Miss Slenderbrook, James Adrianse Exchange Vows

The wedding of Miss Grace Slenderbrook and James L. Adrianse took place in Boston Square Christian Reformed Church, Rev. John Guichelaar performing the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Slenderbrook, Alto Avenue, and Mr. and Mrs. John Adrianse, Fase Street, Ada, are parents of the bridegroom.

The bride's gown was a long sleeved taffeta appliqued with flowers on the round neckline and front. Her three tiered illusion veil was held in place by a pearl caplette; she carried a Bible covered with a white orchid, stephanotis and ivy.

Mrs. Richard DeJager, sister of the bride, was the matron of honor, Miss Arlene Slenderbrook, also a sister of the bride, and Miss Janice K. Dryer, were bridesmaids wearing dark brown velvet sheath dresses with beige silk organza overskirts. Their headpieces and bouquets were formed with yellow Fuji chrysanthemums. Linda Patricia Visser served as flower girl, Thomas Hoekstra was the ringbearer.

Assisting the bridegroom as best man was Kenneth J. Andriansen, his brother. Ushers seating the wedding guests were Richard De Green and Richard Dunn.

Presiding as mistress and master of ceremonies at the reception were Mr. and Mrs. Albert Slenderbrook, brother and sister-in-law, of the bride. The reception was held in the church parlors.

Mr. and Mrs. James L. Adrianse left on a honeymoon to Washington, and after November 17 will reside at 611 Innes Street, Grand Rapids.

DRIVERS LICENSE SUSPENDED

The driving permits of Harry Charles Beimers, 48, 697 Pettis, Ada, physically incompetent October 18, indefinitely. Jack Edwin DeCamp, 31, 10644 Cascade Road, Lowell, unlawfully driving away a motor vehicle, October 12, 1962.

Coach Jerry Dangi's Forest Hills Rangers are working hard in preparation for their opener on Tuesday, November 27, at Caledonia.

The game will be the first ever played in the new Caledonia gym. The new Caledonia gym has a regulation playing floor, and seating capacity of 2,000 spectators.

Coach Dangi is working with several letter winners from last year, including Jim Jackson, Jim Connors, Clarence Stiles, and Jim Johnson.

Boys up from the Reserve team expected to lend help are Bobby Mac Intyre and Kent Fisher. Jim Perrin, 6' 3" center is recovering from a knee injury and probably won't be ready for action for 2 or 3 more weeks.

After the Caledonia game, the Rangers open their home season with a game with Rogers on November 30.

Season Tickets

The Forest Hills High School Athletic Department is selling basketball season tickets this year for the first time.

Athletic Director, Edward Shy, announced that the plan has been devised to increase the revenue from the basketball program. Mr. Shy reports that basketball revenue has been very disappointing, and last year the revenue from basketball was only half as much as from football in spite of the fact that there are twice as many home basketball games and that our gymnasium can seat 500 more people than our football stadium.

Shy stated that our entire program is dependent upon the revenue taken in at football and basketball games. He said that all other sports must live off these two and if one falters the entire program is in jeopardy.

The season tickets are selling for $2.50 for students, and $5 for adults. This ticket includes 8 home games. The tickets are on sale now, and can be purchased from Varsity Club members or at the high school office.

Shy is urging that as many people as possible can purchase a ticket to enable the athletic program to stay alive.

Deer Regulations Cover Storage

If a hunter is successful in getting one of the 90,000 deer expected to be bagged in the state this fall, he must take storage precautions in order to comply with regulations of the Michigan Department of Agriculture.

Lucky deer hunters each year cause more than their share of problems for inspectors of locker plants.

Under the law dressed and cut up deer may be stored in commercial cold storage plants with other food supplies if the skins and hides are not included, according to Agricultural Director G. S. McIntyre.

Strict regulations govern the storage of wild life. One of these forbids storing hides and skins except in separate storage rooms having no open passages that lead into locker rooms, chill rooms, aging rooms or sharp freeze rooms. Deer still having the hide on must be stored in separate rooms from all other provisions under regulations of the Department's foods and standards division, which is headed by J. L. Littlefield. Hides and skins cannot be stored with other provisions.

"Deer stored in other locker plants, such as refrigerators or freezers in grocery stores and meat markets, must be stored so there is no possible contamination of other foods from dust, vermin, animals or persons," Mr. Littlefield said.

Local Cub Scouts Appeal For Help

Everyday on radio, TV, or through the mail comes an appeal for help—for Polio Drivers, Cancer Fund, Community Chest, Tuberculosis—and every one is a worthy cause. This is an appeal for a worthy cause—an appeal for your Cub Scouts.

Cub Scouts in Cascadia Meadows and the area west of the East Beltline need a volunteer to serve as a den mother, to meet with a group of boys once a week. The drive is once a year, the goal is a rewarding experience helping boys earn awards to become better citizens in their family, school, community, country, world.

Won't you be a willing volunteer? It takes no special talent, simply liking boys and wanting to help them are the requirements. There will be all kinds of "helps" for you—you only receive by giving—it's true in all you do.

Call 949-1935, Don Straszar or 949-0626, Anthony Nieukoop if you want any further information or have any questions when you volunteer.

Martin-Collins Cub Scout Pack will hold their next meeting December 4.

Upper Classmen Learn About Con-Con Nov. 9

On Friday, November 9, the Juniors and Seniors held an assembly to learn about the Michigan Constitution. The speaker was Mrs. Judd, a local representative to the Constitutional Convention.

Mrs. Judd showed slides she had taken at the Con-Con of the various representatives, and gave an interesting explanation on how the Convention was run. She also explained how votes were cast and how the new Constitution was set up.

After a fifteen minute break for question, Mrs. Judd concluded her excellent presentation by showing slides of various apportionments proposed by some of the Con-Con representatives.

"In case you didn't know, a dividend is a certain percentage per annum, perhaps."

Extension Groups Study Dress Design

Michigan State University Extension Groups to Study "Line and Design in Clothing"

If you're a gal with a perfect figure, don't read this.

Since the majority of us have to make the most of what we have, Extension groups in Kent County have chosen to find out what line and design can do for them in the buying and making of garments for themselves and their families.

This lesson is one of a series on the use of color and design in the home and is a part of the Home Economics Program of the Cooperative Extension Service, sponsored by Michigan State University. Leader training lessons are as follows:

November 13—All day at the Extension office

November 14 and 15—Evening meetings at the Extension office

November 16—All day at the 4-H Lodge at Bostwick Lake

Leaders from this area attending are: Mrs. Carl Cleveland, Bowne; Mrs. J. R. Jarvi, Cascade; Mrs. Richard Foerster and Mrs. Don Samuels, East Cascade; and Mrs. L. Scott and Mrs. M. De Good, Thornapple.

Mrs. L. Scott, Reporter

Local Artists Sponsor New 'Center Gallery'

On Monday, November 19, the new "Center Gallery" will open its doors at 154 East Fulton in Grand Rapids. In it, the public will have the opportunity to see and purchase original art work, both realistic and abstract, by local artists.

Four residents in the Suburban Life area are interested in this project. Robert Godfrey, Pettis Road, will be the director of the gallery and painting by Stuart Terry, Knapp Ave., Clarence Browner and Mrs. Marian Browner of Forest Hill Avenue will be shown.

Other members of the Center Gallery are: Mrs. Laverne Vander Heide, Gerald Mast, Mrs. Edwina Carlson, Orville Bulman, Mrs. Macy Schwarz, Harry Worst, Miss Helen Stekete, James Rowan, Phillip North and Dr. Joseph De Pree. Exhibits will be changed frequently.

Plans are underway for a Christmas show in December which will include painting by other G. R. artists and crafts such as ceramics and jewelry. It is also hoped that work from neighboring Michigan communities may be brought to Grand Rapids.

People from the Forest Hills district are cordially invited to drop in the gallery just to browse around. Its central location downtown makes it an ideal place to meet friends for shopping or to relax for a few minutes during the holiday rush.

The Center Gallery will be open every day, Monday through Saturday, from twelve noon to five p. m. and in December some evenings.

Sundown On The Marsh

I am a bedlam of noise. I am dumb with silence. I am life giving. I am murderous. I am home to graceful birds and to countless crawling, slithering, swimming creatures. I am cursed by men, and extolled by men. I am repulsive and I am beautiful. Among earthly things I was the beginning. There are those who say I will be the end.....I am the marsh.—Mich. Carole DeMaat Becomes Bride Of Norman Stukkie

The bride chose an ivory Irish linen gown with hand sewn lace inserts, a pill box which held her veil and carried a cascade bouquet of sterling roses and frosted purple grapes.

Miss Jean Dykstra, maid of honor, and bridesmaids, Miss Susan DeMaat, sister of the bride; Miss Sharon Blanker and Miss Ruth Byle, wore purple velveteen dresses with rose headpieces. They carried pale blue pompons and pink roses.

Laura Lee Duthler was flower girl; Roger L. Stukkie carried the rings.

Curriculum Study Group Meets At Forest Hills

A curriculum study group met at Forest Hills High School November 6, over a 7:15 breakfast arranged by Harold Chambers, superintendent of the Forest Hills Public School.

Barbara Byrd, Kent County Curriculum Consultant acted as chairman. Twenty-six principals and co-ordinators from the following schools were present: Rockford, Comstock Park, Northview, East Grand Rapids, Lowell and Forest Hills.

It was generally agreed that a sharing of ideas by the schools and people involved would be a beginning step toward the up-grading of each schools curriculum. It is the plan of the group to include other members of the faculty as the study progresses.

Is it really so different now? Do the little girls in small towns still cry, re-reading Little Women? Have the Rover Boys quieted down for good? Are the sidewalks all slick and cementy now—no bricks, no board, no mud?...?

Are there still sleighrides? Toys made of sturdy cast iron? Wonderfully cold water in buckets? Churches in white and ministers in black? Farmers with circus passes? And dogs getting left overs instead of dogfood? And band concerts? And ice cream straight from the freezer on the Fourth?

Remember?

"A snob is a person who is ashamed to have his acquaintances catch him with his friends."

"Chivalry is a man's desire to protect a woman against all men but himself."

Ski Club Meets; Discuss Events

Sallye Werner opened the Ski Club meeting with an announcement stating that tickets for the movie "Ski Spectacular", shown by S. Engin, this Wednesday night at 8:00 p. m. at the South High Auditorium are still available. See Sallye or Mr. Lyons for tickets. $1.50.

The second important order of business concerned the rejection of an old article of the club's constitution. The clause stating "eligibility can be retained only if the member works up to his ability scholastically", was voted out as undesirable.

The club and school was represented at the Sno Sho at the Civic Auditorium last Saturday night by our lovely and talented president, Sallye Werner. Even though she did not win, we were all pleased by the position and part she played at the Sno Sho.

NOTE: The club is still open to interested new members. Membership fee is only $.50.

Invitations Out For Library Meeting

Government officials and other civic leaders from Lowell, Ada and Cascade, with other county officials, will receive invitations this week to attend a regional Governor's Conference on Libraries December 4 at the Grace Episcopal church, Hall and Plymouth in Grand Rapids.

A dinner meeting at 6:30 p. m. will be followed by a public meeting at 7:30 p. m., according to Marion Vos, general chairman of the planning committee. The Kent county meeting is the sixteenth of 19 regional meetings being held in Michigan as follow-ups of the First Governor's Conference on Libraries held September 19 in Lansing, when 1,000 persons gathered in the Civic center there to launch a strong state-wide citizen's movement for better library service in Michigan.

The regional meetings include speakers and discussions on Michigan's library needs, study of a new proposed state aid formula, and a call for local action to reach the goal of good library service for all Michigan residents. Miss Genevieve Casey, State Librarian, has stated, "At present, Michigan has some one million residents without local service and thousands with inadequate service."

Mayor Robert W. Richardson of East Grand Rapids will welcome the group. Included in the program will be a film on the September 19 conference highlighting a new state aid formula for public libraries being proposed by the State Board of Libraries. Miss Casey will further explain this formula under the theme, "Patterns for Progress." Following the presentation, a general discussion on what the specific implications of the old formula would be for libraries in Kent county will be led by Mrs. Ruth Frame, State Library consultant for this area.

A reactor panel composed of Mrs. Luther Carpenter, East Grand Rapids, Miss Grace Hamilton, Sedar Springs, Mrs. Daniel N. Lipke, Grand Rapids and Robert VanderLaan, Paris township will question Mrs. Frame. Discussion by the entire group will follow.

Libraries in the county which are included in the discussion are Cedar Springs, Grand Rapids, Kent County, Rockford and Sparta. Dinner reservations should be made with Mrs. Chester Hall, treasurer, in care of Ryerson Library, 11 Library Street, Grand Rapids, Michigan.

Dances Are U. S. Export

American dance steps created a sensation in England in 1785 just as they did in 1942.
Howard H. Peckham, director of the Clements Library which houses early Americana, says, "By the time of the War of Independence the colonists had developed a manner of dancing which has remained distinctive to this day."
"The introduction of 'jitterbugging' to England and North Ireland in 1942 by U.S. soldiers was but a reiteration of a similar phenomenon more than 150 years earlier."
"When British officers returned home from service in the American War of Independence, they introduced at Bath some fancy steps they had learned from fraternizing with Tory belles in the erstwhile colonies," says Peckham.
This shift of culture from one continent to another is spelled out in the Clements Library's copy of "Twenty-four American Country Dances as Danced by the British During their Winter Quarters at Philadelphia, N. Y., collected by M. Cantelo, Musician at Bath, Where They are Now Dancing for the First Time in Britain." (London 1785).

U-M Language Lab In Residence Hall

Students at a University of Michigan Residence Hall are about to get a perfect roommate—a language laboratory whose sole purpose is to help them with homework.
For the first time anywhere, an experimental 10-booth language lab will be set up in a residence hall (East Quadrangle) with full access to all language programs playing in the central language laboratory several blocks away (in Mason Hall).
Here, in a nutshell, is how it works. Thanks to a device called Dial Selector, a student using the main lab puts on earphones, then turns on his lesson by simply dialing a number on the dial in his booth—a process rather like a person phoning for correct time.
By using the same device a student at the dormitory lab gets his program from the central lab in somewhat the same manner as placing a direct long-distance call. All 10 booths will be dial-operated by December. Until then the lab will receive a limited number of language programs.
This never-before-attempted experiment, if all goes well, may open up a new avenue in the field of language lab operation, now an integral part of foreign language teaching at the University, said Erwin M. Hamson, developer of the experiment and acting director of the U-M Language Laboratory.
Not only do dormitory labs operate closer to dormitory students, but, more important, relatively inexpensive auxiliary labs are one practical solution to the ever increasing number of students in need of lab. Last year, for example, more than 4,000 students spent nearly 9,000 hours per week in the central lab's 145 listening-booths.
But there's another aspect, said Hamson. New teaching techniques are constantly refining and improving the instructional materials on tapes, and in response to better materials, students tend to spend more time working in the lab.
One notable modern teaching method is the "programmed instruction" in language. Generally, it teaches a language in tiny, easy-to-digest steps carefully sequenced in logical order.
The steps increase in difficulty so gradually that the student hardly knows it. One such "programmed" language course being taught at the Michigan Laboratory is Latin, programmed by University Professor Waldo E. Sweet.
If properly scheduled, the dormitory lab can handle from 200 to 300 students, Hamson explained. Many language classes, especially beginning courses, require drill sessions in the lab.
The U-M Language Laboratory is one of the oldest and largest in the country. It operates on a free-access, library-type basis open to students six days a week. Currently, 22 different languages are available for instructional purpose at the Laboratory.

Defeat
No normal healthy person enjoys defeat. We all like to be winners. But none of us is a winner all the time. We all suffer defeats and setbacks. What then? Are these just unpleasant experiences that we quickly forget? If they are, we miss some of life's most valuable lessons. How many persons have testified that they have learned more in defeat than in victory, even though victory is more enjoyable. For the Christian, this is especially true, because the Christian believes that God rules this world, and everything has a purpose. God has something He wants to teach us, if we are only willing to learn. Besides the Christian can take defeat with good confidence, for he knows the final victory over sin and death are his through Jesus, our Savior and Lord.

Your Free Forslund Christmas Catalog

... IS WAITING FOR YOU!
WON'T YOU STOP IN PLEASE AND PICK IT UP?
THANKS SO MUCH!

This year's Christmas Catalog is our finest yet! We did worry a bit if we could sell English Scissors, Scottish Mohair Stoles, Men's English Clothes Brushes and the other direct imports that Mr. and Mrs. F. purchased last spring in Europe. (After all, we are a furniture store!) But by judging by the orders received so far from all over the country, this is the best catalog we've ever had. If it's more convenient, we'd be happy to mail it to you. Just call or write.
