Baseball League Opens Season

Last Monday the Class "B" group of the Forest Hills Baseball League began League competition at the Lion's Youth Park. As a brief introduction, the teams will be called by the sponsor's name this year as all teams are sponsored. The Lancers of last year are now Chez-Ami Bowling; the Braves, Ada "66" Service; the Bear Cats, Guardsman Chemical; the Cougars, Thornapple Valley Lion's Club; the Tigers, of course, remain R. D. Brooks, Forest Hills Land Co.; and the new team, Amway.

In the opening contest Monday, Bif Freeman led the Ada Service crew to a 12 to 9 romp over the Chez Ami nine with 2 home runs. Jones was the winning pitcher while Patterson was tabbed with the loss.

Tuesday's action at the Lion's Field saw the Lion's Club trip Guardsman Chemical 10 to 5. The Lion's Club pushed a run across in the first, added one in the 2nd, 4 in the 3rd and 4 more in the 6th, and were never in any serious trouble as Guardsman Chemical couldn't score until the 5th. Jack Meyer was the losing pitcher while Tim Moore got credit for the win. Extra base hits for Guardsman Chemical, Mike Bigelow, a triple and Denny Nowack a double; for the Lion's Club, Jim Koessel, Roger Miller and Larry Fill all had a double and Dennis Roe hit 2 doubles.

Due to work at the Ada Recreation Field, the 2 games scheduled there were not able to be played Tuesday at that field. The first scheduled game was transferred to the High School field. In that game, Wisniewski of Amway and Mike Frey of R. D. Brooks locked in a real pitchers duel, Wisniewski and Amway came out ahead 3 to 2.

Wednesday evening Amway again dropped R. D. Brooks, this time 5 to 3 in another hard fought contest. Fred Bentley and Eric VanderVeen both hit a double for the losers, while the winner had 5 hits, all singles. Winning pitcher, Wisniewski; loser F. Bentley.

Guardsman Chemical ran over the Lion's Club pitching Thursday to score a 15 to 2 victory. Randy Ashley homered for the winners. Tom Sysma pitched a brilliant 1 hitter to get credit for the win. Tim Moore pitched one-third of an inning and was tabbed with the loss. J. Gromer also homered for the winners, otherwise there were no other extra base hits.

Schedule for this coming week: Monday, June 17—Lion's Club vs. Amway at Lion's Park. Tuesday, June 18—R. D. Brooks vs. Chez Ami at Lion's Park. First game of Ada Recreation Field, game time 6:00, will pit Guardsman Chemical vs. Ada Service Station, and the second game (game time 8:00) Amway vs. Lion's Club.

Wednesday, June 19, back at the Lion's Park, Guardsman vs. Ada Service, and to round out the schedule Thursday, Chez Ami vs. R. D. Brooks. See you at the ball game!

Rev. Henry DeMots performed the marriage service for Miss Paula Prins and Ronald Jay Reitsma last Friday evening (June 7) in the Mayfair Christian Reformed Church. The bride's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Gerrit Prins of Ada, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Reitsma of Battle Creek are the parents of the groom.

The bride chose a sheath dress of peau de soie fashioned with a detachable train, with a pearl design on the waistline. Her veil was held in place by a taffeta and lace petal headpiece, and she carried amazon lillies, yellow roses and white feathered chrysanthemums.

The maid of honor was Miss Caroline Prins, sister of the bride. Her other sisters, Miss Linda Prins was bridesmaid, and Sharon Prins was junior bridesmaid. The attendants wore maize, turquoise and light blue sata-peau dresses with bow trimmed overskirts. The bride's wedding gown had a tiered back and was trimmed with jeweled lace appliques. A crown of tear-drop crystals held her veil. Her cascade-type bouquet was made of white carnations, yellow roses and daisies.

Maid of honor was Miss Sandra Purcey, and she wore a yellow dress with lace bodice and chiffon skirt. Her brief veil was held by a matching pillbox, and she carried a basket with yellow daisies and blue-tipped carnations.

Wins Radio At Social

The Murphy Community Club held a very successful ice cream social on June 3 on the Murphy School grounds.

The winner of the door prize (clock-radio) was a fourth grade student of Murphy School—Debbie Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Miller of 2160 Engleside Drive S. E. Much of the success of the social may be attributed to the efforts of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Coleman, Chairmen, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry McMillan, Co-Chairmen, and Mrs. Henry Tepper, who was in charge of the food.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Larsen provided the children with pony and ferris wheel rides.

King Once Ruled Beaver Island

Rimming the northern half of a sheltered harbor on Michigan's Beaver Island nestles the village of St. James—founded on tyranny and oppression—reborn as a haven for the work-weary tourist.

Not as reverberant as the shot from Concord that signalled independence, a shot, nevertheless, sounded freedom for the island as it echoed across Lake Michigan waters on a summer day in 1856. The shot mortally wounded James Jesse Strang, self-proclaimed king of Beaver Island and leader of an isolated Mormon colony, thus ending the only monarchy ever established on United States soil.

Strang founded the colony late in 1847, supported by a handful of loyal followers. Over the nine-year period of his dominant leadership his flock grew, nurtured by his own religious tenets which then defied the accepted customs and laws of the land.

At the height of his reign, Strang took advantage of the fact that the population of Beaver Island far outweighed the population of the rest of Emmet County. It was not long before the political offices of the county were completely taken over by Strang's people, much to the concern and growing fear of the mainlanders.

Following the Mormon leader's murder, the island was gradually repopulated by a group of Irishmen from the Charlevoix area—the same people who had bitterly opposed Strang's presence on the island. They torched nearly every Mormon building, then settled back to pursue their native livelihood—fishing the prolific waters surrounding them.

Aptly named, "America's Emerald Isle," Beaver Island is a vacation gem lying in the blue water of Lake Michigan, 35 miles northwest of Charlevoix.

The largest island in Lake Michigan—54 square miles—Beaver has more than its share of natural charm to entice those vacationers who want to get away from it all.

Visitors making the motorship trip become aware of the placid serenity of this outpost of nature; the moment the island fully breaks the horizon. Trees snuggle the shore line, screening from casual view the lakes, streams and noiseless forest that lie beyond.

From its northernmost tip at Indian Point south through its 14-mile length to Beaverhead Light, the area abounds in wildlife. A herd of more than 1,000 deer, as well as ruffed grouse, ducks and rabbits beckon to hunters.

Beaver Island is famed for the Lake Michigan perch that abound off its shores, but for those who prefer the solitude of inland fishing, the isle's many small lakes offer an abundance of smallmouth bass, bluegills and pike. Boats for fishing or sight-seeing are available for rent.

Transportation around the island is no problem. If the visitor prefers to leave his car on the mainland, he can rent one from an auto rental agency, and taxi-service also is available. To really enjoy the beauties of the island, however, a slower pace—either bicycle or horseback—is recommended.

Beaver offers an idyllic background for varied vacation interest. In addition to hunting and fishing, there is swimming, camping, picnicking and hiking. The untouched areas of the island afford an excellent opportunity for camera fans and nature lovers to study the many types of wildlife in their original habitat.

Modern conveniences are not neglected on the island. Hotels, motels, cabins and a variety of restaurants offer first-rate accommodations.

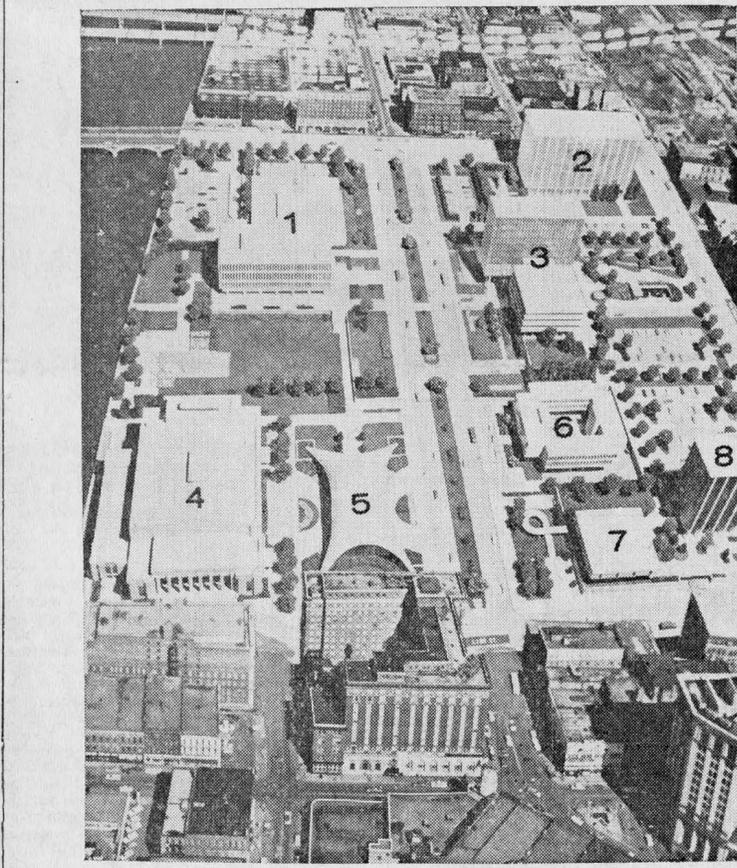

For vacationers with an historic turn of mind, some of the buildings erected during King Strang's reign are still standing—most notable, the print shop where the island leader edited his newspaper. Also reminiscent of the past is the home and tomb of Dr. Feodor Protar, the Russian nobleman who liberated his serfs and was exiled by the Czar. Dr. Protar fled to Beaver Island where he ministered to the ailing and never accepted payment for his services.

Evidence of prehistoric existence can be seen in the works of the mound builders who were the island's first inhabitants, and whose burial mounds and worshipping grounds are still preserved.

From the past to the present, Beaver Island offers vacation variety—lakes, beaches and forest trails, with shades of nature and the romantic past awaiting at every turn.

Nature Notes

by Edith Jarvi

With the beginning of June, the nesting season is in full swing. This is the time to walk slowly along a quiet country road in the morning, the earlier the better, but about 8 o'clock will do. At this time many of the birds will still be singing.

The fence-row along the road here is brushy. That Field Sparrow singing in the Wild Plum probably has his nest in the Black-berry tangle about a foot from the ground.

There's a Bluebird. He was fortunate in finding a ready-made nest hole near the top of that fence post. Those lovely triangular blue flowers growing in a cluster with many buds at the top of a broad grass-like plant is a Virginia Spiderwort. It flowers will shrivel and fade by noon, to be replaced tomorrow by new ones.

The Chipping Sparrow trilling from the Wild Crabapple Tree surely has a nest in the Red Cedar nearby. The orange spots on the crabapple leaves are cedar-apple rust, which grows on Red Cedar one year and on Apple or Crabapple the next year.

The Brown Thrasher is singing in the Shagbark Hickory. He's a bachelor still looking for a mate. As soon as he finds one, he'll do all his singing for her alone, "Whisper Songs." Then they'll make a nest in some thick brush-patch such as that hazel-nut tick.

That grapevine-covered tree may hold a Cardinal's nest. He is whistling from the Wild Black Cherry Tree. The cherry blossoms are almost gone, but you can still catch a faint odor of licorice.

A Song Sparrow has been singing in short burst of various trills between intervals of feeding. His nest is on or very near the ground, perhaps by that fallen log under the gray Dogwood bushes, which will bloom in flat clusters of white flowers before the end of the month. Here in the damp ground Downey Phlox are blooming. Like their cousins, the earlier Wild Phlox, they like the light shade.

A kingbird is staging a mock battle and shrieking his battle cry as if to show what he'll do to the next crow or hawk that comes too near. His nest is there in the Thornapple Tree which is in full bloom. This round-leaved Hawthorn has fewer thorns than most Thorn-apples.

ALL ROADS LEAD TO MICHIGAN--Well, almost all roads lead to the Wolverine State. Route markers of major highways that do are held by a dozen Michigan State University coeds. They are members of the cast of a University Theater play and took time out from rehearsals to invite you to take a drive on one of Michigan's fine highways and enjoy the state's scenic wonders.

June Brides, A Marriage Tradition

There'll be about 1 1/2 million weddings in the United States this year, and, as usual, June is the most popular month for the altar-bound.

Why June has become the traditional month of weddings and roses probably relates to the transportation difficulties in early America. . . too much snow in the winter to get to a wedding celebration. Spring and fall were bad times too, because folks were busy with planting or harvesting.

Another influencing factor may have been that June is named after the Roman goddess, Juno, The Greeks had a different name for this dame—Hera. Anyway, the point is that Juno (or Hera) was the goddess of womanhood, of marriage and of maternity. She was usually represented as a matronly type, but nonetheless beautiful. The peacock, the cuckoo and the pomegranate were sacred to her. Homer spoke of her as the "white-armed goddess" and the "ox-eyed queen"—all of which adds up to the kind of deity every prospective bride ought to have on her side.

Interesting Customs

For instance, the engagement ring represents the very old custom of a gift to a girl desired in marriage. The diamond ring originated in Italy where the diamond was believed to be a "flame of love." In ancient Egypt, the ring was a symbol of eternity. It also symbolized the "captive bride" whose hands were tied to prevent her from escaping. Anglo-Saxons wore the ring on the right hand until the wedding when it was transferred to the left.

Another custom credited to ancient Egypt is throwing old shoes or tying them to the bridal car. In the land of the pyramids, the father handed the bride's sandal to the groom, symbolizing a transfer of authority.

Mohammedans, back in the middle ages, used orange blossoms in their ceremonies, as the orange was their most prolific fruit. Today orange blossoms symbolize the hope that the wedded couple will be blessed with children. Throwing rice carries the same wish. . . but in ancient times it was also a way to "protect" the marriage from evil gods.

Since the sun was a god in many early societies, it was believed that if a bride-to-be gazed on the sun she would be certain to have children. This may explain the old saying, "Happy is the bride the sun shines on."

Even though her wedding day is her happiest day, the bride is "supposed" to cry symbolizing the dismay of the bride of olden times captured by force. The capture is also reflected in the custom of the

Does The World Love Fat Men?

The world may love a fat man, as the saying goes. But the fat man's doctor worries about his patient's health.

The chief reason is the high death rate among those who are overweight, reports Dr. Park W. Willis, III, of The University of Michigan Medical Center.

"The obese patient is more likely to develop certain diseases that may be fatal or that may have fatal complications."

These include diabetes, hardening of the arteries, strokes, high blood pressure, heart attacks, and gall bladder, liver and kidney diseases. "Even cancer has been found to be more common in fat people," Dr. Willis says.

The overweight person also has a harder time recovering from serious illnesses, operations and accidents, says the UpM physician.

In addition, he suffers other annoying physical symptoms and emotional difficulties.

He tires easily, often develops flat feet and arthritis of the knees. "Heat bothers him. He flushes and sweats and is prone to develop certain skin conditions."

He has personality problems. "A lot of mental stress comes from being teased or ridiculed. . . and from lack of social acceptance. It has been reported that the suicide rate is much higher than normal in overweight people."

Dr. Willis lists obesity as the "commonest single disease in the United States today."

His solution: convince the overweight to eat less and maintain an "ideal" weight.

Dr. Willis spoke on a radio broadcast sponsored by The University of Michigan and the Michigan State Medical Society.

Take Care to Avoid Over-Exposure

It's time again for that first sunburn of the season. Here's how to do it.

Go to the beach or pool on the first hot day. Stay all day in the sun in your swim suit, particularly through the noon hour, when the rays are most penetrating. Don't bother with protective lotions. It really is very easy to get a painful, almost crippling burn. If you stay out long enough, you can even get a deep third-degree burn.

Actually, tanning has no physical value. Exposure to the sun is damaging to the skin. Sunlight speeds wrinkling and aging, and excessive exposure over a period of time can cause serious skin conditions. Physicians would prefer that their patients avoid exposure to the sun as much as possible.

However, medical men also are aware that sun tanning is widespread in America and probably will continue to be popular despite its potential hazards. Thus doctors advise their patients to take precautions to reduce the skin damage from tanning as much as possible.

The human skin varies greatly in the amount of sun it can absorb. Dark-skinned, dark-haired, dark-eyed persons can take considerable sun without burning. Red-heads, blondes, blue-eyed, fair-skinned people need to be more wary.

You must to some extent learn for yourself how much sun you can take without burning. A timetable that will suit many of us is as follows:

First day, expose skin to sun for 15 to 20 minutes. This means 15 or 20 minutes each on face and back. Second day, increase exposure by one-third, to a little less than half an hour. Third day, again increase exposure by one-third, to from 30 to 40 minutes. And so on.

"Of the many remedies that won't cure a cold whiskey is by far the most popular."

Inspiration

Last week it was my privilege to attend the Christian Reformed Ministers' Institute. What a blessing and inspiration it was to hear the various speakers, among them Dr. E. Elson, the former pastor of Dwight Eisenhower. Such an experience is a treat for ministers who seldom have an opportunity to hear other preachers. For every christian, it is important to receive food for our souls, inspiration and instruction from the Word of God. Every Sunday morning and evening this privilege is yours in church. If you go seeking a blessing, God promises you a blessing, not because the minister is so wise, but because he brings the Word of God. Will you receive this blessing Sunday? We will see you in church.

LOOK MOTHER, NO DISH-PAN HANDS!

A boon to brides and experienced homemakers as well, is the new non-stick cook ware.

Introduced back in 1960, it's been improving ever since. Today, you can fry, boil, bake, roast and grill without the disagreeable aftermath of scouring and scrubbing sticky pots and pans. A few whisks of the sponge under a running faucet and the job is done—without drudgery and without dish-pan hands.

What is this non-stick ware? Really it is a heavy plastic lining that has been added to aluminum ware.

The first articles of this type were non-stick fry pans and the early ones were somewhat fragile. Only a wooden spatula could be used with them lest the lining be damaged. Now we can get non-stick casseroles, Dutch ovens, griddles, cooky pans, and many other items and they all are fairly sturdy. True some care needs to be taken. You can use metal spoons and spatulas if you aren't too vigorous. Stirring with a wooden spoon is recommended and a plastic (heat-proof) or wooden spatula is less likely to damage the lining. You just have to remember to be a little more careful of the lining, but it's well worth the extra care.

Some of the rewards are:

- you can fry foods with a minimum amount of fat and spatter
- you don't have to grease cooky and muffin pans
- you can even do scalloped potatoes without a sticky casserole to scrub
- you can make gravy after your roast and the pan is easy to clean
- you can grill sandwiches and such without additional fat
- you can cook a package of frozen vegetables in only one tablespoon of water, saving important minerals and vitamins
- you can cook on top of the stove without constant stirring.

Detergents and water are the only cleaning agents necessary. In fact, abrasives, scouring pads and steel wool and cleaners are likely to damage the finish.

First utensils of this sort came out in gray only, but now several new colors have been added.

Couple United In Afternoon Rites

Cascade Christian Church was the scene of the marriage of Miss Sylvia A. Dykhuizen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lyle E. Dykhuizen, of 3230 Thorncrest Drive, S. E., and Terry Jay VanHeyningen, son of Mr. and Mrs. William VanHeyningen, of 7247 Mc Cords Avenue, Saturday afternoon, June 8. The Rev. Raymond Gaylord performed the ceremony.

The bride's full-length gown of white silk organza had a round neck and cap sleeves with a chapel train and a skirt of applied roses. A rose of silk organza edged with seed pearls held her bouffant elbow-length veil, and she carried a white Bible topped with white roses and lily of the valley.

Mrs. Charles Dykhuizen, sister-in-law of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a short dress of aqua silk organza and carried a long-stemmed yellow rose as did the bridesmaids: Miss Susan De Vries, cousin of the groom, and Miss Sandra Dykhuizen, cousin of the bride.

John VanDuinen was best man; Tom Van Heyningen, brother of the groom, and Lyle Dykhuizen, brother of the bride, assisted the groom. The groom's nephew, Jimmy Van Heyningen, acted as ring bearer.

Mrs. Donald Heaven was the organist and accompanied the soloist, Mrs. Roy Reynolds, as she sang "Our Wedding Prayer" and "Oh, Perfect Love."

The church was decorated with roses and candelabra.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin M. Pell presided at a garden reception at the Van Heyningen residence.

Following the ceremony, the couple left for a northern trip.

Most Children Can Be Deprived; But Still Rich

The teacher can do much to help the "poor little rich" boy or girl.

Many of our deprived youngsters come from homes in the upper-middle or high economic class but live in "poor" family surroundings, according to William Morse, University of Michigan professor of educational psychology.

"These children may have fine clothes and many of the material necessities of life, but are deprived of love, intellectual stimulation, good nutritional habits, positive attitudes and other phenomena found in a rich home atmosphere," Morse says.

Teachers, of course, realize that deprived youngsters many times do not adjust too well to classroom situations and show little inclination to learn.

They should nevertheless refrain from using failing grades as a stimulant to greater achievement, Morse says.

"Rather, teachers should give these children more individual counseling and try to take them on more field trips, tours and other educational excursions.

"By getting youngsters out of the formal classroom and providing them with actual experiences, greater learning will occur," he says.

He emphasizes that teachers should "beware of stereotyping children from low economic homes as 'poor' because these young people may be 'richer' in many ways than the children from wealthy homes."

This is a public service article explaining in general terms a provision of Michigan law. Individuals who wish to determine the effect of any law upon their private legal affairs should consult a private attorney.

A question often asked of my office by private citizens is, "What happens to my property if I die without leaving a will?"

When faced with a specific problem, the best advice I can give is to contact a private attorney. But there are some general rules which may be of interest.

A thumbnail rule as to disposition of the residue in an estate for which there is no valid will is as follows:

If a married man or woman dies with no surviving children, parents, brothers, sisters or child of any brother or sister, all of the real estate and all personal property goes to the surviving widow or widower, as the case may be.

If a married man with wife and no children dies survived also by a father and mother, or the survivor of them, the real estate, subject to the right of the widow to elect to take dower and homestead rights, is divided one-half to the widow, and one-half jointly to the father and mother, or the survivor of them. If the personal estate is less than $3,000 the widow takes it all, otherwise she is entitled to the first $3,000 and one-half of the balance.

If a married woman with hus-

Vote "Yes" June 18 for lowest-cost financing of new City-County Center

Proposed City-County Administration Buildings, on east side of Monroe Ave. in downtown Grand Rapids, will house County offices, now widely scattered

Kent County Courts would be located in proposed Courts—G. R. Police Administration Bldg., on west side of Monroe Ave.

We urgently need new facilities; 74 year-old County building is over-crowded, inefficient, costly to maintain Present County Bldg., planned for another era, is inadequate in space and design for present services. Cracked walls and ceilings emphasize problems of costly maintenance. Crowded office and record space makes efficient public service difficult. Inadequate space causes valuable records to be jammed together.

Special millage levy is fastest, most economical way to pay for new City-County Center, the key to area-wide development

By voting special millage June 18, taxpayers can finance the new City-County Center on a pay-as-you-go basis.

The issue at stake is the method of financing the new buildings. These must be built to replace present antiquated structures which are located in a renewal area and must be razed.

Financing by any other available method will incur heavy interest payments which must be paid for by the taxpayer. This will cost the taxpayers millions of dollars more and will delay the start of this project.

It's time to put our governmental facilities in order, to build anew for the needs of modern-day local government that is serving a greatly expanded population.

New, attractive private buildings adjoining the City-County area will add $15,000,000 to the City and County tax rolls, which will benefit all taxpayers by spreading the tax base. The new City-County Center is the key to this private investment!

Elected officials of the Kent County Board of Supervisors and the Grand Rapids City Commission have unanimously endorsed the City-County Center plan.
