Warning, Christiansen, Pfaller Win Lowell City Council Seats

Exactly fifty percent (50%) of the registered voters of the City of Lowell went to the polls Tuesday, November 4, to elect three new members to the City's governing body.

An ideal election day, saw 631 of the 1,262 registered voters cast ballots and place Robert Christiansen, Leo Pfaller and Art Warning on the City Council.

Election Totals

Mr. Warning is a graduate of Fennville High School, and underwent two years of vocational training for electronics and two-way communications, and received a certificate from Western Michigan University.

He is an active member of the Lowell Lions Club, in which he held the office of president, and is active in support of the Kent County 4-H Youth program.

The first item on their agenda will be to elect a mayor for the City. Based on the City's Charter the mayor is elected from the members of the Council.

The new members will join Dr. Herbert Mueller and Harold F. Jefferies on the Council.

Over 100 Trees Mutilated

William Schreur shows tops of trees removed on his property between Flat River Drive and the eastern edge of the Lowell City Airport. Between 100 and 150 trees were damaged.

Under investigation by the Michigan State Police is the mutilation to more than one hundred Norway Spruce, Australian and Red Pine and hard maples, varying in height from six to twelve feet, on property adjacent to the east line of the Lowell City Airport, belonging to William Schreur, local contractor and builder.

"They just came in and cut the tops right off—even these little hard maples got it," Schreur said, pointing to the trunk of a sapling, now only a stub, the rawness of its recent surgery clearly visible.

Schreur believes the destruction occurred sometime during the first part of October while he was away on a hunting trip. When he returned home he was informed by a resident, living near the Schreur property, who had discovered the vandalism while taking a walk.

Schreur is upset, he says, because this isn't the first time he's had trees cut down in that area.

Three years ago the City acknowledged the cutting of some large oak and maple trees along the eastern boundary of the airport at the end of an east-west runway on land which Schreur claims is his, but which extends about a foot beyond the fence line on the airport side, according to survey marks. At that time Schreur accepted the City's offer of $100 as compensation.

Schreur says he has planted about 30,000 trees on the platted land which he someday plans to develop. Many of the destroyed trees were intended to act as a screen between the airport and future home sites.

He plans to replant the 400 by 100 foot affected strip.

In the meantime, Schreur said he is offering a $200 reward for information leading to the person or persons responsible for the act.

WARM TEMPERATURES—before this week—have brought reports of budding and blooming flowers. Mrs. Herman (Vada) Kline on Segwun Avenue, presented our editor with a little bouquet of purple violets, evidence of the hardness of the spirit, given a bit of encouragement . . .

HOWLING WINDS and an aggy gray sky, for most of the day Monday, spoke ominously of things to come. But Tuesday's clear blue sky and welcome sunshine can be counted as an unexpected bonus. Though Lowell escaped power failure there were many reported around areas along with other damages resulting from the high winds . . .

THE ALL-SCHOOL Play "Up the Down Staircase" is being presented by the students of Lowell High School, November 14 and 15, Friday and Saturday, in the Lowell High School Auditorium at 8 p.m. . . .

A PUBLIC HEARING for the purpose of declaring Bewell Drive and Court Drive Natural Beauty Roads will be held in the Lowell Township Municipal Building on Tuesday, November 25, at 11 o'clock in the morning. All interested parties are encouraged to attend . . .

THAT 'SPECIAL' Place is observing its second anniversary at 215 West Main Street . . .

THE KENT COUNTY Health Department, in cooperation with the Michigan Diabetes Association, will be offering free blood tests for diabetes detection this Friday, November 14, from 9 to 11 a.m. and 1 to 4 p.m. in the parking lot of the Cascade-East Shopping Center on 28th Street. The tests are being offered free during National Diabetes Detection Week, November 9-15 . . .

HAROLD ZEIGLER the new Ford Dealer for the Lowell area is offering "senior citizens" a special discount on Fridays. On this day of the week, a 15% discount will be given on all parts and labor . . .

THE CITY OF Lowell's Department of Public Works will flush the city water mains from Tuesday, November 18 to Friday, November 21. Flushing will commence at 8 a.m. each morning, weather permitting . . .

ADULT BASKETBALL teams wishing to join the YMCA's winter league must do so before November 20. Ten league games plus tournament rounds will be played. Trophies will also be awarded. Entry into the league can be made by contacting the YMCA at 323 West Main Street . . .

FOR THOSE RESIDENTS participating in the City's tree planting program, don't forget the deadline is Thursday, November 20 to pay for your tree. Cost of the tree is $15 and must be paid for prior to planting . . .

CLEAN UP TIME at Oakwood Cemetery will begin after November 15. All summer artificial flowers, wreaths, etc., will be removed, but Thanksgiving and Christmas arrangements will not be removed, according to word from City Hall . . .

LAST WEEK, we asked: "to be able to see just the tip of a 200 foot oil rig that is 54 miles at sea, how high above sea level would you be?"

The answer is: you would have to be standing 1,662 feet above sea level. That means if you stood on top of the Empire State Building, you would still need a 412 foot ladder to see even the tip of that oil rig . . .

CITY RESIDENTS in need of tree trimming or tree removal on their property may have the opportunity to have it done when Shepherd's Tree Service is in the area doing some work for the City. Cost would be somewhat less than having it done on an individual basis, because of less travel time, we are told by City Hall sources. Phone City Hall 897-8457. Free estimates are available, it is reported.

Some Opinions Not 'Shared'

Although Monday night's school board meeting was fairly short, three important and far reaching items came in for what bordered on heated discussions.

Probably "heated" discussion is too strong a word but it was obvious that the same opinions were not shared by all.

The school transportation department has long felt the need for radio communication between buses on the road and the office. Several times in the past their request has been brought before the board and defeated as too expensive.

Ast. Supt. Don Kelly informed board members that several months of hard work and just plain dicker-ing had now resulted in the State giving approval for reimbursement of 75 percent of the cost of "leased" communication equipment for part of the fleet. Special Ed and primary buses, as well as trouble shooting vehicles, can now be equipped with leased two-way radios and the State will reimburse the system for the majority of the expense. "Lowell would be the first in the State for such a lease program," Kelly added.

Kelly cited a recent incident in Western Michigan where a diabetic bus driver passed out at the wheel of his bus and an alert student was able to radio for immediate help which was credited with saving the life of the stricken man.

He also spoke of an incident involving one of our own Special Ed buses this Fall when the bus broke down on the Expressway and the students did not arrive home until 6:30 because for a great deal of time, "we didn't know where the bus was or what had happened."

All board members apparently felt strongly that the safety factor in having large numbers of students grouped together on buses at quite a distance from school with just one driver in charge was a big plus for installing two-way communication. However, two board members still held out indicating that the State is considering such drastic cuts in State Aid that it is time to cut down, not spend more.

The issue passed, five to two.

The proposed reduction in State Aid came close to home when Supt. Leonard Sinke was asked approximately how much Lowell would have to slash from its budget. Sinke estimated that between $95,000 and $100,000 would be withheld from the district but he added that he was not convinced that the legislature would pass the proposal.

He said that with last year's cut, 90 school districts ended up in the red and if the present proposal passes he estimated that between 200 and 250 would go this year.

"It will be even tougher next year, however," he warned, but he feels that for now the legislature will not pass the Governor's proposal without some revisions.

The third issue, and by far the most controversial, involved possible solutions to student smoking on school property.

The City of Lowell apparently requested a quit claim deed for a strip of property directly in front of the high school involving the sidewalk area. It was hinted that the purpose of the transfer was that members of the city council felt then that students could smoke on the sidewalk and not be in violation of the state law that forbids students smoking on school property. This would then get them out of Foreman Road where they are a hazard to passing motorists.

Schools who have provided smoking areas for students are now getting into trouble over it, High School Principal Dennis McMahon informed the board.

One board member then questioned as to whether it actually was an enforceable law and whether it was the lesser of two evils, whereupon McMahon retorted that he is not about to sanction the breaking of the law under any circumstances.

The upshot of it was that the board turned down the city's request but still did not solve the problem. And it is a problem. One that perhaps should concern more parents.

Majestic Beauty,

The Michigan White-tail deer is the largest wild animal which makes this part of the state its home. Although this animal is quite common, it has a certain majestic beauty that makes it a thrill to see.

Large eyes and ears make the deer well suited to night activity. Much of the night may be spent finding food but daylight will usually force the deer to seek cover in thick, secluded brush.

During the fall, summer and spring, deer may be found grazing on grass, clover and other low growing plants. Although deer are primarily grazers, winter conditions will force deer to browse the twigs of small trees. Cold winter winds will force the deer to seek shelter in thick pine stands or woodlots where they can be sheltered from the wind. In spring the deer will move to the open areas where the snow is melted first and resume their grazing habits.

Wintertime is referred to as the "stress" period for deer. It is during the coldest months that deer succumb to mother nature's forces, when there are too many deer on a range. Accidents, diseases, parasites, hunting predators, and starvation help keep the deer population in check.

One of the biggest factors which limits the deer population is the lack of proper habitat. The white-tail requires three basic types of areas, the open areas for grazing, and brush land for browse, and thick woodlots for protection. Many of our areas are growing up which leave small areas where deer can find winter browse. Changes in land use are also decreasing the amount of land available for deer range.

Glencoe Model SS "SOIL SAVER"

A NEW TWIST TO TILLAGE! A totally new and different approach to soil management! The Glencoe "SOIL SAVER" creates a non-compacted, "ridged" field that just naturally protects against erosion by wind and water! Instead of simply turning over the soil and leaving it hard to the elements the "SOIL SAVER" opens up the land down deep to catch and hold available moisture. Controls runoff, holds and stores rainwater for thirsty crops - soil surface is left open and blended with crop residues that protect precious topsoil! Cutting "slices" cut up heavy stalks, leaves and root crowns and leave the soil ready to be turned under by the helical blades following. Designed so you can work your stubble immediately after harvest, generally without chopping or shredding. See our display today!

Wayne Ramsdell was appointed by Johnson to head up the Charter Night Committee. Also elected was Bill Kirby as club secretary and George Anderson as treasurer.

These Charter officers, along with others to be elected later, will serve until June 30, 1975.

It is expected at least thirty Lions will witness the chartering of their club. Over one hundred couples representing Lions Clubs from around the State will join them in their Charter Night celebration.

Anyone who is interested in joining the Alto Lions Club and would like to be a Charter Member or would like more information, should call Mr. Johnson at 868-6424.

LHS Band Performs For 4,500 Fans

Hope College's Flying Dutchmen demolished the Tigers of DePauw University Saturday in Holland by the score of 48-22.

However, the big interest in the game from a Lowell viewpoint, was the fine halftime performance of the Red Arrow Marching Band.

Repeating their First Division program of Red Flannel Day in Cedar Springs, the Lowell Senior High organization represented the school and community in an excellent way as the 4,500 Parent Day fans repeatedly applauded the presentation.

Director, Robert Rice, was very pleased with the band's performance despite the adverse conditions of a slippery field and understandable nervousness before the numerous fans.

Accompanying the band personnel in chaperone capacities were Ms. Patricia Covey, Middle School Band Director, and Al Kaufman, MSU Intern Teacher.

Highlighting interest in the Hope contest was the fine play of David Yeiter, senior defensive Middle Guard, from Lowell.

Yeiter, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Yeiter, 4376 Alden Nash, closed out an outstanding collegiate career. A co-captain of the MIAA Champions, Yeiter is a three-year letterman and a two-time all-league performer.

Hope Junior Perry Beachum also saw considerable action at Middle Guard. Beachum, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Beachum, 1051 Beech Avenue, plays center on offense and middle guard on defense.

A costumed "Jaws," the two-legged variety, attempted to give unrequested assistance to "The Flagg" during halftime performance. It was rumored that "Jaws" was none other than Chris Kropf, a popular Hope College student from Lowell.

It took two school buses and an equipment van to transport the ninety-seven musicians and their instruments to Holland and back.

The many Lowell area residents in attendance saw Hope College set several school records:

- (1) Most touchdowns in a season (37)
- (2) First undefeated campaign in 71 years.
- (3) Most points in nine games (271).

Giving a lift to the band have been Terry Raymor and Della Rogers through their work in the music library.

The next marching event for both the Senior High and Middle School bands will be the Christmas Parade, sponsored by the Lowell Area Chamber of Commerce, at 2 p.m. on Saturday, December 6.

As a final note of praise, the LHS Band was invited back to Holland next year for a return engagement.
