Residents protest neglect on M-21, Accident Alley

Another accident on M-21 west of Ada near the Baker Book House, occurred Friday, November 3, during daylight hours. The driver lost control of his car and ran through several guard rails. Some accidents are due to carelessness on the part of the driver and some are due to road conditions. But M-21 is a death trap even for the careful driver, who is constantly on the alert to the hazards of M-21.

While less traveled, less treacherous highways in thinly populated areas of the state are being reconstructed, the wreckage continues on "accident alley," as M-21 has come to be called by many citizens familiar with the alarming accident and death rate along this antiquated state highway.

Official records show that, on an average, one persons dies and 18 to 20 others are injured every three months as they attempt to negotiate the blind curves and hills that mark this route from Grand Rapids to Lowell.

So far in 1967, fifty-six collisions have involved a total of 88 vehicles damaged. Though they admit critical deficiencies in the existing highway between these two cities, the Michigan Department of State Highways continues to neglect widening & relocating this route on the grounds that they do not have the funds and that conditions do not yet warrant giving priority to such reconstruction.

"Priority" for such improvements is, in theory, granted on the basis of need established by sufficiency ratings prepared by highway engineers. These sufficiency ratings, and corresponding traffic and accident studies, show M-21 to be one of the most critical highways in the state. Yet, it remains completely neglected with the exception of some minor resurfacing, which, as highway officials confirm, is the least important element of safety.

Citizens of Lowell, Ada, and Grand Rapids Township, it is reported, are becoming increasingly alarmed at the apparent disregard for safety along M-21. They urge that area residents write to state officials directing their attention to the vital need for improvement on this perilous traffic route.

It is time, says an area spokesman, the Michigan State Highway Department follows the advice of its own engineers and local law enforcement officials and plan for the immediate improvement of M-21 to halt the terrifying increase in traffic deaths and injury.

Places high at horse show in New York

Jeanne Metsker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Metsker of Beechwood Drive, SE, and her horse, Secret Way, have returned from New York City, where they showed in the 84th National Horse Show in Madison Square Garden, October 31 to November 7.

Their greatest achievement was placing fifth in the American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals hunter seat medal class final. They also placed third in the $1,000 junior working hunter stake and 4th in a green confirmation hunter class, that was open to junior and professional riders. They received calls for eighth and ninth place in other hunter classes.

Debbie Miller, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. H. C. Miller of Sparta and her horse, Whisper, also rode in the show. Debbie was among the top fifth of the riders called back for additional tests, where she was eliminated Sunday morning in the junior hunter class over fences, was called 10th in the junior hunter stake class over fences, she placed 9th.

Both girls ride at Kentree School of Horsemanship and are instructed by Mrs. Stuart Cowan, who accompanied the girls to New York.

Experimental and community theatres here

If you have been wondering what's going on in the barn at the Bellline Turkey Farm, the word is out. It is to be a theater.

Five students from Calvin College under the leadership of Edward S. Kernish have taken over the barn and are transforming it into an intimate theater in the round, where contemporary and experimental drama will be produced.

An open house scheduled to be held on Saturday, November 18, will give local theater lovers a chance to see what the boys have come up with. Beginning at 7 p. m. they will have special half-hour shows on the half hour until 11 p. m.

The open house is also a fundraiser with your donations helping to keep the theater from falling by the wayside due to lack of money, that all important ingredient.

All the turkey crate seats will be in place when the grand opening is held on December 2nd. Featured that evening will be Edward Albee's "Zoo Story," a one act drama and an original work.

Named the Edwin Booth Experimental Theater, these young men show initiative and imagination which should mean good theater in the months to come.

And by the way, don't worry about where your next turkey is coming from, for Richard Seppanen who operates the Bellline Turkey Farm indicates that a change in operations made the barn available for leasing. He will remain in the turkey business.

Let's hope the barn has seen its last turkey.

community group

Planning shows along more conventional lines is the new community theatre group being currently organized by Gerrit Lamain.

This group is still searching for a place to put on their shows due to the lack of a decision by the Forest Hills School Board on the group's request to use the all-purpose building during the summer months. The Board tabled the request pending the completion of plans for the summer school program.

While this group is made up for the most part of persons from the Forest Hills area, they plan to expand and will accept anyone who is interested in working on this type of project.

Present plans call for production of two musicals next summer, but before the show can go on problems such as site and financing must be faced.

Anyone interested in joining this group is invited to attend their next organizational meeting which will be held next Monday, November 20, at the Forest Hills high school all-purpose room, 8 p. m.

Mr. Lamain indicates that this is a very important meeting with the firm possibility that decisions will be made on site, dates and a Board of Directors.

Christmas bazaar

There will be a Christmas Bazaar at the Ada Town Hall on Wednesday, November 29, from 9:30 a. m. to 12 noon, sponsored by the Ada Christian School Mothers' Club.

There will be a large variety of home baked goods for sale. Coffee will be served, so invite your friends along. Free nursery care will be available in the Ada Christian Reformed Church basement 9:30 a. m. to 11:30 a. m.

There is nothing that cannot be made worse by the telling.

Honor senior citizens

Cascade Christian Church will honor senior citizens of that church and the community as a whole on Tuesday noon, November 21, when the women of the church will prepare a turkey dinner with all the trimmings for these special guests.

Served free of charge, about seventy persons are expected at this year's dinner, with a number of diners being sent to the homes of invalids and those unable to attend.

Bringing a brief message of thanksgiving at a chapel service, scheduled at 11:30, will be Mrs. John Frye of Sand Lake, Michigan. A member of the Cascade Congregation, Mrs. Frye is also an ordained minister.

Mrs. Ward Geib will be the emcee at the dinner, with Buck Matthews bringing one of his humorous talks to those assembled at the tables.

This dinner has been a tradition of long standing at the church, and a tally of the ages of those attending last year, surpassed a total of five thousand years of living.

An Ecumenical service of Thanksgiving

For the third consecutive year, Msgr. Michael Beahan will be the guest speaker at the annual community service of Thanksgiving at the Cascade Christian Church.

To take place at 9 a. m. on Thanksgiving Day, persons of all churches and creeds are invited to participate in this ecumenical worship service. The presidential thanksgiving proclamation will be read by Al Heemstra, Cascade Township clerk, and an active layman in the Christian Reformed Church.

The scripture lessons and the prayers will be offered by Rev. Fr. John Stanley, jr., of St. Michael's Episcopal Church; & Robert Cueni, associate pastor of Cascade Christian Church will have charge of the balance of the service.

Music will be provided by the adult choir of Cascade Christian Church, under the direction of Robert Achterhof, organist and choirmaster.

Not only is the service ecumenical in nature, but the Thanksgiving offering as well. Traditionally, it has been divided between the Catholic Bishops' Fund and C. R. O. P., which is the Protestant interdenominational overseas relief program.

History was made at Cascade Christian Church two years ago when Msgr. Beahan had the distinction of being the first Roman Catholic priest in Michigan to speak from a Protestant pulpit in a regular worship service of the church.

Selling turtles...

The choir members of Forest Hills high school are also selling turtles in the annual sale being conducted in this area by the Forest Hills Music Association.

In addition to the choir members, the candy is also being sold and distributed by the band members.

Are half the women over fifty bowlegged or do they just look that way when they are shopping?

Exchange student here from Sweden

A home away from home is what exchange student Hans Lundgren has found at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Price, who live on Buttrick Road in Ada.

Hans, who is here attending Forest Hills High School, thru Youth for Understanding Program, has been struck by the many similarities existing between his American home and his own home and family in Lidings, Sweden. Hans' brother, Johan and John Price, both fourteen, are freshmen in high school. Mr. Price and Mr. Lundgren are both lawyers.

One difference is Hans' American sister, Sue, who is a junior at Forest Hills high school. Through Sue and her friends, he is becoming acquainted with the phenomenon of the American teenage girl.

A diversified and interesting person, Hans is looking forward to enjoying his favorite winter sport, skiing, with the Prices this winter. He is also a fine tennis player. Academically he is interested in astronomy, philosophy, electronics, chemistry, history and politics.

Hans applied with the Youth for Understanding Program because he wanted to become even more fluent in his use of English and because he had a desire to visit America and see the country for himself. A well traveled seventeen year old, he has also visited France, Germany, Switzerland, Norway and Denmark.

Ralph Crosby gets promoted; finishes basic

Ralph E. Crosby, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard J. Crosby, 4879 Buttrick Ave., Alto, was promoted to Army private pay grade E-2 upon completion of basic combat training at Ft. Knox, Kentucky, October 27.

The promotion was awarded two months earlier than is customary under an Army policy providing incentive for outstanding trainees.

As many as half the trainees in each training cycle are eligible for the early promotion, based on scores attained during range firing, high score on the physical combat proficiency test, military bearing and leadership potential.

VFW POST TO HOLD A SPECIAL ELECTION NOV. 21

Post 8303, V. F. W. of Lowell, will hold a special election on Tuesday evening, November 21, in their club rooms.

This all-important meeting is open to the membership, and all are urged to be in attendance.

Community Party to be held December 9th

Plans have now been completed by the various committees for the 11th annual Cascade community party to be held this year at the Guest House, 634 Stocking, NW, in Grand Rapids. Dancing, door prizes and a buffet dinner with lots of fun for all will begin at 9:30 p. m. and last until 1:30 a. m.

Beer and mix will be furnished at the party by the committee but other exotic refreshments should be brought by those attending. The buffet dinner will be a gourmet's delight as always and will be served at the end of the evening's festivities.

The band will play all the tunes, old and new, for your dancing pleasure and the evening should be one to remember. We have many fine door prizes and those lucky ticket holders will receive their prizes at drawing held throughout the evening.

Those who have made advanced ticket reservations must pick up their tickets by the 25th of November from Marge Jones at the Villager in Cascade. Since ticket numbers are limited to 250 those with reservations should pick up their tickets before this date, as general ticket sales begin on the 27th of November. Price of the tickets is $6 per couple, and should be paid for at the time you pick up your tickets.

If you wish your tickets mailed to you, please send your check to Marge Jones at the Villager in Cascade and she will send them to you. There will be no ticket sales at the door the evening of the dance.

Anyone living in Cascade Township or having a business in the township is invited to attend, but please purchase your tickets early, so as to help the ticket committee get your tickets to you on time.

Committee members working this year to bring to you the best community ever are:

Mr. and Mrs. W. Stellin, Mr. and Mrs. R. Dowling, Mr. and Mrs. W. Jones, Dr. and Mrs. D. Ellinger, Mr. and Mrs. S. Baker, Mr. and Mrs. D. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. A. Grabarek, Mr. and Mrs. M. Remenak, and Mr. and Mrs. O. Weaver.

We are all hoping to see you at the Guest House the evening of December 9th.

Jack Harrall ends 8 week rocket course

Army Private Jackie R. Harrall, 24, son of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Harrall, sr., 523 Janet St., SE, Grand Rapids, completed an Honest John rocket crewman course October 29 at the Army Artillery and Missile School at Ft. Sill, Oklahoma.

The eight-week course gives each soldier a working knowledge of the preparation and firing of the Honest John rocket. Instruction included map reading, communication and the construction and maintenance of rockets plus their associated equipment.

His wife, Madonna, lives at 6570 Four Mile Road, Ada, Mich.

Nothing is worse than an ignorant teacher.

Cascade Township gives approval for apartment zone shift

Approval has been given by the Cascade Township Planning Commission to a zoning change to permit construction of multi-family dwelling units in connection with a $3 million shopping center-apartment complex.

The request came from the Alco Management Company, representing Danbury, Inc. The developers asked zoning be changed from general business to D-1, special development zone, which permits shopping centers of multiple dwelling or a combination.

The site includes 48.5 acres of which 24 are designed for dwelling units. It is west of Cascade between 28th Street and Cascade Road, SE. Action followed a hearing.

The shopping center part of the complex is being developed by the MDW Corp. Already under construction is a D&W Food Store super market.

After a hearing on a second request to permit erection of multiple family units, the commission named a committee of three to check the proposal.

Baker and VanderVeen proposed erection of 231 units on Kraft Avenue, about a mile north of 28th Street, SE.

Named to the committee were Robert Martin, Bruce Chadwick and Everett Thompson. These men will consider how the proposed development will fit in with the general plan for Cascade Township.

The committee will report at the next meeting, November 27.

Security Officer is impressed with Dirksen's vitality and sincerity

While Senator Everett Dirksen was in Grand Rapids for a speaking engagement, his security officer was Sgt. Don Harrington, Ada Drive, of the Kent Sheriff's Department.

Harrington has escorted a number of dignitaries over the years, but "This was my most enjoyable experience of that kind," he said. "Of course, he has always been one of my favorite people. The three 'older men' I have most admired were Winston Churchill, Carl Sandberg, and Everett M. Dirksen.

And here I was with one of them! Not just meeting him, but spending hours with him. This is when you get to know the mettle of the man."

Harrington first met Sen. Dirksen at the airport on his arrival. "From the moment he stepped off that plane and I heard his unmistakable voice, I was impressed with his vitality and sincerity. He is proud of his country and is a dedicated man.

"It doesn't matter to which party you belong, you know that here is an outstanding patriot." Harrington observed too, "I was especially cognizant of the care that Rep. Jerry Ford gave Sen. Dirksen. I have never known Ford well enough to judge him personally, but there was a rapport and warm affection between them and Dirksen that was noticeable not only during public moments but in private as well. Ford keeps an eye on him and it pleased me that he was so concerned."

Sen. Dirksen had the Governor's Suite at the Pantlin, in here he was, a great man of our times, making history, and behaving in an amiable manner every minute. I have never been treated so nicely by a dignitary as by him."

"I'm not sure that I could be as continually pleasant as he is if I had to lead that life, but here he was, a great man of our times, making history, and behaving in an amiable manner every minute. I have never been treated so nicely by a dignitary as by him."

Urges discontinuance of license bureau

William Worst, Chairman of Kent County Safety Committee of the Kent County Board of Supervisors has said that his committee has recommended the discontinuance of the Drivers' License Division of the Sheriff's Department.

The reason for this was given as a savings for the county. However, it was based on figures in the budget which do not reflect all of the additional services provided by the personnel employed in that division. For instance, the work not only includes the processing of drivers' licenses, but also the liquor, gun and concealed weapon applications and involves them in other jobs related to all functions of the jail, the inmates, and the collection of monies for the Department.

In other words, this Bureau is serving the public in a number of ways which are not reflected in the profit and loss columns. No one likes to lose money, but will the taxpayer actually gain from this move, or will he be losing more?

If, for instance, the citizens must now go to State Police Bureaus in order to get a driver's license, who will be paying those employees? Although it will no longer show on the township budget, will we not be paying the same or higher salaries through State channels? What is the advantage in shifting this function?

If the Safety Committee is planning to add more men to the Sheriff's Department, the Sheriff is unaware of this decision at the present.

Sheriff Ron Parsons points out that this division serves a basic need of the entire community. In the first ten months of 1967, over 27,000 people were served by this department. Therefore, the reduction in personnel, should the operation be discontinued, would be small. It is now up to the Board of Supervisors to determine whether this will benefit the community or not.

YOUTH PROGRAMS FOR TOMORROW'S LEADERS

MICHIGAN YOUNG PEOPLE who participate in 4-H—Youth programs find learning can be fun. These programs help them to know themselves better and to prepare for their future. Many programs are those which young people themselves have requested - in career exploration, science, decision making, public and international affairs. In Michigan, 4-H Club work is the major phase of Extension youth programs and is designed for young people between 9 and 18 years of age. Youth plan and evaluate their own projects and activities under the guidance of parents and Michigan's 15,000 volunteer leaders. 4-H—Youth Programs are part of the Cooperative Extension Service of Michigan State University with offices located in each county. (top-right) 4-H projects and activities open doors to life-long interest and future careers. (top-left) 4-H members enjoy learning in an informal setting. ### Dream One

Gone are the bright leaves of the black walnut tree, those of the darker cherry, of the yellow birch, of the sugar maple; all their autumn splendor has been lost in the pungent wisps of the twilight fire. Ah, how I loved the smell!

Those leaves were of clear gold, of orange, of rich vermilion. I experienced a great calm, psychedelically speaking. But where once the crimson and the purple had covered the boughs I see nothing now but stark, bare limbs reaching unclothed to the dark grey sky, so pitiful, so wantonly subject to the cruel cold, to the icy winter wind. But Spring will come again for me!

Dream Two

There stands the white pine, so tall, so stately. The hemlock spruce is near and by it rises its coniferous brother, the long-fibred Douglas Fir. Nearby, too, grows the Arbor-vitae, whose larger cousin is the Canoe Cedar from which the Northwest Indians carved their famous totems and their long war canoes.

This is the season when the arbor-vitae or northern white cedar also gives up its leaves which are composed of scales lying one on the other like tiles on a roof. Each scale has a gland from which is extracted an oil which no synthetic in the world can match for clean, fresh odor.

Cedarleaf oil readily dissolves in alcohol and ether. It is used in the manufacture of spray deodorants, disinfectants and insecticides, as well as paint, cleaners and polishes.

Cedarleaf oil distillation is principally found in northern New York, Vermont and Canada, where it is a part-time off-season industry on the smaller farms. Total production in the nation is less than 40,000 pounds a year. Only the little trees are harvested.

While I watched they burned the young twigs of the arbor-vitae; there was a balsamic, clean smell.

Dream Three

I'm probably the world's best tree and tree-leaf smoke sniffer. I even believe it beats pot!

Permanent shaves are being offered males by a beauty salon on New York's East Side. The salon's owner maintains that a man's beard can be removed completely by electrolysis.

Quick action saves woman

Last week Mrs. Suzanna (Sally) Gray of Lowell, although injured in a bad car accident, was narrowly saved from losing her life by the quick action of two teen-agers. The very same boys she crashed her car to avoid.

Joel Wittenbach, 14, and his brother Jan, 12, were riding a tractor on Cascade Rd. near Pratt Lake Ave. when Mrs. Gray's car topped the hill just behind them. She skidded to the left & lost control as she steered into a ditch to keep from hitting the tractor.

Although thrown out of her car, she has told relatives that it was the boys who saved her from burning with it. The force of ejection left her without breath. She says her lungs felt as though they had collapsed and she couldn't gasp for air. She says she was about to become unconscious beside her overturned and burning car when each boy took an arm and pulled her away from the fire.

This pull which acted as artificial respiration allowed air to return to her lungs. Later the boys took her to her home from where she was taken to Osteopathic Hospital in Grand Rapids.

Harlem Globetrotters at Civic on November 20

The Harlem Globetrotters, kings of the basketball world for the last 42 years, will be showing their talents at the Grand Rapids Civic Auditorium November 20th.

When the traveling Trotters take the floor against the Washington Generals, a band of former outstanding collegiate cagers, it marks the only West Michigan appearance of the year for the cagers, formerly owned by the late Abe Saperstein.

This year's edition includes the talented and world famous Meadowlark Lemon, who has thrilled millions with his antics for the last 12 years. The 32 year old cager, father of two sons and three daughters, has added numerous routines to his playing and comedy acts.

Other famous Trotters include Freddie Neal, master dribbler; Mel Davis, 6-5 strong man on the boards; Bob Ashton, who teams with Meadowlark in the comedy sketches; and Robert Hunter, one of the newer players on the squad.

The Trotters have turned back many of the leading professional and collegiate teams in the world in 41 years of barnstorming. Last year the Trotters won 167 regular season games in succession.

When the Trotters move into Grand Rapids for the one-night attraction, they will bring a record of 8,966 victories against only 322 defeats, a record not equaled by any team in the world.

Safety is year-round project for 4-H youth

Well over a half million 4-H Club youth are actively engaged in safety projects, estimates the National 4-H Service Committee. Projects cover farm & home, machinery, recreation, & traffic, fire and health.

Accidents know no season, nor are they confined to any one age group. In the U. S., accidents are the leading cause of death among all persons ages 1 to 37. Not only do 4-H members learn safe practices in their day-to-day living, but they influence their families and communities to be more safety-minded year-around.

Individual 4-H clubs take on community projects such as clean-up and health campaigns and aid to the Red Cross. They cooperate with law enforcement officers and city officials in accident and fire prevention drives.

Another effective activity is the hazard hunt. This may cover certain areas in the town; a group of farms and homes, public buildings or parks. When the hazards are found, the 4-H'ers take steps immediately to eliminate or correct them.

Records of personal safety achievement are reviewed annually by club leaders and extension workers in charge of 4-H. Best and most effective safety projects are rewarded by General Motors, the national 4-H Safety program sponsor for 23 years.

MSU plan combats teacher dropouts

More than half of the nation's beginning teachers become dropouts after their first two years in the profession, according to a recent study at Michigan State University.

But the same study reveals that an MSU plan for teacher training, the Elementary Intern Program (EIP), runs counter to the nationwide trend; 93 percent of the EIP graduates are still teaching. The program's first group of graduates entered the profession in 1963.

Dr. W. Robert Houston, director of EIP, said that low salaries and poor working conditions are "two often-mentioned causes for teachers leaving the profession."

"However," he adds, "Another reason cited is that many first-year teachers cannot cope with the often strenuous, taxing, frustrating role of a teacher."

In MSU's intern program, potential elementary teachers are given a gradual induction into teaching through extensive supervision and assistance. EIP operates in cooperation with 10 community college and forty-eight school districts in Michigan.

A. P. Danker artist, designer passes; rites held

A. P. Danker, 57, of 7237 Cascade Road, SE, a local artist and designer of former President Eisenhower's presidential seal, passed away Friday night, November 10, at Butterworth Hospital of pneumonia.

Mr. Danker owned and operated Danker Marqueterie Company at his home, specializing in artistic inlaid lines and designs for furniture. The seal he made for President Eisenhower was the only inlaid presidential seal ever made.

A native of Ottawa County, Mr. Danker lived in the Grand Rapids area all of his life. He attended the Cascade Christian Church, and was a member of the Elks Lodge No. 48, Travelers' Protective Association, and the Thornapple Valley Lions and Businessmen's Clubs.

He leaves his wife, Mayron; a daughter, Janice Mary; a son, Thomas Andrew of Lansing; two sisters, Mrs. Joseph (Florence) Kirby and Mrs. Arthur (Leone) Sweets; two brothers, Jacob and Adrian, all of Grand Rapids; and two grandchildren.

Services were held Monday at the Metcalf Chapel. The Rev. Raymond Gaylord of the Cascade Christian Church officiated.

Cremation followed.

Pheasant contest winners named

Although most pheasant hunters were waiting about the dwindling number of birds, the winners in Gilmore's Sport Shop's annual tail feather contest have no gripes.

First place winner James Meeuwsen of 10890 Grand River Drive in Lowell won a South Bend spin cast reel with a record breaking 24 1/2" tailfeather. There was a tie for second place between Dr. Robert C. Kysler of 13347 Vergennes in Lowell and Donald White of Grand River Drive in Lowell. They both presented tail feathers measuring 23 3/4". They each won a reversible rubber rain parka.

Third place winner Steve Cook of 7205 Thornapple River Drive in Ada took home a folding seat for a tail feather which measured 23 1/2".

Meanwhile, pheasants, or the lack of them, have caused much concern this year. Numbers appear to be down and some are already talking of closing the season.

Last summer's rural mail carrier counts indicated that numbers were about 40 percent below last year. Numbers have dropped due to clean farming and "loss" land to highways and houses.

Many hunters are blaming the high numbers of fox seen in the area for the smaller number of pheasants found when the hunters took the field.

Early returns have borne out pre-season predictions—the pheasant kill is down.

Things to come

A new 10-transistor clock radio features a slide-rule scale, tone control, night-and-day clock dial and an earphone.

The "Merry-Go-Round" rotomounted photograph album will reportedly enable the viewer to enjoy several photos by simply turning a knob. It has transparent plastic window packets to hold photos, making gluing or mounting unnecessary.

A new hair conditioning lotion promises to leave the hair manageable and well conditioned for a week after a five-minute treatment.
