Boundaries Stay: So Does Crowding

Before a large audience, two controversial items were discussed Monday night at the Lowell Board of Education's regular meeting.

The question of rearranging the elementary school attendance boundaries was tabled for at least a year. Parents of children whose bus ride would be significantly lengthened objected strongly to their children being transferred. The board referred the proposal back to the committee to seek other alternatives to the crowded conditions at Runciman and Bushnell.

Although the Board had not formally received the proposal, some parents were under the

POPPY DAYS

BLISTERS AND FOUR GRAND

Lowell Jaycees are beaming over the fine participation in their recent Walkathon for Muscular Dystrophy. The majority of the 150 walkers went the full 20 miles with sore feet and nearly $4,000 to show for it. Coordinators of the event appreciated John Stinson and Louis King manning their CB base stations throughout the day relaying messages between check points. Lowell Bakery also rates a vote of appreciation for their donation of doughnuts to start things off right.

GEORGE ENDURED

George Blocker, known to Lowell residents as the fellow who used to deliver Buyer's Guides around town with his little red wagon in tow, was a participant in last Saturday's Old Kent River Bank Run. George at 63 years of age, was one of the oldest entrants in the fifteen and one half mile endurance run. George finished at a respectable 2,019th out of 2,578 finishers and was in the top 30 in his age bracket which included all those fifty years old and older.

BY THE BUCKET

If she plays her cards right, Mom can extend Mother's Day out of the kitchen to include this Saturday and next Wednesday. Boy Scout Troop 102 will serve up their Chicken Barbeque on Saturday, May 19 from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. The price is right and so is the menu. Proceeds will help scouts go to summer camp. They'll be set up at the City's Main Street parking lot.

The Lowell Boys Varsity Club will hold their Chicken Barbeque at the high school on Wednesday, May 23 from 5 to 7 p.m. They'll have all the trimmings for your "picnic" supper, including pie!

Boy Scout Camporee At City Airport

Lowell City Airport was covered with tents full of Boy Scouts Saturday as the lokemo District settled in for their Camporee and survival instruction.

Approximately 230 boys and 100 leaders took part. There were 28 troops from Kent, Ionia and Montcalm counties represented.

The Ranger battalion of the National Guard presented a series of survival sessions, compass usage, field skills and preparedness. A Coast Guard unit demonstrated rescue procedures for inaccessible areas on land and water, water survival and first aid.

Camporees are not all instruction, however. The Scouts cooked, did dishes, met new friends and enjoyed the tenting experience. A huge campfire Saturday night topped off the event.

Owes Life To Passer-by

Debra Miner, 19, of Lowell is recovering nicely thanks to Mrs. Billie Fallstrom.

Over two weeks ago, Debra was badly injured in a head-on collision while driving home from work Saturday, April 21 about 1 p.m. Debra's car smashed into another driven by Barbara Ann Whitford, 17, of Ada. According to Kent County Sheriff's deputies, Debra was driving northbound on Thornapple just south of Laraway Lake Dr. when the southbound Whitford vehicle crossed the center line and the two cars crashed. Deputies said the accident is still under investigation with the possibility that the Whitford car was forced across the line by a third vehicle.

Both Debra and Barbara were pinned in their vehicles. Barbara suffered fractures to both legs and broken ribs while Debra suffered multiple fractures in her right leg and a fractured jaw.

Billie Fallstrom, a 39-year-old mother of four was also driving home from work when she arrived at the scene of the accident. She heard choking sounds coming from Debra whose head was tipped to one side and blood from a large laceration was running back into her throat. Billie got into Debra's car and supported the unconscious girl's head so that the blood would not run into her throat until a nurse and the county E-Unit arrived.

Mrs. Fallstrom insists she is no hero but Debra's doctors said that if she had been left unattended for a few more minutes she would have drowned in her own blood. Mrs. Fallstrom lives just a few blocks from the Miner family. You can bet that Debra will be arranging a meeting with her very special neighbor as soon as she is more mobile.

The Ada office, which is the 17th office of Michigan National Bank-Central, will continue its opening festivities through June 9. Customers will have their choice of a free Better Homes and Gardens Book for making a $100 or more deposit into a new or existing savings account, or opening a new checking account with $100 or more.

Showboat '79 To Star Leslie Uggams

Leslie Uggams has, no doubt, been in each of your homes over the years of her career so there should be a warm welcome awaiting her when she takes the stage to star in Showboat 1979.

Leslie grew up on television in the old Mitch Miller show "Sing Along With Mitch" and more recently starred in the ABC television drama "Roots" and in "Backstairs At The White House". Her TV debut came at six years of age portraying the niece of Ethel Waters on "Beulah". In those "early days", Leslie appeared on "The Show of Shows", "The Milton Berle Show" and many children's programs.

When she was just eight years old, Leslie performed at the Apollo Theatre, famed for being the proving grounds for many black acts, playing as an extra added attraction before the performances of Ella Fitzgerald, Dinah Washington and Louis Armstrong. She worked there until she neared fourteen.

At the age of fifteen, Leslie appeared on "Name That Tune" and met Mitch Miller, who signed her and made her a regular on his "Sing Along". This proved to be a television milestone since Leslie was the first black to be a regular on network TV.

Pursuing her interest in acting, Leslie went on to earn a Tony award for her role in Broadway's "Hallelujah, Baby!" as best actress in a Broadway musical comedy.

She has hosted her own television series, starred in several TV specials and has appeared in national musical shows, TV dramas and feature films. Leslie plans to remain heavily involved with TV, the medium she believes to be the most influential and the one where she first started.

Married to her manager, Graham Pratt, they presently live in Beverly Hills with their daughter Danielle and son Jason.

Her most recent accomplishments include winning the Critics Choice Award for best supporting actress and an Emmy nomination for best lead actress for her portrayal as Kizzy in the highly acclaimed "Roots".

Early ticket reservations are being taken by mail: Lowell Showboat, PO Box 56, Lowell, MI 49331. Ticket prices for Tuesday through Thursday are $3, $4, $5.50 and $7. Friday and Saturday tickets are $4, $5, $7 and $8. For Monday, July 23, special family prices are $2 and $5.

Talented Leslie Uggams will headline the 1979 Showboat production July 23-28. A versatile performer, Miss Uggams brings to the Showboat stage singing, dancing and acting talents. Two supporting acts have been signed for the six nights, Garry & Tomie and The Debutantes.

Council To Discuss Dam Renovation

William S. Doyle of Lowell would like to see the Fallasburg Dam Site reactivated for its power producing and recreational potentials. He plans to bring the matter before the June 21 meeting of the Kent County Parks Advisory Council. Doyle is chairman of that body.

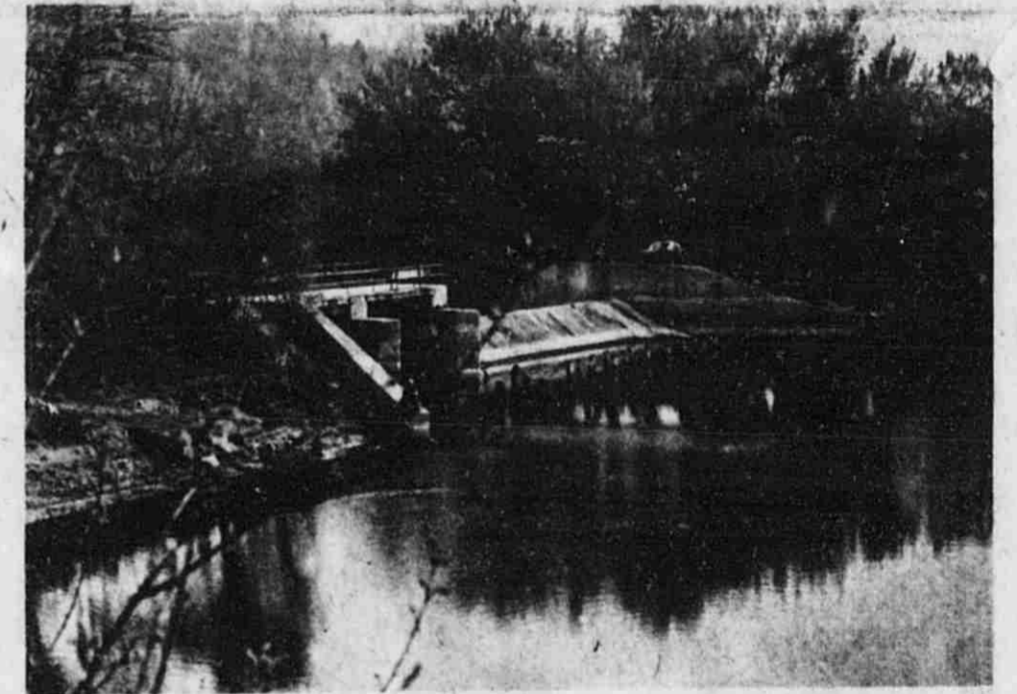

During a recent business trip to Washington D.C., Doyle spoke with officials of the U.S. Departments of Interior and Energy about the possibility of obtaining federal funds to repair the dam and restore its generating capabilities.

Three-year-old figures indicate that $600,000 of repairs would have to be made to the dam, an earthen embankment with a 150-foot concrete midsection. Considering inflation, that estimate would have to be revised upward.

An eddy has been created near the dam caused, Doyle believes, by a crack in the revetment or by erosion under it. Two men drowned in 1972 in the swirl of water.

Officials of Consumers Power Co. have estimated that replacing generators at the dam would cost $250,000.

Up to 15 percent of the costs of the restoration could come from Michigan's $12.9 million

Fallasburg Dam and its 260 acre backwater will be the subject of discussion when the Kent County Parks Advisory Council meets June 21. William S. Doyle, chairman of the Council, will present a general proposal to reactivate the dam for its power producing and recreational potentials.

share of a Dept. of Interior allocation, according to Doyle. Another 35 percent of the costs could come from state sources. Half of the money would have to be raised locally.

The dam was constructed in 1903 by the now-defunct Grand Rapids Edison Electric Co., then sold to Consumers in 1966. The generators were halted by Consumers in 1965 and the property deeded to the Parks Commission in 1968. At one time, the dam generated 4.5 million kilowatt hours of electricity. Water levels figured in the generating capacity of the dam.

When the dam and property rights to the 260 acre backwater impoundment were deeded, Consumers stipulated that the dam would revert to the utility if the county tried to use it for power production. They told Doyle, however, that the situation has changed since 1968 and that the commission should not look at the restriction as a deterrent.

If the dam again became a power-producer, the electricity could be sold to Consumers Power at wholesale rates and the revenue used to pay off bonds issued to finance the local share of the dam renovation, according to Doyle.

Alto Man Admits Robbery

An Alto man confessed to police that he held up the Old Kent Bank & Trust Co. branch in Cuterville a week ago after being traced through a car license number.

Roderick J. Gunderson, 24, of 9790 84th St. SE, Alto, confessed under questioning to the robbery, saying he needed money to buy a pickup. Gunderson became a suspect after Kent County Sheriff's Lt. Jack Christensen took down the plate number of a vehicle matching the description of the one used in the holdup. Christensen was off duty at the time he spotted the white 1964 Ford.

Detective John Orange traced the license number to the owner on Monday who said he had loaned it to Gunderson on Friday morning and had gotten it back that afternoon. When Orange and Christensen approached Gunderson later, he admitted he robbed the bank and turned over about $1,000, virtually all the money believed stolen. He also showed deputies a home-made gun he had used in the holdup. Gunderson demanded examination last Tuesday on a charge of bank robbery in 63rd District Court. Judge Joseph White set bond at $50,000.

By Roger Brown

About three weeks ago, Terese and I were called home from work because Casey had hurt his foot. He had injured it to the point where he wouldn't put any weight on it and wouldn't stop crying.

After waiting quite a while to see the doctor, I had to leave because of an appointment to take a picture for the paper. As I arrived at the Ledger, I was informed that one of the parties involved in the picture was in an important meeting and wouldn't be able to make it.

So I rushed back to the doctor's office and Terese and Casey had already gone in to see the doctor. In fact, they had been through the examination and Casey was getting a cast on his foot that went all the way up to his knee.

It has been three weeks now, Casey is working on his second cast, and we still don't know how the little rascal did it and probably never will.

I know that you already saw the notice on the front page about the clean-up day this coming Saturday at the Showboat Amphitheatre but, I thought that a second reminder wouldn't hurt anything.

Especially since I've been figured to be in charge of the clean-up and am having nightmares about being the only one there. If you can spare a few hours Saturday, we would sure appreciate your help.

He and his wife Jackie have two children and make their home in Saranac.

Ditie Larsen, assistant branch manager of the bank's Belding office, has been appointed assistant cashier.

Mrs. Larsen joined First Security Bank in October 1971 and has worked at the Ionia and the Lyons offices. She has completed a number of American Institute of Banking courses and is a member of Ionia Business and Professional Women's Club.

Mrs. Larsen and her husband Charles have three children and live in Saranac.

Library Has New Services

Two new items have arrived this week at the 17 libraries which are part of the Kent County Library System. These are rental records and Story Bags for children.

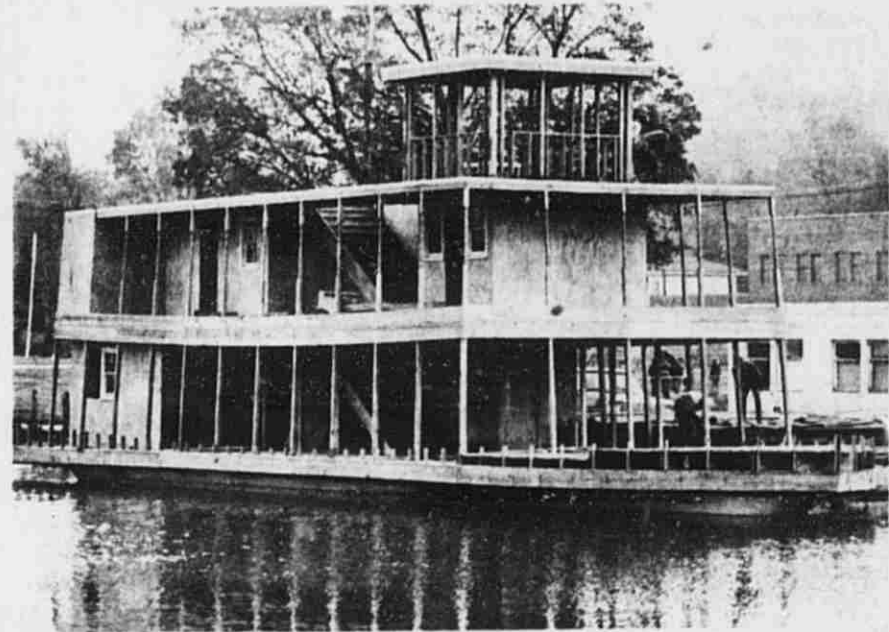

All new adult records—most purchased from the top 10 albums on the "Billboard" charts of popular, country and western, jazz and disco music—will rent for 25c per album per week.

Story Bags each contain from three to five paperback books for young children, complete with a 30 minute cassette tape, all in a plastic carrying bag. The Story Bags will circulate for the same period as regular books, three weeks. Persons will have to have a cassette tape player at home.

These two new items join other new services introduced by the Kent County Library System within the past year. These include super 8 mm sound film rentals for home entertainment, which began in January, and the Best Seller rental collection—the top 10 books on the "New York Times" Best Seller List, which began last October.

These items are available at the KCLS libraries located in Lowell, Alto, and Cascade.

PROGRESS UPDATE

The new Lowell Showboat is really beginning to take shape as is illustrated in the above photo. The plywood has been applied to all walls that will be covered, the stair ways are complete, the top deck has been tarred and graveled and the pilot house is roughed in.

The swayed look (low in the middle) is beginning to appear with the tipped in walls and the second deck trim boards that bow and are low in the middle. Lattice work that will be applied to the tops of all the turned posts and along the tops of the individual decks, is being cut free of charge by the Superior Furniture Co. of Lowell. Ivan Blough, builder of the new boat, says that he plans to complete the construction by June 15.

The Back Page... Steeple Dedication Set For Sunday

Workmen put the finishing touches on the new steeple and belfry of the First United Methodist Church on Main St. in Lowell as the snow flew.

Dedication of the new steeple is scheduled for Sunday, May 20.

Dedication of the new steeple of the United Methodist Church on East Main Street is scheduled for Sunday, May 20, at both the 8:30 and 11 a.m. services. Rev. Darwin Salisbury, District Superintendent of the Grand Rapids District, will be present at both services. Representatives of the City of Lowell, Mayor Dean Collins and City Manager Ray Quada, and representatives of the contractor and construction company, will also appear.

Coffee and cookies will follow each service and a display of pictures will be shown in Fellowship Hall. A slide projector will also be used for step-by-step viewing of construction.

The Methodist Church was organized in 1855 and built the church in 1869. After foreclosure of mortgage in 1872, the people bought back their church in 1873. The 900 pound bronze bell was erected in 1877. This bell, along with the steeple and belfry, came down in last August's storm but was undamaged and raised with the construction of the steeple.

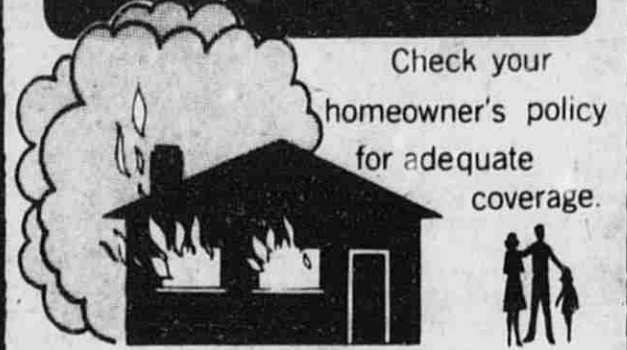

The original steeple, buffeted by weather over 70 years including a strike by lightning in 1878 and repair in 1880, was declared unsafe and was taken down in 1939.

Money brought by children to Sunday School for a "Steeple Fund" resulted in action and a new steeple was placed in November, 1967. With its 6 foot cross and lighting, it was a focal point for miles around. With the loss of this steeple last summer it was also a loss to the community.
