Charged In Shooting Of Deputy

Roger Newton, 20, of Saranac, suspected of wounding a deputy in a shooting spree in Lowell, Sept. 5, admitted he did the shooting to a Kent County Sheriff's detective.

That testimony, given under oath Thursday at Newton's arraignment in 63rd District Court, plus the sworn statements of two other witnesses, prompted Judge Joseph White to order Newton bound to Kent Circuit Court.

Newton is charged with assault with intent to commit murder of a police officer and with possession of a 12-gauge shotgun in the commission of a felony. His $100,000 bond was continued.

"He (Newton) told us he had fired the shotgun at the unit when it was chasing him," testified Detective Lucian Thompson. The suspect said, "I did it, but I didn't mean to hurt anybody," the detective recalled.

The wounded deputy Patrick McCullough, was driving an E-unit when he was injured by a single blast of buckshot, fired through his windshield from a yellow Mustang during a high-speed chase. McCullough, 26, five years with the Sheriff's Department, underwent surgery for pellet wounds to his forehead and right eye, but still had one piece of shot lodged behind the eye. Reported in good condition, he is not assured of full sight.

Lowell Police Sgt. Jim Hutson testified that as McCullough was chasing a yellow Mustang, allegedly driven by Newton, Hutson was also in pursuit in his cruiser. Hutson told the court he saw only one male occupant in the Mustang.

The chase began after reports that someone had shot at a vehicle outside of Lowell and also at a car in the Attwood parking lot.

Trooper Bernard Bell of the State Police post in Ionia told the court Newton was apprehended at his Saranac home about 8:30 a.m. the morning after the shooting. Police had traced the shooting to Newton after Sgt. Hutson informed Kent County of the license number of the yellow Mustang being pursued. Newton appeared tired when arrested, the trooper said, but did not appear intoxicated or drugged at that time.

Be sure to mark your calendar! Date—Sunday, Sept. 24. Place—Keiser's Kitchen. Time—9 to 2. There will be a pancake breakfast (all the pancakes you can eat), sausage and coffee (milk for the children). Adults—$3, children under twelve—$2 donation. All proceeds to go to Re-Float the Lowell Showboat fund. As a rule Keiser's have not been open on Sunday, but this is a special event. Enjoy a good breakfast and help a good cause. Tickets are on sale at Lippert's, Eberhard's, State Savings Bank and Keiser's.

The recent Showboat Kick-off parade for the fund-raising drive proved to be a tremendous success. Hundreds of people watched one of Lowell's largest parades and followed the various units to the 4-H grounds for a full day of family activity. Dr. Clark Vredenburg, Special Events chairman, reported $2,100 was made in the day-long program.

(In future references, "Buttons and Bows" means Re-Float buttons, iron on transfers, pieces of the boat and T-Shirts.)

Chairperson Barbara Curtis and Co-Chairperson Shirley Smith reported that on the Monday, September 11 Lights-On drive $58 was given for Buttons & Bows, and $1,216 was realized for tickets on the car.

The Re-Float the Boat drive has been on a little over a week. Funds are coming in and enthusiasm is building up. There will be some Special Events coming up that you won't want to miss. Progress reports, and facts and figures will be released by Media Chairman Gordon Gould in this column.

Starting this week the following stores will be selling Buttons and Bows: Doris Myers' Beauty Shop, Ball Floral, Lippert's, Anderson Shoes, That "Special" Place and Village Inn. There will be a booth at the Fallasburg Festival Saturday & Sunday, Sept. 30 - Oct. 1.

The question I'm asked many times every day is "How much is the new Showboat going to cost?" At this point nobody knows how much it will cost. Chairman of this committee, Jim Hall, and Board President Chuck Lippert are gathering plans and information on designs, materials, flotation, etc. When this information is on the table some sort of a cost can be established.

See you next week. 'Til then Help Re-Float the Lowell Showboat.

Attwood Structure, Auto: Both Total Loss

Lowell Fire Department was called to North Washington Street last Thursday morning to fight a fire which engulfed a car stored in a barn rented from the Attwood Corp.

David Beech, Lowell, owner of the auto, estimates its loss at $4,500. Fire Chief Frank Baker said the barn was also a total loss estimated at $5,000. Car malfunction is suspected as the cause of the fire.

$75,000 Difficult To Spend

Lowell's Community Development Advisory Committee is no more. The decision to dissolve the committee and give its funds and responsibilities to the Lowell Housing Commission was made by the Lowell City Council at their regular meeting on Monday, September 18.

The committee was set up in the spring of 1976 for the purpose of dispersing $75,000 in federal housing rehabilitation funds. Since that time, the city has made several attempts to get the program off the ground but has been unsuccessful due to the loss of trained personnel.

The $75,000 came to Lowell when a request for block grant funding was approved by the federal government for the purpose of rehabilitating residences in Lowell. The city has been unsuccessful in obtaining any further block grant funds for the business district, etc., because of the failure to expend these residential re-hab funds.

The council authorized city manager Ray Quada to further delve into the possibility of hiring Merrill Barrett to expend these funds under the auspices of the Lowell Housing Commission. Barrett is trained in, and has been doing this same type of work for the city of Kentwood. There are hopes of completing the program by April of 1979.

A committee comprised of councilmen Dave Carter and Art Warning and city manager Ray Quada was appointed by Mayor Dean Collins to negotiate with a similar committee from Lowell Area Schools regarding the school's possible purchase of the east side of the Middle School parking lot. The city currently owns the property and leases it to the school.

The city's request to the State Highway Department for an emergency vehicle stop light at the corner of Monroe at Main has been answered and was reviewed by the council.

The highway department wants lighted warning signs located east and west of the corner rather than an overhead traffic light and also recommended that parking be prohibited on the north side of Main Street for 150 feet to the west and 100 feet to east.

The council was not really sure what the lighted warning signs were and thought they would still prefer an overhead red light to be activated when the city's fire trucks leave the fire station. Also, the council was definitely concerned about the state's proposal to eliminate 250 feet of Main Street parking.

Quada was instructed to re-enter into negotiations with the State Highway Department.

Sidewalks damaged in the recent storm will be repaired at an estimated cost of $500 to $750 following a unanimous vote of the council. Department of Public Works Director, Tony Sicilano says that he expects the work to be completed prior to winter.

Lowell firemen hose down the car and barn which burned last Thursday. Well involved on their arrival, firemen could only keep the fire from spreading.

Entertainment Slated For Fallasburg Festival

His involvement with the Y actually goes back even further. "I grew up in a Y in my hometown of Alliance, Ohio, getting involved in almost all of their programs," says Connell. He graduated from George Williams College in Chicago which is also run by the YMCA.

FEDERAL SPENDING

(Cities vs. Rural) The Agriculture Department reports in a study of spending in fiscal 1976 that per capita spending in metropolitan areas was $1,555 compared with spending of $1,271 in rural areas.

Most of the metropolitan-rural differences were due to higher defense and space programs in metropolitan areas.

The report also showed that federal spending per person was highest in Western states and lowest in North Central states.

The South per capita level was second and the Northeastern states third.

VA Disavows "Free Burial" Scam

The Veterans Administration has no connection with any cemetery offering so-called free burial space to a veteran. This reminder is issued because of advertisements and letters making offers of free space circulating in the state. The messages usually state that there are 29 million veterans and only two million burial sites in National Cemeteries. At this time the VA is planning more sites and even new cemeteries in states where none are located.

Evidence Required To Get SS Number

Special procedures protect a person's social security record, preventing anyone from misusing or abusing another person's social security number, and assuring that the record is complete and accurate. Everyone who applies for a social security card must provide evidence of age, identity, and U.S. citizenship or residency status. Robert Fleming, Social Security District Manager in Grand Rapids said recently, this is so, regardless of the person's age or place of birth. In addition, applicants age 18 or over must come into the social security office when applying, Fleming said.

Simmons Completes Air Force ROTC

Cadet Robia A. Simmons, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald A. ## Loan Program Ready To Aid Contaminated Farms

Gov. William G. Milliken Thursday approved the emergency rules promulgated by the Toxic Substance Loan Commission of the State Department of Public Health. "I have been advised by the commission that it will be ready by mid-September to make applications for 20-year low-interest loans to farmers who have suffered financial loss due to chemical contamination of livestock," Milliken said.

Plant Of The Week: Haworthia

If you have a green thumb with cactus, try Haworthia. The Haworthias are a family of succulent plants that grow in the form of rosettes of stiff, prickly leaves. The most commonly seen is the Zebra Haworthia (Haworthia fasciculata), a rosette of dark green spines banded in white. Michigan State University horticulturists point out that caring for Haworthia is much like nurturing cactus. They do best in a potting mix made of equal parts potting soil and coarse sand. Overwatering can be a problem. Let the soil dry between waterings.

Thousands Of Books On Sale

Thousands of used books and records will go on sale at the "Book Bash for Cash" on Saturday, September 30, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Kent County Library System headquarters at 775 Ball Ave., N.E. In addition to selling used books, the Book Bash will include free puppet shows, creative drama, and feature films in the conference room all day long. Clowns will be in attendance and there will be food and music.

Fiction, non-fiction, children's books, paperbacks, magazines and hundreds of records will be sold at 25c to 50c. One special table called, "oldies but goodies" will feature classics all collecting where top price will be $1.00.

Profits from the sale will go towards purchasing new and up-to-date books for the 17 Kent County Library System members. Some of the more than 20,000 books and records have been donated. But most of the materials are withdrawn from the 17 member libraries... old and undesirable books and records have been taken from the shelves for sale to the public.

"We are holding this 'Book Bash for Cash' to call attention to the need for more library books," Peter Nease, director said. "Although KCLS owns about 325,000 volumes—most of these are in use at the 17 libraries—many of these are outdated, worn, and need replacing. These are the books we are reading."

"A real thumb for good library service is three books per capita, and that means we should have 651,000 books to adequately service the citizens in the county. Also, over 35,000 new titles are published each year at an average cost of $12 per volume. With a budget of approximately 100,000 for 17 libraries, less than 500 titles per library of these 35,000 new titles could be bought per year. This does not allow anything for replacement of worn and outdated volumes or new editions of older books. "It's easy to see that we need money for new books in as many ways as possible."

By Roger Brown

About six weeks ago, I did something that I really thought I'd never do. I quit smoking. It was strictly a spur of the moment thing and I quit cold-turkey and have not had a cigarette since. I had smoked for ten years and was to the point where I was smoking well over two packs a day. I guess that I just decided that enough is enough and quit the darned thing.

I could go on for a whole column about how darned proud I am of myself but you are probably sick of that already so I had better head in another direction with this. Now that I no longer smoke, I sometimes have an irresistible urge to do some of the things that non-smokers did to me when I lit up.

You know the ones I'm talking about, the ones that either just plain refuse you the right to smoke in their presence or belittle you to the point where you're too embarrassed to smoke. These types are most often the ones who used to smoke but managed to quit.

If you are a smoker, you know how small it makes you feel when you light-up and the person across the table starts waving a menu in front of their face. Or worse than that, they might get up and make a big production out of moving to the other end of the table or to another part of the room, just to get away from your smoke.

Then there are the ones who take a more blunt approach, like saying "yes I mind if you smoke", as soon as you pull the pack from your pocket. Some even go so far as to wear little badges proclaiming, "yes I mind if you smoke".

Someone around town has a bumper sticker that says, "kissing a smoker is like licking an ashtray". Then there are the ads on TV with the little kids pleading with you to stop smoking. Or how about all of this new legislation against smokers, like no-smoking sections in restaurants and airplanes, and no smoking at all in food stores.

Yup, it's getting real tough to be a smoker in this day and age, but I'm not going to make it any tougher on you smokers just because I quit. I'm not going to be a martyr about this.

Does anybody know where I can get a "thank you for not smoking" sign for my office?

Veterans Eligible For Work/Study Program

Veterans talking up their expenditures when they enroll or return to college next month may find that they need extra cash in order to complete their education. Frank Kluikien, director of the VA regional office in Detroit, says a work-study program administered by the VA may be the solution for extra funds.

College students taking a full course load are eligible for up to 750 hours of employment each fiscal year under the work-study program. Students are paid $2.65 each hour and work either in VA offices, facilities or at college campuses.

Kluikien urged veterans who will need such jobs to apply as early as possible in order to avoid delays in getting schedules set up for the work year.

Kluikien pointed out about half of Michigan veterans from the Vietnam Era had taken some training under the GI Bill, but with the 10-year time limit to use the benefit drawing to an end for many veterans, the VA wants interested veterans to know of the work-study program. Other funds are available through a student loan.

Information on supplemental monetary help available for veterans taking fulltime GI Bill training is available from the VA or any veterans service organization.

Fall Color Makes Michigan A Beautiful Patchwork Quilt

Leaves of bright red, yellow and gold form a patchwork quilt of autumn color that is at its vivid best on hiking trails and bike paths in city parks and urban nature centers, reports Automobile Club of Michigan.

Animals at the state's many fine municipal zoos can be a little frazzled with the arrival of autumn's cooler temperatures. Arboretums, scenic gardens and island parks within city limits are easily accessible to urban dwellers and become a riot of color at this time of year.

Five miles of self-guided nature trails await fall color watchers at the Carl G. Fensler Arboretum in Lansing, where all the trees are labeled for easy identification. Battle Creek's Leila Arboretum contains only native Michigan trees but many rare plantings on its 205-acre tract.

Best color viewing in Michigan this year will be Sept. 22 to Oct. 15 in the Upper Peninsula and in the Lower Peninsula north of a line from Ludington to Standish. Advancing south to a line from Muskegon to Port Huron, fall color is at its peak in Michigan's mid-section Oct. 6-22. Extreme southern Michigan will have its best color viewing Oct. 13-22. The fall color schedule was earlier the past couple of years because of lengthy summer dry spells, but with better rainfall last spring it is almost back on target.

Final Notice

A new computerized control system installed during the summer will allow a wide range of special effects to be used in presenting evidence in the controversial case of U.F.O.'s. There are also voice excerpts from a number of U.F.O. witnesses, and summaries of some of the most well documented sightings. It proves to be a thought provoking and entertaining hour.

In 1933, the per bushel prices of wheat and corn in America were lower than they had been 300 years before.

Alto Lions Sponsor Summer Youth Leagues With YMCA

The ball fields at the Alto School saw a lot of action again this summer as the Alto Area Lions again co-sponsored the youth ball program in Alto with the YMCA.

Alto had two cadet softball teams (6-8 year olds); two Junior softball teams (9 and 10 year olds); a major league team; one girl's team (7-9 year olds); one girl's team (10-12 year olds). The Lions, under the supervision of Lion Dick Johnson, maintained the fields and provided the umpires, game balls and umpire's equipment.

About 40 games were played at Alto with the Lions spending about $400 to support this program.

Participation by the Lions enables the Alto team to play half of their games in Alto. This is the third year the Alto Lions have participated with the YMCA in this manner.

Cadet Team (6-8) Lloyd Miller, coach.
Jr. Softball, 9 & 10 year olds, Terry Smith, Jim Messner, coaches.

Farm Receipts Increase

Michigan cash receipts for farm marketing, for the first half of 1978, rose 10% above the same period last year, according to the Michigan Crop Reporting Service. Total cash receipts for January-June were $860.8 million compared to $781.7 million in 1977. Higher returns for both crops and livestock products accounted for the increase.

Livestock provided 52 percent of the total receipts with $451.7 million. This was 13 percent above the $401 million for the first half of 1977. Receipts for 1978 were higher for each month during this period.

Receipts from crops were $409.1 million, 8 percent greater than the $380.6 million for January-June 1977. Every month except June showed larger returns for crops.

For the year January through December 1977, cash receipts on Michigan farms totaled $1.827 million. Crops provided 54 percent of the total receipts with $983.0 million, while livestock and livestock products returned $840.6 million or 46 percent.

IN MEMORIAM

LOMBARDO — In loving memory of my brother-in-law, John Lombardo, who passed away one year ago today, September 22, 1977.

We saw you fading like a flower.
But could not make you stay.
We nursed you with loving care,
Until God called you away.
God knew that you were suffering.
The hills were hard to climb,
So he gently closed your eyes,
And whispered "Peace be Thine".

He broke our hearts to lose you,
You did not go alone,
For part of us went with you,
The day God called you home.

Always remembered and sadly missed by Greg, Marilyn,
Misty & April McClure,

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of John Joseph Lombardo, who passed away one year ago, Sept. 22, 1977.

You cannot stay, you must not say
That he is dead, he is just away!
With a cheery smile and a wave of the hand
He has wandered into an unknown land
And left us dreaming how very far
It needs must be, since he lingers there;
So think of him faring on, as if
In the love of There as the love of Here.

Think of him still as the same,
And he is not dead, he is just away.
Sadly missed every day by his family,
Joan, Perrie, Peter,
Patrick & Faye Lombardo

Its Time Up Anyway

3rd Area Steeple Falls

The lightning-struck, 98-year-old steeple of The Chapel of Cascade Christian Church, 2829 Thornapple River Drive, in the village of Cascade, has been raised to make way for a new one later this year. The steeple was going to be raised even if lightning had not perforated it during a storm Aug. 22 because of dry rot.

In the foreground is the "collar" of the steeple. The hoist also is to be taken apart piecemeal and replaced with a new one. Trent DeJong, chairman of the church's building committee and home builder, will assemble a new steeple on the ground from which a derrick will lift it into place.

Holds Annual Family Day

Area residents are invited to tour the campus of Grand Valley State College during the school's Family Day activities on Saturday, October 7. Walking tours will cover the central campus area with the tour guides, who are Grand Valley students, pointing out features and functions of campus buildings. Following the tours, visitors may watch the Grand Valley-Ferris football game at 1:30 p.m. The campus bookstore and eating facilities in the Campus Center and Commons will be open during the day. Picnicking areas are also available. Admission to the football game is $3 for adults and $1.50 for students and $.50 for children under 12.

Historians believe the first marriage between Europeans in the American colonies occurred in 1609, between Anne Burrows and John Laydon in Virginia.

September Lawn And Garden

As the days get noticeably shorter, the home gardener must reluctantly begin thinking about winding down another gardening season. From Michigan State University Extension specialists come these tips on timely activities for September:

When night temperatures start hitting around 55 degrees, bring in houseplants that spent the summer outdoors. Check plants carefully for insects and treat problems before you transfer the plants indoors. Be prepared for some leaf drop as plants adjust to lower light intensities.

Dig and pot impatiens, lantana, fuchsia, fibrous-rooted begonias, coleus and geraniums. Cut the tops back to half their size and treat for insect pests before taking the plant indoors for the winter.

Dig gladiolus corms. Allow them to dry and then remove the foliage. Store them in a cool, dry place in perforated bags so air can circulate freely around them.

Keep picking the dead or fading blossoms from annual flowers. Dig tender bulbs like dahlias, cannas and tuberous begonias after frost has killed the tops. Cut off the dead foliage, leaving a short stub. Then store bulbs in damp sand or peat moss. A cool, dry storage place is best. Check the stored bulbs occasionally and throw away any that show signs of mold, disease or insect damage.

Plant peony, iris, day lily, phlox and other spring or summer blooming perennials. Harvest strawflowers for winter arranging when they are about half open. Store leftover flower and vegetable seeds in tightly sealed jars in a cool, dark place.

Harvest herbs for drying. Dig and pot parsley, chives and other herbs to grow indoors during the winter. After the final harvest, plow the garden and plant a fall cover crop of rye to plow under in the spring. This will add nutrients and organic matter to the soil.

Spray established lawns to rid them of broadleaved weeds. Spot seed bare spots in lawn with similar grass species. Loosen the soil surface before seeding and firm it afterward. Water daily—more than once, if necessary—until seedlings are well established.

Before Sept. 15, sow grass seed on a seedbed prepared last month. Continue to water established lawns once a week during dry periods. New lawns need daily light watering until the grass plants are firmly established.

Rake leaves as they fall to keep them from accumulating and matting on lawn areas. Chop leaves or grind them and put them on the compost pile. If chopped, fine and mixed with soil and fertilizer, they will decompose quickly to provide a good supply of leafmold for mulch or soil improvement. Apply a complete fertilizer—a 4-1-2 ratio such as 20-5-10—to established lawns around Labor Day.

Plan to apply nitrogen at a rate of one pound per 1,000 square feet in early November after the final mowing of the season. A combination of slow and fast release fertilizer is best, but urea or ammonium nitrate is good, too.

Dispose of leftover dabs of pesticide and empty containers safely. Store large amounts of pesticides and other lawn and garden chemicals in airtight containers in a dark, dry storage place that can be securely locked. Such chemicals should not be allowed to freeze or draw damp.

Watch for elm leaf beetles invading homes while looking for overwintering shelter. They do no damage indoors but can be a nuisance. A malathion spray around doors and wall cracks may help to control them.

Beginning around Sept. 1, give your Christmas cactus 12 hours of complete darkness and night temperatures close to 70 degrees F to induce it to bloom around the holidays. (If your plants were outdoors for the summer and were exposed to a number of 55-degree nights, they will probably bloom without the darkness treatment—but not necessarily at Christmas time.)

Order spring flowering bulbs for forcing and for planting outdoors in October or November. From Sept. 20 to Dec. 1, keep poinsettia plants in total darkness from 5 p.m. to 8 a.m. each day to bring them into bloom by Christmas.

Continue to spray roses for insect and disease control. Do not fertilize roses, trees, shrubs and other ornamentals in September. This could stimulate new growth that would not have time to harden off before injuriously cold weather arrives.

During dry periods, water trees and shrubs—especially newly planted stock and evergreens. To help plants go into winter well provided with moisture, water thoroughly once a week until the ground freezes.

Plant shrubs, trees, ground covers and evergreens. Water thoroughly and mulch after planting. Prune dead, diseased or damaged limbs from trees.

Remove old fruiting canes and diseased canes from raspberry plants. Canes that produced fruit this year will not bear again, but may harbor insects or disease organisms. Also thin out weak or broken canes. To get as much as an extra month of production, protect vegetable crops against the first frost or two.

Let pumpkins and winter squash ripen thoroughly before you harvest them. The skins should be tough so that you can't easily puncture them with a thumbnail. Continue disease and insect control on fruits and vegetables.

Keep the garden weed-free to prevent weeds from going to seed. Clean up fallen leaves, twigs and fruits to minimize next year's insect and disease problems in fruit trees.

"JUNK FOOD" PROPOSAL
A few months ago, USDA's Food and Nutrition Service proposed that soft drinks, certain frozen desserts, candy and chewing gum not be sold on school premises until after the last lunch period in those schools participating in the National School Lunch program. Farm Bureau commented that the proposal probably does not go far enough—if food nutrition is the goal, perhaps such products should be excluded from school premises.

Now, USDA reports that the proposal is being reviewed. "Inside" reports indicate that USDA is backing down because of candy, soft drink, and other such company pressures.
