Lowell Youth Killed As Auto Hits Tree

An 18-year-old Lowell youth was killed and his passenger critically injured last Wednesday afternoon when their car struck a tree on Vergennes Road, northwest of Lowell. The front-end of the vehicle, was found some 30 feet from the point of impact.

Stephen J. Babcock, 18, a senior at Lowell High School, was killed last Wednesday afternoon October 27, when the car he was driving went out of control on Vergennes Road, and hit a tree.

Flu Clinic Needs Help

In conjunction with the nationwide concern over the Swine Flu, inoculations will be given to those between the ages of 18 and 60 at the Bushnell Elementary School's KIVA Room on Wednesday and Thursday, November 10 and 11.

Mrs. Judy Jansma, chairperson for volunteers, revealed this week, that volunteers are needed to conduct the local clinic. "We are interested in enlisting some 22 volunteers per day to help move people through the clinic."

More than 100,000 Michigan residents have received influenza immunizations through the first full week of clinics, according to John Orris, state coordinator of the Swine Flu program. The Kent County Health Department urges persons planning on receiving Swine Flu immunizations to receive it as soon as possible. The sooner a person receives their immunization, the sooner their protection starts.

car, Edwin Phillips, 16, of 9070 Bailey Drive, N.E., is still listed in critical condition at Butterworth Hospital in Grand Rapids with internal injuries and fractures of both legs. The accident occurred about one o'clock, according to Kent County Sheriff's Deputy William Weston. Two witnesses to the crash, Kathleen White of Lowell and Christine Luyk of Belding, had just turned off Vergennes Road onto to Cumberland Avenue, S.E., when they saw Babcock's white Camaro approaching from the west.

"We saw him coming over the hill and his front wheels were off the ground, Mrs. White said. "He was flying." The witnesses reported that the vehicle appeared to swerve as if to avoid Mrs. White's car which had already turned off Vergennes. "Black smoke was coming from his back tires, as if he was attempting to stop."

The impact ripped off the front of Babcock's car and deposited it some 30 feet from the scene. Both boys had to be removed from the car by the Lowell Rescue squad using a Hurst power tool. Funeral services for Babcock were held Saturday afternoon at the Roth-Gerst Funeral Home in Lowell, with Dr. Richard Greenwood of the First Congregational Church of Lowell officiating. Interment was made in Bailey Cemetery. He is survived by his parents, Irwin Babcock and Patricia Babcock, both of Lowell; two brothers, Jeffrey and Paul, both of Lowell; a sister, Mrs. James (Shirley) Yeiter of Lowell; his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Tilton of Richland and Mrs. Mertel Babcock of Battle Creek; and his fiancée, Miss Peggy Phillips.

Three Arsonists Arrested

Halloween Far From Quiet In Lowell

The Lowell Showboat, which houses the "minstrel show under the stars," each summer, was the target of arsonists early Sunday morning. The camera of amateur photographer Paul Miller of Riverside Drive recorded the fire, just after it broke out.

Things were far from quiet Saturday night and early Sunday morning (Halloween) in Lowell, as a small group of youths from the city and surrounding areas showed all their finer points of upbringing when they staged a display of destruction. Lowell officers have arrested one adult and two juveniles on arson charges stemming from fires set within the City limits.

About 12:30 a.m. (October 31) a fire broke out in the lower section of the Lowell Showboat, docked on the Flat River, adjacent to the Riverside School on North Monroe Street. Lowell firemen were quick to respond, but Showboat officials predict that this act of arson has caused well over $3,000 in damages.

A second fire, set by the arsonists, was discovered in the Dairy Barn at the Lowell 4-H Fairgrounds on South Hudson Street, where 10 large boats were in winter storage. Damage to the structure and contents may go as high as $65,000.

The State Fire Marshal, and confessions by those arrested, confirmed earlier suspicions by officers that the fires were set with flammables. "Release of the names of those persons involved is pending further investigation, and THE PERSONAL TOUCH — Individualized Hair Coloring at Vanity Hair Fashion, 203 E. Main, Lowell, 897-7506. c51

the possibility of more arrests," Police Chief Barry Emmons said.

While the little kids were out trick or treating, as usual, seemingly unconcerned about the miserable rain and cold, the Lowell Police were kept busy squelching minor incidents, and investigating destructive acts of major concern.

Arrested for "throwing missiles at automobiles" Saturday was William Eggleston, jr., of Lowell. He will appear at a later date in Kent County's 63rd District Court on the egg throwing charge.

Culprits also shot out windows at the high school, covered the building with eggs, smashed pumpkins and tipped things over.

Suspect Arson

City of Lowell fire officials are investigating a fire which destroyed an 80-year-old farm house at 10416 Thirteenth Street, S.E., last Wednesday, October 27.

Charles Seeley of 6375 Burton Street, S.E., Grand Rapids, was hunting with his three sons and a friend, near the farm house which he is renovating, when one of the boys saw smoke coming from the structure.

Seeley told officials that by the time they reached the scene, the house was engulfed in flames. Damage to the farm house has been estimated at $15,000 by Lowell Fire Chief Frank Baker.

According to Detective William Devereaux of the Kent County Sheriff's Department, an investigation into the possibility of arson is being made.

YFU To Serve Breakfast

Fund raising endeavors by the Youth For Understanding program in Lowell, is underway for the 1976-77 year, and their first project will be a pancake and sausage breakfast this Sunday, November 7.

The breakfast, open to the public, will be served at Keiser's Kitchen, 521 West Main, Lowell, 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Proceeds from the breakfast will be used to help the students who will represent Lowell in other countries as ambassadors this summer.

This year, 11 boys and girls have signed up to be YFU students and are now choosing their countries. Last year, ten students from Lowell High School representing Lowell on visits to foreign countries, a total of 50 from all of the County participated in the program.

At this rate, Lowell will be well known to people all over the world. These are your ambassadors, and need your help, so be at the breakfast this Sunday.

The cost for a student to become involved in the YFU program is $1,180. What the students make on different projects is used to help meet this expense.

Get to know the students and learn more about the Youth For Understanding program, a non-profit organization, open to all students in the Junior class at Lowell.

For more information call Mrs. Bev Anderson at 897-7739.

After the breakfast that they are sponsoring at Keiser's Kitchen this Sunday, November 7, their next project is the big skating party at the American Legion, November 10 from 2 until 4:30 in the afternoon.

Kids have no school that day due to the Parent-Teacher's Conference, so what better way to spend time than having skating fun! Come join the YFUers.

Mr. Bill Gardner, owner of the Village Inn asked permission from Council to go ahead with the paper work needed for an application to the Liquor Control Commission pending the changes in the City ordinance. Council concurred.

Local Attorney Fred Althaus gave a background on the filing of such an application.

Councilman Collins asked about the televising of the City's sanitary sewer system. Manager Quada replied that he had received a telephone call from the E.P.R. stating that the grant has been given approval, and should receive confirmation soon.

A letter was then read from the Lowell Senior Neighbors Center requesting that a loading zone be established in front of the Center for easier access to their building for disabled Senior Citizens using the facility. A discussion followed, the Manager and Police Chief directed to study the situation and report back with a recommendation. Council also discussed the possibility of removing the loading zone on the north side of Main Street.

Councilman Pfalter also asked that the Police Department keep a close watch on the gates at the construction site of the water treatment plant, to close them if found open to keep out trespassers.

Councilman Warning asked about the moving of the garage used to house the Rescue Unit.

A discussion followed, with a question by Councilman Collins, of why the move, what is wrong with the present site. It was felt that the garage should be moved to allow for the construction of the new parking lot, however, the parking lot will not be started until later in the year or next spring. The feeling was expressed that perhaps it should not even be moved at all, that it will only cut 2 parking spaces at most out of the proposed lot. Chief Emmons stated that his choice would be to leave it where it is, but thought it would have to be moved.

Also discussed was the possibility of installing some type of safety lighting device for use when emergency vehicles are turning onto Main Street at Monroe. Manager Quada to contact the State Highway Department for information. The Manager distributed copies of the 1975-76 annual audit report.

IT WAS THEN MOVED by Councilman Collins to adjourn at 10:40 p.m.

Approved: November 1, 1976.

Deer Hunting Format for 1976. Michigan firearm deer hunters should find the 1976 season prospects as good or better than last year's when a record number of bucks—96,890—and 10,800 antlerless deer were harvested. Field reports by Department of Natural Resources wildlife biologists indicate the current herd size is equal to the 1975 estimate at this time.

Spends Summer Touring European National Parks

Nearly every year since 1946, Grand Rapids Junior College Social Science instructor, Geng Smith of 7325 Sheffield, Ada, has toured various national parks of the United States. This past summer, however, Smith treated himself to a look at the national parks of Europe. This was not only a personal trip, but professional; Smith is teaching a Junior College course on the national parks in America. "The Geography of National Parks."

"The class involves understanding the significant phenomenon in and around the parks," says Smith. "This includes the biological and geological interrelationships that exist with the cultural problems." While some people question the validity of such a course Smith rebuffs critics, saying, "I think it's a beautiful social science course. It's an interesting way to understand the geography of the United States. I'll tell you flat out, I enjoy teaching it very much." Besides studying the many likenesses and differences among the parks, the course concerns itself with, as Smith

New Buds On

The National Parks have been used as political footballs in the past. President Ford has made some proposals to fund the parks, but Smith does not see it as a big political issue during this campaign. "It's too early to tell anything he said will come to pass," he says. "However, there has been one step forward, in that the Indiana Dunes National Park has been signed."

Makes Way For Parking Lot

What you have noticed that the city owned two story home on the corner of Moore and Avev Streets, has been torn down. In the above photo, all that remains is the foundation.

The property was purchased by the City to create more parking for the business district. City Manager Ray Quads says that the area should be ready for use within two weeks. The lot will be paved sometime next year.

What's Looking in Michigan...

by Carl B. Olson Michigan Dept. of Agriculture

Nich time you have dinner guests, why not "butter em up" with a delicious sauce made from, of course, Michigan Grade A butter. These butter sauces can go on almost anything you serve, from little cocktail appetizers to fish and meat courses to dessert itself. Try making an interesting curry butter by adding one tablespoon of curry to one stick of softened butter. Mix well, spread on trimmed bread and add sliced ham or chicken. Cut into quarters and serve as an hors d'oeuvre.

Having steak or other beef that isn't barbecued? Why not mix 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/8 teaspoon white pepper and one teaspoon chopped parsley to 1/4 cup butter. Then add, stirring constantly, 3/4 to 1 1/2 teaspoons of lemon juice. Let your guests put it on the meat themselves.

If chicken is the main course, blend 1/2 cup almonds, crush them and add to 1/4 cup softened butter. Mix well, serve over the chicken and it's instant almond sauce.

Dessert? Combine 1/2 cup butter, 1/8 teaspoon cinnamon and a dash of salt in a saucepan, blending until the butter melts. Heat in 1/4 cup honey and remove from heat. Stir in 1/4 cup whipping cream and one teaspoon grated orange peel. Serve warm over ice cream and tell everyone it's honey butter sauce.

"A hard to see" lunar eclipse will occur on Saturday, November 6. The moon will be at half-shadow at 3:46 p.m. EST. The middle of the eclipse will come at 6:02 p.m., and it will end at 8:17 p.m.

Liquor-By-The-Glass Closer To Reality

The proposed changes in Lowell's ordinance concerning liquor-by-the-glass were adopted by the Lowell City Council on Monday, November 1. A ten-day waiting period is required, before the changes can actually take effect.

Some of the local taverns have already applied for their class-C license from the State Liquor Control Commission. Barring any serious delays in Lansing, some of the local establishments should be serving liquor-by-the-glass prior to the first of the year.

The Council voted to grant a 7.5 percent raise to all salaried and hourly employees of the City. Other benefits included two more paid holidays, and added insurance benefits.

City Manager Ray Quada, who was not included in the raise, said that the adjustments were basically the same as those granted to the Lowell Police Department, earlier in the year. Quada went on to mention that the raise in pay and added benefits were not out of line and were in keeping with the activities of other communities that he had checked with.

Passion Flower

Want to grow the Passion Flower? One thing you'll need is patience. It takes four to five years for this flowering vine to mature and begin producing flowers.

Something else you'll need is a spot with bright light, say Michigan State University horticulturists. This plant does its best in full sun.

The Passion Flower is a native of Latin America. It is a climbing vine that produces spectacular flowers of blue, white, pink, scarlet, green, yellow or purple. The flowers have a religious significance to Christians who liken their parts to various aspects of the Crucifixion story.

Average home temperatures are usually adequate; between 65 and 72 degrees F is ideal.

Higher than normal humidity—30 percent or more—and a humus soil are necessary. A soil made of equal parts loam, peat, sand and leaf mold is recommended. Water whenever the soil surface begins to dry to keep the root zone evenly moist.

The plant is a vigorous climber. The MSU experts point out that it needs plenty of room for its roots and something to twine its tendrils around. Pinching the growing tips will make it branch.

United Way Campaign

United Way volunteer Arnold Wittenbach, right, chairman for the City of Lowell, reported at "Communities Day," that Lowell has collected pledges totaling $1,526, or 31.4 percent of its goal.

The twelve Community Divisions, under the chairmanship of Lowell E. Henline, left, combined pledges total $36,833 or 43.8 percent of their goal. Volunteers are working to reach their goals by November 12.

In Lowell, Stanley Gardner is the business chairman and Mrs. Beverly Anderson is the Individual's chairwoman for the United Way campaign.

United Way officials report that 58.9 percent of the total goal of $3,414,633 has been reached mid-point in the campaign. The monies collected will be allocated to the human service needs in the 60 United Way funded member agencies during 1977.

Herbruck Buys Shell Egg Facility

Farm Bureau Services, Inc. Board of Directors has agreed in principle to the sale of the Shell Egg Department of the Egg Marketing Division to Herbruck Egg Sales Corporation headed by Harry Herbruck of Saranac, according to an announcement made by Elton R. Smith, President of Farm Bureau Services, Inc.

"The rapid change in the shell egg industry in Michigan to fewer, but larger, producers indicates that this move is in the best interest of the producers and Farm Bureau Services, Inc.," reports Mr. Smith.

Harry Herbruck is already in the shell egg production business, operating a modern 210,000 layer and processing facility near Saranac.

Donald R. Armstrong, Executive Vice President of Farm

Bureau Services, Inc., expressed satisfaction with the expected sale—"Mr. Herbruck, President of Herbruck Egg Sales Corporation, is a Michigan operator and will continue the processing and distribution of Michigan produced eggs to Michigan consumers."

Working towards an effective date of December 1, 1976, the proposed sale would include all personal property, leased equipment, inventories, etc., relating to this department. The selling price was not disclosed.

Lowell Youth Killed As Auto Hits Tree

An 18-year-old Lowell youth was killed and his passenger critically injured last Wednesday afternoon when their car struck a tree on Vergennes Road, northwest of Lowell. The front-end of the vehicle, was found some 30 feet from the point of impact.

Stephen J. Babcock, 18, a senior at Lowell High School, was killed last Wednesday afternoon October 27, when the car he was driving went out of control on Vergennes Road, and hit a tree. A passenger in the Babcock car, Edwin Phillips, 16, of 9070 Bailey Drive, N.E., is still listed in critical condition at Butterworth Hospital in Grand Rapids with internal injuries and fractures of both legs.

The accident occurred about one o'clock, according to Kent County Sheriff's Deputy William Weston.

Two witnesses to the crash, Kathleen White of Lowell and Christine Luyk of Belding, had just turned off Vergennes Road onto to Cumberland Avenue, S.E., when they saw Babcock's white Camaro approaching from the west.

"We saw him coming over the hill and his front wheels were off the ground, Mrs. White said. "He was flying."

The witnesses reported that the vehicle appeared to swerve as if to avoid Mrs. White's car which had already turned off Vergennes. "Black smoke was coming from his back tires, as if he was attempting to stop."

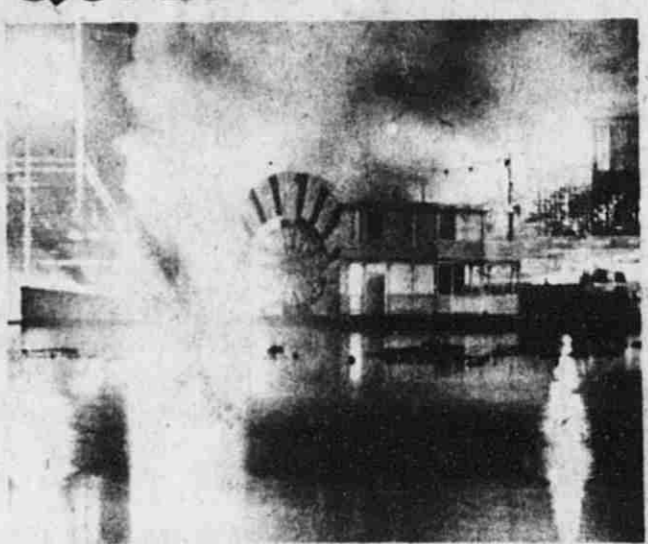

The impact ripped off the front of Babcock's car and deposited it some 30 feet from the scene. Both boys had to be removed from the car by the Lowell Rescue squad using a Hurst power tool.

Funeral services for Babcock were held Saturday afternoon at the Roth-Gerst Funeral Home in Lowell, with Dr. Richard Greenwood of the First Congregational Church of Lowell officiating. Interment was made in Bailey Cemetery.

He is survived by his parents, Irwin Babcock and Patricia Babcock, both of Lowell; two brothers, Jeffrey and Paul, both of Lowell; a sister, Mrs. James (Shirley) Yeiter of Lowell; his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Tilton of Richland and Mrs. Mertel Babcock of Battle Creek; and his fiancée, Miss Peggy Phillips.

Three Arsonists Arrested Halloween Far From Quiet In Lowell

The Lowell Showboat, which houses the "minstrel show under the stars," each summer, was the target of arsonists early Sunday morning. The camera of amateur photographer Paul Miller of Riverside Drive recorded the fire, just after it broke out.

Things were far from quiet Saturday night and early Sunday morning (Halloween) in Lowell, as a small group of youths from the city and surrounding areas showed all their finer points of upbringing when they staged a display of destruction.

Lowell officers have arrested one adult and two juveniles on arson charges stemming from fires set within the City limits.

About 12:30 a.m. (October 31) a fire broke out in the lower section of the Lowell Showboat, docked on the Flat River, adjacent to the Riverside School on North Monroe Street.

Lowell firemen were quick to respond, but Showboat officials predict that this act of arson has caused well over $3,000 in damages.

A second fire, set by the arsonists, was discovered in the Dairy Barn at the Lowell 4-H Fairgrounds on South Hudson Street, where 10 large boats were in winter storage.

Damage to the structure and contents may go as high as $65,000.

The State Fire Marshal, and confessions by those arrested, confirmed earlier suspicions by officers that the fires were set with flammables.

Release of the names of those persons involved is pending further investigation, and THE PERSONAL TOUCH — Individualized Hair Coloring at Vanity Hair Fashion, 203 E. Main, Lowell, 897-7506. c51

the possibility of more arrests," Police Chief Barry Emmons said.

While the little kids were out trick or treating, as usual, seemingly unconcerned about the miserable rain and cold, the Lowell Police were kept busy quenching minor incidents, and investigating destructive acts of major concern.

Arrested for "throwing missiles at automobiles" Saturday was William Eggleston, jr., of Lowell. He will appear at a later date in Kent County's 63rd District Court on the egg throwing charge.

Culprits also shot out windows at the high school, covered the building with eggs, smashed pumpkins and tipped things over.

Suspect Arson

City of Lowell fire officials are investigating a fire which destroyed an 80-year-old farm house at 10416 Thirty-Sixth Street, S.E., last Wednesday, October 27.

Charles Seeley of 6375 Burton Street, S.E., Grand Rapids, was hunting with his three sons and a friend, near the farm house which he is renovating, when one of the boys saw smoke coming from the structure.

Seeley told officials that by the time they reached the scene, the house was engulfed in flames.

Damage to the farm house has been estimated at $15,000 by Lowell Fire Chief Frank Baker.

According to Detective William Devereaux of the Kent County Sheriff's Department, an investigation into the possibility of arson is being made.

2. Swine Flu Shots. Motion by Metternick, seconded by Thaler, to grant the request of the American Red Cross Committee to send out notices with students on swine flu vaccinations, waving board policy #1140.

Ayes: 6 Nays: 0 Motion Carried

3. Tennis Courts. Mr. Kelly reported that he attended a meeting with city manager, Ray Quada, with the Department of Natural Resources representatives on the regulations that control B.O.R. grants. It was learned that the D.N.R. regulations would not be too restrictive and, if accepted, would require that the courts be built immediately north of the middle school parking lot. The main obstacles that remain on this proposal are whether the site could be built up sufficiently and working out an agreement with the city. The Building and Site Committee will report on this matter at the next board meeting.

4. Budget Workshop. A Budget Workshop will be held in the superintendent's office on Monday, October 18, 1976, at 7:30 p.m.

5. Next Meeting at Alto. The next board meeting will be held at Alto.

6. Dress Code. Student representative Jim Pfaffler presented a request from the High School Student Congress to revise the dress code in the student handbook and allow students to have two buttons unbuttoned on shirts. The board asked Jim to make the presentation in writing.

Ayes: 6 Nays: 0 Motion Carried

8. Pay Rate Proposal. Motion by Miller, seconded by Thaler, to accept the proposal of the superintendent which is reported to grant administrators a pay raise equal to 8.3% and to include the following: 5% retirement; $276 medical benefits; $100 dental benefits; plus a total of $2,100 for step increases. (Mr. Roberts vacated the chair to address the board on the matter.)

For WEST MICHIGAN Sportsmen

by Denny Geurink

Outdoor Update . . .

The outdoor front is currently a bustle with an array of different autumn activities as sportsmen busy exercise their options on the type of quarry they wish to pursue. Let's take a little time to update some of this fall action.

The most popular pursuit at the moment, is of course, the squirrel. A few good pockets, however, have been located in the region, giving those hunters lucky enough to find them some decent shooting. Best areas to date are in southern Keweenaw and northern Allegan and Ottawa County. Berrien, Barry and Van Buren Counties are also sporting some activity.

The birds have retreated to heavy cover. Your best bets are in standing corn, brushy or swampy areas, swales and creek bottoms. A good dog is practically a must.

Rabbits are abundant throughout the west Michigan area. Hunters aren't having any trouble bagging a few bunnies for supper. (Veteran rabbit hunters remind sportsmen that field dressing provides for a maximum of freshness & flavor)

Squirrel, pat and woodcock are all under more pressure since the small game season opened. Success continues to improve as the summer foliage disappears. Hunters report seeing quite a few woodcock in our region since opening day. A good number of pat are turning up in game pouches as well. Northern Ottawa, northern Kent and Allegan County seem to sport the best ruffed grouse numbers in this area.

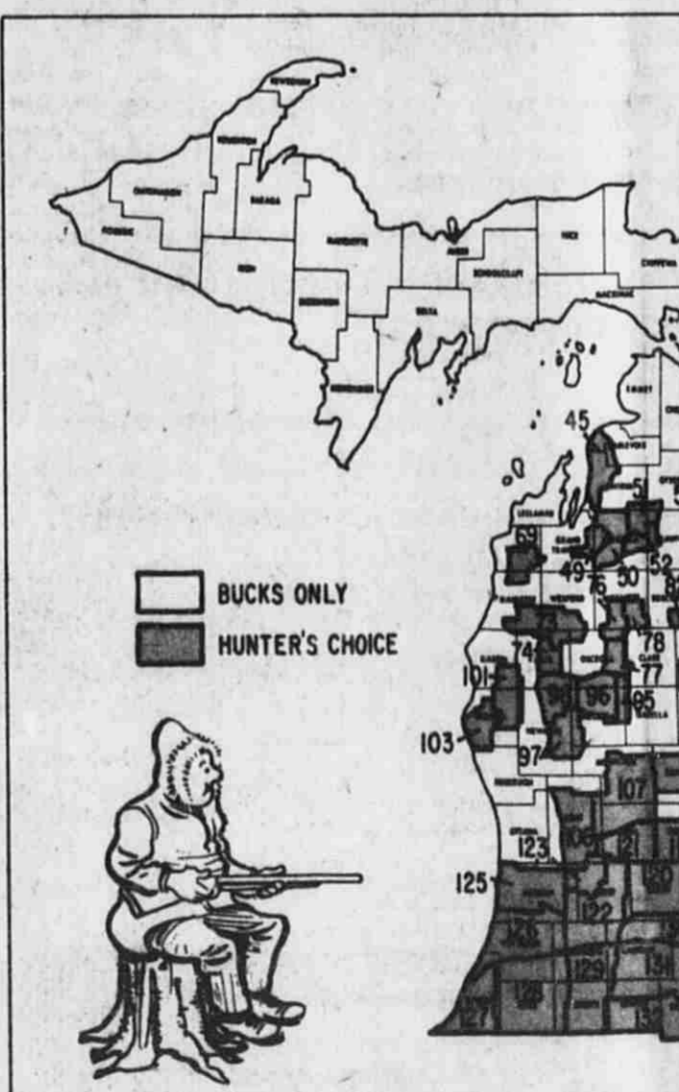

Waterfowl hunters report the action picking up a little as more flight ducks move into the district. The Grand Haven and Muskegon marshes continue to host large numbers of waterfowl as do some of our inland lakes with adjacent confidants.

Quail season is now open in 27 counties. It opened without much fanfare on the 22nd of October. It had been earlier feared that last winter's heavy snows might have hurt the state's quail population. But subsequent observations fortunately dispelled these fears. In fact, this season's prospects are tabbed as good according to DNR biologist Frederick Stuewen.

Deer Hunting Format for 1976

Read The Want Ads

Unique Masks

Michigan firearm deer hunters should find the 1976 season prospects as good or better than last year's when a record number of bucks—98,880—and 10,000 antlerless deer were harvested. Field reports by Department of Natural Resources wildlife biologists indicate the current herd size is equal to the 1975 estimate at this time. Unless a sportsman receives a Hunter's Choice permit, he may shoot only a buck during the November 15-30 firearm season. Those with Hunter's Choice permits may hunt any deer in designated areas (between November 15-21 in the southern Lower Peninsula; November 15-30 in the northern Lower Peninsula). Only bucks may be taken in the Upper Peninsula. Application deadline for permits is October 1, with forms available from license dealers statewide. The DNR plans to issue about 110,000 permits. Archery deer hunting runs October 1-November 14 and December 1-31; the season for muzzleloaders runs December 3-12.

Good Pike Fishing

Pike fishing is beginning to pick up steam, says that cooler weather has arrived. John Briggs of Lowell, fishing Monday afternoon, November 1, below Burrough's Dam, south of Lowell, caught five nice pike from the waters of the Flat River.

A Hunter's Survival Against Heart Attacks

For many people, there is no sport quite like hunting in the dead of winter. But one aspect of hunting is survival. Survival perhaps from the ravages of a blizzard or from being lost in the woods. But also survival through the narrow arteries. Its load is further increased because the arteries which feed the heart itself are constricted as well. Additional stress occurs when the blood pressure rises, which sometimes happens in cold weather, or when the person exercises. It is for these reasons, according to the Michigan Heart Association, that cold weather brings with it need for special precautions.

Investigate the availability of game wardens, forest rangers or state police. Their services may be needed for emergency treatment.

Dress warmly, with clothes and boots that are water repellent and wind resistant.

The simple act of hiking through the woods or across rough terrain exacts physical stress upon the heart. This is particularly true in cold weather when freezing or near-freezing temperatures are at 10 degrees Fahrenheit, with a 20 mph wind, the equivalent temperature is 25 degrees below zero.

If you're hunting and your partner, or another sportsman, has these symptoms, try to "neutralize" the person by having him lie down and making him as warm and comfortable as possible. Get help immediately. If you planned your trip, you know the location of the nearest forest rangers, police or conservation officers. One or more may be able to provide paramedic treatment.

Hunting is a rewarding experience for hundreds of Americans. Help make it so for yourself by keeping in good physical condition. Don't forget that a heart attack can occur anytime, any place. Recognize its symptoms. Be ready to help save a life.

Getting Involved . . .

Members of Miss Przewdzki's advanced art class, Terri Roth and Tracy Bonhill, are carrying out their volunteer project of lettering the Artran posters.

Miss Przewdzki's art class, along with hundreds of Lowell area youth and adults, is looking forward to seeing this outstanding collection of art and artists when it stops in Lowell November 24-26. Admission will be free and it is a great opportunity to see an outstanding art collection.

Paint Fruit Trees

Those cold, sunny winter days can be rough on your young fruit trees. To get them through winter in good shape, Jim Flore, Michigan State University Extension fruit tree specialist, suggests giving them a paint job.

The sunlit southwest side of a tree is often several degrees warmer than the shaded side, he says. "The warm side expands with the heat while the shaded side contracts with the cold. The result is cracks in the bark. You can prevent this by painting the tree trunk from the ground to the first branches with white latex exterior house paint."

The paint reflects the sunlight and keeps the sunlit side of the tree from getting so warm, he explains.

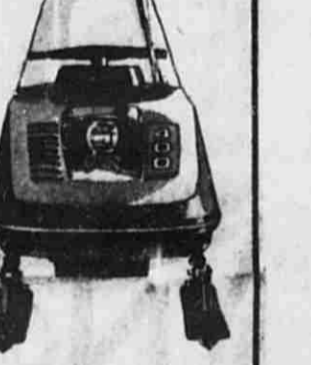

Use only water-soluble latex house paint, he cautions. Oil-base paint will damage the tree.

Spends Summer Touring European National Parks

Nearly every year since 1946, Grand Rapids Junior College Social Science Instructor, Gene Smith of 7325 Sheffield, Ave., has toured various national parks of the United States. This past summer, however, Smith treated himself to a look at the national parks in America. This was not only a personal trip, but professional. Smith is teaching a Junior College course on the national parks in America, "The Geography of National Parks." The course also is multi-purpose, depending on the individual. "Most students use the course for background in forestry, park management, and a social science credit," says Smith. "And a significant number of students use the course to prepare for vacations." Smith has taken trips with former parks students to various U.S. Parks in Wyoming, Montana and Colorado. Smith's summer trip was valuable because he was able to compare what other countries have done with a system that originated in the United States. "It helped me to appreciate our national parks even more," he says. Smith concentrated on the parks of Spain during his trip, and found the experience highly rewarding. It gave him an occasion to compare our own country with one that has been, by comparison, battered, beaten and bruised by the settlement of several different cultures. "Smith states.

Protective Pruning
 The best protection against snow and ice damage to fruit trees is good pruning. Selective pruning for wide angles where branches meet the trunk makes for a sturdy tree. Narrow crotch angles are prone to splitting under the weight of snow or ice. Now is not the time to take pruning saw in hand, however. According to Extension fruit tree specialists at Michigan State University, trees should not be pruned until they are completely dormant. Wait until the beginning of the new year to prune.

New Buds On The Family Tree
 Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth J. Haan of Wyoming, Michigan (nee Pat Smith of Lowell) are the proud parents of a baby girl born September 22. The new arrival tipped the scales at seven pounds, one ounce, and has been named Jennifer Leigh. Her grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Smith of Lowell and Mrs. Ila Haan of Grand Rapids.

ROTARY NOTES
 Business items discussed at the October 27 meeting of the Rotary Club included the United Fund, the visit by the District Governor of Rotary and the wives' fun fund. Jim Flickinger introduced Jean McKee, who discussed her philosophy of the work of the juvenile court. McKee said that rehabilitation of juvenile offenders must include working with their families, also. She summarized that our justice system must be firm, fair, and straight forward. Rotary guests were Mike Doyle and Bert Oles.

Liquor-By-The-Glass Closer To Reality

The proposed changes in Lowell's ordinance concerning liquor-by-the-glass were adopted by the Lowell City Council on Monday, November 1. A ten-day waiting period is required, before the changes can actually take effect.

Some of the local taverns have already applied for their class-C license from the State Liquor Control Commission. Barring any serious delays in Lansing, some of the local establishments should be serving liquor-by-the-glass prior to the first of the year.

The Council voted to grant a 7.5 percent raise to all salaried and hourly employees of the City. Other benefits included two more paid holidays, and added insurance benefits.

City Manager Ray Quada, who was not included in the raise, said that the adjustments were basically the same as those granted to the Lowell Police Department, earlier in the year. Quada went on to mention that the raise in pay and added benefits were not out of line and were in keeping with the activities of other communities that he had checked with.

Passion Flower

Want to grow the Passion Flower? One thing you'll need is patience. It takes four to five years for this flowering vine to mature and begin producing flowers.

Something else you'll need is a spot with bright light, say Michigan State University horticulturists. This plant does its best in full sun.

The Passion Flower is a native of Latin America. It is a climbing vine that produces spectacular flowers of blue, white, pink, scarlet, green, yellow or purple. The flowers have a religious significance to Christians who liken their parts to various aspects of the Crucifixion story.

Average home temperatures are usually adequate; between 65 and 74 degrees F is ideal.

Higher than normal humidity—30 percent or more—and a humus soil are necessary. A soil made of equal parts loam, peat, sand and leaf mold is recommended. Water whenever the soil surface begins to dry to keep the root zone evenly moist.

The plant is a vigorous climber. The MSU experts point out that it needs plenty of room for its roots and something to twine its tendrils around. Pinching the growing tips will make it branch.

United Way Campaign

United Way volunteer Arnold Wittenbach, right, chairman for the City of Lowell, reported at "Communities Day," that Lowell has collected pledges totaling $1,528, or 31.4 percent of its goal.

The twelve Community Divisions, under the chairmanship of Lowell E. Henline, left, combined pledges total $36,833 or 43.8 percent of their goal. Volunteers are working to reach their goals by November 12.

In Lowell, Stanley Gardner is the business chairman and Mrs. Beverly Anderson is the individual's chairwoman for the United Way campaign.

United Way officials report that 58.9 percent of the total goal of $3,414,633 has been reached mid-point in the campaign. The monies collected will be allocated to the human service needs in the 60 United Way funded member agencies during 1977.

Herbruck Buys Shell Egg Facility

Farm Bureau Services, Inc. Board of Directors has agreed in principle to the sale of the Shell Egg Department of the Egg Marketing Division to Herbruck Egg Sales Corporation headed by Harry Herbruck of Saranac, according to an announcement made by Elton R. Smith, President of Farm Bureau Services, Inc.

"The rapid change in the shell egg industry in Michigan to fewer, but larger, producers indicates that this move is in the best interest of the producers and Farm Bureau Services, Inc.," reports Mr. Smith.

Harry Herbruck is already in the shell egg production business, operating a modern 210,000 layer and processing facility near Saranac.

Donald R. Armstrong, Executive Vice President of Farm

Bureau Services, Inc., expressed satisfaction with the expected sale—"Mr. Herbruck, President of Herbruck Egg Sales Corporation, is a Michigan operator and will continue the processing and distribution of Michigan produced eggs to Michigan consumers."
