NUMBER SEVENTEEN

American Legion offers its 'Thanks'

The men and officers of MacDonald-Osmer Post 451 of the American Legion wish to thank all who participated in the Cascade Fourth of July parade. We wish to particularly thank Ralph Grooters and our Service Officer, Bud Provonche.

Mr. Grooters, operator of the Woodland Cars of Yester-year Museum on 28th Street, S. E., and his friends cancelled their plans to participate in the Holly-hock Lane Parade to support our efforts. He and his wife personally drove Steve Johnson, Wolverine Boys' State representative and Barbara Atkinson, Wolverine Girls' State representative.

Mr. Provonche has driven a wide variety of vehicles in his career, although the youngsters know him best as top notch bus driver. Now they will all know that he can also drive a vintage fire engine.

Unfortunately at the last minute the Forest Hills High School summer band notified us that they would be unable to appear as planned. On such short notice we were unable to obtain an alternate band or even a sound truck. This did not dampen the high spirits of enthusiasm of our young participants, however.

Toward the end we were nearly run over by a massed bicycle charge and some of the smaller ones suffered sore feet, but the children had fun, as it should be.

Independence Day should be and is a day for happiness and fun. The occasion we celebrated was a joyous event in our national history. We of the American Legion were present to remind you that freedom and independence must be defended. Your children and ours were there to revel, to enjoy, and to celebrate our independence. We sincerely hope everyone had a thoroughly good time.

Broadcast political news from convention

Radio station WXTO FM will be a member of the largest radio network ever put together in Michigan's history for a political series of broadcasts from the 1963 Republican and Democratic Conventions in San Francisco and Atlantic City respectively.

WXTO FM will carry four broadcasts daily beginning Sunday, July 12 according to Rev. Hugh M. Beahan, WXTO FM's general manager. "Midstates broadcasting of East Lansing has organized the network." Father Beahan said, "Because of the integral part the Michigan delegations will be playing in the selection of this year's nominee. These broadcasts will provide listeners of the central west Michigan area information about the Michigan delegation that no national network can provide."

Delegates from this area to the Republican Convention, which begins July 13, are: Congressman Gerald R. Ford, Mrs. Albert Koeze, John B. Martin and Walter J. Russell. Alternate delegates will be Lou M. Dexter and Mrs. Marion Stekete.

According to Father Beahan, the broadcasts will be heard on WXTO FM four times daily beginning on Sunday, July 12, through the end of the convention.

Grass Fires
There were three grass fires reported on July 4, and one on the fifth. Misdirected fireworks and rubbish burning were blamed for these calls.

Sy Dykhouse, Cascade Township Fire Chief, urges that householders use care and common sense in their necessary burning as extremely dry conditions prevail.

CASCADE WRANGLERS ANNUAL HORSE SHOW
The Cascade Wranglers are sponsoring their eighth annual free horse show.

This year the horse show will be held on Saturday, July 18, at 1 p. m., rain or shine, at the William Fredrickson farm at 3290 Patterson Ave., S. E. South of 28th Street.

Come and join the fun. Refreshments will be from the Malley popcorn wagon. For further information call 949-1198.

ADA CHRISTIAN SCHOOL BOARD WILL MEET JULY 13
The regular monthly board meeting of the Ada Christian School will be held July 13, at 8 p. m.

The Monday night meeting will be conducted at the school.

Views vary in Ada tax dispute

The State Tax Commission voted last week to accept assessment appeals from Ada Township residents even though their names are not on record as having filed protests with the township's Board of Review.

The Tax Commission's decision means that Ada residents who had protested only verbally to the Board of Review against their high assessments could have their appeals heard by the state body.

Edward W. Kane, secretary of the commission, pointed out, however, that such appeals will only be accepted if they are accompanied by an affidavit saying that assessment protests were registered with the Board of Review. Kane pointed out that the commission received "well in excess of 100 appeals" although only 38 protests had been recorded by the board.

"Later, we received letters that others had filed protests with the township board, although their names were not on file," Kane said. "The commission has adopted a resolution to accept any appeal from persons not on the records of the Board of Review providing they furnish affidavits that they did protest their assessments to the township board."

Appealing to the township's Board of Review "did no good," some Ada residents have argued. "They have not acted at all or made just minor adjustments," says Mrs. Joan Niles, a member of the "Ada Tax Committee" which was organized to protest a sharp increase in Ada property assessments.

Members of the taxpayers' group claim that property assessments in some cases were doubled or tripled over a last year's figures after Ada Supervisor Richard Lynch hired a St. Louis firm to impartially assess area property.

Last year Ada had a "penalty factor" of 263 percent added to the assessed valuations to bring them up to state equalized valuation. But according to Harold Lynn, director of the Kent County Bureau of Equalization, the penalty factor is not reduced to 95 percent, now that Ada properties have been reassessed.

Using this as a basis for comparison, Lynn noted that a school tax increase of 5 mills voted this year would represent approximately $18.15 per thousand and under the former assessment program but only $9.75 under the proposed new assessment program.

"An increase in assessment," Lynn said, "does not necessarily mean an increase in taxes."

Sissons to gather

The fifth annual Sisson Reunion will be held Sunday, July 19, at Bertha Brock Park at Ionia.

The president of the group, Mrs. Clyde Stevens, is in charge of arrangements, with the secretary, Dortha Heukels, assisting.

Dinner will be served at 1 p. m. A program with surprises and games has been planned. It is requested that each family bring its own dinner, table service and beverage.

Services Thursday for Gary Lowe, aged 13

Funeral services will be held Thursday morning at St. Thomas Church at 10 o'clock for Gary Lowe, who died of an accidental injury on Monday, July 6.

Gary was an 8th grade honor student in the Forest Hills School system. He formerly attended Martin School.

Survivors are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl C. Lowe, jr., of 3475 Cascade Road, S. E.

Sightseeing is most popular sport in UP

Eight out of every 10 tourists who visit the Upper Peninsula come to the area to sightsee, an official of the State Highway Department said recently.

Public Information Director John Murray, speaking at the dedication of the State Highway Department's new Ironwood Tourist Information Center, said:

"Sixty-four per cent of all tourists who stopped at Highway Department Information Centers last year listed sightseeing as their primary purpose for traveling in Michigan. "Those Centers which serve traffic at points of entry into the Lower Peninsula all fall considerably below this average.

But the Information Centers serving points of entry into the Upper Peninsula all went way above the average in the percentage of travelers who listed sightseeing as the primary trip purpose.

"Seventy-eight per cent of the travelers who stopped at our temporary Ironwood Information Center last summer gave sightseeing as the purpose of trip. At Menominee it was 83 per cent and at Mackinaw City it was 89 per cent.

"If you needed proof that the Upper Peninsula is a sight-seer's paradise you have it in those figures," Murray said. "Anything that enhances the Upper Peninsula to the sight-seeing motorist increases your economic well-being."

Murray said two proposals made by U. S. Sen. Philip A. Hart—the Pictured Rocks National Park and a network of scenic shoreline highways—would do much to increase the lure of the Upper Peninsula to the tourist.

"The Michigan State Highway Department has generalized plans for scenic shoreline highways in Northern Michigan and the Upper Peninsula which can be moved on rapidly if special funds become available," Murray said.

Murray said the Highway Department's survey of tourists "shows that Ironwood is more than just Michigan's Gateway to the West."

Michigan is a huge land bridge across the Great Lakes Basin for travelers from the east who come into Michigan in the southeast, drive up through the center of Michigan and out of the state through Ironwood.

"And similarly, travelers from the west use Michigan as a land bridge figuratively over the Great Lakes while enroute to the eastern part of the U. S. "This means that your travel potential lies in both directions and that it is tied into the whole Upper Peninsula."

Murray said the Highway Department receives "a great number of requests" for tourist literature about the Upper Peninsula at its Tourist Information Center at Port Huron. "This is surely another proof that you are in a strategic center of a north midwestern traffic corridor," he said.

Servicemen—

Jerry Knoop, a member of the Navy reserves, is serving aboard the U. S. S. Twining on a training cruise covering the San Francisco and San Diego areas.

Knoop attended Lowell High School. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Knoop of Ada.

GRADUATES FROM M. S. U.
Mr. and Mrs. William Fredrickson, Patterson Avenue, S. E., announce the graduation of their daughter, Nancy Lynne, from Michigan State University with honors on June 14.

Nancy majored in French and plans to teach in the fall.

PUBLIC NOTICE

A budget hearing for Ada Township will be held at 7:30 p. m. on July 13, 1964, at the Ada Township Hall. The Ada Township Budget will be available for public inspection at 7172 Thornapple River Drive from 8 a. m. until 5 p. m. until July 13, 1964.

Kathryn Sytsma,
Ada Township Clerk

The greatest amateur night ever is promised, for the 1964 contest to be held at the Showboat stage in Lowell Saturday night.

Semi-finals in Muskegon, Kalamazoo, Lansing and Lowell have selected the finest acts ever to appear in Lowell. Judges have selected 35 acts from the nearly 100 who auditioned. This insures top entertainment for the audience which is expected to top 2,000.

At the Lansing Civic Center last Thursday Connie Moore, a

Win prizes at annual Thornapple boat parade

A boatload of Forest Hill-Billies complete with moonshine still, jugs and mountain music won the prize for most unusual boat for the Robert D. Burkhead family of Cascade Springs Drive in the Thornapple River Boat parade July 4.

The annual event is sponsored by the Thornapple River Association, Inc.

Prizes for the best decorated party barge went to the Wesley Aves family, Denison Drive. A giant firecracker on the prow and red, white and blue streamers along the rails set the Independence Day theme.

The Carlton H. Runciman boat was judged best decorated cruiser in the parade. Hula girls, ukuleles and crepe paper flower leis made it an authentic Hawaiian vessel.

Honorable mention went to Mrs. John Schermerhorn and daughter, Linda, Thornapple River Drive, who were attired as King Neptune, complete with face full of whiskers; and a mermaid riding their paddle bike festooned with fishnets, seaweed and starfish.

Backyard gardeners now can have a portable greenhouse that can be staked to the ground or a concrete pad. The prefabricated unit, which has an area of seven by eight feet, uses a plastic film to trap insulating air.

17-year-old Potterville novelty tap dancer, won first place in the semi-final event. Second place in the list of 11 acts went to the Sherylett's, a precision tap dancing line of 10 girls aged 12 to 15 from Detroit.

Cecilia Somers, 20, of Okemos took third place with her humorous-dramatic recitation, "El-oise."

Other Semi-Final Winners

Appearing on the Showboat stage on Saturday night at 7:30 p. m. will be other district winners. From the Kalamazoo contest will come a 15 voice women's chorus, "The Sweet Adelines"; a folk singing quartet, known as the "Bel Cantos"; and two girl baton twirlers, 6-year-old Judi Biegher and Debbie Leeson, 10, state juvenile twirling champion.

Winners from Muskegon who will appear include Mary Louise Endress, 10, a coloratura soprano; "The Mutineers" a folk-singing group of five boys and a girl; and "The Cliff Dwellers", a jazz combo.

Foster A. Bishop dies at age 89

Foster A. Bishop, aged 89, passed away June 30 at the Holland Home in Grand Rapids.

Surviving are three sons and five daughters, Mrs. Joseph (Henrietta) DeHollander, Albert, Henry, Mrs. Nick (Lucille) Bolt-house, Mrs. Gerald (Tressa) Gill, Mrs. Peter (Matilda) Meeuwsen, all of Grand Rapids, Mrs. Ollie (Nellie) Wondergem of Sand Lake and Lawrence of Redlands, California.

Also surviving are ten stepchildren; thirty-three grandchildren; fifty-four great-grandchildren; and two brothers, Cornelius of Grand Rapids and John of Martin.

Services were held Thursday afternoon at the Zaagman Memorial Chapel. The Rev. William VanRees officiated. Interment was made in the Garfield Park Cemetery.

State Police use seat belts

The Michigan State Police, who started putting seat belts in patrol vehicles in 1956 and have since consistently encouraged their use by all motorists, have had another outstanding example how the safety devices have prevented the serious injury and even death of patrol troopers.

Securely held by their seat belts, Petoskey Post Troopers Philip Walker, who was driving, and Robert Darling escaped injury about 3 o'clock in the morning when their patrol car, traveling at more than 100 miles an hour, rolled over several times when the rear right tire went flat. The car was destroyed.

The two troopers were assisting the Harbor Springs city police in a high speed chase of a speeding motorist on M-131 in Emmet County.

Four of the five occupants of the pursued car, none of whom was wearing seat belts, were injured when their vehicle later ran off the road on a sharp curve and into a ditch. The driver was unhurt but the injuries of the others included fractures of the back and pelvis, a concussion, contusions, and a fractured shoulder.

Seat belts are a vital safety factor in protecting motorists who can get involved in an accident, the State Police have stressed. But they are equally important, as the troopers' case illustrated, in accidents sometimes caused by tire failure or some mechanical breakdown involving the wheels or steering gear.

Pipe smokers pampered: for the benefit of pipe puffers, a new gas lighter features a dial that can direct the flame down as well as up for handling cigars and cigarettes.

Explore for Cascade water supply

A central water supply for parts of Cascade Township moved a step closer this week as preliminary approval by the Michigan State Health Department was given to drilling test wells at three sites east of Cascade in Section 9.

In an approval letter Roger G. Zeeff, sanitary engineer in the Water Supply Division of Engineering of the Health Department revealed to Williams and Works, Engineers that an inspection of the sites had been made. The sites are approved for test well drilling, if these test wells prove adequate for permanent use then another inspection will be required.

Somerville Construction Company who have a franchise with Cascade Township to operate a private water company plan to proceed with test wells to test the area. The company must control an area of 100 to 200 feet around each production well according to the soil structure.

Before a production well is put into operation the state will make further inspections and chemical analysis of water samples.

Extension service has served Michigan for fifty years

Michigan's pioneer off-campus educational program—the Co-operative Extension Service of Michigan State University—observed its 50th anniversary recently.

This date marks the signing of the Smith-Lever Act of Congress which made possible co-operative financing of the Extension Service as a part of the nation's land-grant colleges. Michigan's program was in operation several years earlier.

In the late 1800's, Michigan Agricultural College was holding as many as 70 "farmers' institutes" each winter. M.A.C. professors took their latest research findings to rural people. One of the first was W. F. Raven in 1907. Michigan's first county agent was H. G. Smith who went to Alpena County in 1912.

"The Co-operative Extension Service of Michigan State University is performing a unique and vital role in bringing the educational resources of the University into every Michigan county," a proclamation by Governor George Romney states in declaring May 8 as "Co-operative Extension Service Day." Theme of the golden anniversary observance is "Better Living Through Learning."

Dr. N. P. Ralston, director of the program, says that 79 offices serve all 83 Michigan counties through approximately 300 field agents. In addition, there are nearly 100 subject-matter specialists located on the East Lansing campus.

Last year, extension staff counseled 750,000 individuals, and held more than 22,000 educational meetings with a total attendance of 1,500,000 people.

Woodall-Chase vows exchanged

Central Christian Church in Kalamazoo was the scene of the marriage of Miss Julie Woodall and J. Edward Chase on Friday, July 3.

Attired in a blue suit with matching accessories Miss Woodall was given in marriage by her father before Rev. Kenneth Seely of Kalamazoo.

She carried a bridal bouquet of white roses and was attended by her sister, Nancy, wearing a blue and white linen dress with matching accessories.

Mr. and Mrs. George Woodall, Forest Hills Road, are the parents of the bride. Mrs. Joseph Chase and the late Mr. Chase of Brecksville, Ohio, are the parents of the groom. The best man was Stan Everetts of New Jersey.

A dinner was held at the Gull Harbor Inn at Gull Lake following the ceremony.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Irving Quimby of Fruitport, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Woodall of Rochester, New York, Miss Marjorie Quimby of Ann Arbor, the Martins of Brecksville, Ohio, Miss Marian Huineman of Brecksville, Ohio, and Mr. and Mrs. Stan Everetts of New Jersey.

After a week end wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. J. Edward Chase will be at home at 723 W. South Street, Kalamazoo.

The bride is a 1963 graduate of Hiram College, and a 1964 graduate of Columbia University Dental College. The groom will be working on his Masters Degree in Psychology at Western Michigan University this fall.

MacDonald-Osmer Post to meet next Thursday

The MacDonald-Osmer Post 451 will hold its next regular meeting July 16 at 8 p. m. in the Cascade Town Hall.

Among the subjects to be discussed are land acquisition, the annual Commander's Report, the present status of the Board of Trustees, and similar items.

Because all of these subjects have a direct relation to the future of the post, Commander Kessler urges that every member make a special effort to attend this meeting.

Vacation Aids

COUNTY MAPS

For anyone planning a vacation in Michigan, here are a few "must" publications available from the Conservation Department. The lineup includes the folder "Michigan's Shore-to-Shore Riding-Hiking Trail," featuring a map of a new route for recreationists. Also new is the directory "Michigan Water Access Sites" which pinpoints about 575 public entry points on lakes and streams. Next is "Michigan Canoe Trails" which lists and shows 59 paddling runs, their camping places and other features. For fishermen, there's the "1964 Directory of Lakes and Ponds Planted with Trout." Another folder full of help is the "1964 Campground Directory" which lists places to stay at state parks and forests, national forests, county and local parks. All of these folders are free from the Department's Publications Room in Lansing or any of its field offices. Serving as handy companions to each folder are the Department's new, improved maps which are available in single sheets and books from the Publications Room for all counties in the Upper Peninsula and southern Lower Peninsula. Map sheets can be obtained for most northern Lower Peninsula counties. Price of each book is $1 plus tax. Any person can get a single sheet for one county without charge; each additional copy costs 10 cents.

V. B. S.

Why in the world should a group of people want to go to all the trouble of conducting a Vacation Bible School in the middle of the hot summer? V. B. S. requires a lot of work. It takes a lot of planning. It takes a lot of time. It is not all fun, by any means. Yet we want to do it. And we enjoy doing it. Why?

One reason is our love for children. We—and you—wish the very best for the children, and there is no "very best" without a knowledge of God and His Son Jesus. Jesus loves little children. We want the children to meet Jesus and learn to love Him. The title of this year's Bible study course is "Living for Jesus." Children who learn to live for Jesus will be strong to resist the temptations that are all around them, and will have a joy that lasts through life and through eternity.

There is another reason—we love Jesus, and love for Him includes obedience because He is our Lord. He has told us to go and teach people everywhere all about Him. And because we love Him we obey His command with joy—even though it may be a lot of work and we may long to sit in the shade on a hot summer day.

Moses once said to his father-in-law, who was not an Israelite, "Come with us and we will do you good, for the Lord has spoken good things concerning Israel." We would say to you, "Send your children to our V. B. S. and we will do them good, for the Lord has promised great blessings to those that love Him."

—M. Schoolland
P. S. Our V. B. S. will be held at Ada Christian School this year, Aug. 4-13, 9-11:30 A. M., in cooperation with Ada Christian Reformed Church.

CARD OF THANKS
Walter and Anne Hayes want to sincerely thank all our neighbors who came out the 4th of July afternoon to help us put out the fire in our apple orchard. Also thanks to the Cascade fire department for their quick response to our call for help. Due to their promptness we were saved over half of our trees.

Again our sincere thanks to all of you. And stop in some time for an apple on the house.

Down with coloring books, "canned art," and patterns for the peanut set! Before you can finish dialing the psychiatrist, let us hasten to explain why we're up on the soap-box:
A visit to the Cascade Town Hall on the Fourth of July where the Thornapple Valley Artists were having their annual Art show impressed us with the talent in this area and opened an old wound.
It is our belief, firmly imbedded through having our own children to observe first hand, and teaching kindergarten for five years, that each child is inherently a creative being, talented beyond belief, and capable of expressing himself "artistically" in any of the arts, given the proper climate. Parents have lamented, "It's no wonder my child can't draw! I was never any good in art, and I couldn't draw a straight line if my life depended on it!" Shame on you if you are saddling your child with this negative attitude. If this is your belief, you are selling your child short!

Provide materials, a space to work undisturbed, and a non-critical attitude on your part. The results are not going to be hung in the gallery or sell for huge sums immediately, but the investment of time, materials, and LOVE will pay huge dividends to the child in appreciation of his own worth, and a constructive concept of self-criticism will emerge eventually. You cannot be harping about keeping neat or staying clean. Good housekeeping habits are important when he is finished. Proper care of materials is also part of his responsibility, but all this he learns just as he learned to walk.

Fingerpainting?

Just for a starter, promise yourself to give your children a chance to express themselves in a media you may never have explored—finger painting!

We've found that regular white shelf paper has the necessary qualities: a shiny, white surface and strength. The remainder of the roll can be used for all kinds of art work—or as shelf paper. Baby food jars with screw tops are good for storing the cooled paint. The recipe follows:

1 1/2 cup laundry starch; cold water; 3 cup boiling water; 1/2

OUTBOARD MOTOR SAFETY SUGGESTIONS

cup soap flakes; 1 tsp. glycerine or alum.

Mix starch with enough cold water to make a smooth paste. Add mixture to boiling water. Cool for 1/2 minute, then stir in soap flakes while mixture is still hot. Beat until creamy and thick. Add glycerine or alum and pour into jars.

Children add dry powdered colors from salt shakers to the colorless paste as they start their pictures or you can mix up the three primary colors, red, yellow, and blue, ahead of time. The later method makes it a little more appetizing.

Wet the sheet of paper thoroughly on both sides, and place about 2 Tbsp. of the mixture on a sheet for each painting. It has been our experience that it works best to have the child spread the color all over the paper evenly before trying patterns and effects. He may try a small amount of a second color after having explored the possibilities of the first color. Encourage his never "losing" all of the original color because of over-mixing the addition.

Try it yourself if you want an illuminating and relaxing experience. No tranquilizers today. Mom, and you'll be surprised one day to hear him remind you, "Remember the day we finger-painted together?"

With love, Aunt Cubbyhole

Puppet Shows for the children are being held every Saturday morning at 11 a. m. at "Circle in the Park" in John Ball Park. The shows will feature the Jean Reges Puppets. Admission is 35 cents.

At the planetarium, "Motions of the Moon" is presented at 8 p. m. on Thursdays and at 3 p. m. on Sundays. Admission is 50 cents for adults, and 25 cents for children. It has been suggested that parents take no children under the second grade level.
