Parsons and Hill to head Co. Sheriff's department

Kent County's newly appointed sheriff, Ron Parsons, is shown with his daughter, Pat, and the newly named undersheriff, Robert Hill of Ada.

It was a blistering ninety degree day in early July when Sheriff Ron Parsons and his undersheriff Robert Hill returned from their first Board of Supervisors meeting.

Before they reached the office, however, Mary Tannis, one of the newly appointed sheriff's secretaries told of the apprehension around the department before the appointments had been made public. She said, "There were a lot of rumors flying and we couldn't imagine what it would be like having an outsider here."

"When Ron got the appointment, we were all pleased. There is nothing phony about him, he is all policeman. There were some changes made, every man works differently, but we all have a great deal of confidence in him. He will make a good sheriff."

On first meeting Sheriff Parsons, one is impressed by his congenial smile, his affability and forthright personality. He doesn't pull punches, he is all seriousness when discussing department business. His knowledge derives from many years experience as Undersheriff. He is in true command of the situation. This is not to say that he can't listen to both sides, but once he has made his evaluation, his decision remains inviolable. This is one of the points that everyone surrounding him mentions. As one of his friends said, "With his flat-top haircut, athlete's build and broad grin, Ron Parsons reminds me of a two-fisted Dick Tracy."

After sitting down behind his large desk, stirring his cup of coffee, and relaxing from the meeting he had just attended, Sheriff Parsons plunged head-on into a discussion of LEIN. The initials stand for the words Law Enforcement Information Network. He explained, "This will be a boon to the taxpayers. First of all, it is being paid for by the state and not locally. It is a computer system. Teletypes are being made practically obsolete now with the time and effort saved by its use. It does work on the same wires, however, but as questions here are fed into the computer, results are returned immediately. We can find out a lot of facts from the central computer in seconds that used to take a great deal longer when we had to teletype to Lansing, for instance, and an operator there had to go and look up our answers for us."

We can also place any information into the computer for the use of other cities as fast as we can type. Stolen cars, wanted men, current arrests and tracers are dealt with at once."

Sheriff Parsons says that the worst problem in the area is that of traffic. He approached it this way, "We all hate to hear about a murder. That is a sad commentary and yet the very fact that it is rare makes it more sensational. As citizens we don't really care to hear about traffic deaths either, but because they are more frequent, they lose their impact and the victims become mere numbers in a box. There is no end in sight, as the population grows and there are more cars on the

Summer story; safe or sorry

We all take life for granted out here in the suburbs. Remember, that during the summer, that are many strangers who come into areas just watching and waiting for residents to be careless, which we are all guilty of being.

Opened houses, with unlocked doors invite trouble, keys left in cars, at the local store in your yard and garage. Be sure to take your car keys out enen though your car is put to bed in your garage. One area resident's car was pushed from his garage, down the driveway and started away from the house with the keys that were left in the ignition.

If you are on vacation, have a neighbor check to make sure everything is alright. Stop your paper, have your mail held or have someone pick it up for you, lock all doors, leave a light burning, leave a telephone number where you can be reached in case of emergency, if traveling leave your license number with someone so you can be contacted through the state police.

road, it will continue."

It seems depressing that millions are spent trying to force the auto companies into more rigid controls and the Federal Government has stepped into private industry and blames it when what really is needed is more money spent on local enforcement. We have the same number of cruisers patrolling now as we had seventeen years ago. Now we have them out twenty-four hours a day, of course, but you can go for miles and miles without spotting one. If you were to see a cruiser more often, you would just naturally control your speed and watchfulness. It would act as a reminder.

It isn't defective autos that cause accidents, it is defective drivers. It is true what is said about most accidents occurring within twenty-five miles of home. This is because the driver is so familiar with his local area that he takes certain cross streets and situations for granted. And yet at different hours of the day, the situations might be quite changed. If a driver jumps into his car to run down five or six blocks from home, he is concentrating on his destination and not on the hazards along the way. A man who travels unknown areas is on the look-out for the unusual.

Perhaps a good idea would be for drivers to try to take a little longer getting somewhere by driving an unfamiliar route whenever possible. A new street or a new backroad can make you sit up and take notice of your surroundings and become conscious that you are not sitting in the old armchair at home.

"The problem of juveniles is really overestimated in a way. Naturally, we want to cut down on the problems they cause, but remember that the nation is now facing the largest crop of eighteen and nineteen-year-olds that we have ever had. The percentage of their crimes has not risen in relation to their population. It goes back to the parents who must teach them respect for the law and for others. Without this there will never be an improvement in the statistics. The next thing that parents can do is to see that their children are kept busy. Idleness can lead to trouble."

When asked about his immediate plans and goals for the department, Sheriff Parsons said, "One of the first things we must do is give our men more training. They are excellent men now, but we must always keep up-to-date with new methods and laws. As everything becomes more complicated, we cannot stand still. The days of the old-time police officer are over, today modern crime requires modern detection. A man must be as expert in advanced methods as continuing education can make him." One hundred and twenty hours of study are mandatory for all new officers.

The sheriff regretfully exclaimed, "Today we cannot use the confession. We must gather more and better evidence and we must rely on truthful witnesses."

We need a better crime laboratory. We had one going a

New Vicar at St. Michael's

The Reverend John H. Stanley, jr., will be the new vicar at St. Michael's Episcopal Church at Cascade.

The Vicar will assume his new duties Sunday, July 24. Previously, the church had been served by lay readers and pastoral services from Grace Episcopal Church of Grand Rapids.

St. Michael's Episcopal Mission was started in October, 1960, at the present site, a large home on Wycliff, just off Cascade Road.

The mission was started thru the efforts of the women of this area, who belonged to the women's guild of Grace Episcopal Church in Grand Rapids. It was through their interest and the members of Grace Church, under the direction of Dr. Donald Carey, that the mission became a reality for the Episcopalians of this area.

The mission has been served by lay readers and pastoral services from Grace Church. Dr. Donald Carey conducted the first service in the parochial mission to approximately twenty families. It is now a diocesan facility under the care of Bishop Charles E. Bennis of the Diocese of Western Michigan. Through the past five years, the Rev. Donald Tepe has been in charge of the majority of activities of the mission.

The Rev. John H. Stanley, jr., will be the new vicar, and will have his first service on Sunday, July 24.

Rev. Stanley is a graduate of Denison University, Granville, Ohio, in 1960, he then entered Seabury-Western Theological Seminary and graduated with a BD in 1963. Since his graduation he has been a curate at St. Augustine's, Wilmette, Illinois.

He was born in Western Spring, Illinois, and his wife, Joan Lynn, known as Lynne, comes from Oak Park, Illinois. As a girl she lived next to the Hemingways and her aunt grew up with the famous Ernest Hemingway.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Stanley are well traveled. Rev. Stanley has traveled all through the US and Canada and the British Isles, Europe and the near East. Mrs. Stanley lived for a time in Bolton, England, and has traveled all of England.

Rev. Stanley has studied Latin, French, German, Greek, Hebrew, Aramaic, Arabic and bits of Assyrian, Coptic. His hobbies are fishing, gardening, and working in his work shop making and fixing things of all shapes, sizes and descriptions.

Lynne is kept busy with the three children, Laura, Mark & Diane, all two years apart, however, she does find time to enjoy knitting, sewing and reading.

The Stanley's will reside in the upstairs of the church, until the home that is now under construction on Wycliff is completed.

3 exchange students bid area friends adieu

Through the Youth for Understanding Exchange Student program, our community has been enriched by the presence of Miss Sheila Van Praah, of England, who has been making her home with Mr. and Mrs. James Comrie; Astrid Bruins of Germany, living with the William DuValls; and Lars Torkel Ekman, of Sweden, staying with the L. Wm. Seidman's.

The host families are going to miss these fine young people, as will the many students who have become their friends for the past year, and after talking with the students, they all seem to have enjoyed their stay in this country and our community, and it seems as if they all have plans to make another trip back to our shores.

Astrid's or Addie, as she is known to everyone, comments were as follows:

"In a few days I shall leave Michigan to go back to Germany. As I had to adjust myself to the American way of living, I think I will have to get used to the German way again. This does not mean that Germany and the USA are very different, but I suddenly found many little things different—sandwiches for lunch and not for supper as in Germany; salt on popcorn instead of sugar; school being over at 3 p. m. instead of 1 and so on.

"I have enjoyed things being different. I wrote my German parents how huge cars were, that some Americans put sugar on tomatoes, told them of what pep assemblies were and that football here was not the same as our soccer.

"I learned many new things this year, somehow I thought Americans had to be different from Europeans or Germans, now I know that people are the same. Families here live the way families in Germany do. As for the cars, different food and a different language.

"Families have the same interests and worries, so do teenagers. For girls all over the world boys are an interesting topic and even if we German teenagers have to bicycle to a party, the parties are about the same.

"The only thing I had to get used to was drinking Hawaii punch instead of wine. American dances took some practice!

"This year has been an exciting and wonderful experience for me. One, which I won't forget all my life. My biggest wish now is that I shall be able to come back some day."

Sheila's comments on her summer's stay here were:

"My impressions of America as an English Exchange student, first and foremost, I think I will always remember the people, the way I, as a complete stranger, have been included into the way of life in America, the family and community.

"Before I even arrived plans had been made that I should be included in a visit to New York and Washington, on a church convention, sponsored by the Cascade Christian Church.

"The vastness of this country, the fact that 30 miles to Grand Haven is nothing compared to the size of America. When we go to the seashore, for a holiday, a trip of about 60 miles, we go by train and stay where here you just made the trip down and back in a few hours.

"The huge cars, the fact that petrol, or gas you call it so cheap. Your natural resources and the many different brands for just one product, that is such as crackers. Your delicious ice creams and Jersey Junction, must say I've never tasted Dill Pickle ice cream before!

The schools, the different ways of teaching, the fact that Forest Hills is co-educational, and that I did not have to wear a uniform, thank goodness.

"Basically the teenagers in both countries were about the same. The one big difference is that our teenagers may drive at the age of 16 and we are not allowed to drive until 18 years of age.

"Some of the questions that I have been asked since I have been here that I will always remember, especially the two favorites, 'do you know the Beatles?' and 'is it foggy in London?' I would like to end by repeating a question one little girl ask me, which I think signifies all the curiosity one could master 'Is London Bridge really falling down?'"

When I came over to the United States last year, I was not really aware of the tremendous amount of experiences I was to encounter in my year as an exchange student. My conception of a typical American has changed considerably from the time I arrived to this moment. I have found that Americans, in general are very friendly, easy to talk to, very exceptional, easy to laugh, although somewhat naive about the United State's position in the World and interested in other countries, although you are sometimes very ignorant.

I have found many good points in the school system, especially in the athletic department. In Swedish schools there is no school spirit because of the absence of inter-scholastic competition. I think the athletics are excellently coached and supervised, besides providing the students with something to do in their leisure time. The inter-scholastic sports & school spirit is something I would like to see introduced to Swedish schools.

I would like to thank all of you in the community who have helped to make this year in the United States one of the best and most memorable in my life.

Torkel Ekman

The students will return by boat to their native land, and classes will be conducted and they will get used to speaking in their native tongue, and will give their views on the American way of life. Approximately 900 students will be returning by boat and 500 of them are from the Youth for Understanding Program.

In August another group of Exchange students will be coming to our community and as this area is noted for its hospitality, they will be completely accepted as these who are leaving us have been.

Not only the visiting students benefit from their stay in this country but all those who have come in contact will remember these outstanding students and what they have contributed to our way of life, and truly helping to bring better understanding to our country and theirs.

Milk Drinkers Enjoy all "Grade A" Under New Dairy Inspection Law

Michigan milk drinkers, who smack their lips over the cool white beverage to the tune of more than one billion quarts a year, now enjoy the most wholesome milk in history. Under their new milk law, which took effect July 1, all bottled milk will be "Grade A". The law is administered by the Dairy Division of the Michigan Department of Agriculture. The entire history of milk, from pasture to delivery truck, is under rigid scientific control of department dairy inspectors. Previously, "Grade A" was available only through certain dairies who voluntarily met the standards.

Hare Of A Different Color

What may look here like two different rabbits are one in the same, the snowshoe hare, which is sometimes called the turncoat of the North because of its change in color from summer (bottom photo) to winter (top picture). This changeable character has two sets of hair which pass through a moult each fall and spring. White hair grows in the fall, pushing out the summer hair. In the spring, the process occurs again, with the colors reversed. Whatever the reason, these seasonal changes help the snowshoe hare hide from its many swampland enemies.

Weeds

Everyone who has a vegetable garden or a flower garden must constantly weed and cultivate his garden, for if it were left to itself it would all too soon be overrun with weeds. But as we weed our gardens we sometimes wonder whether a plant is a weed of not. What is a weed? Webster's Dictionary says that a weed is "any plant growing in ground that is or has been in cultivation, usually to the detriment of the crop, or to the disfigurement of the place. In Eastern North America over 600 common plants, usually of Eurasian origin, as weeds, as the dandelion, wild carrot, etc."

In view of the difficulty encountered with weeds, in spite of all the chemical weed killers of our time, we may well inquire as to the origin of weeds. The Bible tells us, in Genesis 3, that God cursed the ground because of man's sin against God's command, and that therefore it would bring forth thorns and thistles. Weeds, because of their harmful effects, are a fit emblem of sin, for sin is always destructive and injurious.

It is good to keep our gardens free of weeds, but we ought to be much more careful about weeding out of our hearts and lives the sins which infest and infect the gardens of our lives. Let us strive in the strength of God for the spiritual and moral purity without which no man shall see God!

Old Timers' horseshoe tournament is successful; lefthanders compete

Old time horseshoe pitchers and their wives were the guests of the Michigan Seniors Horseshoe tournament held last Saturday at the Covered Bridge Courts at Ada. Nearly every one of the Golden Age boys took part in the festivities. Almost every club in Michigan sent at least one member to pay their respects to the men who have kept the great game going for many years in the state.

Local club members furnished a picnic lunch and in addition to the winner's trophies, furnished by the Wolverine State Horseshoe Pitchers Association, several other nice prizes were donated by the Ada Hardware, Ada Foods, Ada Drugs, Jim's Smoco Service and the Covered Bridge Club. The oldest contestant was Bill Wassenaar, 74, from Grand Rapids. Bill was also second in the class C group. Just one month younger than Bill was little Jay Gurnsey of Port Huron, who cupped the winner's trophy in class B with a nice 40.5 percent tournament average and had a high single game of 57.2 percent ringers. Jay also won the prize for the longest trip.

vis of Battle Creek, retiree, who for many years has been a great pitcher. Lee Jacobs, who has been Michigan champion on three different occasions, was the class A runner-up. The class C title was taken by Grand Rapids' retiree, Jule Miller, whose last previous formal tournament was when he won the boy's championship of Grand Rapids in 1922. The lefthander's crown went to the classy Muskegon youngster, Harry Farmer, who had to win a hardfought three game play off from Bronson Gentry of Detroit.

Harry had a good 72.7 percent average and Bronson barely missed with an overall average of 71.2 percent. The Lefties Class B event went to Bill Bell, Mt. Pleasant teacher, with Erhardt Schlenker of Grand Rapids in the second slot. The weather was exceptionally favorable to horseshoe pitching and the only oldtimer who had to drop out was Henry Zesin, Saginaw banker, who said he ate too much. The old timers loved the warm reception they received at Ada and all are looking forward to next year's event.

Class A winner was Jim Da-

LITTLE LEAGUE NEWS

Last week's Suburban Life gave the Minor league standings for the year. There seemed to be an error, as the Devils won over the Jets 18 to 10, it was reported that the Jets won the game, thus the standings would be different. Due to the fact that the person who has all the standings is on vacation, the corrected standings will be published later.

Catholic Central class plans 10th reunion

The 10th reunion of the Catholic Central Class of 1956 will be held at Adrian's Ramona Terrace, Comstock Park on August 6 from 9 to 1.

The class, which produced 427 graduates, will dance to the music of Bruce Spielmaker's band. Refreshments will be served, plus familiar, slightly melo-dious faces.

General chairmen of the reunion will be Mrs. Ronald C. Smith, Fred Sauer and Mrs. Drake Atkinson.

Woodland sells sites to Sears, J. C. Penny; remain part of complex

J. C. Penny Company and Sears Roebuck and Company have elected to buy their own 20 acre sites in the multi-million dollar Woodland Shopping Center on 28th Street, at the East Beltline, SE.

Land deals involving the two major retailers have been completed now and deeds transferred from Woodland and its developers, according to A. Alfred Taubman, president of Taubman Company, Inc., who is in partnership with Archie Siegel of Chicago, Illinois, on the 145-acre development.

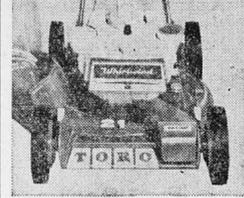

Although the two concerns will own their own land and buildings, each is pledged to be part of the Woodland Association, according to the developers.

Other new leases signed, according to Donald N. Jones, leasing agent for Woodland, include a new S. S. Kresge Variety Store, Remes Drug Store, Beverly's, Inc., and NuVision Optical Studios, Inc.

Mr. Jones reports that the first phase of earth moving operations have been completed at Woodland and that foundation excavation work for the structure is expected to start soon.

Woodland is scheduled to open in August of 1967.

Would you give your wife a tin can for a present? Of course not. And yet if you followed the old tradition that says tin is the symbol of the Tenth Wedding Anniversary, you wouldn't be far out of line. Fortunately, times change, and customs change with them. Today, modern couples can celebrate their lasting, growing love with more elegant—and appropriate—expressions of affection.

Up-dating tradition with a number of romantic renovations on anniversary symbols, the Jewelry Industry Council has compiled the Modern Wedding Anniversary List. Because no wife ever got dewy-eyed over a Paper Wedding Anniversary, the Council suggests that the First Anniversary be the year for clocks, a timely gift. And diamonds, formerly reserved for the 60th Anniversary, or Diamond Jubilee, are now beautifully appropriate for the 10th and 30th as well, when a woman can most strikingly wear this sparkling King of Gems and when a man, in the midst of his struggle for success, can most appreciate this shining symbol of prestige. The Modern Wedding Anniversary List is appropriate, too, because it reflects the patterns of American family life today. Gifts for the first nine years of marriage are those that add to the growing importance of the home. After this, personal gifts of jewelry are most appropriate, since the children are becoming independent enough to allow Mom and Dad a little more togetherness. Later, from the 18th to the 19th anniversaries, the youngsters are back in the nest, with their friends and dates, and gifts for the home are again suggested. And once the children have flown to nests of their own, the most appropriate wedding anniversary gifts are those that express the triumph and eternity of the original love pledge—precious and eternal gifts of jewelry.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor of Suburban Life: I was one of those who was at the town meeting where most of the people were out side. I heard supervisor Lynch order the loud speakers taken down after your paper had said for people to come in their cars and they would be able to hear, even if the hall was filled. It was filled. I pay a good amount of taxes since he raised them and I wondered if this was still the United States, the way he ran that meeting. I don't think he is the kind of man to be in public office. He is a long way from being what we call a public servant. Simon Tilstra
