand from all parts of the nation.

In 1969 she built what was known as the nation's first and foremost Greentown glass museum in Lowell. It was a two-story reinforced concrete building with about 2,500 square feet of floor space on each floor. She filled the second floor with choice Greentown glass pieces and hundreds of glass fragments gathered at 40 sessions of digging at the former site of the factory in Greentown.

Color is an outstanding feature of Greentown glass. Included in her collection are green, amber, and chocolate glass and patterns such as "Cord Drapery," "Teardrop and Tassel," "Ruffled Eye" and "Dewey." She had the only known piece of Rosenthal rose agate which was either a sugar bowl without a lid or a spoon holder.

ECONOMISTS PREDICT LIMITED JOB GROWTH FOR SALESWORKERS

Salesworkers are expected to increase to 6.5 million by 1985, up from 5.4 million in 1972, but changing sales techniques may limit growth somewhat.

This is the prediction of two labor economists in the U.S. Department of Labor's Bureau of Labor Statistics.

In 1985, they say, salesworkers will comprise a smaller percentage of the workforce than they did in 1972—6.4 percent compared to 6.6 percent. This projected slowdown in growth is due to an expected slowdown in the increase of jobs in trade, which employs more than two-thirds of all salesworkers.

As stores remain open longer and expand into suburban areas, demand will probably increase for salesworkers. But changes in sales practices, such as greater use of self-service check-out counters and vending machines are expected to slow this increase.

Metal Detecting . . . An Ideal Hobby

"Finders Keepers—Losers Weepers"—What fascinating stories there may be behind many of these old coins, pieces of jewelry, keys . . . but they remain locked forever in the past.

"It's an ideal hobby," says local attorney, Fred Althaus, talking about his pursuit of the "sport" of metal detecting. He enjoys it because it can be pursued at odd moments and provides some exercise at the same time.

Fred has been scanning the ground around Lowell for the last four years and has found the area to be a rich source of buried treasure. So far he has unearthed approximately four thousand coins of various denominations. The oldest dates back to 1851. His find also includes Morgan silver dollars and Mercury and Barber dimes—the names denoting those of the engravers.

Articles are usually found at a depth of six to twelve inches and are located by moving the detector slightly over the ground. Metal buried below ground causes the detector to emit a buzzing-beep sound.

Fred says he has several places he plans to explore, but like the secretive mushroom hunter, would not divulge their whereabouts. He feels, because of the historical nature of the Lowell area, there is much of great interest yet to be discovered. Already he has found numerous pieces of jewelry—rings, bracelets, even diamonds, "some of very good quality."

Monday night, Fred and his wife, Joy, decided to "treasure hunt" on our back forty." Each carrying a detector, they tramped off across the field. Approaching darkness plus some healthy mosquitoes cut short their search, but they returned bearing an old dirt-en-

Livestock Waste Facilities Book

Michigan agricultural producers thinking about building animal waste holding units should have a new handbook evaluating facility types.

"Livestock Waste Facilities," a 94-page, bully illustrated book is available to Michigan producers for $1 from: Plan Service, Room 226, Agricultural Engineering Building, Michigan State University, East Lansing, Mich. 48824.

The handbook explains, compares and evaluates various components needed for handling, treating and disposing of manure and other livestock wastes. Design equations, tables, figures and procedures are included for many components.

"Increased livestock concentrations, Michigan pollution laws and high cost of fertilizer have made good livestock waste management necessary for virtually every producer," says Robert L. Maddex, MSU agricultural engineer.

The book provides information on management problems and solutions. The section on characteristics of livestock wastes includes data on weight and volume of manure production, and fertilizer nutrients contained. Collection methods, design procedures and criteria, gas and odor management of livestock wastes are discussed and evaluated.

Topics in the waste management section provide data on methods of storing liquid, slurry and solid wastes. Use of lagoons is discussed, giving design criteria, construction methods and management guides.

Oldsmobile Line To Feature 34 Models

Oldsmobile will cover the 1976 automobile market with 34 models in six distinct car lines including the Starfire, Omega, Cutlass, Eight-Eight, Ninety-Eight and Toronado.

New for 1976 are the Omega Brougham and Cutlass Supreme Brougham series. The Omega Salon, base Cutlass series and Delta 88 Royale convertible have been discontinued.

Oldsmobile, which made significant fuel economy improvements in 1975, continues to make further gains in 1976 due primarily to an improved 260-cubic-inch V-8 engine, a recalibrated Toronado engine, a lighter 7½-inch rear axle that is standard on Omegas, a five-speed overdrive transmission optional on some models and a 2.41-to-1 axle ratio that is available on Ninety-Eight models.

'Extra! Extra! Read all about it! The price of bread is going up because of increased labor, transportation and packaging costs! You're not likely to read of kind of story in your local newspaper; it simply isn't palatable to the American public. When the price of our bread goes up, we need someone to vent our anger upon and labor, transportation and packaging are far too impersonal to zero in on.

Rotarians know it's easy to "con" voters—just promise to "protect" them from high food prices by placing restrictions on farm exports. Then sock-it-to-'em in the form of taxes to pay for storing our huge surplus. At the same time, weaken the value of their dollar by damaging the country's reputation as a reliable supplier in the world market.
