Planning Commission Overwhelmed By Rental Housing Projects

The Lowell Planning Commission was completely overwhelmed by requests from three developers who appeared at Monday night's meeting to ask zoning changes and approval for over 200 units of rental housing for the community.

All three groups have evidently studied the needs of the community and came to the conclusion that the market for this type of housing is needed. Perhaps they did not know that there were so many with the same idea, the planning group for the city will have to decide how much the city can use at this time.

The first group, known as American Dwellings of Kalamazoo, requested a zoning change on a 2 acre parcel on Hunt Street, owned by Ivan Blough. They propose to build 34 units of senior citizen housing, 16 two bedroom units and 16 single bedroom apartments. They also plan two units to meet the needs of wheelchair bound citizens as required under the new housing regulations.

This is not expected to be low-cost housing for senior citizens as rental rates even with subsidy will be $125.00 to $150.00 per unit. This group told the commission that they have built and are operating similar housing in several Michigan cities. Their request for a zoning change for this property will be subject to a public hearing on Monday, December 22.

The second group to appear represented the B&J Real Estate Company of East Lansing. They requested a change of zoning on a 9 acre parcel on Foreman Street across from the Lowell Middle School; this land is now zoned for industrial development.

Their proposal to the commission was for 48 units of rental housing; 36 two bedroom and 12 single bedroom apartments.

They expect to charge $195 to $210 per month for these apartments. Both of these developers expect to finance their development with Farm Home Administration loans. They admitted that this commitment from FHA has not been received as yet.

First P.U.D. Request

The Planning Commission rezoned several areas of the city for Planned Unit Development last spring, the first group to apply to come under this ordinance for land development applied Monday night.

The P.U.D. concept is basically to allow the developer to plan his buildings to fit the site without the necessity of spacing etc., required by typical zoning. The P.U.D. area may have a mixture of single family, multiple family dwellings in a pre-determined mixture to take advantage of irregular land areas.

A group of three partners from Grand Rapids, Alma and Southfield known as K.M.N. appeared to request of a 26 acre development near the east city limits on land owned by Mr. and Mrs. Arie Leeman. The developers propose to build over a three to five year period some 130 units of rental and condominium housing. The present zoning for this area permits such development.

Before a building permit may be issued the developer must provide the complete plans of his development and adhere to this plan throughout the construction of the project. The group will be back to the December 22 meeting with the plans in final shape for planning commission consideration.

It Couldn't Last Forever First Snow Came Monday

Pictured above is the snow covered residence of Norton Johnson, 254 Clover Lane, Saranac. Mr. Johnson is a familiar face around Lowell, being the owner of the J.R.B. Agency at 835 W. Main St., Lowell. Well, as the heading says, "it couldn't last forever". This first snow has been a rude awakening to winter, after all that unusually warm and sunny weather we've had lately. Maybe the skiers and snowmobilers wouldn't agree, but I have a so-so feeling when I think of three or four more months of the white stuff. While outside a minute ago I heard that familiar drone of far off snowmobiles. I guess someone is enjoying it. We'll soon see ski racks on cars, not just the ones that were left on all summer for status. Also, wreckers running all hours of the day and night, rescuing stranded motorists and young couples stuck on some quiet road late at night. And let's not forget the snowballs, after school and weekends it's not safe to be outside. Don't you just love it when you're outside, and cold anyway, then POW, you catch a snowball with your car.

You may get the impression that I don't like winter. Well, there are a lot of good things I could say about Michigan winters, but don't ask me until the first 90 degree day in July.

Miller Resigns From School Board

Above The Board

In an unexpected move Monday night, Dave Miller terminated 4 1/2 years of service on the Lowell Board of Education when he tendered his resignation to be effective on December 9.

The somewhat abrupt decision was explained by Miller as coming about partially because his own business was demanding more of his time. He has lost a lot of the "zip and enthusiasm" he once had. He added that he was certain that there are many people in the community well-suited to serve on the board, possibly one of those parents who ran against him in the last election, and he hopes that anyone who is interested in joining the board will come forward and indicate to the remaining members their desire to serve.

Supt. Leonard Sinke informed board members that they have 20 days following the date of the official resignation to appoint a replacement to serve until the next board election in June.

The first request for early graduation, under the school board's new policy allowing seniors with 20 credits to graduate after the first semester of their senior year, came before the board Monday night but it was not as cut and dried as they would have liked.

Jim Pfalter, an apparently enterprising high school junior, will be short one-half credit of the 20 required and asked for additional permission to take an adult education class in accounting during the fall semester of his senior year in order to meet the requirement.

Pfalter plans on paying his own way through a culinary institute in New York State and needs the extra time for full time employment before he begins his training here in June, 1977. Stating his own case, the youth cited his 3.5 academic average, his participation in both student government and extra-curricular involvement as well as assisting the adult education director in setting up outside student activities.

He said that he felt he had given a lot to the school system and now was requesting that the system do something for him. The board, visibly impressed with the young man's presentation, but somewhat leary at having to bend its first rule, promised an early decision.

Board members were asked to vote on a Kent Intermediate School District request as to whether Lowell is interested in joining a cooperative effort in Driver Training with other districts throughout Kent County.

In turning down the request, members indicated that they felt it was not to Lowell's advantage to participate in the new set-up as proposed at this time. Our cost is now approximately $40 per student driver, $30 of which is reimbursed by the State, while the average cost in Kent County is over $50.

The board did, however, leave the door open to join with other County Districts in a "simulator" program when and if it becomes available. The simulator, a very expensive piece of equipment, allows the student to experience a variety of unexpected over-the-road driving experiences safely by the simulation of the machine.

The slight additional expense would be well worth the change in driving procedure. At that time, the student would still drive with an instructor on the road and by himself on the high school driving range but those times would be cut down to add simulator experience. It is still in the future, however.

Assistant Superintendent Don Kelly next reported briefly on the advantages realized through the Michigan Assessment Program.

This State Testing plan, now in its seventh year, is coming into its own as a true "teaching aid" in performance objectives. What started out as a simple evaluation test has now proven to be an assessment of needs and a definite aid as to what teachers should stress in every area.

Kelly indicated that the Lowell staff and administration is extremely pleased with the resulting program.

Adult Education Head, Rod Smith, asked for and received a change in his budget for this school year. Originally budgeted to handle 50 adult education students, Smith reports his enrollment in high school completion courses alone at 103, more than double the expected enrollees. His total participation in the entire program is an unbelievable 602.

His department is largely responsible for an increase in budgeted state aid which will be forthcoming since the board originally planned their budget around an estimated 3,200 total enrollment and it actually counted out higher than that. Supt. Sinke suggested that the Adult Education Department be given the excess amount that will be realized and that, together with the contingent amount already in the budget for that department, will see it through to the end of the year.

In a pre-Christmas gift gesture, board members also voted themselves out of the December 22 meeting so there will only be one regular meeting next month on December 9.

EARLY MORNING BLAZE DAMAGES MOTOR INN

Fire broke out around 2:00 a.m. Monday morning at the Hospitality Motor Inn at 4041 Cascade Road, S.E., causing an estimated $50,000 in damages.

The blaze, confined to the laundry room, located in the lower level of the administration building, did $10,000 damage to the building and some $40,000 to the laundry equipment.

No one was injured, but four guests were relocated to another wing to avoid smoke. No one was occupying the rooms above the area hit by the fire.

Millcreek Meadows, Long Sought Dream

To live out one's "golden years" in America with a degree of dignity has been a long sought dream to most of our older folks, and for the most part still is. However, there shines a light on the horizon whereby at least a small part of our country's senior citizens have a promise of something better in their declining years. One such "promise" has come true in the community of Saranac with the building of "Millcreek Meadows", a senior citizen complex. This facility is comprised of 32 apartments that are rented to older folks strictly on an ability to pay basis. These units each contain a living room, bedroom, kitchenette and bathroom. Heat, lights, water, stove, refrigerator and disposal are all furnished at a monthly rental rate of from $21.00 to $100.00 a month depending on the individual's income.

Millcreek Meadows has had 100% occupancy since its completion in February of 1973, and according to Director, Cecil S. Morris there is a current waiting list of 90 applications.

The facility was originally a dream child of the Saranac Jaycees back in the early sixties. However, at the time not much consideration was being given to communities as small as Saranac by the Federal Government. In the late sixties federal monies became more readily available, and it was Cecil Morris, the current home director, who became intensely interested in the project and it was he who became the driving force and saw the project through to completion. Others who have faithfully served the project are the Saranac Housing Commission which is comprised of Michael Cahoon, President; Herbert Talcott, Vice President; Ed Compagner, Frank Fisher and DeWayne Downs, Commissioners.

To see these senior citizens enjoying life as they do at Millcreek Meadows is certainly an inspiration to anyone. During the summer months, they collectively plant and tend a huge garden, the produce of which is shared by all. In the community room there is potluck and bingo once a month; three ceramic classes a week; Bible study once a week; noon "chat and chew" and a birthday party each month.

The building is a two story structure which has an elevator; coin-operated laundry and its own post office. For use of the residents, it has a large community room with color television and very comfortable chairs and couches. Many happy hours are spent here visiting, knitting, playing games and generally enjoying each other's company. For those who enjoy reading, there is an up-to-date library with many books, periodicals papers.

Built entirely with Federal funds, this facility provides a way of life for its occupants that this writer wishes all of our senior citizens could enjoy. So often we see our tax dollars being spent so recklessly, that when one has an opportunity to see and write about a project such as this, we become encouraged that the original principals of our great nation do not always go awry.

Those who currently reside at the facility are as follows: Mr. and Mrs. Fred Burleson, Mr. Cecil Simmer, Mr. and Mrs. Gary Rainer, Mrs. Ethel Hammer, Mrs. Orpha Hubbard, Mrs. Nettie Myers, Mrs. Lois Kyser, Mrs. Anna Tapley, Mr. and Mrs. Herb Conner, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Morris, Mr. Delbert Blow, Mrs. Mildred Young, Mrs. Liza Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Rauch, Mrs. Clara Chadwick, Mrs. Jessie Cahoon, Mrs. Lena Possehn, Mrs. Bernice Peters, Mrs. Frances Youngs, Mrs. Mildred Clark, Mrs. Helen Decker, Mrs. Evelyn Jepson, Mrs. Anna Compagner, Mrs. Grace Conner, Mrs. Marguerite Parker, Mrs. Carrie Friedly, Mrs. Millicent Snyder, Mrs. Mildred Crawford, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Shepard, Mr. and Mrs. Paul King.

Bomb Scare

This office learned from the Lowell Police Department that there was a bomb scare at the Lowell High School, Tuesday, November 25. It was reported that at 7:15 a.m., a caller with a young male voice told a woman at the school that there was a bomb in the building set to go off at 8:30 a.m. The students were evacuated to the gymnasium at 8:15 a.m. The school was then searched by police, firemen and faculty members. No bomb was found and students were returned to their classes at 8:35 a.m.

All business people and interested organizations are invited to the next meeting of the Lowell Area Chamber of Commerce on Thursday evening, December 4, at 8:00 p.m. The meeting will be held at that "Special" Place at 215 West Main Street.

A growing membership is being realized at the Lowell V.F.W. Post, No 8303, on Lowell's East Main Street, since the club opened its newly remodeled and expanded facilities in October. Besides the club room facilities, which are opened from 2:00 p.m. on each day, the organization is involved in other community activities.

A part-time, regular schedule Level 2 Custodian is presently needed at the Lowell Post Office. The position, which pays $4.72 per hour, has a schedule of two hours per day, Monday through Friday, and six hours on Saturdays; other times for relief of the full-time custodian. Applicants should apply at the Post Office.

The Lowell Area Jaycees once again have a paper drop box available for the use of area citizens. The new location is 725 East Main Street, next to the bowling lanes. For those who have no transportation, the Jaycees will make a monthly pickup. Please call 897-8566 or 897-8071. Please help preserve our natural resources—recycle your newspapers for use as insulation in the homes of this area's needy.

Residents of Lowell who may have any questions about their "water bills" can them answered on Wednesday's, Thursday's and Friday's, only, at the Lowell Light and Power office at 127 North Boradway Street, by Caroline Hinzman. This policy will remain in effect until further notice.

The Department of Natural Resources says 1976 fishing licenses will go on sale statewide in early December. About 1.5 million licenses should be in the hands of 2,800 local dealers by then. There's one drawback however, under a new law, the prices of licenses have gone up slightly; the first increase since 1968. Next year's licenses cost $5.25 for resident, $10.25 for non-residents and $5.25 for the salmon and trout stamp. A special license for senior citizens cost 75 cents. Purchase of a regular license includes a free license for one's spouse.

The Annual Santa Claus Parade in Lowell will take place on Saturday, December 6, at 2:00 in the afternoon. The parade will start on Thomet Chevrolet on West Main Street and end at the State Savings Bank on East Main Street. Afterwards, Santa will greet the kids in the East side parking lot. The activity is being sponsored by the Lowell Area Chamber of Commerce.

Alto Postal Unit Nearing Completion

Walls and roof of the new Alto Post Office have been completed and work is continuing inside the building which is expected to be completed the first of January.

Edmund Hillen, Alto Postmaster the last 25 years, checks the lettering on the building that will replace the present post office in part of the American Legion hall since 1922.

The new post office is 32x58 feet, double the size of the present one and will have blacktop offstreet parking on the east side and an exit at the rear.

No changes in the staff are expected, says Hillen. Construction was started in early October. Harold Grifhorst & Sons of Grand Rapids is the contractor.

Raiders Open 11th Season

Coach Gene Paxton opened his 11th season with the Grand Rapids Junior College Basketball team this past weekend. Paxton sports an outstanding record and a talented group of freshmen this year, including two former students from the Forest Hills area.

The J.C. Raiders, under Paxton for ten years, have compiled a record of 216-95, with seven seasons of 20 wins or more, and three championship years, including last year's 24-10 mark.

The challenge is there once again for Paxton and his young Raiders, as four of the top five scorers and rebounders are gone off last year's squad, and only four lettermen return.

Doc Buckingham, a sophomore wingman from Detroit returns with great jumping ability and plenty of game experience to join sophomore Don VanderKode in a possible starting role.

Other possible starters for the Raiders are Bill Howard, an all-city player from Grand Rapids Central; Scott Sutton, a slim 175 pounder; Tom Fillipow from St. Joseph; Mark Allen, a freshman from West Catholic; Andy Swanson from Rockford; Tim Weaver from Ottawa Hills;

Students Have Rights Of 'Due Process'

The United States Supreme Court recently ruled that public school students have a constitutional right to "due process" before being suspended from school.

Consequently, public school authorities must give each student who may be suspended "notice and hearing" before a suspension of any length of time.

This decision does not require that school authorities conduct a full-blown trial in every case. The court only required that with a suspension of 10 days or less the student be given written or oral notice of the charges, an explanation of the evidence, if requested, and an opportunity for presentation of the student's side of the story.

The "notice and hearing" can be given immediately following the misconduct. Only where a student is a true threat to persons, property, or the academic process may actual removal from the school precede "notice and hearing".

Although the recent United States Supreme Court ruling dealt only with suspensions of 10 days or less, the court also held that longer suspensions or expulsions may require more formal procedures. The more formal procedures referred to by the court could include granting students the opportunity to secure legal counsel, to call their own witnesses and to cross-examine the witnesses supporting the charge against them.

The procedural due process requirements for longer suspensions or expulsions of students have not yet been definitively ruled upon by the Supreme Court.

Grandpa Grumbles

Remember yer "hick" stick days" when we used to study bout the Roman Empire "en swill like that" 'n' monetary 'n'ers and thip, the politicians had a hundred 'en fifty pidd holidays year, 'en just before ole Nero started playin' his fiddle it got to the point where ten percent of them Romans were supportin' the other ninety.

If it's true that history repeats itself, us folks in this country had better watch out, 'cus we're gettin' 'n about the same boat. 'Hear a feller say just the other day that only thirty-five percent of us Americans are actually workin' while the other sixty-five percent are either too young, too old, (workin') fer the government, drawin' ADC, welfare, pensions, food stamps 'er unemployment. What the heck ever happened to workin' fer a livin' anyhow?

A few years ago the politicians started a "war on poverty", and you know what... as near as I can figure out us taxpayers lost it!

Talk about days off with pay...now there's another gripe I got stickin' in my craw. Look at Veteran's Day for example...all the politicians git the day off and us poor ole veterans list keep showin' up fer work so's we can pay our taxes to support all this nonsense. Why not turn the situation around and give the veteran the day off with pay?

Well, that's 'nuff of this grambin' fer one week, but, I'll tell ya what...if yer new editor will give me the space, you'll hear from me agin'.

The Blue Birds are again preparing hand-crafted decorations to be hung on the community Christmas tree on Main Street, and the Adventure girls will enter a float in the parade on December 6. As in other years, the toys used in the theme of the float will be presented to the Moose for distribution.

At present the Adventurers are taking part in the annual Camp Fire Girls Candy Sale, a Kewano Council project which helps to support Camps Kewano and Wobelo as well as the Council's varied programs for girls. A part of the profits also remains in the local groups' treasuries. The Camp Fire Girls Kewano Area Council is a United Way agency. Eleven groups are active in Lowell this year. Blue Bird leaders are Pat Turner, Sue Burd, Linda Detler, Esther DeVries, Jeanne Schneider, and Bea Conrad. Leading Adventure groups are Sandy VanDerWarf, Judy Ellison, Thelma Ritterger, Margie Burton, Ruth Wood, and Mary Ellen Rivers. Betty Coons acts as coordinator and is in charge of the candy sales and a member of the Southeast District committee. Delores Dey is in charge of the float sale, and Marilyn Keim assists with organization and special projects. Vern Keim serves as a member of the board of directors of the Kewano Council.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:
I am indeed sorry that you felt it necessary to resort to inaccurate sensationalism in your first edition of the Grand Valley Ledger. I am referring specifically to your notation, page one on the hunting prowess of myself.

The Watergate high of the fourth estate has led us to expect, truth, rigid adherence to fact and diligent research. You have sorely failed all three.

Your article would lead the casual reader to believe that in 25, actually 28 years of deer hunting, I had finally missed the first Buck I had ever seen.

While in reality the documented facts are as follows:
During the years of 1948-49 I missed one buck season. In 1952 I missed three, two of these five times each. In 1972 I missed one deer, one time. 1973 was a banner year, as in an attempt to perform at ten feet the Coup de grace on my sons mortally wounded buck. I holed it clean thru its left ear. 1975 one buck, two misses.

Overall a rather decent record when one considers I misplaced my rifle from 1953 thru 1967.

Yours in eternal sportsmanship,
Phillip M. Johnson

Dear Editor:
When we learned of Norm Borgerson's passing, we were surprised and saddened. Norm had been around so long, and had done so much for our Rotary Club and for Lowell. Norm filled so many needed posts and accepted so much community responsibility, that we sort of assumed that he would be around forever.

But we did not take Norm entirely for granted. Occasionally we would embarrass him with a word or two of appreciation. Only this last spring we held a "This is your life day" for Norm at a Rotary Meeting. In April we gave Norm the annual "Rotary Man of the Year" award for the second or third time. At that time some of Norm's many accomplishments, community services, honors and awards were read. Seldom has one man done so much in terms of service to his state and to the community of Lowell. At that Rotary meeting Norm was described as "Lowell's Number One Citizen."

We realize that all of Norm's community work and service took a lot of time. So, now we would like to say "Thank you" to Norm and to his family.

"Norm, we deeply appreciate your timely ideas, your many hours of work and service to Lowell, the times you served as host to our Rotary Club, and the funny stories that made us laugh and enjoy our meetings a little more."

And so, we say "good-bye" to a fellow Rotarian who will be sorely missed. Of all our members he lived the "Object of Rotary", and the "4-Way Test" the best.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of William Edwin Zalsman 3rd, who passed away two years ago, December 1. You went from us so suddenly Our lives were sadly shaken. A memory clear and dear to us Yet, so much you have taken. But what you've left is precious As any jewel could be; A love and place within our hearts That will always be held by thee. The days go by with passing speed And the hurt is slowly eased; But the Love and joy you gave us Can never be reproved.

Paulsens At Income Tax Conference

Ival and Effie Paulsen of the local H & R Block office recently attended a regional conference in Midland, an annual session of the nationwide income tax firm prior to the upcoming tax season.

One of the more than thirty such sessions throughout the country, the sessions covered discussion of new tax law changes, in addition to ways of improving H & R Block office and customer service, Paulsen said.

"Of vital importance," Paulsen said, "was discussion of the Tax Reduction Act of 1975, the largest tax cut measure in the history of the United States which will affect every American taxpayer this year."

Some of the tax topics covered included the personal exemption credit, the boost in the standard deduction, low-income allowance and filing requirements, the earned income credit, and the new-home purchase credit. Also covered were the new Michigan State income tax laws.
