The S.S. Edmund Fitzgerald in the early evening of November 10, 1975, disappeared during a heavy storm on Lake Superior. Her captain and crew of 28 are still listed as missing. Why wasn't there a distress signal? What could have happened so quickly? The startling facts of this incident are revealed in a book "The Wreck of the Edmund Fitzgerald," by Frederick Stonehouse, published recently by Avery Color Studios in AuTrain, Michigan...

Parents of seventh grade Middle School students are welcomed and urged to attend a meeting at the Lowell Middle School to receive the results and explanation of the 1977 Michigan Assessment tests administered in October, 1977. These meetings will be held from 2 to 3 p.m. in the Middle School cafeteria on Wednesday, January 25, and from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m. in Middle School Media Center, also on the 25th. We look forward to seeing you at one of these meetings...

A single vehicle accident last Friday afternoon on Grand River Drive, southwest of Lowell, has left a Lowell girl hospitalized. Monica Manszewski, a passenger in a pickup truck which hit a power pole, slid down an embankment and hit three trees, is in Blodgett Hospital with a broken hip. It is expected that she will have to remain there for three or four weeks...

Expand your talents... sewing, personal charm, gymnastics, exercise, guitar, painting, crafts... by joining one of these YMCA classes which start the week of January 23. Registration can be made at the YMCA headquarters on West Main Street, where class schedules are also available...

Warrants will be sought on William Fisk and Howard Gietzen, employees of Atwood Corporation on charges of larceny from a building. Atwood Security officers, assisted by Lowell Police officers, apprehended the two after allegedly taking a horn set from the plant on Monroe Street, Saturday...

Bitter temperatures over the week end kept area residents in where it was warm. Sunday morning, many thermometers dipped down to 10 below, with the wind chill factor nearly going out of sight, as does the heating bills. With only light snow predicted by weathermen for the remainder of the week, it is still said to be cold, with a promise of one day of sunshine. Don't blink, you might miss it!

Under investigation by Lowell Police officers is the theft of a snowmobile from the residence of Duane Hendrick... injured last Friday evening, when he lost control of his car and hit a utility pole on North Hudson Street, near Foreman was Michael Kelly of Saranac...

Newly-elected Lowell City Mayor Dean Collins this week signed a proclamation heralding the week of January 16-21 as Jaycee Week, in connection with the National Jaycee Week Observance. On the local level, the Lowell Area Jaycees have issued a note of thanks to area residents for all the support the club has received on such projects as their paper drop, walkathon, etc. "Without your help, they wouldn't have been successful," they concluded...

A special meeting on Monday, January 23, ordered by the Lowell Area Schools' Board of Education, will be devoted mainly to receiving a comprehensive report on Special Education, presented by the Special Education Director, Roger Buck and his staff. The meeting is set for 7:30 p.m. at the Middle School. The public is urged to attend...

Outdoor Adventures is the title of a course that will be offered to Lowell High School students this year. Beginning February 2, the course will cover wilderness survival, wilderness first aid, campfire cooking, canoeing and backpacking. Outdoor adventures is a course designed to train students to handle themselves properly in the event of an emergency. Students also learn skills that will help them enjoy a lifetime of outdoor activity. Interested students should contact the Community Education office for registration. Cost is $10.

Rotarians Begin Candidate Search

Dean Bailey, president of the Rotary Club of Lowell, has announced that the club is searching for young people as candidates for Rotary Foundation educational awards for study abroad in 1979-80. The awards, for graduate and undergraduate students,

Free Clinic On Skiing

A free clinic on cross-country skiing, sponsored by the Kent County Park Department and Bill & Paul's Sporthaus, will take place from 1 to 3 p.m. Jan. 21 and 22 in the clubhouse of the L.E. Kaufman Golf Course in Palmer Park, Clyde Park Avenue, south of 44th Street, SW. William Wight, park superintendent, says no pre-registration is necessary; skiers should bring their own equipment or if they do not have such equipment, it can be rented from local sports shops, and the clinic will be conducted by certified ski instructors from the Sporthaus.

Accident Injures Two

Icy and snow covered M-21, west of Lowell, near Cumberland Avenue, was the cause of a two car accident Monday morning at approximately 9:40 a.m. Involved were vehicles driven by Don Hoogerhyde of 1029 Iowa, S.W., Wyoming and Karen Knapp, 908 East Main, Lowell. According to the Kent County Sheriff's report, Ms. Knapp was westbound on M-21, had passed another car, and spun out of control when she pulled back in, hitting Hoogerhyde's car which was headed east. Both drivers were treated and released at Blodgett Hospital; Ms. Knapp for a bump on the head and Hoogerhyde for multiple cuts on the chin and leg.

Elevated To Head M. T. A.

"It's an honor," remarked Kenneth Anderson of Ada, after he was elected president of the 1,234-member Michigan Township Association (MTA), at their 25th anniversary convention held in Grand Rapids, last week. Anderson, 49, of 1879 Honey Creek Avenue, Ada, is in his 18th year serving as clerk of Ada Township, and relates that it has taken him 10-12 years to work his way up through the offices to become president of the MTA. During 1977, he served the Association as its vice-president.

Survey Shows... Voters Seem Satisfied, But Hesitate To Pay

A telephone survey initiated by the Lowell Area School Board of Education and administration, to ascertain voter attitudes toward the Lowell Area School District in mid-December, showed that residents of the district who are registered voters are generally satisfied with their schools, yet they apparently don't want to pay more for education.

All interviews were conducted by local volunteers who were trained by the Synergy Group, Inc., of Utica, Michigan, a professional research firm which also prepared the questionnaire used in the survey. The firm also verified, coded, computer processed and interpreted the survey's results.

The basic objective in conducting the survey was to feel the pulse of the community, gathering opinions of voters and parents to be used as a guide in both short-range and long-range planning for the district. On December 9 and 10, 354 voters in the district were interviewed. Less than half, forty-two percent, of the survey respondents felt they were able to be kept well informed about what is going on in the school system; 36 percent said they felt somewhat informed and 18 percent classified themselves as not too well informed.

School district newsletters ranked as the number one source of information, with newspapers ranking a close second. Over 52 percent of those interviewed indicated that they would like more school information, and listed financial information on top of the list.

Lowell teachers and the school program ranked one and two on the list of things people liked about the school, with handling of money, student discipline and administration heading the categories of what people liked least.

Public willingness to pay more taxes for the restoration of school programs appears lacking at this time. The only item for which respondents indicated they'd be willing to pay more for was vocal music at the Middle School and then the margin of support was not substantial, only 52 percent.

This month's issue of the Board of Education's newsletter to the residents of the school district has an overall breakdown of the survey, listing questions asked and the percentage of answers.

Area Blood Donors Are Recognized

Ten outstanding blood donors from the Grand Valley Ledger area were honored by the Grand Valley Blood Program (GVBP) at a recognition dessert on Monday, January 16 at Grand Rapids Osteopathic Hospital.

Among those honored from Lowell were Maj. Bogert, 11361 Dorothy; Dennis Cummings, 10580 36th St., and Robert Ellis, 2719 Bewell.

Recognized from the Forest Hills area were: Harry Jones, 646 Adaway; David Kreuze, 14290 Ironwood; Conrad Larson, 307 Lakeway; Stanley Noteboom, 2583 Kraft; Robert Payette, 2251 S. Sauk Trail and Donald Van Dyke, 1901 Lenawee.

To be honored from Ada is: Robert VanStrein, 8960 28th St. They have each contributed three gallons (24 pints) or more of blood during the past few years.

113 other Kent County residents who have contributed at least three gallons were also recognized at this event. Most give approximately five times a year.

This is the third year a blood donor recognition event has been held by the Grand Valley Blood Program during January, National Voluntary Blood Donor Month. The GVBP started this local observance three years ago to publicly thank the volunteer donors in Kent County who give of themselves to help those in need of lifesaving blood.

The GVBP was formed out of a merger of the Kent County Red Cross and the Michigan Community Blood Center in April, 1975. The Blood Program is now the sole source of blood for all area medical facilities.

Currently, less than 4% of eligible Kent County residents are active volunteer blood donors. These regular donors contributed nearly 22,369 units of blood in 1977. This total is 2,437 units above 1976.

Shirley Shine, technical director of the Grand Valley Blood Program, expects a need for 24,000 units of blood in 1978. It is necessary too for the Blood Program to collect fresh blood almost daily. "On behalf of patients in Kent County hospitals this year, the Grand Valley Blood Program would like to thank all who generously donated blood," Shine said.

"It is their caring attitude toward their fellow man which makes it possible for area hospitals to have an adequate supply of lifesaving blood."

UNION SEEKS TO CONTROL YOUR SCHOOLS

Two bills now before state legislators would have far reaching and deep seated effect which would destroy lay and local control of education in Michigan. House bill 4242 and its substitute H.B. 5109 both seek to give the power of licensing and regulating teachers to a commission with the majority of its members being from M.E.A., the teacher's union.

This commission would control the number of licenses issued, to whom they are issued, as well as the suspension and revocation process. The bills would also enable this commission to control the curriculum and accreditation for all public and non-public schools.

Since a majority of the commission members would be designated members of the M.E.A., control of the schools would, in effect, be given to the M.E.A. This same union is presently working at state and local levels to be joined with the Public Employees Union, giving it the greatest political clout in the country, with about 25% of the population in the country in one union.

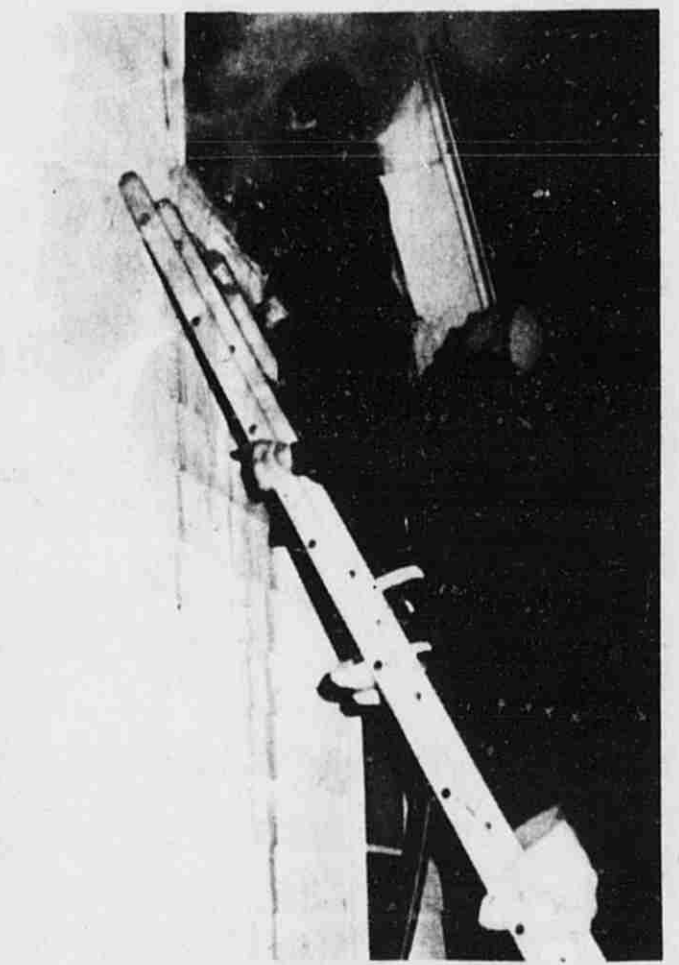

Further, while a teacher served on this commission, the local school district would be required to pay his usual salary and that of a substitute for the classroom.

On Friday, Jan. 20 public hearings will be held at the Kalamazoo Civic Center at 10 a.m. to hear testimony on these teacher-licensure bills. The public is urged to attend.

Your local school board joins with other boards across the state in pleading for citizen demands on their legislators to now allow these bills to become law. Your board of education members request that you write Rep. Martin Butth, House of Representative, Lansing, Michigan, making your feelings known.

Home Badly Damaged By Fire

Lowell firemen Tom Ford and Ken Thompson are shown fighting a house fire at 12214 McPherson Rd., Lowell. The home was the residence of James Brown; no one was home at the time of the fire. The Lowell Fire Department was called to the scene at about 7 p.m. Sunday, January 15. Lowell Fire Chief Frank Baker said it took the firemen three hours to put out the blaze caused by an overheated wood burning stove. Baker also said that the living room was fully involved when the fire department arrived and the fire went all the way to the roof before it was brought under control. No estimate of damages has yet been established.

City May Seek Damages

It was decided at the Monday, January 16 meeting of the Lowell City Council not to withhold a payment of nearly $5,000 for liquidated damages from the roughly $35,000 due to Globe Industries but still being held by the city. The city may be seeking nearly $5,000 in damages from Globe because of their 34-day delay in completing the ground storage tank at the water treatment plant last summer.

On the recommendation of Councilman Robert Christiansen, the council decided to make sure that the sum being sought in damages could be justified, if taken to court. City Manager Ray Quada was instructed by the council to compile the necessary data and figures.

C.J. Christoff & Sons were granted an extension of the completion date of their Foreman Road facility under the provisions of their exemption certificate application. The original date of September, 1977, was revised to December, 1978.

A resolution authorizing final payment to Reigler Well Drilling ($8,117.31) for their work on the water treatment plant, was passed unanimously by the council.

The council discussed future sewer connections to the forced main on M-21 which serves Lowell Township, west of the city limits. The discussion revolved around a planned apartment complex at the corner of Gee Dr. and Alden Nash.

Mayor Dean Collins suggested that it might be more feasible to run the line down Gee Dr. and tie into the system

Wins $5,000

Lowell City employee Flo Beggs is shown with a big smile and her check for $5,000 from the Michigan State Lottery Bureau. Mrs. Beggs won the prize on the current bowling instant game on December 23, 1977. The ticket was purchased at the Lowell Beer Store. Mrs. Beggs says that she won at a very nice time as December 23 is two days after her wedding anniversary and two days prior to Christmas. She received the check on January 12.

Mrs. Beggs says that she has not yet decided what she is going to do with the money.

By Roger Brown

When my luck goes bad, it seems to go really bad. Take last week, for instance, things seemed to roll along pretty smoothly all week and into the weekend, and then came the Super Bowl.

Craig Morton and the Denver Broncos had eight turnovers and a string of bad luck that was right in line with the kind of luck I was having. We had super out of the way, and my wife and I had just planted ourselves in front of the TV to watch the big game when the phone rang. There was a well involved house fire on McPherson Road north of Lowell.

This meant grabbing my camera and heading out there to get a picture or two for the paper. When I arrived the fire was pretty well under control, but the Lowell Fire Department was still trying to extinguish a few stubborn flames in the attic. I took my pictures in short order and headed back to the car.

You know how those crowded country roads with their build-up of packed snow can be slippery and very tricky? Well, I was parked heading up a hill, and when I stepped on the gas to leave, the rear end of my car slid right into the shoulder of the road. For all intents and purposes, I was stuck even though I could drive up to the car in front of me or down to the truck in back of me.

Everyone was up the road watching the fire and consequently there was nobody around to give me the needed shove or to move a car so that I could get a proper run at getting back onto the road. Just about ready to give up and call a wrecker, I decided to try to move the truck park at the house. Luckily, the truck was parked in front of my car and I could back down the hill and put it into neutral and let it coast back down the hill a ways.

Now, I could get a pretty good run at getting out of there and after several attempts and a lot of wheel spinning I finally made it back out into the road.

By now I had been gone for about an hour and was anxious to get home and finish the game. Just after getting back to Lincoln Lake Road and heading south into Lowell, my right rear tire went flat. flappa, flappa and finally flat! I think all that wheel spinning had torn the valve stem loose.

So I now went about changing the tire in the cold and the dark with neither proper clothing or a flashlight. Throughout the procedure I had the company of a large Husky and a German Shepherd who growled and barked at my every move. I have never fought a more stubborn set of lug nuts in my life, but I prevailed over the darned things after breaking one completely off.

Finally, the tire was changed and I was off and running back to Lowell to rejoin the game as the fourth quarter was starting. As anyone who watched the game knows, I didn't miss much but, I would still rather have been sitting there watching it than doing what I had been doing.

To add insult to injury my left front tire went flat Monday morning about two blocks from my house. The tires on my car are less than a year old and still look like new so I have no explanation for that second flat other than as I stated in my opening sentence, "When my luck goes bad, it seems to go really bad."

Blue Birds Busy Group

The Happy Blue Birds have been a busy group. In December we strung styrofoam pieces to decorate the trees in the city parking lot. We also decorated cookies for the Christmas parade, marched in the Christmas parade, made a Christmas decoration, gave gifts to a needy family and had a party.

Now we are making Valentines and writing letters for residents of the Michigan Veterans' Facility. This annual Camp Fire project is called "No Greater Love."

One of our members Kathy Budres moved to Greenville, and LuAnn Howard has joined our group.

Don't Tear Down The Old Church!

The following article, written by the Rev. Raymond Gayerford, pastor of the Cascade Christian Church, was taken from the December 16 issue of "The Disciple" magazine.

One hundred years ago the village square of Cascade, Michigan, had a blacksmith shop, general store, Grand half, stagecoach inn, grist mill, a few homes, barns, open fields and a church. Today, only the church and a few dwellings remain. The one-time village square is in the midst of a vast suburban complex, with four and five-lane highways approaching Cascade in all directions.

A century ago, when the old church was constructed, the membership comprised fewer than one hundred persons, to day's membership numbers more than a thousand and continues to grow. Litanic revival services, botanicals, quilting bees and river baptisms have been replaced with a contemporary sanctuary, modern offices, educational and social rooms, a welfare center and blacktopped parking facilities sprawling over a two-and-a-half-acre parcel of choice real estate. When additional acreage was bought at a premium cost, some of the "old-time members" thought the church was out of its mind for paying such a price.

The decision of Cascade Christian Church fourteen years ago to retain the New England rectangular-shaped original building, leasing 120, was undoubtedly one of the wisest decisions made by the congregation. One architectural firm had advised tearing the old church down. A second saw advantages in retaining it as a vital link in a campus-type church facility. A few members felt it would be too costly to maintain "two churches."

All of this discussion spawned a committee, and endless volun-

Doyle - Frischkorn Vows Solemnized

Pernelle Elliott Frischkorn, daughter of Mrs. Alex E. Booth, Jr., of Huntington, West Virginia, and David E.K. Frischkorn of Miami, Florida, was married on Saturday, January 7, to William Stowell Doyle, II of New York City. Mr. Doyle is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William S. Doyle of Lowell.

Dr. Thomas Apperson performed the evening candlelight ceremony in the Old Stone Presbyterian Church in Lewisburg, West Virginia.

Rebecca Frischkorn of Charleston, West Virginia, sister of the bride, served as matron of honor, and Victoria Campbell of Huntington, West Virginia, served as maid of honor. Nancy Jane Doyle of Charlottesville, Virginia, sister of the groom, served as bridesmaid. Attending as flower girl was Catherine Bolton of Huntington, West Virginia.

John S. Dymon of Millbrook, New York, served as best man. Ushers were David E.K. Frischkorn, Jr., of Houston, Texas, and Carl F. Frischkorn of Charlottesville, West Virginia, brothers of the bride. Lawrence F. O'Brien, III, of Washington, D.C., Maynard Parker of New York City and Thomas F. Timberman, Jr., of Oslo, Norway, were bridesmaids.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore the wedding dress of the bride's aunt, a heavy silk satin gown ornamented by heron lace, which was worn also at the wedding of the bride's mother and grandmother. She wore a matching cream colored veil of imported French make and her hair was styled in a classic chignon.

The bride's attendants wore long ivory chiffon gowns. They carried bouquets of pink roses, red miniature carnations, babies' breath, and daisies and were wearing gossamer veils. The bride carried a bouquet of ivory roses, stephanitis, babies' breath and daisies.

Round Table Discussion On Energy

The Women's Club of Lowell met on January 11, in the lounge of the Schneider Manor on Bowers Street. The President, Mrs. Rommie Moore conducted a short business meeting during which we voted to give a gift of money to the continuing support of "Girl's Town", a school for girls.

For the program a very interesting round-table discussion was headed by Mrs. Leo Denny, who is most interested in how we can all help save energy.

Each member took her turn in telling how she tries to save energy. There were many different answers, and ideas - we all enjoyed the discussion very much.

The new Lowell YMCA program director Ralph Houston, paid us a very short visit telling us about his work with the YMCA.

The afternoon concluded with a social time. The hostess Mrs. Johnson and her tea committee of Mrs. Chaterdon, Mrs. Gray, Mrs. Rose, Mrs. Scott and Mrs. Single served tea from a beautiful buffet table.

Save Those Soup Labels

The program, Label for Education Program, is sponsored by the Campbell Soup Company. Between now and March 31, we hope to collect enough labels from Campbell's products to earn a Dukane Filmmstrip Projector and a Track 10 Primary Metric Measurement Kit. The students are saving their labels and they would appreciate it, if friends and relatives of the school children would do the same.

Any Campbell's soup, Chunky Soup, Soup for American label counts in the drive.

As a participating school we will send in the assigned number of labels for the above mentioned articles and will use them in our classrooms.

We wish to take this opportunity to say "thank you" for your support and help in previous campaigns.

Saranac Takes Fire Destroys Maple Valley Saranac Home

The Saranac Redskins held on to their second place standing with their win last Tuesday night against Maple Valley, 35-48.

The Redskins took the lead early with 12 points and were never behind. During the last quarter Maple Valley fought to within six points of the Reds with 2:30 left on the clock.

The starting lineup was put back into the game for Saranac and quickly had a 10 point lead, finishing the game with that lead.

Maple Valley managed to score only five points during the entire first period while Saranac racked up 17. During the second quarter Saranac outscored the Reds 17-14 but it wasn't enough to overcome the lead Saranac had built up.

During the third and fourth periods Maple Valley outscored the Reds 17-14 but it wasn't enough to overcome the lead Saranac had built up.

Saranac was able to hold Andy Josterbergs, leading scorer in the TCAA at four points. Previously he had scored 20 or more points per game.

Kevin Reynolds and Steve Metternick dominated the boards for Saranac with 15 and 14 respectively. Reynolds also blocked six Lions shots.

Pete Benton of Maple Valley led both teams in scoring with 20 points. Kevin Thesen finished the game with 18 points. Thesen currently is in second place in the TCAA in scoring.

HOMEPUN DEVOTIONS

... thou shalt take thy rest in safety. Also thou shalt lie down, and none shall make thee afraid. (Job 11: 18, 19).

After saying her evening prayer—"Now I lay me down to sleep, I pray the Lord, my soul to keep, If I should die before I wake, I pray Thee, Lord, my soul to take"—Sylbi always added this postscript: Help so nothing don't get us. Help so the house don't burn down!

Years later, we recall her childhood prayer with amusement.

Fear is an unpleasant thing. Many people are afraid of the dark and the perils which they suspect lurk in the blackness of night.

To be able to lie down in safety is the Christian's privilege. His life belongs to God. Should anything happen to him before he awakens, his soul will go to be with his Maker forever in a place of eternal bliss, and Christian's mortal possessions belong to God, also. Therefore,

Clean Water Plan Topic For Hearings

The West Michigan Regional Planning Commission (WMRPC) will hold public hearings on the proposed Clean Water Plan for the nine (9) county area including Allegan, Ionia, Kent, Lake Mason, Mecosta, Montcalm, Newaygo and Oshtemo Counties.

The hearings are scheduled for Wednesday, January 25, at 2 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. in the School of Education Building, Auditorium #2 at Ferris State College, Big Rapids and Thursday, January 26, at 2 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. in the City Commission Chambers in the Grand Rapids City Hall.

The hearings will culminate a two and one-half year effort that identified sources of water pollution, evaluated the effects of each particular source and developed a number of programs to control water pollution in order to achieve and maintain high quality water throughout West Michigan.

Implementation of the water pollution controls in the Plan is estimated to cost upwards of $300 million over the next 20 years. Water pollution control programs identified in the Plan range from the construction of sewers and wastewater treatment plants to implementation of septic tank maintenance and repair programs, increased enforcement of the soil erosion and sedimentation control act, the use of Best Management Practices for agricultural activities and land use controls to ensure that new developments do not have negative impacts on water quality.

According to Daniel Strobeck, Environmental Planner for the Clean Water Project, "local units of government and individual citizens will have to take an active role in carrying out the Plan's recommendations if water quality is to be improved and maintained in West Michigan. Right now, we have a good deal of support from our member units of government and individual citizens. In fact, many of the control recommendations in the Plan were identified by citizens through the Project's public Task Forces."

The Clean Water Plan designates each of the nine (9) County Boards and the major cities in the Region as pollution control managers. It will be their responsibility through their health departments, drain commissioners, soil conservation districts, and other agencies to implement water pollution control programs. Initially, control programs will be applied to critical pollution areas. As these problems are corrected control programs will be focused on other less critical areas. Failure to adopt and implement provisions of a Clean Water Plan may result in the termination of a community's eligibility for Federal funds for the construction of water pollution control projects. Currently, Federal funds cover up to 75% of the cost of water pollution control facilities. Additionally, discharge permits for industry and municipalities will not be granted to communities which fail to carry out the Plan.

The Plan also establishes an Area-wide Water Quality Board, consisting of the Regional Planning Commission, and three geographically based water quality advisory committees. The primary functions of the Board and the Committees are to annually review and revise the Clean Water Plan; assist County and local units of government to implement portions of the Plan; and coordinate and monitor implementation efforts between local units of government.

Urgent Appeal

There are hundreds of elderly people in nursing homes in Kent County waiting for someone to show they care. With this thought in mind, the Red Cross is issuing an urgent appeal to the Community for volunteers to work in area nursing homes.

In nursing homes, volunteers will feed patients, make unoccupied patient beds, pass trays and water, assist in grooming, write letters, deliver mail and flowers, and transport patients to therapy and recreation programs within the institution.

Volunteers must be at least 14 years old—adult volunteers are especially needed.

All volunteers will be required to attend a training class Wednesday, January 25 from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the Red Cross Chapter Building at 1050 Fuller, NE. There will be a break for lunch.

Red Cross volunteers have a choice of serving in the following locations: Michigan Veterans Facility, Pine Rest, English Hills Nursing Home, Grand Valley Nursing Center, Mary Free Bed Rehabilitation Complex, Crestview Nursing Center, Holland Home, Raybrook Nursing Hospital and Sherbrook Nursing Home.

For more information or to volunteer call the Community Service Programs Office of the Red Cross at 456-8661.

Announces Candidacy

Senator John R. Otterbacher (D-Grand Rapids) has formally announced his candidacy for the United States Senate seat being vacated by retiring Senator Robert P. Griffin.

In a prepared statement, Otterbacher emphasized that his campaign will "tap the collective spirit of people working together to make a better tomorrow."

Cross country skiing is one of the fastest growing of all winter sports. More and more people are finding how to enjoy the outdoors in the winter as well as they enjoy it in the summer.

Skiers are afforded the opportunity to see yarding whitetail deer, winter songbirds, and a variety of wildlife they might not otherwise see. Fox, rabbits, raccoons, and other animals are more visible in the winter and can be caught in the act of finding their meals. Cross country skiing is a quiet sport that can allow you to catch Michigan's wildlife off guard.

Each year a great number of beginners hit the trails and it isn't long before they become proficient in skiing skills. There are a few things beginners should keep in mind to keep from getting discouraged before they really get going. Dress in layers and shed the layers as needed. Cross country skiing can require a good amount of physical effort which creates heat. If you are getting hot while skiing, stop to shed some clothing, if you get cold, stop to put more clothing on.

Don't overdo it the first few times you try cross country skiing. Many people overestimate their skills and try to cover more territory than their skills warrant. Gradually increase the length of your ski trips as your skills increase so you can enjoy the trip without worrying about sore muscles the next day. It is also a good idea to be sure you are in good physical condition. Know your limitations and ski accordingly.

Cross country skiing is a safe and relatively inexpensive sport. A good ski package will cost around $80 to $100. There are thousands of miles of free trails in Michigan so you don't have to pay to ski. You also don't have to travel great distances to ski areas, many fine trails are found on local state game areas.

The best way to find out if you will like cross country skiing is to try it. Many local ski shops rent skis and you can try it for a few hours and will find yourself quickly picking up confidence. You don't have to have an instructor either, a friend that has skied cross country can usually show you how it's done. —Steve Harrington

DIETARY GOALS

Secretary of Agriculture Bob Bergland says he isn't backing away from his belief that future farm policy should be built around research on nutritional needs. He believes farmers will benefit if the government is able to settle some long-standing controversies over things like additives, nitrates in meats, and the healthfulness of eggs.

Farm Bureau supports nutritional research, but when it comes to government trying to dictate what people should eat—the wrong arena. Publications like Senator McGovern's "Dietary Goals" and certain actions being taken by USDA and other government agencies in the food and nutrition area are cause for alarm—and action—by farmers and ranchers, says American Farm Bureau Federation spokesmen.

ROTARY NOTES

The Rotary program for January 11 included King Doyle giving "Grace" before the meal and autobiographical sketches of Jr. Rotarians Kirk Haybarker and Greg Briggs.

Kirk is a high school junior, an Eagle Scout and is interested in silversmithing and landscaping. Greg is a member of student congress and plans to attend Central Michigan to major in special education.

At the conclusion of their meeting the Rotarians were invited to tour the Attwood plant with Attwood President Don Rocheleau, as host. Personnel Manager Larry Zimmerman assisted in conducting the tour.

Rotary guests were Chester Hall, Don Olzak, Rev. Jim Howerda, Steve Wittenbach, Brian Doyle, Larry Zimmerman, Gordon Gould, Doug Olin, Eura McPherson, Gary Vincent and Larry Russell.

Calamity Jane, the Western folk hero, was married a dozen times.

Grattan Must Increase Property Assessments

With the coming of the new year, 1978, residents of Grattan Township will be faced with an increase in property assessments.

State law now requires local jurisdictions to adjust their property assessments each year, to keep them up to fifty (50) percent of the market value.

Just issued by the County of Kent, was a preliminary study, based on sample properties, which show how much each township and city will have to adjust their assessment in the forthcoming year.

Property assessments in Grattan Township are expected to be increased 6.8 percent during 1978.

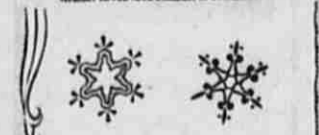

Overall, the Bureau of Equalization's study figured property assessments within the township were 46.64 percent of the cash value.

Commercial and industrial properties were farthest from the 50 percent figure of cash value. Both were found to be assessed at 44.29 percent of cash value.

Agricultural and residential property was assessed at 46.64, according to the Bureau's study.

Property value levels during 1977 rose $1,835,185, according to the County, to $33,666,287, from the assessment of $31,831,102 in 1976.

Maxi-Heat I

$429⁹⁵

Reg. $475⁰⁰

Combination fireplace and stove.

Versatility and function are combined in Maxi-Heat I to make it one of the most popular units on the market. As a fireplace it will give you many pleasant hours of relaxation before an open fire. But in an instant the door can be pulled up from under the firebox to convert it into an energy-efficient airtight stove. Another popular feature of the Maxi-Heat I is its ability to be vented either out the back or through the top of the unit.

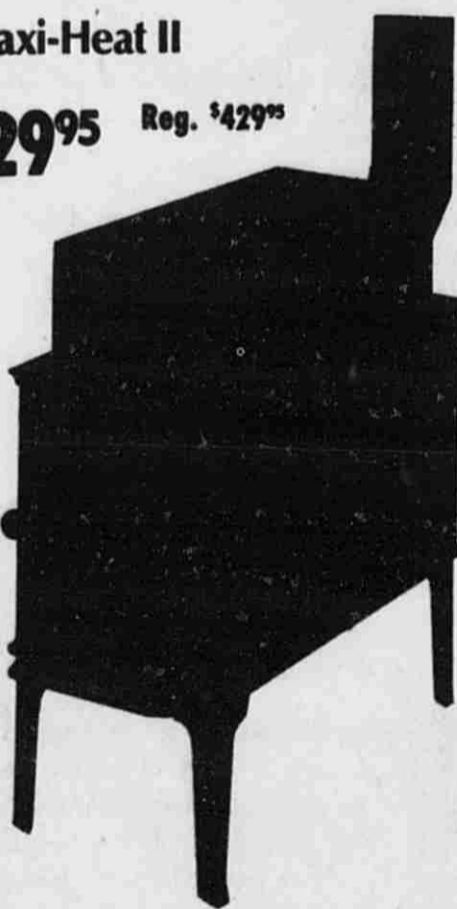

Maxi-Heat I develops up to 50,000 BTU's, and can economically heat up to 1,200 square feet.

Black Pipe Kit For Maxi I

Reg. $29⁹⁵ $24⁹⁵

Maxi-Heat II

$329⁹⁵ Reg. $429⁹⁵

Wood-burning stove.

If only one word could be used to describe the heating characteristics of this wood-burning stove it would be "efficiency." The front end combustion and airtight construction permit slow, efficient burning. As a result, maximum heat is obtained from minimum quantities of wood. The cast iron sides and top collect the heat, and radiate it evenly for comfortable heating. The spacious firebox will accept logs up to 24" long. Because this stove can be vented from either side or out the back, it can be installed sideways in a fireplace opening, or used as a free-standing unit.

Maxi-Heat II is capable of a top BTU output of 44,500 per hour, and will heat up to 1,200 square feet.
