Area swimmers place in Grand Rapids swimming meet

James Phillion, swimming for Lincoln Pool, received a first place gold medal in the boys 15-16 division in the 400 yard free style. Jim also placed second in the 100 yard free style, receiving a silver medal.

Patrick Hanes, swimming for Highland Pool, was a silver medal winner placing 2nd in the 200 yard free style; he also received a certificate placing 5th in the 50 yard free style in the boys 15-16 division. Cathy Bushouse, swimming for Richmond Pool, received a bronze medal for 3rd place in the girls 13-14 division, swimming the 100 yard free style.

James Dygert, swimming for Lincoln Pool received a 4th place certificate in the boys 11-12 division, for the 50 yard butterfly. This is Jim's first year in competitive swimming.

Janel Belding, swimming for Campau received 2 six place certificates for the 50 yard breast stroke and 50 yard free style, in the girls 11-12 division. This also made a first for Janel in competitive swimming.

Tim Hanes, swimming for Highland Pool received a certificate for 6th place in the 50 yard free style in the boys 10 and under division. Dave Pell, swimming for Highland, received a 6th place certificate, in the boys 13-14 division, swimming the 50 yard breast stroke. Dan Pell, also swimming for Highland, in the boys 11-12 division, placed 7th in the 50 yard back stroke.

Cathy Bushouse will go to Garden City next Saturday as a member of the Richmond Pool girls 200 yard free style relay. The Richmond girls team broke the previous record by swimming the distance in 2:09.2.

Jim Phillion's Lincoln Pool Relay Team, placed 2nd in the boys 200 yard medley relay. Pat Hanes, Lincoln Team placed 3rd in the 200 yard free style. Jim Dygert's relay team placed 3rd in the 200 yard medley relay. Barb Phillion, swimming for Richmond, on the girls 11-12, 200 yard free style placed 2nd. All the members of the relay teams received certificates.

Grand Rapids city meets are an annual affair, comprising all 7 city public pools, Richmond, Lincoln, Highland, Campau, Briggs, Franklin and Garfield. Swimmers must qualify in their individual pool meets before they are eligible to swim in the city finals; in order to qualify, their individual pools. Approximately 450 to 500 boys and girls participate in the pool meets. Then the city meet is narrowed down to 150 to 200 swimmers, and the first place winners are then eligible to represent Grand Rapids in the state meet.

The competition between the various pools is very keen, all working hard for their pool to chalk up the highest number of points to become city champions. This year Garfield pool came in first. Many of the 10-12 and 12-14 swimmers are on the YMCA, and YWCA swim teams during the winter. Most of the first, second and third place winners in the 15-16 and 16 over group are members of High School or College Swim teams.

The boys and girls in our area showed up very well. They swim only in the summer as there is no swim team in the area at the high school level. This limits their competitive swimming to the summer months.

Massive search hunts Ada man; found in swamp

A massive search for a missing 84-year-old Ada man was held Saturday by the police and fire departments, Civil Service units, Boy Scouts, neighbors and members of the family.

The search began when Seigar Heys of Route 1, Grand River Drive, Ada, was reported missing shortly after noon on Saturday, by his wife.

Volunteers combed the area near the Heys home for nearly nine hours before Mr. Heys was found bogged down in 3 feet of water in a swamp area, about a mile from the Heys home.

Mr. Heys left home on Saturday morning about 11 a. m. to pick berries, but failed to tell anyone where he was going. Accompanied by his dog, he set out on his unforgettable journey.

About 9:30 that evening, the searchers heard a dog barking in the swamp area and went to investigate; there was Mr. Heys with his faithful companion.

Soaking wet and tired, Mr. Heys was returned to his home, where his family was anxiously waiting. The family reported on Monday that Mr. Heys is in good spirit and seems to have suffered no ill-effects from his day's experiences.

The family also express its sincerest thanks to all who helped in any way to bring Mr. Heys back home. Words could not adequately express their heartfelt thanks to the many who helped.

Judith L. Haas, Herman Jansma wed Saturday

Miss Judith Lee Haas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert M. Haas of Driftwood Drive, SE, became the bride of Herman Jansma last Saturday afternoon in the Knollcrest Seminary Chapel with the Reverend Marinus Goote of the Boston Square Christian Reformed Church, officiating.

Mr. Jansma is the son of Mrs. Jack J. Jansma, Cambridge Blvd, SE, and the late Mr. Jansma.

Attired in an organza gown styled with a scoop neckline and bell skirt, the former Miss Haas carried white roses and ivy. Her detachable caplet train fell from the shoulders and a matching bow held her bouffant veil.

Wearing a pastel blue peau de soie gown with chantilly lace bodice and A-line skirt and a matching veiled bow headpiece, Miss Sandra Haas was her sister's maid of honor.

The bridemaids, the Misses Harriet and Mary Jansma, the bridegroom's sisters, wore gown similar to the honor attendant's and all carried blue tinted glameillas, blue feathered mums, ivy and purple feathered asters.

Jack Jansma, jr., was his brother's best man. The bride's brothers, George H. and Gilbert M. Haas, jr., ushered.

Following the wedding a reception was held in the Pantlind Hotel with Mr. and Mrs. James Dowling, uncle and aunt of the bride, presiding.

The new Mr. and Mrs. Jansma left on a Northern Michigan honeymoon and after September 5, will live at 1240 Mayfield, SE.

Miss Michigan pageant is exciting, busy week

From our arrival to departure Miss Thornapple Valley, Wendy Elwell, and I were completely impressed with the hospitality and graciousness of all those associated with the pageant.

We registered at 11 a. m. Sunday the 25th. Luncheon followed with orientation at 1 p. m. Then on to the Holiday Inn for the official swim suit pictures. Forty-nine local queens were photographed for an hour and a half. Returning to the hotel, we were served our dinner. Then a quick change to comfortable clothes found us reporting to the arena for the first rehearsal. Producer, director, choreographer and all girls worked diligently until 11 p. m. At midnight, queens and chaperones retired for the night.

Each day's activities began at 6 a. m. and ended between 11 and 12:30 each evening. They were crowded with rehearsals, interviews with judges, lunches with local business clubs, hair appointments, TV rehearsals, tape recordings with radio announcers and radio interviews.

At the conclusion of the pageant Friday evening, all girls participating were honored at a reception in the hotel, while chaperones and local pageant directors were entertained in an adjoining room.

Check out time found Wendy and I exchanging fond farewells with our newly acquired friends. Pleasant memories will remain with us for many years. Our sincere thanks to the Ada Community Association, relatives & friends, and especially the Suburban Life for their local support.

Mrs. R. E. Van Sluyters, Chaperone

Amway crowned softball champs

Last night Manager Harvey Eickhoff pitched his Amway team to the YMCA Sportsman Softball League Championship in a game which was hard-fought until the fourth inning in which Amway scored 4 runs to put it out of the reach of the team from Saranac.

Though Saranac scored 3 runs in the last half of the seventh inning, to temporarily quicken the pulses of Amway supporters, their rally fell short and the fine score was 10-6. Amway had 13 hits while Saranac had 7.

Amway jumped off to a 1 run lead in the first inning, picked up 2 more in the third, for a 3 to 0 lead, only to see Saranac tie the score with a 3-run outburst in their half of the third. Amway came back with four runs in the top half of the 4th, 2 in the 5th, and 1 more in the 6th to carry a 10 to 3 lead into the final inning. This lead was ample for pitcher Eickhoff.

Hitting stars for Amway were Jim Eickhoff, who had 3 for 5, Robert McKay with 2 for 2, Jack Kubizna and Charley Ryder who had 2 for 4, and even Harvey helped his own cause with 2 hits at 5 times at bat.

For Saranac Jim Stuart had a 3-run homer to pace their attack. Russ Burkhead was the only Saranac player to gather more than one hit as he had 2 for 4.

Amway had an uphill struggle to even qualify for the title game as they lost the first three games of the season and then managed to go through the balance of the regular schedule undefeated to tie with two other teams (both from Saranac) at the end of the regular season's play.

This qualified them for the Trophy Play-off for which they drew a bye for the first night. While the two Saranac teams were battling it out for the finals, Amway was able to sit on the sidelines and prepare to take on the winner of the first game.

Much of the credit for the resurgence of the Amway team was given, by YMCA officials, to Jack Kennedy, who is, without question, the number one "holler" guy in the league.

His antics at first base and his constant exhortations were very largely responsible for the great spirit of the team which came on to win the trophy and the congratulations of the entire Amway organization.

Dr. Ralph White honored Sunday

Last Sunday, Dr. Ralph White was honored at both Trinity Lutheran Church services. He and Mrs. White are leaving our midst after almost forty years of serving the church's needs in this area.

It was March, 1926, when the Whites moved to Grand Rapids. Prior to this Dr. White had been pastor of the First Lutheran Church of Lancaster, Ohio, where he met and married Miss Ruth Rissler. Their son, R. Bradley White lives in Detroit.

There he succeeded Lloyd Douglas, a Lutheran minister who made a name for himself as the author of "The Robe." For five years, Dr. White had been missionary superintendent of the East Ohio Synod, and for eight years, he was in charge of the Mission field in British Guiana. He served as general director of the Lutheran mission in Argentina.

Dr. White became pastor emeritus of Trinity Lutheran Church December 31, 1953, but returned to serve for six months in 1963 as an interim preacher. Many congregational churches in this area have also reaped the benefits from his devotion—Ada, Comstock Park, and Plymouth Congregational, to mention a few.

The Whites choosing Hawaii as a place for retirement is not accidental; they lived there for a short period several years ago. It is with regret that we see them leave their 96 acre farm on Fulton Road in Lowell.

Horseback riding and farming may become part of their pattern of life in Hawaii, but service to the Lord will always be.

Practice for fire department

Cascade Fire Department polished their fire-fighting techniques, Monday night, August 2, according to assistant fire chief, Grover Buttrick.

After getting clearance from the owners and the insurance companies, a fire was set in the house on the property of Wolverine Building Products, Inc., 3773—28th Street, SE.

Spectators were not welcomed at the practice, but kept moving away from the scene by the police.

This will enable Wolverine Building Products, Inc., to finish landscaping the grounds.

Martin Allen, jr., new products manager

Martin J. Allen, jr., has been promoted to product manager, plastic specialty products, at Baxter Laboratories, Inc., Morton Grove, Illinois.

With the company for three years, Allen previously served as a medical service representative and prior to that served as marketing staff assistant.

A U. S. Navy veteran, he holds a B. S. degree from the University of Notre Dame and an M.B.A. degree from Michigan State University.

Allen and his wife reside in Des Plaines, Illinois. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Martin J. Allen, Sr., are residents of Ada, Michigan.

area doin's

Recent visitors to Helena, Montana, were Mrs. E. A. Wedemeier of Kansas City, Mo., and her daughter, Judy Wedemeier of Ada.

They are visiting their daughter and sister, Mrs. William Wilson who is temporarily residing in Helena for the summer months while her husband is interning under Dr. Robert Painter, Helena veterinarian.

The Wedemeiers are enjoying their vacation and their time in the state of Montana.

Fatalities decrease in water accidents

Michigan's 159 deaths in 282 water accidents reported to date this year are 41 less than the 200 fatalities recorded in 372 mishaps for the comparable period in 1964, the State Police report.

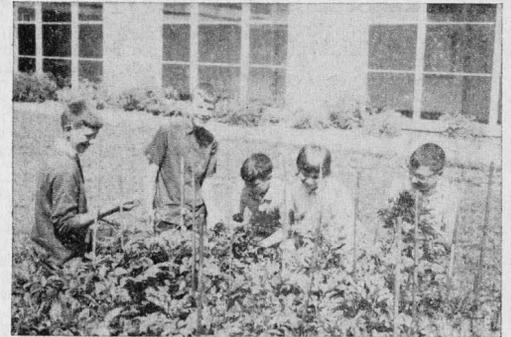

Figures for this year are based on reports received up to July 29 while the information for last year included July 30.

The breakdown of 125 of the deaths on which official reports have been received included 44 swimmers or waders, 24 boat passengers, 21 boat operators, 21 who fell from bridges, banks, docks or piers, 13 who fell through ice, one skin or scuba diver and one who drowned trying to rescue another. Provisional information has been received on 34 other drownings. In addition, 118 persons have been injured.

The decreases in deaths and accidents are attributed to the generally cooler weather conditions prevailing this spring and early summer which have somewhat restricted water activities and also to increased emphasis on water accident prevention throughout the state.

The 4-H idea began to materialize in the late 1890's when rural school superintendents encouraged students to plant corn, tend a garden, sew and cook. School fairs were held and ribbons awarded winning exhibits.

Cascade teens go second mile towards church award

Greg Van Strein, Kris Bishop and Gary Crum are pulling weeds around the evergreens surrounding the new church sanctuary. To earn and win their awards, these young people must give at least one hundred hours in volunteer service.

The young people of Cascade Christian Church have been hard at work this summer. The church's award class has six boys and one girl enrolled in it at present. In the past seven years thirty have participated in the program, which has prepared many Boy Scouts for the God and Country Award, a number of Girl Scouts for the God and Community Award, one young lady for the Camp Fire Religious Heritage Badge, and several young people for the church's own churchmanship award.

Presently, Craig Chandler, Steven Banta, Greg Van Strein, and William Vekasi are working on the God and Country Award for Boy Scouts; while Kristine Bishop and Gary Crum will receive the churchmanship award.

The year's program of study incorporates a comprehensive study of the Bible, the beliefs of the Disciples of Christ, religious symbols, ecumenical endeavors, missions, and so on.

In addition, there is volunteer service—with the young people working in the church office; assisting the children in Sunday School; mowing the lawns; and caring for a church garden. Soon, the young people will be selling corn and tomatoes from their garden, the profits of which will be shared with numerous local church and missionary projects.

Young people can enter this program at any time, providing they are in the seventh grade or above and willing to go "the second mile" in their Christian experience. The church encourages its youth to participate in the church awards class which gives first hand information as to what really makes a church "tick". The church, likewise, is grateful to these young people for all their volunteer labor.

On the pay rate of a dollar an hour for young people, our church has received nearly three thousand dollars of gratis labor the past seven years.

Who was it that said that the present generation of young people is "going to the dogs?"

Cascade invited to adopt Italian custom

In a most thought provoking article in the July House and Garden, Audrey Menen completes their very thorough issue on "Storage, How to Find A Place for Everything You Own," by urging his readers to adopt the Italian New Year's Eve custom of disposing of everything they aren't using—"old crockery, detested ornaments, hated furniture and a whole catalogue of personal possessions which remind them of something in the past year they are determined to wipe out of their minds."

We are going one step further, prompted by the fact that our area will be the happy home of just the spot where you can make some money from the "good as new" articles of clothing you and your child may have outgrown or are just tired of wearing.

The Thrift Shop will be situated in the Building on Orange Street in Cascade across from the Cascade Christian Church Chapel. (right next to the new Cascade Villager).

The owner of the new enterprise is Mrs. Robert Fisher, Marge to all who know her, and you soon will! She hopes to have your contributions by August 15, so get busy with your "piazza pulita."

Clothing must be in a clean condition, mended if necessary, and ready for the buyer to wear as his own.

Boots, skis, books, if you have a question as to whether she would handle your items call her at 949-1285, her home phone. The plan for disposing of your treasures calls for you to place a price on the item, guided by Marge, and for her to sell it with an agreed split on your share and hers. There's just a month before school begins, so open wide the closets, and happy piazza pulita!

Exert care in sun bathing

Most of us look forward to the warm glow of the summer sun after the cold gray days of winter. "But too often we bask too much too soon," Dr. W. B. Frothro, City-county Health Officer said today. The first summer exposure to the bright midday sun should not exceed 30 minutes, even for dark brunette individuals, he advised. Fair-skinned persons should probably limit their initial sunbath of the season to 15 minutes. In temperate zones exposure before 10 a. m. or after 4 p. m. is much less likely to cause sunburn because the burn-producing wavelengths usually are filtered out.

Many effective sun screen preparations are available, but for prolonged protection care must be taken that they are not washed away by bathing or perspiration. Ordinary window glass filters out all of the sunburn-producing rays. Smoke and smog also act as filters, depending on their density, but a light overcast of clouds can be dangerously deceptive. Many severe sunburns have resulted from underestimating the power of the sun's rays on an overcast day. Sand, water and white surfaces reflect the rays and magnify their effect. Certain drugs, such as sulfa drugs and the tetracyclines, make some people more sensitive to sunlight.

Sun is fun, but like everything else it should be taken in moderation!

Lay it on the line

Wondering why you haven't seen "Lay It On The Line" in Suburban Life before? That's because it's new.

I'm hoping it will appear in each issue during the summer's remaining weeks. It's being written by a teen, for all teen readers in the Forest Hills area.

Subjects to be discussed will be those appealing to all of us going back to high school in the fall.

The other day I hauled out my Forest Hills yearbook of '65. As I looked through the already-worn pages of those familiar faces, many of whom I hadn't seen hurrying by for two months, I thought of our three foreign exchange students. Besides seeing Ilari at church once or twice, I hadn't seen or heard about Jochen or Eric since the beginning of June. I thought I'd share with you how I'd found the three boys have spent their summer in America.

Ilari Paakkari, when first asked said "that's a very good question!" He said he's been earning money by doing such odd jobs as lawn mowing. He also got his driver's license. He took two trips to New York, and spent a week end at Hiram College in Hiram, Ohio. Ilari left for Mikelli, Finland, last Wednesday after his year in the United States.

He said he enjoyed staying in American, gained many nice friends, and would like to return some day.

When I called Jochen, he had already left for Ypsilanti, where he was visiting the people with whom his brother stayed two years ago. He had been living with the Logue family on Dogwood Drive for the past year, so Mrs. Logue filled me in on Jochen's summer.

She told me that he had gone to many parties, and had been to Grand Haven a few times. He started Driven Ed but had a chance to go to Iowa, where some friends of his parents live. He decided that since he wouldn't be able to drive until he was eighteen, that being only seventeen it would be smarter to go to Iowa.

Last Wednesday, Jochen left for his home in Birmingham, Germany, with Ilari and the rest of the exchange students who have been living in Michigan during the past year.

Eric Borgstrom, our third exchange student, gave me the impression of having had a very interesting summer. He told me he spent a week at his American family's cottage at Hess Lake. A stay at Grand Valley State College took up three weeks of his time, while he attended an honors institute for young scholars. At this institute were about eighty-six young people from eight different states. Eric said he really enjoyed it.

Last Wednesday, Eric left for his hometown in Sweden. He said that all the Michigan exchange students would be leaving from Northville, a town near Detroit, and would visit the Today Show in New York before leaving the States.

After traveling through England and France, the students living in Scandinavian countries would get off in Holland. Eric told me that he hoped his parents would be in Copenhagen to pick him up, because "it's a heck of a long way to hitch-hike."

As far as his thoughts about our country go, Eric will be back some day, if he can "scrape together six hundred bucks," but not to settle, because Sweden will always be his home. He asked me to express his sincere thanks to the Robert Muths, with whom he has made his home during the past year.

Next week we'll talk about the wild turn clothes have taken for fall. See you then...

Servicemen—

Mrs. Linda Cook is home from Clarksville, Tennessee, where her husband, Ron Cook, was stationed with the paratroopers at Fort Campbell.

Ron is with the 101st Airborne Division that arrived in Viet Nam last week. He is the son of Mrs. Ephriam Cook, and the late Mr. Cook, 1520 Giddings, SE.

Mrs. Neil Den Houten, 7117 Cascade Road, SE, flew by jet to Clarksville, Tennessee, to bring her daughter home.

"Just how big is our bill here already?"

America's greatest trumpet showman

Al Hirt, recognized by many as the world's finest trumpet player, will appear in the evening grandstand show at the Ionia Free Fair, August 9-10-11. The 299 pound musician has been appearing on his own national TV show this summer.

Al Hirt, "America's Greatest Trumpet Showman" will headline the grandstand show at the Ionia Free Fair, August 9-10-11 at 8:30 p. m. The 299 pound New Orleans native, recognized as the greatest trumpeter player of the generation, is currently starring in his own Saturday evening television show.

Hirt, whose many hits include "Java", "Cotton Candy," and "Honey-In-The-Horn," was encouraged as a youth by his parents to enter the music field. Al attended the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music, which gives him the background to go from the atmosphere of his Al Hirt Club in New Orleans to the concert stage with the New Orleans Symphony.

After the Cincinnati Conservatory, Hirt entered military service for four years. After his return from the army, he joined the Tommy and Jimmy Dorsey bands, Ray McKinley, and Horace Heidt.

Al, who considers his wife and eight children to be his greatest audience, has been featured on the top television shows, including 10 appearances on the Ed Sullivan Show alone. He has been in two movies and has made scores of personal appearances coast-to-coast.

The initials constituting the title of this article stand for: DAILY VACATION BIBLE SCHOOL. Such schools are conducted by churches at various times during the summer vacation months. This year our Bible School will be held from Tuesday, August 17 through Thursday, August 26. There will be classes for children from the age of four through the age of twelve.

What is the difference between a Vacation Bible School and Sunday School? The Vacation Bible School is held DAILY instead of weekly. It is held during the days of the week instead of Sunday. The Bible School uses an intensive method of Bible instruction by meeting for eight half-days (forenoons) and not just for an hour on Sunday.

But the similarity between the two far outweighs these differences in form. Both of these schools are BIBLE SCHOOLS. The Bible is the textbook of all the instruction given by the church. Helps are used in the Vacation Bible School, including workbooks and crafts, but only to help the child understand the Bible. We are heartily interested in teaching the Bible to your children. If you have not been contacted and would like to have your children attend our Daily Vacation Bible School, please call the Pastor.

Cubbyhole Corner

Loo-loo-loo! To those of you who remember Aunt Cubbyhole from last summer's Suburban Life, the loo-loo opening will surprise you not.

You will realize that there are moments like that in everyone's life; not even aspirin will help. On the other hand, if you really know her, you will recognize that the occasion calls for "joy unlimited"—the chance to alleviate the summer doldrums of the "peanut set" to whom this corner is dedicated with love.

Speaking of dedication, the "loo-loo-loo's" also refer to the topic of the day, Mrs. Robert Woodrick's Fri. afternoon melody session for the children of the area, starting August 6, at 3:30 p. m. in the choir room of the chapel of the Cascade Christian Church.

Leish Woodrick is the Fairy Godmother in charge of the "Bibbity, Bobbity, Boo" bit of turning these childish voices into a choir, mind you!

She is a lady of many talents, plays the piano beautifully and so impressed her audience at the PTA potluck at Cascade school with the results she had brought forth with a small neighborhood group that Rev. Raymond Gaylord convinced her she should devote her talents to a larger population. Church affiliation is not a requirement; children going into grades 3 through 6 are eligible to participate, so practice your scales and come prepared to work and incidentally, have fun at the same time.

Church music makes up part of the repertoire being planned. We are not at liberty to disclose the full listing, but take my word for it, it's "supercalifragilisticexpalidocious!"

With Love,
Aunt Cubbyhole

"Aboard the Heather" with the Collins family

We're off for Maine by 7:30 this Friday morning. It starts out clear and warm with a light wind. The tide and current is with us. Skipper wanted to go to Block Island in the hopes of a rendezvous with a pen pal who had said he planned to be there at this time. But the wind petered out to practically nothing, and the swells rolling into the Sound from the Atlantic made the motion uneasy. Finally with what little wind there was we coasted down the coast to Point Judith in a gradually thickening fog. Here we learned that there was to be a sword fishing tournament the next day, which accounted for the large number of sports fishermen all over the place. We had to go way down the rows and rows of docks to a vacant space among the commercial draggers for a place to tie up.

The fog horn on the point and the compass had helped in bringing us safely into the harbor, plus the wailing of the siren on the end of the breakwater. Those were the sounds we heard all evening, to which we went to sleep, and to which we awoke Saturday morning. In fact the fog was so thick Saturday that you couldn't see 50 feet. The Swordfish Tournament was postponed until Sunday. Saturday was spent looking over the boats in the harbor. There wasn't anything else to do. Of course Skipper had his usual work to do, and did some extra besides.

There was less fog on Sunday so we took off again. There wasn't much wind, a light rain started after a while, but by afternoon visibility was better. We didn't mind rain, so long as we could see. The rain kept coming down, and the topsides became cleaner and cleaner. But each time anyone came below with dripping foul weather gear, it sure made a mess. By 3:30 p. m. we reached Cuttyhunk. Wind and tide were favorable for continuing to Martha's Vineyard, but we decided to call it a day.

Monday was clear, and the Heather went past Vineyard Haven on Martha's Vineyard and continued to Edgartown, which we had heard was a most interesting place. It was. Originally it was a whaling center. When we went ashore and went beyond the block and a half business street we were delighted with the many fine old homes. One narrow street of about a block seemed made up entirely of the homes of whaling captains. Their builders names and the dates of construction were on a neat sign over the front door. They are now part of a fine hotel. "For rooms see the management of the Harborside Hotel." They and their little dooryard gardens are maintained so attractively. Of course all of us had fun sailing around the harbor in the dinghy after we had Heather securely moored. There were so many fine yachts to admire.

Tuesday was nice and clear with a light wind early in the day. We sailed for Wood's Hole. This place is famous as the base of much oceanic study. Preferring to read about that we sailed on. There is a very strong current through the hole, a very narrow pass full of rocks between the mainland of Cape Cod and the beginning of the Elizabeth Islands chain—the only one of which we had visited was Cuttyhunk. The wind had come up nicely and blowing against the current was raising a rough chop. We went through beautifully, rocks on every side, following the channel markers. It was beautiful and exciting. Then we headed for the Cape Cod Canal. The wind freshened more and we were really sailing! We all read our cruising guide carefully to learn all we could about the Canal. We practically raced up to it with that marvelous firm wind—against the current. The Coast Guard who have charge of the canal, will not permit a boat to traverse the canal which does not have a motor. Because of the difference in the tides, 4 feet in Buzzards Bay and 9.4 feet in Cape Cod Bay, there is some current through here close to 5 m. p. h. If your motor gives you only 6 you don't try to buck it. The canal is only 10 1/2 miles long. The tide turned when we were about half way through. There up on the bank we saw a sign telling us that this was the location of the Pawtuxet trading post, established in 1627, where the Pilgrims traded with the Dutch from Manhattan. At the eastern end of the canal is a tiny mooring basin where we decided to spend the night. We anchored and looked around. There was a Coast Guard station, a few lunch places, and a fish market. We got some scallops and were they good! This was government property and parking spaces had been built for the fishermen who were fishing all along the walls of the canal. Shortly after we had anchored another sailboat came in. He said he would be there only until the turn of the tide as both wind and current were against him. Sure enough, just about the time we were turning in we saw him up anchor and leave. And had the tide come up! We hadn't seen this much tide since we were sailing the Intracoastal Waterway in N. Florida, Georgia and S. Carolina.

How that wind increased! It really blew a squall around midnight for a short time. Wednesday morning we were ready early. If it was foggy, or if the wind was very light, we would sail only to Plymouth. If we got a good wind we would continue to whatever harbor we could get to after a good sail.

But the wind held. At first we put up only the foresail and the jenny. We just seemed to tear along. Too much sail so down came the jenny and up went the smaller jib. After a while when the wind eased a bit the mainsail went up too. Then the larger jenny went up again. And later they put up the fisherman. What a sail! The breeze was off the land and the water was quite calm. We sailed past harbor after harbor. We passed the lighthouses, the light ship which guard Boston harbor, and finally came to rest in Marblehead's harbor, surrounded by a forest of masts, after one of the most marvelous sails we've ever had.

Shortly after we were assigned a mooring, Skipper went ashore with mail. While sitting in the cockpit writing, a boat sailed up. The cute girl in it called out, "Welcome to Marblehead! I'm Clark Field's daughter. Greetings to all of you." We haven't seen much of the Fields since we kept seeing them at various stops along the Mississippi in '59.

We decided to wait a day for mail here. Luckily too, for the Thursday was a lovely day here, the wind was against us. Tomorrow we expect to continue on our trip to Maine.

The "Low Down" From the Congressional Record

By Joe Crump

NO MORE DEPRESSIONS—MAYBE!

Senator W. Proxmire (Wis.) ... In recent weeks there has been a great deal of discussion comparing the economic situation of the present with conditions that prevailed in the late 1920's before the great depression ...

"Today we are no longer subject to the hazards of the domino effect which in 1929 to 1935 brought bank failures, stock market liquidation, and declines in consumer spending. The Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation (FDIC) and the regulation of securities and stock market margin requirements should free us from the chain reaction in which the failure of one bank brought about the collapse of others, and in which a modest fall in security prices triggered greater and greater liquidation as thin margins were successively wiped out. Social security and unemployment compensation tend to maintain purchasing power so that the cumulative effects of unemployment are not inevitably more unemployment. These dissimilarities between the present situation and the earlier one are now too generally understood and appreciated to need laboring ...

"We no longer have to sit innocently by, eventually to be overwhelmed by unemployment or the cumulative liquidation of inventories and the backwash of an undue tightening of credit ...

"The point I make is that now we are in a position to know. We have the facts which we did not have in 1929, so we know what we are doing ...

"The Consumers' Price Index, upon which we rely for much of our understanding of what is going on in the economy, and which is used as a 'trigger figure' in certain wage contracts, was in 1929 computed only twice a year and then reported only with a very substantial lag between the fact and the date of publication.

"Information on department store sales was not available until about 30 days after the close of the month; we now have weekly series available within three to four days. Statistics on consumer credit were not established until 1942 ...

"The total money supply of which we now have many indications weekly, and substantially complete revised data within a month, was in 1929 not available until after a three-months lag ...

With the aid of computers and modern techniques, we have the promise of what the time" data on many fronts computer people call "real which offer tremendous potentials for greater timeliness in helping us to avoid slipping into deep economic trouble ..."

A GRASS ROOTS COMMENT

When a man continues to spend more money than he earns, it leads to bankruptcy. When the Federal Government spends more than it collects in taxes, it leads to inflation.

It's unlikely that these economic process will be changed, regardless of the so-called "built-in safeguards."—J.C.
