Donkey Rides, Ice Cream Social Saturday at Ada Ball Park

Donkey Rides, an exciting ball game, ice cream, cake and pie are in order Saturday, July 29, from 2 to 5 p. m. at the Lions Club Picnic grounds and ball park in Ada. All proceeds will go towards the building of modern restrooms at the Thornapple Little League Ball Park.

An ice cream social arranged by the steering committee of the H. E. L. P. will feature a game between the fathers of the Little League players and the coaches and umpires under the management of Ron Henne and Ray Moore. Any fathers interested in playing are urged to call one of these men.

Three donkeys owned by Gene Roberts will be in the field to give either saddle rides or a ride in a buggy to children who wish to contribute to the fund.

Cascade Dept. Answers Call at Miller Home

Tuesday, July 18, the Cascade Fire department answered a call at the home of Howard Miller on Cascade Road.

CONGRATULATIONS ON 96TH BIRTHDAY SUNDAY, JULY 30

Congratulations to Mrs. Mulder.

RETURNS FROM EUROPE

Mrs. Vincent J. Jeluso returned by plane from Frankfurt, Germany, July 17, where she has spent the last six months touring parts of Europe with her husband.

There will be ice cream cones for youngsters and plates for cake and ice cream in scoops for their parents on sale by members of the committee representing each team.

Additional baked goods for the sale will also be available to take home for the week end or for your freezers. Mothers of players are donating to the baked goods sale.

This will be located in the picnic area just north of the Thornapple Little League Ball Park and the ball game will be held at the field adjoining those grounds.

For pleasure and a worthy cause this gala event has been planned to salute the players, the coaches and umpires of this season. Spectators know the need for sanitary conditions at the ball park and should have fun helping to raise the money for them.

This money will go into a special fund under the name of Help Earn League Projects or it will be called H. E. L. P.

The mothers of the committee and the teams they represent are Mrs. Allan Parrott, Yankees; Mrs. Earl Bentley and Mrs. Fred Dygert, Indians; Mrs. Oscar Hoff, Pirates; Mrs. John Jackson, Tigers; Mrs. James Ashley, Cubs; Mrs. Harold Parrish, Braves; Mrs. Ray Harrington, Cardinals; and in addition Mrs. Lester DeKoster and Mrs. Jack Briedenfield have helped with the telephoning.

Mrs. Roger Koops has been in charge of making arrangements with the mothers of the minor league players.

Most of the delightful posters seen in the area have been made by some of the ball players themselves; Chip Hoff, Ryan and Randy Ashley, Steve Parrott and Don Kruger.

Let's have fun Saturday; all the players, their families and friends and anyone who enjoys a good time is hereby alerted... remember, the more we make on this event, the less we'll have to do later. We'd like to see the results in permanent form for the beginning of the next season.

In case of inclement weather, the project will be moved to the following Saturday, same time and place.

Here, colorful F-100 Super Sabre Jets flown by the USAF official demonstration team, the Thunderbirds, streak past mountains into a tight diamond formation low-level pass.

The Air Force team will present their performance at 2:00 p. m. on Wednesday, August 9, over the Ionia Free Fair grounds. This is a special tribute to the Governor, who will be watching from the stage on "Governor's Day" at the fair.

More than 31 million spectators have viewed the Thunderbirds during their travels around the world as America's "Ambassadors in Blue."

Lowell Showboat Off to Damp Start

Light rains marred the opening night run of the Lowell Showboat Monday evening as the gaily decorated Robert E. Lee XXX rounded the bend in Flat River with whistles blowing and twin stacks belching smoke.

Skies soon cleared, however, and the Showboat steamed up to its river-front wharf before a record-breaking audience of 6,000 people in the Showboat stadium. A puffing miniature tug aided the landing of the Showboat after its 133rd voyage down the river.

Headed by Hoosier comic Herb Shriner, the six top professional acts combined with the six local endmen and the 80-voice Showboat Chorus and disembarked from the glittering blue and silver boat to launch the maiden performance of the six-night 1961 season.

Dr. Roy Westcott, Lowell veterinarian, welcomed the crowd and began his third year as the singing Interlocutor of "the world's largest minstrel show," which runs this year through Saturday night, July 29.

Besides Shriner, whose homespun humor and artful harmonica playing highlighted the show, the Showboat entertainers included Bobo Barnett, six-foot clown who fascinated young and old alike by squeezing himself, a large suitcase, four trained dogs, and a pet skunk into a tiny four-foot automobile; the fast-stepping Steiner Brothers, a teen-age tap dance trio fresh from an appearance at the Sands Hotel in Las Vegas; the fabulous Ferry Forst troupe, Austrian masters of illusion who recently completed a four-month South American tour; the Lenore Sutton line of acrobatic dancing girls; and Jose-da Silva and his authentic Southern banjo melodies.

Recording star Jimmy Cook and his band provided background music for the professional acts and the endmen's songs.

Amateur stars for the opening night performance were tap dancers Sue Pierce and Vicki Hampton of Grand Ledge.

The Lowell Showboat is a community event which began in 1932. It is sponsored each year by the Clark-Ellis American Legion post and the Lowell Chamber of Commerce.

Monies received are used for local projects and for community development.

The Wonderful Ways of Wallpaper

Do your rooms seem dull and uninteresting or impossible to decorate attractively without spending a small fortune? Then by all means consider the possibility of transforming your rooms with wallpaper.

Architectural defects may be obliterated or architectural interest may be added with many handsome and unusual papers designed for just this purpose. Among these are papers that look like wooden and iron grill dados, shuttered doors and windows, and lovely garden scenes.

Another idea! Use a scenic mural for a point of interest. This is especially effective when used on a plain wall behind a sofa, on one or all walls of a dining room, or to add interest and dimension to a blank stairway wall.

An outstanding all-over design on a single wall may be enough to give your room that extra spark, or, on the other hand, a room with many unattractive jugs and openings might be quite stunning with all the walls and even the ceiling in the same paper.

The variety of wallpaper available beyond description. Thousands of colors and designs and many with correlated and matching fabrics lend unlimited decorating possibilities to any room, any taste. (Most papers come plastic coated for practicality in kitchens, baths, etc.) A single roll of wallpaper covers about 30 square feet of wall and prices run from 50 cents to $30.00 a single roll. The majority of the papers are priced from about $2 to $6 a single roll.

Wallpaper can easily be the most effective and least expensive addition to any room. See us for your wallpaper needs.

Shop Friday and Saturday evenings until 9:00.

New Ranges Are Easy to Clean

Lucky is the lady who can have a new kitchen range this year. According to Eleanor Densmore, County Extension Agent in Home Economics, there are many interesting features on the new models.

Manufacturers today are designing ranges and ovens with emphasis on easy cleaning and that is music to the homemaker's ears. One model features a no-spill top. A ridge around the cooking surface prevents foods from running down the sides of the range. Some cooking surfaces have tilt-up tops to speed under-burner cleaning. One gas range has a surface designed without openings so spills can't get into hidden crevices.

Some ovens have pull-out linings for easy cleaning. The oven door may tilt down flush with the front, or it may be completely removable. Some manufacturers have designed electric oven units so that foil can be carefully slipped below to catch spills. Oven heating units may lift up for cleaning without being detached.

Oven cleaning materials also have been improved. One product has a sponge applicator attached to the tube. A gentle squeeze fills the sponge and makes the cleaner safer and easier to use.

Humble Hot Dog Gains Support

The humble hot dog has staunch support from dietitians at The University of Michigan Medical Center who say it's one of the safest meat items to take on summer picnics.

Finding the right menu for family picnics during the hot summer months can be a difficult and critical chore for the housewife, says Marquarite Burgain, U-M staff dietitian. The food basket can make the difference between a healthful weekend in the outdoors, and rush visit to the hospital for food poisoning.

For an ideal safe picnic lunch, Miss Burgain recommends: soft drinks, ice tea or lemonade; fresh fruit; relishes such as carrots, radishes, pickles and celery; and hot dogs—grilled, of course.

Some of the more dangerous foods are "salad sandwiches," deviled eggs, mayonaisse, cream pies and any kind of chopped or ground meat. These can become excellent breeding grounds for disease-producing germs. In addition, said Miss Burgain, they can "smell good" and "look good" and still be dangerously contaminated.

The hot dog—possibly because of its skin-tight individual wrapping—fends off bacteria better than other meats. Although cold cuts run it a close second, the practice of singeing the hot dog in the campfire just before eating makes it the safest picnic meat.

What if you don't like hot dogs? Then says the U-M food specialist, take extra special precautions to keep your picnic selections cold (under 45 degrees) or very hot (over 150). This slows the growth rate of those bacteria that cause different forms of food poisoning.

In 1960, Michigan motorists injured 13,280 children in traffic!

Of these, 200 died!

Of all persons injured in Michigan traffic last year 57.8 per cent were children under 15 years of age—3,500 youngsters!

More than 34 per cent of all persons killed in Michigan traffic were children!

The most common accidents injuring or killing children were:

- (1) Crossing the street or road not at an intersection and from behind parked cars.
- (2) Playing in the roadway.

Eight out of 10 fatalities to children occurred in broad day light. The worst hours for child accidents are from 3 to 8 p.m.

More than 50 per cent of all child accidents occur on residential streets — a few blocks from home.

HE IS NO FOOL...

Some of you have no doubt heard about Jim Elliot. He was one of the five men who attempted to bring the gospel to the Auca Indians in South America and were killed by Auca spears, a few years ago. Jim Elliot was still a student, with no inkling of the death he would some day have to die, when he wrote these words in his diary: "He is no fool who gives what he cannot keep to gain what he cannot lose." It almost seems like a prophetic statement now. Jim Elliott gave his life—which he would have had to lose anyway; none of us can keep life. But he didn't lose, and couldn't lose, the joys of eternal glory. Isn't the opposite statement just as true? That man IS a fool who tries to hold on to what he cannot keep, only to lose his one opportunity to gain what he cannot lose? "For what is a man profited if he shall gain the whole world, and lose his own soul?" Matthew 16:26. (M. S.)

Even Chickens Can Damage Your Car

Deer aren't the only animals that plague Michigan motorists. The Michigan State Highway Department reports a variety of animals come to grips with cars on state highways.

Take, for instance, a study of accidents involving animals that occurred on 16 miles of M-21 between Port Huron and Emmett in St. Clair county during a four-year period.

Six accidents involving animals occurred the first two years.

Three deer, two horses and a cow were hit by cars.

Three persons were injured, two when a car hit a cow and the third when a car struck a horse.

The Michigan Department of Conservation suggested putting up "Deer Area" signs on a portion of the route.

Only one deer was hit during the next two years and, ironically, it crossed between the new signs and in an area where no deer had been hit before the signs were installed.

Other accidents during this period involved a dog, a pony and a small, unidentified animal.

No one was injured. Highway Department traffic engineers report even the smallest animal can cause as much or more damage than larger ones.

They cite the case of a police officer who tried to dodge a chicken in the road. The police car crashed while the chicken was unharmed.

The Highway Department said studies of this type, while inconclusive in many respects, do point up the need for motorists to be on the lookout for all types of animals while driving in Michigan and other states as well.

Don't be a demon at the wheel unless you're on the way to hell.

Recreation Close To Industry In Michigan Needs

Facilities for recreation are a factor in the location of expansion of industry, the Industrial Promotion Committee of the Michigan Press Association and the Michigan Economic Development Department point out.

This close connection between industry and recreation is stressed in an advertisement which appears today in this newspaper.

Industrial plant location specialists explain that companies are cognizant of the fact that workers who have facilities for recreation and relaxation generally are better workers. Michigan's excellent recreational facilities are given serious consideration when plant sites in this State are considered as possible locations for new industries, they say.

Michigan is outstanding in local, county, State and national parks. There is ample opportunity for picnicking, camping and hiking. With 3,121 miles of shoreline on four of the five Great Lakes Michigan has hundreds of miles of sandy beaches that are almost unrivalled. The State has 11,037 inland lakes and more than 36,000 miles of streams. No place in Michigan is more than six miles from a stream or a lake and no spot in the State is more than eighty-five miles from one of the Great Lakes.

Seasons have no effect of the opportunity for recreation. The only thing that changes is the type. In the Spring there is fishing, in the Fall there is hunting and in Winter there is ice skating, skiing, tobogganing, sleighing with facilities for these winter sports growing continually.

Recreation areas are reached over a constantly-growing network of four-lane, divided, limited access freeways. These freeways serve industry in speeding the goods from factory to market and serve workers and management in providing easy access to recreation areas.

The development of recreational facilities in Michigan is considered by those engaged in industrial development as one of the "tools" of the trade of encouraging industry to locate and expand in this State.

Becoming Difficult To Get Good Water

It's becoming increasingly hard to get a decent drink of water.

In many suburbs, wells and septic tanks plus viruses and modern detergents make conditions ripe for epidemics, according to Drs. Walter L. Mallman and Walter N. Mack, of the Michigan State University microbiology and public health department.

Cities which draw water from rivers also have a problem. Small but increasing amounts of detergents, insecticides, weed killers and other chemicals are being found in their water, reports Dr. C. Fred Gurnham, head of chemical engineering at MSU.

Drs. Mallman and Mack recently reviewed hundreds of studies they and other scientists have made relating to contamination of underground water. Disease-causing bacteria travel through the ground with sewage for up to 100 feet or more, they report.

What's more, they suspect, viruses travel even further than the much-larger bacteria and that syndets (synthetic detergents) give both more mobility.

They know that in many suburban areas, syndets from septic tanks have entered wells and cause a head of suds to appear on water as it is drawn from the tap. These syndets, they believe, carry microbes in suspension.

"Without question," they say, "a health problem exists. . . Unless recognition is given to the problem and specifications are formulated, based on research, . . . health hazards may result."

Dr. Gurnham, on the other hand has been concerned with city water supplies.

He is on a committee advising the United States Public Health Service in its effort to find a solution to the problem of trace chemicals in city water.

"Each drop of water," he explains, "is used and re-used many times during its journey to the sea."

"Sewage and industrial waste treatment cleans up the used water before discharge—but not perfectly. Water purification plants make the water clean for re-use—but again not perfectly. Some chemicals are not removed by any reasonable known treatment."

Chemical contaminants are present in city water on in trace amounts—as little as one or two parts per billion—but they could be dangerous. We don't know yet. "But even though many of these chemicals have been present for generations, everyone would like to have them removed."

The task of purifying water to the extent of removing all trace chemicals, the MSU professor notes, may be more difficult and expensive than that of freshening salt water.

Both these drivers end up as a fatal list.

Simple Menu's Your Best Bet While Boating

Ship Ahoy! It's boating time, and that means time to plan those picnic meals to eat aboard.

Dietitians at the University of Michigan Medical Center advise to use items which will not spoil easily in frequently opened "ice-boxes" or insulated bags.

Keep the menu simple with most of the preparation done at home. Remember, too, that this meal will be served on a rocking and slanting table.

Plan to serve with disposable plates, cups and tableware. This eliminates the chore of washing and insures good sanitation.

A sample menu might include: Cheese or Corned Beef Sandwiches with Mustard (no mayonnaise), Individually wrapped Dill Pickles, Carrots, and Celery;

Small Bags of Potato Chips, Apples, Bananas, Peaches, Plums, Canned Soft Drinks,

State Police Prepare For Serious Disaster

In readiness for emergency, the Michigan State Police are stocking 200 disposable canvas body transfer cases for handling bodies of victims in large scale disasters such as airliner crashes, fires, floods, or tornadoes when local facilities are inadequate or unavailable.

Half will be stored at Detroit Metropolitan airport and the remainder at East Lansing headquarters, ready for relay to needed points. Part of the supply has already been received.

Procurement of the cases was prompted by such a need in natural disasters and recent big airliner crashes when large numbers of persons were killed at one time.

A low cost item, the cases are being made at the Ionia Reformatory through the federal surplus property program. The cases are water repellent, have full-length zippered openings and six canvas webbing handles for carrying.

Packed five to a box, the cases can be easily carried in to remote isolated areas by rescue parties on foot. They will be available for disaster use by other police agencies upon request.

THE Picnic Basket

By Barbara Ballast

Our recipe this week comes from a homemaker on Ada Drive. Mrs. Ted Jenema, mother of two children Timmy, aged 3 and Beth, 4 years, submits her recipe for a Chop Suey casserole which her children go for in a big way.

It's ideal for a picnic if you're tired of the regular fare.

Chop Suey Casserole

- 1 cup finely chopped onions
- 2 cups finely chopped celery
- 1 can creamed chicken soup
- 1 can creamed mushroom soup
- 1 can of water
- 1 cup chopped green pepper (if desired)
- Salt and pepper to taste
- ½ cup uncooked rice
- 1-1½ lbs. of ground beef or other meat (brown and cooked)

Directions

Newspaper Ads Superior to Mail Circulars Survey Shows

Newspapers are far superior to circulars for retail store advertising, an independent survey recently showed.

The study was made by Market Research Service to determine how consumers react to circular and newspaper advertising and how they use them.

The study shows that more than one out of every three persons receiving mail advertising are "considerably annoyed" by it, and more than half throw out such advertising immediately or "after a quick glance."

Negative reactions to "occupant-addressed mail were indicated by respondents in the study with such expressions as: "unrealistic," "trivial," "exaggerated," "annoying," and "forced on me." Stores using such advertising were characterized as "untrustworthy,"

"high pressure," and purveyors of "low quality merchandise."

Newspaper advertising on the other hand, the study reports, evokes such descriptions as "believable," "describes a product I need," "useful," and "tells what I need to know before buying."

On the subject of cost, a comparable statistical chart shows that the cost per thousand of "effective audience—the audience actually reached by the message—is $53.19 for circulars, $11.75 for newspapers, with a "maximum unit buy" as the basis for comparison.

For an "equal space buy" (in inches), costs would be $53.19 and $9.38, for circulars and newspapers, respectively.

sted, and Carolyn Farlee, are doing a fine job in helping the leaders.
