School's open drive defensively

Summer's closing and schools are opening. Now is the time for all good drivers to come to the aid of others.

During the summer months more students were given drivers licenses and more children were registered for school attendance in this area. Experienced drivers and those who are new to the road have to change their ways of thinking about pedestrians.

Sheriff Ronald Parsons asks that we apply the following safety hints in our driving habits with the onset of school:

Stop for school bus receiving or discharging children.

Pay attention to the Safety Patrol. They have a job to do and we must help by driving carefully and obeying the traffic rules.

Always obey all parking regulations in front of schools and keep the road clear.

Above all, don't try to out-guess a child. Remember, they sometimes do the unexpected.
DRIVE DEFENSIVELY!

Woodland Mall sets opening in February

Opening of Woodland Mall, $20 million, 1 million square foot regional shopping center under construction at East Beltline and Twenty-Eighth Street, SE, has been set for February 28, when all of its 69 stores, shops and services will be able to open together, it was announced today by Norton Remes, newly-elected chairman of the steering committee of the Woodland Mall Merchants Association.

"Rather than open stores individually as they are completed, we feel that it will be much more of an advantage to the people of Western Michigan and particularly of the Forest Hills and the Grand Rapids Metropolitan Areas, to open Woodland Mall as a completed regional shopping center with its unrivaled depth and range of merchandise to fulfill every shopping need," Remes explained.

Woodland Mall is being built on a 145-acre site and will have free, easy parking area for 5,200 cars. Its 952 foot long enclosed mall is anchored by the 326,000 square foot Sears Roebuck & Co. department store and 256,000 square foot J. C. Penny Co. department store.

It is being developed and built by A. Alfred Taubman, president of the Taubman Co., Inc., of Oak Park, Michigan, and his partner, Archie Siegel of Chicago.

Woodland Mall will be the largest shopping center in Michigan outside of the Detroit area and to insure complete shopping comfort it will be completely air conditioned as well as heated.

In addition to the shopping center, the Woodland Mall complex will include separate buildings to house auto service centers for both Sears Roebuck & Co. and the J. C. Penny Co., a Farmer Jack supermarket, dry cleaning shop and pharmacy.

Also planned are a 1,200-seat motion picture theater, high rise office-professional buildings, 300-room motel & restaurant buildings in addition to a 400-unit apartment complex on adjoining land running north along East Beltline.

Approves tax levy for 1967 at Forest Hills

The Forest Hills Board of Education has approved the school tax levy for the 1967 school year.

The school operating tax is set at 14.85 mills. These monies will be used for the operation of the school during the coming year. Revenues from this tax and from State Aid payments constitute the major portion of the school's receipts during the year.

The school debt tax levy will be 7.64 mills this year. The monies collected from this tax levy will pay principal and interest on five school debts including the three building phases of the high school, the junior high school and the new debt voted this June for elementary schools.

The total school tax for both operation and debt will be 22.49 mills. This millage will be paid by each property owner on approximately one-half the cash value of his property.

The total school tax is about 3/4 of a mill more than last year. Translated into practical language, this means that the owner of a $20,000 home will pay about $7.50 more school tax.

Forest Hills residents will have the lowest tax burden of all the surrounding suburban districts. In comparison with other schools, the 14.85 mill operating tax is the low factor.

The district will manage to operate at this below average tax spread during the year as the previous year end balance is sufficient to support necessary budgeted deficit spending.

Thursday rites for Mrs. Covey

Mrs. Delia E. Covey, aged 97, a Grand Rapids resident for the past thirteen years, died early Tuesday morning. Mrs. Covey was a former resident of Traverse City.

She is survived by three sons, Nelson J. of Ada, Frederick A. and Bernard C. both of Grand Rapids; six grandchildren; 25 great-grandchildren; several great-great-grandchildren; one sister, Mrs. William (Celia) Perkus of San Bernardino, California and a niece.

Funeral Mass will be celebrated Thursday morning at St. Alphonsus Church in Grand Rapids. Committal services will be at 3 p. m. at Oakwood Cemetery in Traverse City.

The National 4-H Service Committee, Chicago, Illinois, secures about $1 1/2 million annually from business and industry in support of 4-H.

Watch for postal Zip-A-List kits

During the latter half of September, each of the nation's 66 million households will receive a unique kit of postal cards which can be used to obtain ZIP Codes for personal mailing needs. Ada Postmaster Milton Hein announced this week.

The specially designed kit will consist of nine cards. Eight will carry a message encouraging the use of ZIP Code on one side and spaces for the address to be "zipped" and the return address of the sender on the other side.

The ninth card will include instructions. The cards in the kit will be joined in an accordion fold with perforations between each segment.

A tenth card will remind the recipient of his own ZIP Code. This card will not be attached to the kit and is a revised version of the local ZIP Code reminder notice distributed twice a year.

Last year approximately 57 million households received one or two cards upon which they could enter several addresses for the local post office to code.

This year, the expanded project will find the kit of cards being delivered with only one address to be entered on each card for ZIP Coding. The card will then go through the mails in the same manner as a regular postal card. It will be separated out of the mail stream at the post office which serves the "zipless" address. There a clerk will stamp in the proper code and "return to sender." The card will then go back the same route to the mailer, who will enter the code into a personal mailing list.

No postage will be needed to send the cards through the mails.

The unit cost of entering the code onto the card will be less than the system used in 1966 because no look-up will be necessary. Since all cards for each ZIP Code will be sent to the Post Office which services that section of the country, a clerk will be able to simply stamp that number on the cards and send the forms on their return journey.

Extra copies of the ZIP-A-LIST kits will be available at post offices. Eight postal cards are included in the kit because last year respondents to the ZIP-A-LIST program sent in an average of about eight addresses on the multi-address cards sent out in the previous project. Nine million more delivery stops will be reached this year than the 1966 version. The annual increase in the number of residential mail stops and the inclusion of more box holders and rural residents who do not have delivery service, but must pick their mail up at the local post office has brought every American citizen receiving postal service into the program.

On an average day, between 175 and 250 million new pieces of mail enter the postal system. It is not expected that more than 10 million of the ZIP-A-LIST cards will be in the system at any one time during the peak periods of mailing. Since they will be handled essentially as ordinary postal cards, there will be no burden or dislocation of service.

"The ultimate result will be an improvement in service," Mr. Hein noted, "ZIP Code is the base upon which the modern postal service is being built. But, it won't work and the modernization and efficiencies ZIP Code will bring cannot go into effect until there is more widespread usage of the five-number code."

"Five great enemies to peace inhabit with us: Avarice, Ambition, Envy, Anger, Pride. If those enemies were banished, we should infallibly enjoy perpetual peace."
 —Petrarch (1304-74)

Lions Club members in 138 countries are reading (in 12 languages!) the top entry from over a million submitted in their recent international Peace Essay Contest. Written by Canada's A. Russell Wodell, the 18 year-old Grand Prize winner examined the question: "Is Peace Attainable?"

On the assumption that peace is best defined as the absence of war, Wodell discusses the causes of war and presents a logical argument in support of his plan for peace. He calls for a rejuvenated United Nations—a kind of super world government—go-powered by a special police force, tailored through an elected representation "to work for the good of the entire world, as opposed to the good of the individual states." Wodell walks on touchy ground; he is apparently aware of Communism's admitted precept that the individual exists for the sake of the state.

With the sincere disclaimer that he has not "merely adopted the Communist doctrine of nations rather than to men" he thoughtfully proposes a plan for world federation. In it he presupposes the existence of an intelligent voting public whereby the organization could avoid the pitfalls of totalitarianism.

The plan is old; Alexis de Tocqueville promoted it in 1835; Clarence K. Streit's Union Now (Harper Bros., New York, 1940) details it in 248 pages. All such plans wistfully pin the bright hope of success on the individual coming to realize that loyalty to a state or government must always be secondary to man's responsibility to himself and to other men. Ah! there's the rub—shades of "What's good for General Motors" and all that. If anything, because of definition, the plan now has still less chance of being tried. The words "responsibility" as also "liberal" and "conservative" resemble stretch-socks—enough give to fit most anybody.

This writer is not so much wary of the plan as he is disappointed that the essay concludes on the baleful note: "perhaps there is no valid plan; perhaps peace is not attainable." Wodell, foreseeing great difficulties were his plan accepted, sees no other route "which will lead us away from the brink of disaster."

Perhaps it is true the world is without a workable plan for peace, and to get by we'll have to fall back on such aphorisms as Jerrold's "Chains are worse than bayonets."

It is said that the besetting evil of our age is the temptation to squander and dilute thought on a thousand lines of inquiry (Sir John Herschel). But it's still not all bad if one million essays finally have reduced us once again to the prayer "Let there be peace." Seems like a good beginning at least.

Scout campers at conference in Nebraska

Outstanding Boy Scout campers arrived Monday, August 28, on the University of Nebraska campus for the five-day National Order of the Arrow Conference that began with a parade and closed last Friday morning, September 1, with a challenge from the founder of the 52-year-old national camp honor society of the Boy Scouts of America.

The 4,500 delegates—many dressed in Indian costume—left the University and traveled to Pershing Municipal Auditorium where the opening general session was held. Each of the 400 Order of the Arrow lodges carried an identification sign starting with Unami Lodge No. 1 of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, where the Order of the Arrow was started at the Boy Scout Camp in 1915.

Leading the parade was the Strategic Air Command Band from Offutt Air Force Base, and in the parade were the 50 State flags, American flags, and several floats.

Alden G. Barber, Chief Scout Executive-Elect of the Boy Scouts of America, was the keynote speaker on the subject "Hearts and Wills United," the conference theme which comes from the Ordeal ceremony for Boy Scouts who are elected to the national camping society.

Attending from the Forest Hill District were Scoutmaster Albert Hulsapple and scout, Howard Stovall of Troop 269 from Orchard View School. During Mondays registration period, there were dozens of preference activities including swimming, tours, setting up conference exhibits, organization and practice of the Brotherhood Chorus and the Arrowmen's Band, and many types of sports. There were also meetings of discussion, workshop, and like-interest group leaders and advisers.

Program highlights for Tuesday included the Ak-Sar-Ben Games (sports, contests, and athletic competition) and "For America We Sing."

The evening session spotlighted the conservation program of the Boy Scouts of America and the re-emphasis of the Outdoor Code which is a major part of the advancement program for Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts and Explorers.

On Wednesday afternoon, there was the Camping Glizadium, a "county fair" of camping and conservation demonstrations and exhibits, and the Order of the Arrow Talent Show with Nancy Griffin, Miss Nebraska Centennial, as mistress of ceremonies.

Thursdays daytime activities continued the 600 daily morning training sessions, featuring 60 area meetings to make recommendations for the two-year Onward Arrowmen Plan.

The conference closed with a general session Friday morning with recognitions and resolutions and presentation of Distinguished Service Awards.

Pre-schoolers live in 'money world,' too!

Young children learn that money can buy things they want long before they know its actual value. However, if provided training in sound financial habits, your child will be better equipped to solve many complex problems of adult life, advocates Lucile Ketchum, home management specialist at Michigan State University.

Handling money baffles even some adults, so education in money management cannot start too early.

It isn't necessary to encourage a toddler to put his money in a piggy bank to teach thrift. Saving money means little to a pre-schooler. Instead, teach him to conserve the things he has so they will last longer. In learning to take care of his own clothes and toys, a child begins to understand some basic principles of thrift.

A pre-schooler experiences lending, borrowing and sharing all the time. Although no money changes hands, the underlying principles are the same.

Whatever the approach to teaching about money, Miss Ketchum reminds parents that attitudes, ideas and actions are passed on from generation to generation. The child usually adopts his attitudes toward money from his parents, unconsciously for the most part. "Keep this in mind before you try to teach a youngster something you don't practice yourself."

And it is important to remember that each child should be handled as an individual, an independent personality. There cannot be a standard set of rules for every child. Parents can only set a guideline for their children in handling money wisely.

Cooperative Extension Service Bulletin E410, "The Money World of your Pre-Schooler," gives more insight into youngsters' learning to handle money. It's available at no cost from the Cooperative Extension Service Offices in Allegan, Kent, and Ottawa Counties.

Miss Wentloff speaks vows to Mr. Polonoski

Miss Sandra Kay Wentloff exchanged her wedding vows with Donald Arden Polonoski in a recent Saturday morning ceremony at St. Patrick's Church of Parnell.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Alfred R. Wentloff of 1075 Grand River Drive, Ada, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Polonoski of 6775 Cannonsburg Road, Belmont, Michigan.

The bride chose an empire gown of peau de soie with lace bodice and sleeves. A lace trimmed chapel train fell from her shoulders and a beaded crown secured her veil.

Mrs. Terrance L. Buck attended the bride. She was attired in a pink lace empire gown, and chose a tulle bow headpiece.

Charles E. Polonoski was his brother's best man. Seated the guests were George Herrington, Jr., of Cannonsburg, and James Inman of Ada.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Staskus of Ada presided at the reception following the ceremony. The former Miss Wentloff is a graduate of Forest Hills high school, and Mr. Polonoski is a graduate of Rockford high school. They are residing at Bostwick Lake.

PTA Schedules A Count-In

Every child counts, with the PTA. That's the reason the National Congress of Parents and Teachers is planning a special "count-in" of their parents and teachers as schools reopen this fall.

"The PTA believes that every child must be provided with what he needs to grow up healthy, secure, well-educated and useful to his community," says Mrs. Irvin E. Hendryson, of Albuquerque, N. Mex., president of the National PTA.

"To help secure these rights

Every single child counts, with the PTA—a nationwide organization of volunteers concerned for children and for the parents and teachers who nurture and educate them.

for all children," she declares, "the PTA counts on every citizen to work at expanding the opportunities of all America's children.

Parent-teacher associations (PTAs), organized in the 50 states, the District of Columbia and schools for American dependents overseas, begin enrolling new members with the first PTA meeting of the school term and usually concentrate on membership enrollment during October.

This year, they will give particular attention to reaching parents in low-income areas.

One of the many valuable services any PTA provides, Mrs. Hendryson believes, is "the opportunity for parents and teachers to know each other in a social situation. They are the people most important in a child's world, and the child can't help benefiting from their friendly collaboration.

"In poor areas, especially," she notes, "this friendly relation between home and school is of particular value because it's where children most need help."

PTA's can work to improve educational opportunity, to protect dependent or delinquent children, to improve health care and to provide the leadership for vibrant community programs that will serve all children, Mrs. Hendryson points out.

Because every child counts with the PTA, its activities cover all the varied needs of children—for kindergartens, adequately financed schools, well-trained teachers, along with the proper nourishment, good health and favorable emotional climate in which to learn from them. "We need many members to cover such wide-ranging programs," says Mrs. Hendryson. "So our task this fall is to persuade every parent and every teacher that he too counts, with the PTA."

As PTA's start their "count-ins" this fall, Mrs. Hendryson is urging them to demonstrate that "PTA is where the action is."

She has suggested, for example, that local units take the lead in sponsoring "cultural happenings" for youngsters. Some branches of the National PTA, she notes, have developed artmobiles, comparable to the popular bookmobiles, which bring traveling exhibits of painting and sculpture to school children in remote areas. Other PTA's regularly sponsor musical concerts or provide tickets for theatrical productions to children who would not otherwise attend them.

"With something as simple as a folk festival," says the PTA's national president, "we can do much to enrich the lives of children."

At the Top It's a PTA Family

New president of the National PTA, Mrs. Irvin E. Hendryson, of Albuquerque, N. Mex., is shown with her daughter, Mrs. Philip S. Weld, Jr., of Beverly, Mass., and 18-month old Sarah Weld, one of her four grandchildren.

Mrs. Hendryson, who will head the 21-million member organization until 1970, is a former professional librarian and the wife of an orthopedic surgeon.

Two of her special interests as National PTA president are "to encourage parents to read to their children, especially, in their preschool years" and to stimulate continued close cooperation between PTA's and the medical and health organizations that helped develop the PTA program of Continuous Health Supervision of children from early childhood through adolescence.

"I Am Not Worthy"
 These words were spoken in response to the Lord Jesus Christ. In the city of Capernaum a Roman military officer came to Jesus asking Him to heal his servant who was paralyzed and in terrible distress. Jesus said "I will come and heal him." The centurion said "Lord, I am not worthy that thou shouldst come under my roof; but only say the word, and my servant shall be healed."
 There was in this Captain over a hundred men a deep sense of unworthiness. He might have been proud of his good deed in building a synagogue for the Jews, or of his rank in the Roman army, or of his authority over other men. However, it is noteworthy that he spoke of himself as being unworthy of so great a favor. He did not speak of his house as being unworthy of Jesus, or of his servant as being unworthy of the Lord's personal presence, but only of Himself. We should have the same evaluation of ourselves in the presence of Jesus Christ. We too are deeply unworthy of the Lord's presence and favor. We also do not deserve even the least of the Lord's blessings. And yet we act as if the Lord owes us all kinds of natural and spiritual blessings. Let us read and meditate on these words which are recorded in Matthew 8:5-13—and come to the same conclusion as the centurion!

Ada man is wed in Montana

Miss Barbara Lynn Hollingsworth of Havre, Montana, and Michael James McCormick of Ada were united in holy matrimony at St. Jude's Church in Havre on August 12. The Rev. Joseph R. Retzel, S. J. performed the ceremony.

Miss Hollingsworth is the daughter of Mrs. Rosella Hollingsworth and the late Myrion Hollingsworth of Havre. Mr. McCormick's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Robert McCormick of Ada.

The bride wore a dress of lace over satin with an empire waistline and detachable train. Her silk circular veil was attached to a tiara of silk organza with tiny pearl trim. She carried white and pink carnations, gladioli and roses.

The bridal attendants, both her sisters, were Mrs. Marilyn Pizzini of Havre, the maid of honor, and Mrs. Janet Costin also of Havre, who acted as bridesmaid. They wore pink, sleeveless, street-length dresses of lace over acetate with matching headdresses and white accessories. They carried bouquets created from white and pink carnations.

The groom was attended by Ronald Smith of Havre as best man and Steve Larson, usher. David Hollingsworth, the bride's brother, gave Miss Hollingsworth in marriage.

Cascade's Van... sweeps holiday main at Marne

A brilliant fireworks display, the speedway car of Gordy Johncock, & two feature races for semi-late models and super modifieds, highlighted the race card Monday night, Labor Day, at the Berlin Raceway.

With time trials starting at 5 p. m. Johnny Benson's super modified out of Grand Rapids qualified the fastest with Bob Senneker of Grand Rapids topping the semi-late model classification; both winning the dash events.

Veteran super modified driver Ed VanderLaan of Cascade registered his sixth feature win of the 1967 season by capturing the 25-lap feature event Labor Day, at the Berlin Raceway.

Duane Knoll of Muskegon finished second, followed by Johnny Logan of Charlotte, Nolan Johncock of Hastings and Jim Gresley of Battle Creek.

A nine-car pile-up between 3 and 4, halted the main event, and eliminated five cars from action; no one was injured, but several supers were heavily damaged.

Taking checkered flags in the super mods were Johnny Benson, Arnold Mortimer, Nolan Johncock, Jim Gresley and Cy Fairchild.

VanderLaan also visited the winner's circle when he copped the Australian pursuit event.

Tom Marks of Kalamazoo pulled all the stops out as he swirled to victory in the action packed semi-late main. In the 20-lap grind, Marks who took an early lead, was able to out run and out maneuver Bob Senneker of Grand Rapids, second; Gail Cobb of Ada, third; and Jim Adema of Grand Rapids, fourth. Preliminary winners for the semi-lates were Marks, Jim Dyke, Senneker, Rick Knox and Randy Sweet.

Show Stopper

The show stopper of the evening was the man with the dual personality, Jerry Peloquin of Jenison, Michigan. Peloquin who has been noted as the hard luck contender in the semi-late model class, recently took over the wheel of the super modified owned by Art Houck of Superior Builders.

Peloquin in taking the major step has well proven his ability to give the top runners all the competition they can take care of. Monday night, at Marne, Peloquin displayed one of his best driving performances of the season, as he held back the hot ones in the fast heat and the feature event. Although he finished the evening in the pits scanning over the damage following an accident in the 20-lap main, Peloquin will undoubtedly be back in action this Saturday night; giving the big boys the ole one-two.

Besides handling the piloting duties in the colorful No. 44, Jerry still manages to race his familiar No. 3 Ford convertible in the semi-late model events at the Marne and Kalamazoo circuits. There is no doubt—this is a man to watch; a tough competitor and real sportsman.

Takes Two at Kazoo

Denny Nyari of Michigan City, Indiana, was not denied the glory of victory Sunday night at the Kalamazoo Motor Speedway as he roared home the victor in the 25-lap rain-out feature, and the 75-lap holiday main event for semi-late model stock cars.

In the first of his evening's big wins, Nyari fought off the repeated challenges of 2 Grand Rapids competitors, Bob Fel-lows and Jim Adema, before he was awarded the checkered flag.

The race was slowed, under the yellow flag, when Tom Marks of Kalamazoo, blew a tire coming out of number two, and was sidelined from further participation.

The 75-lap grind saw Nyari take a commanding lead from Jim Adema, the evening's fastest qualifier, on the 12th lap in ironic fashion, and build up a whopping lead for the coveted holiday main.

Heat race winners on the 3/8-mile hi-banked asphalt oval were Nyari, Jim Trollard, Leo Heavens, Tom Marks and John Mangus.

Is State Champion

Johnny Benson of Grand Rapids turned in one of his spectacular driving performances to win the 70-lap Michigan State Championship race for super modified race cars Saturday night at the Berlin Raceway before a capacity crowd.

Benson fashioned his $1,000 victory by being the program's fastest qualifier, starting on the poll position, and was never pressed for the lead.

Ed VanderLaan of Cascade chased the winner across the finish line, followed by Duane Knoll of Muskegon and Harold Smith of Dayton, Ohio.

Wayne Root of Lansing escaped serious injury when his car slammed into the inside retaining wall on the 60th lap of the main event. A spinning out-of-control car of Don Vander-Molen sent the cars of Bill Heeneey of Lansing, Jack Lind-hout of Comstock Park & Jack Nichols of Sturgis over the bank on the same lap.

Bob Senneker of Grand Rapids moved his Model Coverall Special to victory in the 20-lap feature race for semi-late models on the seven-sixteenths banked asphalt oval. Following a torrid duel with Gail Cobb of Ada, Senneker took over the lead on the 17th lap, squirmed his way through the pack, and came home the victor.

Heat race winners were Andy Schutt and Jerry VanDyke of Grand Rapids, and Cobb who claimed the checkered flag in the fast car dash and the fast heat for semi-late models.

Ralph Lawrence of Lowell, back in action following a short-lived retirement, posted a win in the first heat of the evening for semi-late models. Driving a Ford, Lawrence took the lead on the next to the last lap, and streaked across the finish line ahead of the charging pack. In later competition, Lawrence was forced to the pit area with a blown engine.

Things to come

Just about everything eventually changes. The old familiar clothespin has given away to a gracefully curved plastic object. The new pin, called Safe-T-Maid, bends but reportedly will not crack, splinter or break.

New shutters that look like wood but really are plastic, based and coated are said to be able to last ten years without painting. They are called "Pax-Shutters."
