Ada Church To Observe Seventy-Fifth

The Ada Community Reformed Church at 7227 Thoraapple River Drive, Ada, will observe their 75th anniversary on Sunday, November 6.

The members of the congregation invite everyone to join them on this joyous occasion at 6 p.m. Friends, former members, old and young alike are welcome. Also joining the observance will be many of the former pastors.

History, old pictures and old friendships will be shared during this time, with refreshments being served.

The Reformed Church of Ada was organized in October of 1902, by a committee of the Classis of Grand River at their fall session in Muskegon. The installation of elected Elders and Deacons took place on November 16, 1902; Adrian Bogert and Frank Antonides being elders and Henry Posthumus and T. Kroes, deacons. Up until 1903, a student James Weyer conducted the services which were held in a Methodist Church; the rental was the insignificant sum of 50 cents a Sunday.

In May of 1903, Rev. S. H. Menning starting his work as stated supply and he remained at the pulpit until October of 1904.

Down through the years, the church has been served by: Rev. F. Klooster, 1906; Rev. John Webbing, 1911; Rev. Cornelius Krickaard, 1917; Rev. R. Douma, 1918; Rev. Thomas Vanden Bosch, 1927; Rev. Howard Scholten, 1933.

Rev. Emo Aumasa, 1936; Rev. William Kolenbrander, 1930; Rev. Jacob Brouwer, 1949; Rev. Cornelius A. VanderWoude, 1951; Rev. Lester Muller, July 7, 1959; Rev. Sylvester Moths, 1961; Rev. Robert Otto, 1966; Rev. Charles Wissink, 1969. The present pastor, the Rev. Wilfred Fiet was installed on September 6, 1973.

The last service in the old church was a Communion service on the evening of March 16, 1969. On March 24, the old church came down and construction on the new facility began. The first service in the new church was held on November 24, 1969. Excerpts from the church's history tell us that early in 1922 a parsonage was purchased at 7125 Bronson Street in Ada, and the old parsonage was sold.

In 1942, the church and the parsonage were painted and in 1944 the mortgage on the church was burned and the building was redecorated with the addition of new walls and ceiling.

A five year building plan was presented to the congregation on November 26, 1963 and accepted. In 1964, the consistency was enlarged to six elders and six deacons. The cornerstone of the new church was laid on Thanksgiving Day, November 27, 1969.

Many other items of the past will be the topic of conversation at Sunday's celebration of 75 years.

Investigating Ada Fatality

Mrs. Shirley Young of 415 Eighth Street, Grand Rapids, was pronounced dead of massive internal and head injuries following a mishap Sunday night on M-21 in Ada.

The Kent Sheriff's Department is investigating the fatality in which Mrs. Young, 41, allegedly threw herself under a van as the result of a spat with her boyfriend.

Mrs. Young was a passenger in the van driven by Nathan Morey, 36, of Grand Rapids. Morey told authorities he was westbound on M-21 about 10:15 p.m. when Mrs. Young allegedly said "You don't love me. I'm going to leave you. I'm leaving right now."

Morey told Sheriff's deputies he was adjusting the radio at the time and the next thing he knew his van acted as if it had driven over something. He said he never saw the woman leap from her seat. He pulled over when he noticed her missing.

One-Car Crash Claims Youth

A Sault Ste Marie youth was killed early Thursday morning, October 27, in a one-car accident at Whites Bridge and Centerline Roads, north of Saranac.

Mark Dalgleish, 18, died of multiple injuries at Butterworth Hospital shortly after the crash which occurred around midnight.

According to the Ionia County Sheriff's Department, Dalgleish was a passenger in a car driven by John S. McKay, 18, of Lowell.

McKay apparently lost control of the car trying to make a right turn onto Whites Bridge. The car slammed into a tree, Dalgleish was thrown out, and the car then ran over him.

Treated for minor injuries at Butterworth were McKay and his passenger, Steven A. Rabincau, 18, of Lowell. Allan Schultz of Lowell, also a passenger, was taken to Butterworth where his condition was listed as good. He suffered a concussion and neck injuries.

Four Candidates In City Council Race

Registered voters in Lowell will go to the polls next Tuesday, November 8, to fill three seats on the City Council.

Next Tuesday's general election vote is expected to be light, as only three candidates—Howard Clack, incumbent Dean Collins and Dave Carter—have been placed on the ballot, although several indications have been made that two write-in candidates will be making a bid also.

The polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. at the new voting precincts established in October by the Council. They are: All precinct No. 1 voters will cast their ballots at Runciman Elementary School on High Street; Precinct No. 2 voters will vote at the Bushnell Elementary School on Elizabeth Street.

Voting Cards

All new precinct and polling places have been mailed by the City of Lowell. To-date, 126 cards have been returned to City Hall for various reasons. If you have moved within your City your card will not be forwarded.

If you are a registered voter and did not receive a new card stop at City Hall or call 897-8457 immediately. Any card outstanding, that has not been verified by December 8, 1977, thirty days after the November 8 general election will be cancelled.

Dave Carter

Dave Carter lived in Sparta and graduated from Sparta High School in 1968. He served in the U.S. Air Force for four years in Turkey, Texas and North Dakota.

During his service with the Air Force he worked in data processing and continued to do so at Kawasaki Midwest and Attwood Corporation after he left the service.

Mr. Carter moved to Lowell in 1974 and married the former Kay MacNaughton of Lowell. They reside at 140 N. Pleasant Street. He returned to college full time this year doing undergraduate work in economics. His long term goals include a career in law and public service. He is a member of the Lowell Area Jaycees.

Mr. Carter commented, "I would like to become more involved in community affairs and provide a means for the people of Lowell an active voice in local government. I believe that we must reverse the current trend of Big Government and return control to the people. To accomplish this, we must first start by getting involved with local government."

Howard Clack

Howard Clack was born and spent his younger years on a farm in Dorr Township, Allegan County. He graduated from Wayland High School and had a two year extension course in Agriculture from Michigan State University.

After discontinuing farming in 1934, he entered the sales field and has worked in that area most of his life, being employed

This spring, some of the Senior Citizens of Lowell approached Mr. Clack and asked if he would consider running for the City Council, as they felt there should be a Senior Citizen on the Council. After considerable thought, Mr. Clack accepted the challenge by saying, "if elected, I will do my best."

Dean Collins

Dean Collins of 430 North Division Street, is the only incumbent on the ballot. He has served the City Council for the past two years and commented that "he's enjoyed every minute of it."

Mr. Collins 36, was born and raised in Lowell, and has been employed for the past 17 years by Root-Lowell Manufacturing Company as their Chief Development Engineer.

He married his wife, Carol, ten years ago, and he has three daughters. A member of the Lowell Area Jaycees for six years, he has served that organization as a director, vice-president and president. He's now in his second year as a Junior Achievement Advisor.

Mr. Collins has served five years on the Lowell YMCA Board of Managers, during which he headed the finance committee and served a term as chairman of the Board.

Since his election to the council, he has been instrumental in seeing that things like the new lights for the ball fields and a new lease for the 4-H were taken care of.

Besides Mr. Collins term which runs out, the two remaining seats to be filled were held by Leo Pfaller, who chose not to seek re-election, and the term of the late Harold F. Jefferies.

Bill Gardner

At press time Tuesday, Bill Gardner, 46, of 901 Grindle Drive, Lowell, announced his candidacy for the City Council as a write-in candidate.

Mr. Gardner and his wife, Norma have owned the Village Inn at 211 West Main Street for the past two years.

Mr. Gardner stated his reasons for seeking a Council seat as follows: "I'm interested in the workings of the City and have attended Council meetings quite regularly in the past. I feel that I could add to the Council especially helping work toward the betterment of the main business district, re: parking, etc."

Driver, Passenger Injured Critically

Bradley Zeew, 23, of Lowell was critically injured early Saturday morning when he swerved the vehicle he was driving to avoid striking a modified school bus camper, crossed the median on 28th Street, and hit a semi-trailer truck head-on.

He was taken to Blodgett Memorial Medical Center with severe facial lacerations. A passenger, Bruce Lubben of Alto suffered a skull fracture and is reported in critical condition at Butterworth.

Treated for minor injuries were two other passengers in the Zeew vehicle, Ronald Kojetej of Alto and Dennis Odersma of Grand Rapids.

According to the Kent County Sheriff's report, Zeew was eastbound on 28th Street around 2:30 a.m. when he came upon the camper in the same lane. Another vehicle was in the other lane, so Zeew apparently drove over the median and crashed into the semi which was exiting from 196. The driver of the truck was hurt.

Pulling The Community Into The School

The only unfortunate thing about last week's Lowell School Board meeting was that more people did not attend. Those who did went away full of enthusiasm for the high school programs that were shown as part of Supt. Donald Kelly's plan to "pull the community into the school."

Supt. Kelly is instituting a series of board meetings in the various buildings to illustrate new and innovative curriculum—some of which are available to adults in the school district as well as students.

At last week's meeting Gordon Gould demonstrated the career planning room and the use of computers to aid students in their pursuit of what will be their life's work. Pete Siler conducted a tour through the greenhouse utilized by both agriculture and science classes, and David Boone described training students to operate the science department's computer.

Following are accounts of the first three demonstrated departments: Career Planning—There are 13 stations in the career planning room. A computer, programmed down to a fine level of distinction, has been set up to deal with individual personalities and temperament (whether shy or outgoing, etc.) as well as interest and ability and prints out a variety of careers that would best suit the individual.

After using the computer and view scanner to open up possible career areas, the other stations deal with requirements necessary to pursue the career. If a college degree is necessary, there is a section on all Michigan colleges and universities, the financial aid available and what is offered in each school in that particular field.

If a trade school is indicated, then there is a station for that. A would-be mechanic can discover things about this field that he may never have thought of from automotive to diesel to aircraft. Those interested in communication are given necessary information in everything from telephone operators to police dispatchers to radio announcers.

High School Counselor Gordon Gould stated that today there are over 200 separate careers in Michigan that Lowell students have access to information about through the computer

STRIPPING FOR FUN AND PROFIT . . .

How's that for an opening statement? If your mind is in the gutter you're probably thinking that this is going to be an interesting column for a change. You couldn't be more wrong because I'm referring to stripping the finish from antique furniture and after doing exactly that for an entire weekend, I can't think of anything that would be less interesting.

The idea of getting into this did not come from me. Terese gets full credit for it but I'll be darned if she's going to take credit for the finished product. Bright and early Saturday morning she broke out the liquid stripper, donned her rubber gloves and proceeded to strip her treasures of their many layers of assorted finishes that they had gathered over the years.

The treasures included a commode that had been stained, varnished, painted and what have you so many times that I believe the finish was thicker than the wood. The topper though, were two old chairs with intricate carvings and turned spindles that provided hundreds of little nooks and crannies to defy even the cleverest attempts at getting the old finish out of them.

You're probably wondering how I got involved in this project if it was all my wife's idea. Well, I'm one of those guys who feels sorry for his wife when she gets herself into a job that seems to be more like a man's work. With women's liberation being what it is today, maybe I should ignore her and take up embroidery.

At any rate, I found myself right in the thick of things by mid-morning and without the aid of rubber gloves. When I began complaining about my hands and arms burning, my wife said, "It says right on the can to avoid contact with your skin, you big dummy." Well, I've always preached to the old sage that says, "If all else fails, read the directions." After that, I was a little more careful about getting the stuff on my skin and I was okay except that my wife's "big dummy" statement had permanently wounded my ego. She never has been very sympathetic and I guess that after five years of marriage I should know better than to look for any sympathy from her corner.

After a whole weekend of this the chairs and commode look pretty good and I'm sure that when they are sanded and the new finish is applied they are going to be beautiful. But as far as wanting to my wife, the next bunch of old furniture to arrive at the Brown household is going to be all hers and I just might jump myself down in one of her refinished chairs and take up that embroidery that I mentioned.

Computer Knowledge—In today's highly specialized fields the world of computers is both vast and invaluable. Computer Instructor David Boone told his attentive audience. Although the complicated computers are expensive, and the high school has two, Boone explained that the highly technical instruments were purchased through Title IV federal funds and did not cost the local district anything.

The next in this series of public examination of school facilities will be on Special Education programs in the Middle School. It will be part of a special Board of Education meeting and the date will be announced soon.

HOMESPUN DEVOTIONS
By Pauline E. Spray

... he departed again into a mountain himself alone (John 6:15). We just had moved to a new pasture. While I was tucking the children into bed the first night, Sybil began to cry: "What's the matter?" I asked with motherly concern: "I don't think we're going to be happy here," she sobbed. Tears ran profusely down her round, babyish face. I assured her that in time we would make friends and learn to love our new home as we had all the others.

Loneliness isn't pleasant. Man's greatest instinct calls for the companionship of others. But the Christian finds that there are times when he must stand alone. When these times come, it takes real courage and stamina to be a true follower of Christ.

Learning more about people and family relationships can enrich and strengthen family life and often prevent serious problems. That's what Family Life Education is all about at the Family Service Association, A United Way Agency. One type of program offered is called "Plays for Living," stimulating performances depicting a variety of family living situations which provide an imaginative springboard for discussion, led by a trained professional.

Here volunteers Vicki Dieters, Cordie Veneklasen and Mary L. McClain practice one of the plays. "I was surprised at how much the audience got out of the plays," commented Mrs. Dieters. "In their discussions afterwards they could pick so many things out of the plays better than reading or a lecture. It's easier for the audience to relate when they see you act it out."

Mrs. Veneklasen is also a Board Member of the Family Service Association. "I think it's terrific to get people thinking before they have the problem," she said. "It's easier to identify with a problem and the characters in the play."

Mrs. McClain volunteered through Beta Sigma Phi as a service project. "My favorite is 'All the Caterpillars' about discipline and the working world. The discussion afterwards is really interesting."

Other programs offered for Family Life Education by Family Services are Discussion Series with a group of people meeting regularly over a period of several weeks and a Single Meeting for a larger group with the speaker presenting material on a topic selected by the group, followed by a discussion or question and answer period.

Family Services also offers help to those seeking solutions to marital conflict, parent-child conflicts, social adjustments and crises centering around financial or job relationships through marriage, family and group counseling.

Family Services Association is one of 59 United Way Agencies funded annually through the United Way Campaign. To help those who need help support the United Way drive now underway.

Charged With Animal Cruelty

Two Ada farm owners have entered a plea of innocent in Kent County's 63rd District Court on charges of Animal Cruelty.
David and William Johnson of 7575 Fase Street, after making their plea, were released on their own recognizance pending trial.
Four horses, owned by the Johnsons were taken from an Ada Farm last Wednesday by officials from the Kent County Humane Society, who went to the premises to investigate a complaint that the horses were being abused.
Lawrence Schalk, D.V.M., said "the horses are in worse shape than any he'd ever seen that were still standing."
Friday, one of the four horses died of malnutrition and dehydration.

Steffens Proves To Be Mainstay On Laker Team

At the beginning of the 1977 season, Grand Valley State's head football coach Jim Harkema, had to replace 18 starters from last year's nationally-ranked team which posted an 8-2 record. Harkema has done this with a handful of returning lettermen, transfers and talented freshmen.
One of the handful of returning lettermen is Rusty Steffens. Steffens, a two-time all-conference and all-district selection at right guard, has proven to be a mainstay of the Laker team this season and for the past three seasons.
"I don't know what we would have done without the caliber of player Rusty is. His leadership, and that of a small nucleus of lettermen, has helped us be the quality number one team that we have been over the years," Harkema said.

Grand Valley seems to be putting it all together after a slow start. Two weeks ago Grand Valley soundly defeated conference rival Saginaw Valley, 41-14. Steffens was named offensive player of the week for his outstanding blocking and pass protection. Steffens shared the honor with offensive line partner, Gary Evans, of Bay City, and quarterback, Roy Gonzales, of Adrian.
Last week the Lakers defeated previously unbeaten Defiance College of Ohio, 24-0. "We are very close to playing the kind of football we are capable of playing. The line play this season, anchored by Steffens, has been especially pleasing area for me," Harkema said.
The Lakers are the masters of their own fate. They are currently in fourth place in the conference standings. The three teams ahead of them are the three teams the Lakers have on the remainder of their schedule. Saturday, October 29, the Lakers play old nemesis Northwood Institute in Midland, a team they've never beaten in four previous starts.

A 63 yard run by McKnight started off the Broncos scoring early in the second quarter. Coopersville scored two more times in the second quarter with a 9 yard run and a 28 yard run by Cain to end the first half with an 18 point lead.
Cain scored 2 more times with a six yard run and a 43 yard run and then McKnight scored with an 8 yard run to bring the final Coopersville score to 38 points.
In the second half Lowell scored 3 times making the extra points each time to bring the Arrows score to 29-4.

Birds also adapt to face the challenge of winter survival. Those that do not migrate south grow an extra layer of fine feathers called down which traps air for increased insulation. Some birds must also change their diets from insects to seeds that may be the only available food for some species.
Some animals have the "take it easy" approach to winter survival. Turtles, snakes and frogs will hibernate beneath the ground or under a layer of mud. Respiration and metabolism is slowed down in these states, the turtle may have a heart rate of only 1 per 2 minutes and will breathe with special areas near their legs and tail.
Some people migrate south, others hibernate next to a fire watching football games, and others will remain active all year enjoying a wide variety of winter sports—Steve Harrington.

Of all the football stadiums in America today, did you ever wonder which one is the oldest? . . . Answer is Harvard Stadium which was the first concrete football stadium built in the United States . . . It was opened in 1903.
What's the farthest a man can throw a football? . . . There's no official record but most experts say that under game conditions the farthest a pro quarterback can throw the ball in the air is about 70 yards . . .
But in practice sessions, without any linemen charging and with plenty of time to get set, some passers in football history such as Jack Kemp and Kenny Washington have been reported as being able to throw more than 80 yards . . . And some players say quarterback Rudy Bukich once threw a ball 100 yards in the air.
I bet you didn't know . . . The Captain's Korner has a complete line of Swank Billboards & Wallets. Just in time for your early Christmas Shopping.

The 1977-78 Mothers' March for the National Foundation of the March of Dimes, was kicked off Tuesday, November 1, in the Lowell area. The March will continue for the next two weeks. This annual drive to raise funds for the prevention and/or treatment of birth defects, supports many local programs in Kent County and the Lowell area, including the Mobile Health Clinic, which serves all the health needs for the citizens of the Lowell area.

Mrs. Martin (Treva) Johnson of 11755-36th Street, S.E., Lowell, is the co-chairman for all southern townships, including the Lowell area.

Mrs. Johnson has been involved with the Mothers' March for over twenty-eight years. She urges all the residents of the area to welcome the dedicated workers to their homes during the period of November 1 thru November 15.

She feels that the National Slogan for the March of Dimes "Birth Defects are Forever—Unless you Help," fits the feelings of the many, many women in the area contributing their time and talents.

Four members of the East Grand Rapids Chapter of the Embroiderers' Guild of America will demonstrate four ornaments.

Glory Meyer will show how to make a patchwork wreath; Barbara Rader will demonstrate a needlepoint house; Mary Ann Winter, a needlepoint dove, and Andrea Sugiyama, a punch-paper book mark.

Several types of needlework ornaments will be on display at the Cascade Library in a special case from Oct. 31 through Nov. 17.

Nears 50% Of Goal

The United Way Star Battle continues to rage as 15,000 volunteers fight against the adversities of sickness, neglect, stress, loneliness and misfortune in the galaxy of Kent County.

News from the 'front' given at the second report meeting in the Pantlind Ballroom was most encouraging. Total monies collected as of October 26 was $1,788,663 which is 50.4 percent of goal.

Lowell Campaign Chairman, Arnold Wittenbach, reported that his community had raised $2,540 which is 43.8% of their goal of $5,801.

Rather than following the traditional format for report meetings, United Way personnel with the assistance of media personalities Andy Rent and Jay Ricci have designed a theme based on the popular movie, "Star Wars." The good guys are Obi-wan Kenobi played by Frank Merlotti, Campaign Chairman; robots, C3PO and R2D2; the mysterious Princess Leia; and a new character introduced this week, the Wookie, Chewbacca. Villain is of course that black lord of outer space, Darth Vader.

Rev. William Abney of the Bethel Penecostal Church closed the meeting by telling the audience of almost 200 that "We have some real goals, some real needs to be done. We have the power to create the future for a lot of people to make it better. May the force be with you."

Latest report brings Lowell to 50.6% with $2,933.51.

TELEVISION VIOLENCE
 The effects of television violence on a child's behavior is the subject of a major research project in the Department of Communication at Michigan State University.

and socialize. A time for questions and discussion followed the meeting. Future meetings for "Beef and Brag" are being planned.

James S. Vandenberg, Administrator would personally like to thank the Staff, who did a great job in preparation for the evenings festivities, and to thank the families and friends of the residents who showed so much interest.

How Much Will You Save?
 The amount of fuel saved naturally depends upon your home, the amount the ENERGY-MATE is used and the weather. When in use, however, you will notice several differences:

1. Your home will be warmer than it was before.
2. Your present furnace will run much less than it did before.
3. You'll notice a difference in your monthly fuel bill.

With regular use, home heating costs can be greatly reduced.

When the temperature between the inter-lining of the stove reaches 150° Fahrenheit, blower will engage and continue to transfer the heat produced by the wood burner until the fire distinguishes and the inter-jacket temperature goes below 120° Fahrenheit. At this time the blower will shut down.

The small size of the ENERGY-MATE makes it easy to move from one location to another. Use it in your home during the winter and at the cabin on those cool summer nights.
