Scouts clean up camp-site; enjoy out-of-doors

Camping and Boy Scouting go together like ducks and water. Basic to the Scouting program is getting boys out-of-doors. Scouts of Troop 334, sponsored by Cascade Christian Church, had such a camping experience in mid-October when Troop members had a work camp at Camp Gay-lon, near Hart, Michigan.

The Scouts spent many hours trimming pine trees at the camp, but there was also time for food and even worship on Sunday morning. Six thousand pine trees at the camp needing attention, kept the boys busy. Pictures show Scouts, along with their Assistant Scoutmaster, John Thorington.

Millage—problem...

With its six mills voted for operation expiring in December, the Forest Hills Board of Education discussed this millage problem at their last meeting; but took no action on the district's future financial needs.

Board members face a future decision on the amount of additional operational millage that will be needed for the 1968-69 school year. When that decision is made, a special election will be required to submit the proposal to citizens of the district. Superintendent Robert R. Masten said the school district this year had used from accumulated reserves the equivalent of another 2.5 mills to finance the school program. He pointed out that this was a "one shot" deal and a similar amount would not be available for future use.

A $150,000 loan, based on anticipated state aid was awarded to the Old Kent Bank and Trust Company, on a low interest bid of 3.25 per cent.

The board tabled until a later date, the request of a new group seeking to operate a summer school theater for use of the school's multi-purpose room and the use of the stage.

Board members indicated that no action can be taken on the request until the school's summer program has been developed.

Church to return to 5 p.m. worship service

Beginning this coming Sunday, October 29, the Ada Community Reformed Church will again move its Evening Worship Service from 7 p. m. to 5 p. m. through the winter months until Easter next April.

The Church tried it as an experiment last January, February and March and found it so successful that a vote was taken just recently to extend the time to include all the winter months. Among the many advantages of such an early service is the fact that families may worship together and still have the young children in bed early for school the next day.

Weather and winter driving are also factors involved. So if you want to put your children to bed early and still worship as a family on Sunday night, if you want to have guests over for the evening and still go to Church on Sunday evening; if you want to drive to Church while it is still light and you want to attend an Evening Worship Service and still have a leisurely evening meal, come and join us for the 5 p. m. winter evening worship service.

George Kraft succumbs at 91

George W. Kraft, age 91, of 2485 Kraft Avenue, SE, passed away Wednesday, October 25 at his son's residence, where he has been making his home for the past few years.

Funeral services were held on Friday afternoon at the Jonkhoff Funeral Home in Grand Rapids, with the Rev. Donn Doten officiating.

Mr. Kraft is survived by one son, Donald of Cascade; two grandsons, Roger and Bruce, both of Cascade; one sister, Mrs. Clayton (Sara) Furness of Grand Ledge; and several nieces and nephews.

Following the services, interment was made in Lakeview Cemetery.

Food prepared over outdoor fire

Besides being busily engaged in their outdoor clean-up campaign, there was time for Scout crafts, games, fun and that wonderful taste of food prepared over an outdoor fire. Troop 334 meets each Monday evening, 7 to 8:30 p.m., in Fellowship Hall of Cascade Christian Church. Boys, eleven years of age and older, are invited to take membership with the Troop and to share in the numerous activities of an active Boy Scout Troop.

Luther League elects officers

The Luther League of the Trinity Lutheran Church held their election of officers for the 1967-68 season—president, Donald Eckberg; vice-president, William Edgerton; secretary, Marlan Heine; and treasurer, Mary Wahn.

The Luther Leaguers have also accepted an invitation from the Youth Group of Mayflower Congregational Church to meet with them on Sunday, November 12, to hear William Dempsey of Channel 13. The meeting will be a special event for leaguers.

A delegation of seven Luther Leaguers from Trinity and two from Prince of Peace Lutheran Church spent the week end on a retreat. The theme of the retreat was "Youth Ministry."

The discussion was led by the conference center and camp director, the Rev. John Miller.

Adults who accompanied the young people were Miss Kay Olson, Mr. Merrill Block, and Egon Kelting.

Ada firemen to treat on Halloween

Members of the Ada Township Fire Department will open trick and treat headquarters at the Ada Town Hall on Halloween night, Tuesday, October 31.

'Sit in' set at Forest Hills

Saturday, November 18, a "sit in" will be held at the Forest Hills' high school.

Parents don't get all excited, it's not the usual type of "sit in", but a variety show put on by the students of the high school and some faculty members.

The theme "sit in" comes from the idea that everyone will be seated in a circle on the floor, no chairs allowed.

The individual performers will be in a circle in the round and groups will present their skits on stage.

Watch for more details.

Ushers' Club to present dance

St. Robert's of Newminster Ushers' Club will hold its 15th annual dance Saturday, November 4, in the parish hall.

Music will be furnished by Ray Moore's Thornapple River Marching and Chowder Society band. The dance will start at 9:30 p. m.; tickets are $2 per couple and includes refreshments.

Everyone in the community is invited to attend this annual affair.

Opens new quarters

The new quarters of the Kent County Unit of the American Cancer Society at 23 Ottawa, NW, was open to the public on October 25 and 26, according to Mrs. Joseph Connell, Executive Director of the Unit.

The new quarters are in the same building as the old, the Helmer Building, but the Unit has moved from cramped basement offices to a spacious main floor arrangement with a large central area and eight service rooms.

The quarters were financed by a specific anonymous contribution. No general contributions were used.

To attend convention

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Blaine of 1545 Spaulding, SE, will be at the state convention for the Michigan Society of Crippled Children and Adults (your Eastern Seal Society) at Dearborn October 28 and 29.

All of the money collected will be sent to the United Nations' Children's Fund for sick and hungry children throughout the world.

Please give generously, when these young people come to your home. The Sevates will have identification canisters and literature, so you will know who they are.

In case you are not in an area which will not be canvassed & would like to donate to this need, please send a check made out to UNICEF to Ada Congregational Church, Ada, in care of Sevates.

Wing-Ding October 28 annual dinner, dance

The annual Thornapple River Association's Wing-Ding will be Saturday evening, October 28, at St. John's Church Camp on Bridgewater Drive, 7:30 to 8:30.

Fun and games with sensational prizes, plus cider and doughnuts, 8:30 to 9:30. A buffet supper will feature turkey and ham.

From 9:30 to 11:30, dancing to the music of Ray Moore and his Thornapple River Marching and Chowder Society band will be held.

Report cards...

Reports were handed out on Wednesday, October 25 to the students in the Forest Hills Public School system.

Parents are urged to check with their children, if they haven't brought one home yet.

Friday's King Queen reign over 1967 festivities

The pagentry and drama of the 1967 Forest Hills Homecoming was enhanced by the first Ranger win in recent history. The evening was a complete success.

Half-time activities were colorful and interesting as usual. The Sophomore's won top place with their huge float which featured a yellow and brown lion who regally and gracefully wagged his tail.

In second place was a float created by the members of the junior class. The hard-working Freshmen came in third, leaving the seniors in last place. Fortunately, there was none of the hazing among the classes which marred last year's homecoming.

The homecoming king and queen, who's names had been carefully kept secret until half-time, were presented with their court to the homecoming crowd.

King Ryan Ashley escorted Queen Kim Fisher as she was crowned by last year's queen, Linda McCormick. Miss Fisher was presented with a beautiful bouquet of red roses.

A note of humor was injected into the proceedings when a large brown and white Britany Spaniel decided to escort Pam Seccome onto the field, then joined into the festivities with all the poise of a star performer. The canine show-off soon tired of the spotlight and trotted happily off the field.

The homecoming dance held after the game featured the music of the Frederic's.

In taking care of new customers, don't neglect the old ones.

Baseball star will address youth groups

The guest speaker for the combined Youth Groups of Cascade Christian Church, Sunday, October 29, at 5 p. m. will be Phil Regan, star pitcher with the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Junior and senior high young people from the church and the community are being invited to attend.

Regan, who lives in the Forest Hills area is a dedicated Christian, as well as an outstanding athlete. The youth are working for a record crowd.

A twenty-five cent supper snack will be served those attending, and dismissal is scheduled for 7 p. m.

Freshman team to face Hudsonville

The Forest Hills Freshman team will meet the Hudsonville freshman Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock on the local gridiron.

Coach Ben Endins' boys have won only one game this year. However, a number of his boys have moved up to the Reserve team, and these gaps have been hard to fill.

Fathers' Night

The annual Father's Night will be held at the Roger's Varsity football game on Friday, November 3.

All fathers of varsity football team members will be honored at the game, and at a party sponsored by the Varsity Club.

The party will be held following the game in the school's gymnasium.

Donates screen to school; sets film series

The Congregators of the Ada Congregational Church will present their third "Travel and Adventure Series" starting November 11, in the Forest Hills High School Auditorium.

This series has been of high interest to this area and the programs are excellent in educational and entertainment value. The Congregators have donated a new screen to the Forest Hills high school which will make the movies clearer and more vivid.

Also each artist who shows and narrates his adventure will be using a new very powerful projector, which will show every movie four times plainer on the screen than before.

The 1967-68 season will include Austria, Mexico, London, the Canadian Far West, Jungle Adventure, and the Pacific Northwest.

For more information and tickets call Mrs. R. Collins, OR 6-2631, or Ada Congregational Church.

There is free and ample parking available. Proceeds from the Travel and Adventure series goes toward the Church Building Fund, for the new religious education addition.

Senior high open house

Forest Hills Senior high open house will be held on Tuesday, November 7, at 7 p. m. Parents are requested to report to the gymnasium for a brief orientation session led by Howard Dalman, high school principal.

This is an excellent opportunity for parents to learn about their sons or daughter's curriculum and to meet with their teachers. At the conclusion of the classroom meetings refreshments will be served in the multi-purpose room by the Forest Hills Parent-Teacher Co-ordinating committee, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Robert Witzel.

Mrs. Witzel will be assisted by Mrs. John DeVries, Mrs. Arthur BanderBaan, Mrs. Dale Krueger, Mrs. Donald Atkinson, Mrs. William Russ and Mrs. R. E. VanSlysters.

Greeting parents at the door will be Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Schooley, Mr. and Mrs. James Shuster, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Witzel and Dr. and Mrs. R. E. VanSlysters.

Mrs. VanSlysters, president of the Forest Hills Parent-Teacher Co-ordinating Committee, urges all parents to attend, "after all, this makes for better parent, teacher, student understanding."

All...of us at JACKSON MOTOR SALES wish to "Thank You" LOWELL AND ALL THE SURROUNDING COMMUNITIES on our Eleventh Anniversary

It was eleven years ago this month that we became the Dodge dealer in Lowell. At that time we felt that the motoring public was entitled to an "automotive center" where you could purchase automobiles and receive service in an honest and dignified manner. This was our goal then and we are continuing this same policy today. Recently, we were one of seven DODGE dealers in the entire United States to be presented with a Quality dealer award for the NINTH consecutive year.

It is with a great deal of pleasure and pride that we publicly give our thanks to all of you who have made it possible for us to have delivered over seven thousand vehicles during these past 11 years. We also cordially invite the public, as well as our customers, to stop and see our facilities, the new 1968 Dodge cars and trucks, as well as our inventory of Dependable Used Cars, which are always thoroughly conditioned for your driving pleasure and safety.

Once Again...

"Thank You" Sincerely

We are looking forward to seeing you

Coveting

The last of the Ten Commandments deals with the subject of coveting. God commands us: "Thou shalt not covet thy neighbor's house; thou shalt not covet thy neighbor's wife, nor his man-servant, nor his maid-servant; nor his ox, nor his ass, nor anything that is thy neighbor's." Exodus 20:17. This commandment deals with the attitudes of our hearts; it reaches down to our inner emotions; and it probes the desires of the innermost recesses of our hearts. Obviously only God can issue and enforce a command of this kind. The definite prohibitions of this commandment are applicable to and relevant in our modern life: "Thou shalt not covet thy neighbor's HOUSE; thou shalt not covet thy neighbor's WIFE." And don't forget the closing words: "Nor ANYTHING that is thy neighbor's."
Coveting is not the same as desiring. Coveting is evil desire, because it is inordinate, out of proportion; it is unrighteous, contrary to God's law; it is envious in not wanting the neighbor to have what is rightfully his, "THOU SHALT NOT COVET"—is the voice of God speaking to us today! Are you listening to God's voice? Do you have respect for law and order, because you respect God and His holy Law? Are you trying to obey God's commandments?

Draft appeal folder issued

Selective Service wants every registrant to know his right to appeal his draft classification.
Colonel Arthur A. Holmes, the state director, has provided all Michigan local boards with a new pamphlet on "Taking Appeals from Selective Service Classifications." Copies are free to all who ask.
Registrants, dependents and employers are constantly reminded of appeal rights following each classification. Most problems for local boards result because no one lets the board know the situation until the registrant is practically on his way to the army, Colonel Holmes reported.
He said if a registrant will use his right to request a personal appearance with his board and to appeal to the State Appeal Board, most cases will be resolved with equity and justice for all concerned.
Recently Selective Service extended appeal periods from 10 to 30 days following classification. All that is required for appeal is a timely written statement "I appeal" signed by the registrant or other authorized person.
Local boards also have pamphlets explaining how the draft system operates and information for employers who wish to request temporary deferments of key employees in critical occupations. These pamphlets may also be obtained from state draft headquarters in Lansing.

THE COUNTRY SQUIRE
By Al Pardee
"The secret of happiness is renunciation."
—Andrew Carnegie

Contrary to the opinion of some editors the readership of this column is not limited to saints and angels; neither is it written by one who claims an understanding of the essential premises to happiness. The reverse of both is more likely the rule.

And let's admit, too, that although endowed by nature with a capacity to achieve some measure of the better life we are all still searching for more of the same. Can we posit as valid the idea that happiness rests on the principle and practice of the art of living, as well? Then we can conclude, too, that life is a process of creative self-sculpture. You and I have a common bond. The span from page to person is close and we are one in hope and charity.

It has been said that Happiness is like the collar button rolled under the bed—ineluctable as electricity, evanescent as melody, and as variable as speed and time. Since no thoroughly occupied man is ever totally miserable we might enjoy searching for this joy of living.

Dr. W. Beran Wolfe once suggested that we all have one of three basic attitudes towards life: (1) That of the turnip, in which one vegetates at the lowest level consistent with humanity; (2) the attitude that life is a business, a matter of successful competition, the choice of the animal world, or (3) the underlying principle of which is "What can I put into it?"
Dr. Wolfe built his approach to happiness on the precept that living is a fine art, that happiness is a quality of successful artistry in living.

We see many turnips. Life abounds with human puppy dogs and earthworms who never get much beyond being born, eating, sleeping, maturing, mating, growing old and dying. Their life is one calm contentment, undisturbed by books, ideas, or the problems of the world.

We know many, too, whose first question of life seems to be "What do I get out of it?" or "How much is it worth to me?" The pitiful truth is that many of us, to our shame, are still exercising the animal choice between savage victory and abject defeat.
The philosophy of aggressive competition and personal efficiency is based on exploitation of the weak. It cripples because it makes one's survival contingent upon the destruction of the weaker.

When we inquire into why history remembers best those who have contributed most richly to the welfare of their fellow men we see their genius was never one of aggressive self-seeking. The happiest people, it seems, are those who have come to know that Happiness is a quality of successful artistry in living, understood as a seeking of the welfare of others as well as that of themselves.

Two thousand years ago Socrates taught that "virtue may be learned." We see that happiness is not the reward of affection; rather it is the mastery of understanding nature, of learning the art of modifying raw material into meaningful design, of acquiring purpose and goals, and of being possessed of courage.

To some it may be a quotation on the Stock Exchange but to Byron happiness was born a twin, something to be shared. To Horace Mann to speak of happiness when never subdued by obedience to a principle was as when the blind speak of colors. Austin O'Malley, American oculist, said happiness is the harvest of a quiet eye. A. S. Hardy called it the legitimate fruitage of love and service.

Things to come

A manufacturer of chemicals is introducing an aerosol spray that permits a housewife to install creases in durable press fabrics at home. The maker concedes that an existing crease may not be removed with the spray, but says a fabric treated with the product can be given a crease as durable as one made by an apparel company. The garment need only be sprayed lightly, allowed to dry and then sewn in the case of a new cuff or hem, and then pressed.

New York is really a "fun city." A psychedelic nightclub allows barefoot Manhattanites to enter at a 50-cent discount. Shod customers must ante up the full $4.50 cover charge.

Time for flu shots is here

A report that substantial numbers of cases of type A2 influenza is expected during the late 1967 and early 1968 season was issued by Dr. W. B. Prothro, County Health Officer.
Dr. Prothro said that the anticipated outbreak is based on the fact that type A influenzae have not occurred to any great extent since 1965. Type A outbreaks generally occur every 2 to 3 years.

Persons in groups known to experience most severe reactions to epidemic influenza were urged to contact their family physician for immunization now available.
Dr. Prothro said that the high risk groups include persons in older age groups (particularly those over 65), persons with chronic diseases, patients in nursing homes, hospital personnel and others whose occupation or health would be jeopardized by the illness.

Samantha eyes cake decorating; visits class

Dear Polly and David:
Busy, busy people around here. Everyone is taking a class or teaching something or starting a business or doing volunteer work. No one is standing still. You can do so many things right here in our own community. There are dancing classes, ceramics, painting and sculpting and now Carrol MacInnes and his family have moved back on Burton in Cascade and he is giving music lessons again.
But probably the sweetest class going is Rosemary Foster's Cake Decorating course. I stopped around for the first lesson and I was amazed at how much the students were learning. You probably know most of them; Helen Turrittin, Lois Gurney, Jean Bates, Earlene Phillips, Marlene Hubbard, Janet Thompson, Joan Lupton, Elsie Decker, Pauline Van Strien, Cindy Behm, Berta King, and Grace Kay. They were laughing, drinking coffee and having a fine old time.

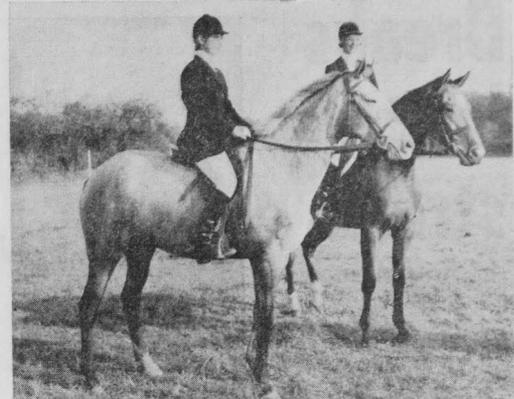

That very first day Rosemary had them taking the mystery out of the intricate art by writing fancy greetings and decorating with curlicues and squiggles. They worked with "live" frosting on paper plates with parchment paper in metal tubes. Before I left they were even drawing pictures of rag dolls and clowns and automobiles. But I learned that you have to squeeze with just the right pressure and set up a perfect rhythm in order to do a cake well. Since this is an eight week course, they should be mighty accomplished before it is Christmas.

Rosemary is an old pro. She and her mother, Mrs. Geib, have been at this for fifteen years. She even taught at the YWCA. She says that her students are usually housewives that want to learn to decorate cakes for fun. It's fascinating, all right, and should bring admiration from their families & friends.
Rosemary has an impressive box of fifty-six metal tubes to make flowers and leaves and what all, but she says she seldom uses them all. For her pupils, she orders only a few because they can learn a large number of styles with the basic tubes.

Ralph Foster, Rosemary's husband, makes little sketches for her whenever she needs something special. She has a file of photographs of cakes she has done and I wish you could see the tall, elaborate, elegant creations. Some of them look like magic fairyland castles. She has decorated hundreds for weddings and anniversaries as well as clever birthday cakes for children.

Incidentally, speaking of decorating, that splendid Halloween painting on the window of the Cascade Pharmacy was executed by Sandy Dryer and Nancy Grochowalski.
I'll write to you next week about the new Chair Caning Shop I found right here in our own baliwick.

National show beckons riders

Equestriennes Debbie Miller and Jean Metzger are scheduled to carry the Kentree Riding Stable colors in the famous Madison Square Garden National Horse Show during the week of October 31 through November 7. Hours of practice with their horses, Whisper and Secret Way, have culminated in this once-in-a-lifetime opportunity.

Honor after honor has come the way of three hard working Kentree Riding Stable students this Fall.

Debbie and Charles Miller, children of Dr. and Mrs. H. C. Miller of Sparta and Jean Metzger, daughter of Mr. & Mrs. L. S. Metsker, Beechwood Dr., SE, showed outstanding horsemanship and took several trophies and ribbons at the Bloomfield Open Invitational Fall Hunter Trial Show held Saturday and Sunday.

Jean placed first in equitation on the flat and over the fences, second in hunter hack, 14 to 17 years, third in handy hunter and fourth in working hunter hack. In a champion class of equitation over the fences, she placed second.

Debbie placed first in working hunter hack, second in equitation on the flat, second in hunter hack, 14 to 17 years, and fourth in the champion class of equitation over the fences.

Debbie's horse, Whisper, was chosen champion horse of the show.
Charles placed first in the under 13 working hack and first in the handy hunter. The team of Charles Miller and Jean Metzger placed third in the hunt team.
But all of this is just leading up to their participating in the most fabulous indoor horse show of the nation, the Madison Square Garden National Horse Show held every fall in New York City; this year from October 31 to November 7.

To perform in this event is like playing in the World Series and the girls carry with them the good wishes of their friends and family, as well as the reputation and fame of the Kentree Riding Stable.

Breaks losing streak

The Forest Hills Rangers won their first game in 18 consecutive contests Friday night, by defeating Lee 18-13 in a non-conference game. The game was witnessed by a large homecoming crowd.

The Rebels scored first in the second quarter when Dean Ross scampered eight yards to cap a 70 yard Lee Rebel drive. The Rangers tied the game just before half-time as Bob Vandenberg intercepted a Rebel pass at the Lee 30.

Steve Russ scored on a one yard sneak as the half ended.

The Rangers took advantage of a Lee attempt to run a fake kick on fourth down that failed on the Rebel 29 yard line and Randy Simon scored on a one yard plunge making the score 12 to 6.

Back of the Week

Jim VanderBaan, again chosen back of the week by Coach Bob Dangel, has been one of the outstanding members of this year's Ranger squad.

In Friday night's game, against Lee, Jim carried the ball six times for a gain of 53 yards, made 11 tackles, and blocked an attempted extra point kick made by Lee.

Jim, a senior this year, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur VanderBaan of 2788 Knapp Street, NE.

In the fourth quarter, both teams scored touchdowns. The Rangers scored when the Lee punter fumbled the center snap and when he tried to kick the ball on the run, the ball slipped off his foot and Randy Simon scooped the ball up and romped in for an easy score from 12 yards away.

Rebels

The Rebels came back with several passes to score their second touchdown. Tom Jeltz throwing accurately took his team to the 11 yard line where Dean Ross ran it in off-tackle.

The final point was kicked by Lee and the score stood 18 to 13.

Back of the Week

Randy Simon became a hero this week when in the course of Friday night's game with Lee, he made two touchdowns and helped carry the Forest Hills Rangers to their first victory in a long time.

Randy also was responsible for a gain of 108 yards in 21 times with the ball.

A member of the junior class, Randy is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Simon of Ada Drive, SE.

Eagles

The Forest Hills Rangers confident after defeating Lee, will travel to Hudsonville Friday to take on the Eagles.

The Rangers will take an 0-4 conference record into the game, while the Eagles are 2-2 in the O-K Red Division.

The Ranger coaching staff was happy with the victory over Lee, and are confident the Rangers can win over Hudsonville and Rogers.

The Forest Hills' squad will lean heavily on the throwing of quarterback Steve Russ, and the running of Randy Simon.

Kathye Werner, Lee Johnson exchange vows

A reddingote style wedding gown of Chantilly lace and tulle was chosen by Miss Kathye Gwynn Werner for her marriage October 14, in Asbury Methodist Church of Traverse City, to Lee Kristian Johnson.

The bridal gown featured a sleeveless tulle dress and coat of Chantilly lace with empire waist, short sleeves, and full chapel train. A double pearl crown, inset with lace and illusion veiling, caught her bridal veil. She carried a cascade arrangement of white carnations and yellow sweetheart roses.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Werner of Traverse City, formerly of 2121 Forest Hills, SE, Eastmont, and Henry Johnson, 6584 Ada Drive, SE.

The afternoon ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dale E. Crawford, before an altar enhanced with white chrysanthemums.

The bride's attendants, Miss Sallye Werner, sister, maid of honor, and Miss Nancy Zoellmer and Miss Nancy Littlefair, both of Grand Rapids, bridesmaids, wore identical sheath gowns of pink crepe with empire waist and balloon sleeves.

Large bows of matching pink crepe held their veils of pink illusion, and they carried white carnations intermixed with red roses.

Marc Johnson assisted his brother as best man. Groomsmen were Jay Johnson and Michael May, both of Grand Rapids. Seating the guests were Roger Werner of Lexington, Kentucky, and Robert E. Werner, the bride's brother, of Traverse City.

Following a reception at Shield's in Traverse City, the newlyweds, both 1965 graduates of Forest Hills High School, left on a honeymoon trip to northern Michigan, followed by a trip to Corpus Christi, Texas, where they will make their home.

Featured in magazine Samayo Singers of Forest Hills get international recognition

It's an exciting hunk of news when 14 high schoolers achieve international recognition.

The Samayo Singers of Forest Hills High School have just been informed that a short article about the group and a picture of its members will appear in the November issue of Rotary International Magazine.

This publication goes out to 600,000 members and is read by them and their families in 134 countries. Intoxicating as this is, it wasn't a simple overnight fame, but was brought about through exceptional ability, diligent work and tremendous enthusiasm.

Every one of the boys and girls who make up the group known as the Samayo Singers was selected for having an outstanding voice and understanding of the problems involved.

Although the group was formed only last year, it has between forty and fifty concerts to its credit. Gerrit Lamain, instructor, manager, director, has had no time to count. As word flies around, bookings are easy to find.

Lamain says, "We do not put on a program to educate, we are not trying to make a point; organizations pay us to entertain." This is why eighty to ninety percent of the music sung by the Samayo Singers is familiar. Usually the program consists of light selections with possibly something semi-serious for the finale. Lamain introduces the evening's songs and takes his lead from the audience itself. He "gets the feel" of the audience so that they seem to be participating in the joyous experience as well as the singers.

There is never a "canned" program. But there is never a director out in front or sheets of music obscuring the faces of the students. Lamain feels that this makes for a more professional appearing group. Of course, one of the greatest assets that the group has is its adherence to uniform clothing.

The girls have dresses alike with neither too short nor too long skirts. The boys wear matching blazers, pants, socks and shoes. And this attention to detail has paid off in a mounting stack of letters of appreciation.

For instance, an excerpt from a letter from Rapistan says, "following our meeting, we asked our members 'what did you most enjoy about this meeting?' 'Samayo Singers' was given most often in answer." From Old's Manor, "We are appreciative of the 'nice things' such as good grooming, courtesy and the attitude of the choir." And there are many more in a portfolio attesting to "thank you" from a wide variety of audiences.

When the group was formed, the members go their first opportunity to display their talents when they offered to clean tables at a dinner meeting for the Lowell Showboat cast. In return for their work, they were allowed to sing. "Now," says Lamain, "we get invited to dinner and asked to sing afterward. I think we have graduated."

Those presently in the group are: Sue Shea, Barb Welch, Linda Warnock, Norma Crum, Linda Parrish, Beverly Upton, Chris Drum, Cindy Vandenberg, Phil Roehl, Jerry Bowman, Kai Sorenson, Dave Dunlap, and Dave Shakelton.

Ten of these students will graduate in the spring which means the group will have to be built again. For that reason, Mr. Lamain began a Junior Samayo chorus this fall. Being in that group does not necessarily mean that a pupil will go into the senior singers next year, but it is an honor to have been selected.

It also means a great deal of work. The singers are first given sheet music for their own individual parts which they take home and practice for several hours. Then the group is brought together and the voices are blended. They usually rehearse two to three hours a week, minimum. The selections are generally chosen by the group and include old favorites for all ages.

Songs include numbers such as Cole Porter melodies, gospels, "Unchained Land," "Born Free," "I Believe," and "When the Saints Come Marching In."

One of the most challenging experiences for the group took place when the members were asked to help make a commercial for a national oil company. The members spent hours in the studio trying to use their voices in an unusual combination that would produce a theme for the sponsor. A tape was made which may or may not "go national," but appreciation for the intricacies of advertising is a partial reward.

Monies from their performances are used to buy more sheet music and outfit the students. This is truly an extra-curricular activity, but one of which all Forest Hills should be proud. Mr. Lamain demands high performance levels and if he cannot find enough good voices next year, especially boy's voices, he will have to look to other schools.

Anyone is welcome to try out. hidden talents should be developed. Although the rumor that the Samayo Singers might go to Mexico City now has to be squashed, still there is a possibility that they will go to Honolulu next year.

This group could one day be as famous as "The Young Americans," they have the talent and the spirit.
