AROUND THE CORNER

Saturday, December 6 is just around the corner so plan ahead. Santa Claus will arrive in Lowell at 2 p.m., according to the schedule released by his Chief Elf. Any group, business or individual who would like to be a part of the parade welcoming the roly-poly gent should call the Chamber of Commerce office, 897-8545, so they can plan the parade. One of the nicest things about the holiday season is making kids' eyes shine and one of the nicest ways to start is a special Santa Parade. We urge you to take the time, join the parade and shine a little love.

REMINDER

Playbooks can still be signed out for perusal before tryouts for the Lowell Area Arts Council's 3-act comedy "Strange Bedfellows." Stop in at That Special Place on Main St. for a playbook. Tryouts are scheduled for Monday and Tuesday, Dec. 8-9, at 7 p.m. in the Middle School. There are 18 parts to be cast: 5 men, 1 teen boy, 1 boy age 10ish; 10 women, 1 teen girl. Play dates are Feb. 18-21 with practice starting in January.

GIFT BONANZA

Members of the First United Methodist Church, East Main St., will hold their annual Country Bazaar on Thursday, Nov. 20 from 9:30 a.m. to 7 p.m. Various gifts are available plus a "Mrs. Santa" shop for kids. They'll also be serving lunch and supper.

BRIDGES FEATURED

The Fallsburg, Ada and White's Covered Bridges are featured in the November issue of "Michigan Living" magazine published by the Automobile Club of Michigan. There are more than 3,000 bridges in Michigan just counting the bridges that are a part of the state highway system. Of Michigan's five covered bridges, three are located in our area of the state. But you knew that didn't you?

OFF THE BLOTTER

Injured in a one-car accident on Monday, Nov. 10, was William Bartlette of Wyoming when his car went off the south edge of M-21 west of Cumberland Ave. striking guard rails and a tree. He sought his own treatment for injuries.

Gerry Melle, 29, of Clarksville was fatally injured Thursday evening, Nov. 13, when the car he was driving struck a train just west of Clarksville. He was pronounced dead at the scene by Kent County Medical Examiner Dr. Raymond Lang. The impact derailed the 17th car from the rear of the train. The Lowell Rescue Unit was called to extricate Melle from the wreckage. They assisted officers from Kent and Ionia County, Lake Odessa, Clarksville Fire Dept. and a unit from the Chesapeake & Ohio Rail System.

Lodged Saturday evening, Nov. 15, in the Kent County Jail was Donald McQueen on charges of fleeing and eluding a police officer and furnishing alcohol to a minor.

Walter Huver reported to police officers that he fell asleep at the wheel and hit a fire hydrant at Main and Grove Sts. early Sunday morning. He was not injured.

Involved in a car-deer accident on Saturday morning was Clara Wingeier. There was minor damage to the vehicle and she was uninjured.

Vandals did about $1,500 worth of damage on Main St. last Saturday evening. They cut slices into the awnings of Clark Plumbing and Heating, Pfaller's Riverfront Clothing and the former Lowell Engineering building. They also smashed the phone receiver on Main St. near Lafayette. The matter is under investigation by the Lowell Police Department.

Father-son duo win 1st Buck Contest

Winners of the fifth annual First Buck Contest is the father/son team of Philip and Les Kline of Lowell. They arrived at the Grand Valley Ledger at 8:10 a.m. on opening day last Saturday with their 7 point buck in tow.

Sponsored by the Lowell Area Merchants and the Grand Valley Ledger, winner(s) of the contest will receive free processing of the deer from Gary's Country Meats and the Ledger; a "Hot Seat" from Lippert Pharmacy; an 8x10 color photo of hunter(s) and the hunt; a $15 gift certificate from Pfaller's Riverfront Clothing; one pair Hanes thermal underwear from That Special Place; and a hunter orange knit hat and vest from Anderson Shoe Store.

The winning buck was taken south of Lowell and was Les' first deer in 25 years of hunting.

Among other successes reported to the Ledger was a 9 point buck bagged by Roger Stauffer of Lowell last Sunday morning on his first hunting outing ever. Also successful was Mary Robidoux of Lowell. She has been hunting for 19 years and shot her 5 point buck south of Lowell on Saturday at 7:20 a.m. She field-dressed the 168 lb. buck by herself.

Representing the younger hunter in this tale of successful hunters is 14-year-old Rex Hyzer who felled his 8 pointer on opening day. This is his first year hunting. The buck was shot five miles north of Lowell.

Sometimes teamwork is what it takes. The father-son duo of Philip and Les Kline were first to show up with their 7 point buck at the Ledger. They both shot at and hit the deer, and claimed the prizes in the fifth annual First Buck Contest sponsored by Lowell Area Merchants and the Grand Valley Ledger.

No takers for Bowne constable office

Two write-in votes in Bowne Township have given Kent County Clerk Maury J. DeJonge a headache.

ROSIE DRIVE INN — 800 W. Main St., Lowell. TAKE OUT Chicken Bucket. Breakfast Special: Ham & Cheese Omelette, Toast, Coffee, $2. Weekly Special: Reuben Burgers, 65c. Keith Feldman and Robert L. Grummet each received one vote apiece for the non-paying, long-vacant job of Bowne Township constable. Neither man sought the job and both said they have no idea who wrote their names on the ballot last November 4.

DeJonge's office is responsible for filing Kent County's election results with the state election officials and could not do so until the snafu in Bowne was cleared up.

Since neither Feldman, a farmer and builder, nor Grummet, a 15-year-member of the Kent County Sheriff's department, indicated any interest in the job, DeJonge had a drawing for the job that isn't at the Clerk's office last Friday afternoon. Feldman's proxy pulled out the slip which said winner. If he wants the job, he will have to take the oath by noon Thursday and post a surety bond.

With neither man indicating interest in the position, township officials could declare the office vacant and then appoint a constable but that's not likely either.

GREAT CURL! GREAT BODY! With Unperm at Vanity Hair Fashions, 203 E. Main, Lowell, 897-7506. c2ev

Officials have no money to equip and pay a constable set aside in their budget. So Alto in Bowne Township will have to get along without a constable—as it has done for almost 20 years.

Oops!

The Gremlin is at it again. The picture identifications for the Tri-River All Conference football team in last week's issue were inadvertently placed beneath the wrong pictures. We hope the confusion was minor since the pictures were side by side. Honored from Lowell were: Dan Phillips and Carl Kloosterman.

Blochers return Site chosen for new church to area

Rev. and Mrs. Mark Blocher of Corvallis, Montana are happy to announce the arrival of a 7 lb. daughter, Meagan Shelee, on Nov. 5. Proud grandparents are Mrs. Paul Blocher of Alto and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Halbert of Grand Rapids.

The Blocher's will be moving back to Michigan in December as he has been called to serve as Associate Pastor at Highland Hills Baptist Church in Grand Rapids.

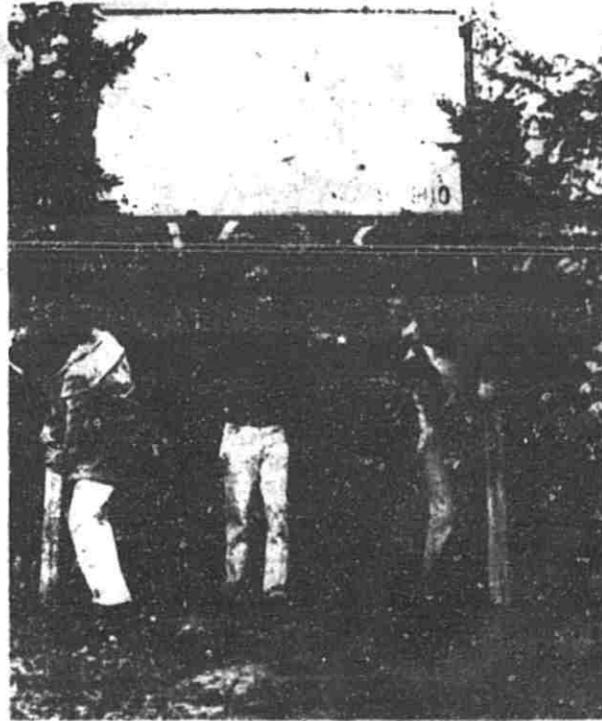

Rev. Blocher is a graduate of Lowell High School, later attending Grand Rapids Junior College and Grand Rapids Baptist College. Upon graduating from college, he attended Dallas Theological Seminary in Dallas, Texas where he received his Master's Degree. For the past 2 1/2 years he has been the pastor at Corvallis Community Church in Montana.

Mark and Julie have two other children, Brian, 7, and Sarah, 5.

"A new Missionary Church will be built on this site for the Glory of God" is the message on the sign erected by the congregation of the Missionary Church on their eight-acre property located on Settlewood Road just west of the Eastgate addition.

The congregation is now worshipping in the choir room of the Lowell High School on Sunday mornings. Sunday evening and mid-week services are held in the home of the pastor, Rev. Glenn Marks, 10268 Foreman Road. Plans are being made to begin construction of the church building in the spring.

The Missionary Church, with world headquarters in Fort Wayne, Indiana, was organized as a denomination more than a hundred years ago. It is a Bible-believing, evangelical church with a strong emphasis on world missions—hence the name, "Missionary Church".

Members of the congregation of the Missionary Church of Lowell erected a sign at the site of their future church building on Sunday, November 12. The church will be built on Settlewood Road west of the Eastgate addition sometime next spring.

HOMESPUN DEVOTIONS

by Pauline E. Spray

For I am persuaded, that height, nor depth, nor any other creature, shall be able to separate us from the love of God . . . (Romans 8:38, 39).

Separations are painful. As a child one of my worst fears was that Mom might become ill and have to go to the hospital. I couldn't bear the thought of enduring such a separation. Happily, none of us children ever had to be hospitalized until we were grown.

But a day of separation did come to us. It is one none of us will ever forget. It was the day my brother Bud left for war. I can still see him, a mere slip of a lad in a bright blue sweater. The train pulled out carrying him with it. As we watched and waved good-bye, we were enveloped in grief.

When the time came for our own children to leave home, we suffered as all parents do. Those days of loneliness aren't soon forgotten. Life is never quite the same again.

Many things separate us from the love of relatives and friends, but we have the promise that nothing "shall be able to separate us from the love of God." Our Heavenly Father will go with us wherever we go. He will stay close by in sickness and in health. Regardless of time, place, or circumstance, He is present to comfort and sustain. "Nothing can separate us" from His love.

Prayer: Dear Jesus, I am so glad I can depend upon Thee never to leave nor forsake me. Thou wilt stay close beside me in sickness and in health. Nothing can separate me from Thy love. Amen.

Reflections

From Outer Space

By Rev. Jerry Bates

Members are reminded that no home canned or fresh goods can be accepted.

SCRATCH PADS—Glorious white paper bound with red gummy stuff. Various sizes. (None as large as a bread-box.) 50c a pound. Ledger, 105 N. Broadway.

Thanksgiving is just around the corner, just a week away. What am I thankful for? Indeed, what are you thankful for?

Here's a list from me: puppy dog tails that wag; and cats that brush against your legs; little girls that are sugar and spice and everything nice; and little boys that are full of vim and vigor; band aids and aspirin, toothpicks and forks; glasses both for the eyes and to drink out of, are among the things for which I am thankful. And the list goes on: daughters who are a joy and so full of love; a son who is thoughtful and kind; granddaughters who say "I love you" with a squeeze and a hug.

And I can't forget to be thankful for my wife. . . supportive and strong, loving and thoughtful . . . the one person who goes to church 3 times each Sunday and doesn't find the sermon boring. I'm thankful for a God who is loving and merciful, present and in control, in the good times as well as the bad.

How can I be thankful enough for His goodness and gifts, for His son, Jesus, for the country of my birth, for oil to heat my home, for gas to drive my car, for enough money so that I can eat and be clothed and have a little left over?

I'm thankful for a country with problems. Where my voice can be heard in an election, where I am free to live as I choose, free to walk where I want, free to be my own person.

Yes, Thanksgiving is a time of thankfulness; Thankfulness for the things that we have, and even the things we don't have; for gifts that are given to us by others and ultimately by a wonderful God, who is Lover as well as Creator, and in control. In the midst of our food and love, let's remember to give Him thanks.

Shalom . . . Jerry Bates

Area families to receive food

Members of St. Mary's Church of Lowell will fill a Thanksgiving cornucopia with non-perishable food items to be given to needy area families.

Each family is asked to bring boxed or canned goods, apples, oranges, grapefruit, potatoes, corn, squash, seasoned bread cubes, etc. Not recommended were grapes, bananas or meat. Turkeys will be provided to the needy families. Items should be brought to church by the weekend Masses of November 23 and on Wednesday, November 26. After Wednesday's Mass, the food will be distributed to those in need.

Now...one of Michigan's oldest and largest savings and loan associations... First Savings of Saginaw...has come to Lowell. First Savings and Lowell Savings and Loan have merged and all of us at First Savings are looking forward to serving the people of the Lowell area. Serving people is one of the things we do best at First Savings. For more than 92 years we've been serving the financial needs of thousands of Michigan families and in that time we've never missed a dividend. Our philosophy of service is reflected in our growth. In less than five years we've more than doubled our assets, increasing them from $250 million to more than a Half Billion. Stop by our new Lowell office next time you're in the neighborhood. We'd like to serve you.

Women's Club learns CPR

"Cardio-Pulmonary Resuscitation—a General Overview" was the theme Dr. Manuel Campos used for his talk at the Lowell Women's Club on Nov. 12 at Schneider Manor.

The forty-eight club members and guests saw a slide presentation on CPR and had many questions answered by Dr. Campos. The women also had an opportunity to practice on "Annie," an inflatable dummy that is an important part of the CPR training program.

A mini-report on scenic painting was given by Beulah Poe.

New members, Gladys Brandt and Ethel Ann Rivette, were welcomed into the club and presented with the traditional red carnations by President Dorothy Randall. Guests for the day were Phyllis Lessens and Terry Zandstra.

A number of club members agreed to attend a conservation legislation workshop in Lansing on Nov. 15 in order to keep the group informed on current happenings in the conservation area.

The club will also be represented in the Santa Claus Girls' group when Margarite Beeman, Bertha Bryant, Marj Harding, Delores Laus, Dorothy Randall, Evelyn Tichelaar and Irma Williams spend Nov. 24 volunteering their services at a gift-wrapping session.

The week of November 23-29 has been designated as National Family Week and National Rights Week for observation by Women's Club members.

A special birthday cake brought the group's attention to the celebration of the November birthdays of Sadie Fox and Stella Bradshaw. In addition to the birthday honor, Mrs. Bradshaw has received a citation from the Kent County Federation of Women's Clubs for bringing in at least ten new members per year since 1978. Mrs. Bradshaw's enthusiasm is most contagious and has resulted in Lowell's having a very active club.

Following the meeting, tea was served by the committee consisting of Mardelle Bates, chairman, Margarite Beeman, Edith Roth, Irma Williams, Marian Yates, Mary Yost and Muriel Abraham, sponsor.

The November birthdays of Sadie Fox [standing] and Stella Bradshaw [seated] were celebrated at last week's meeting of the Lowell Women's Club.

Marks to wed Indiana girl

Thomas Marks and Rebecca Allen will wed in February.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Allen of Osceola, Indiana, announce the engagement of their daughter, Rebecca Sue, to Thomas Glenn Marks, son of Rev. and Mrs. Glenn Marks of Lowell.

Rebecca graduated from Penn High School in Mishawaka, Indiana, and now attends Bethel College, also in Mishawaka. Mark, a 1977 graduate of Lowell High School, attended Bethel College and is now employed by the Fryling Construction Company of Grand Rapids.

The couple will be married on February 7th, at the Cedar Road Missionary Church in Osceola, Indiana.

On Monday of this week the Ledger received a new typesetting machine that we've had ordered for about three or four months. I wish I could say that it looks like as much as it cost, but it doesn't, not even close. It resembles a portable TV set with a keyboard on the front of it but is capable of doing just about anything imaginable in the typesetting business.

I grew up in the graphic arts business, helping my father out in his newspaper and job shop from the time I was ten years old. So, even though I'm still fairly young, I can remember when the most sophisticated stuff around were the old Linotypes and Intertypes. Neither are any longer being made and are fast going the way of the dinosaur. These machines cast the type out of molten lead into little brass molds that were returned to their proper places after the casting operation by an intricate mechanical system. They were a headache to operate and a nightmare to repair. If the Ledger had to be published with the equipment that was available fifteen years ago, I'd shut her down and put in my application at a salt mine, join the army, or go on welfare.

In a well-rounded shop, the Linotype was paired up with a machine called a Ludlow which set the larger type, such as headlines and display type in ads. Again the type was cast from molten lead into brass molds that were picked from the case and returned by hand. You can imagine how lightning fast that was. Between the two of them, they represented about two tons of greasy machinery that in a union shop took six years of apprenticeship to learn. I sold my Ludlow a couple of years ago, but I've still got my Intertype. Any takers?

This new machine of ours weighs 140 pounds, sits on a table, has three moving parts, is taught in a two-day training session, and will do everything that a Linotype and Ludlow will do, and more. It's pure science fiction to me.

I used the term "and more" in the previous paragraph. That's putting it mildly. Among numerous other advantages, this machine has a complete memory system that allows us to recall a job from the file, scan it and make changes in it electronically, then command the machine to set it all fresh again at an amazing 40 lines per minute. Incredible.

I could go on for pages about this new machinery, but I just want to mention one more thing about it. This machine uses an entirely new method to manufacture the type faces on photographic paper. The photo-optic machines that were the "state of art" throughout the 70's are predicted to become obsolete and be replaced by digital machines such as ours. These digital machines are supposed to be the "state of art" for the 80's. What bugs me though, is that they are already telling me that my new machine will become obsolete in less than ten years when the new laser typesetting machines start being mass-produced. Even so, we're kinda proud of our new gadget, and once we get to know our way around it, you can look for a feature story in the Ledger that will describe it in more detail than I've done here.

SHS 2nd in TCAA

The Saranac Redskins held on for a 38-32 Tri-Central Athletic Association girls' basketball victory over Carson City-Crystal, Tuesday night, Nov. 11.

Saranac jumped into a 10-4 lead after the first quarter at Carson City, thanks to a man-to-man, full-court defense which forced the Eagles into four first-period turnovers.

Saranac had similar problems in the second quarter as Carson City outscored the Redskins, 10-4, to force a 14-all halftime deadlock.

The Redskins used a diamond-and-one on Eagles' center Brenda Smith in the third quarter, and Smith was limited to two points in that quarter. Smith fouled out minutes later and Saranac seized the opportunity, taking scoring margins of 10-6 and 14-12 in the final two quarters.

Carson City, which converted eight of 11 free throws in the fourth quarter, crept back to within three points at one point in the third quarter before Saranac pulled away for the win.

Martha Smith led Saranac with 15 points, 16 rebounds, five steals and four blocked shots, and Deb Stuart added 10 more points before fouling out.

Saranac, which pulled down a team-total 40 rebounds, made 18 of 57 field goals, for 32 percent, and two of 12 free throws.

Saranac ended its Tri-Central Athletic Association regular season Thursday night with a win.

Saranac (14-3 overall, 11-3 TCAA) tied up second place in the league with a 45-40 win over Montabella.

The Redskins eked out to a 12-11 first-quarter lead and pushed their advantage to 22-19 by halftime.

Saranac went on to outscore Montabella, 18-15, in the third period and 23-21 in the entire second half.

Senior forward Deb Stuart finished with 23 points, seven steals and four assists. Junior center Martha Smith scored eight points, pulled down 15 of the team's 30 rebounds and blocked three shots, and senior guard Diane Hubbard scored six points.

The Redskins made 21 of 67 field goal attempts, for 31 percent, and three of 17 free throws.

Youth b-ball sign-up this week

Lowell's YMCA will be starting its 1980-81 basketball season this week. Any 3rd, 4th or 5th grader, girl or boy, can join the league. If you have not already registered, you can do so by calling the YMCA office.

Clinics will be held at the following times. Please attend the one that is at your school.

Nov. 18—Alto, Tuesday, 3-4; Nov. 25 — Bushnell, Tuesday, 3-4; Nov. 20—Runciman, Thursday, 3-4; Nov. 20—Riverside, Thursday, 3-4.

This year the fee is $8 for members, $14 for non members. When you pay the non-membership fee, you receive a one year youth membership to the Lowell YMCA. This is to encourage our youth in the community to become members of our YMCA.

Your child can help pay for his or her own fee by selling popcorn. For registration or more information please call the Y at 897-8445.

Many hunters are getting ready for the upcoming firearm deer season by sighting in their rifles, and checking their equipment, and many landowners are getting ready by posting their land with "No Hunting" signs.

The landowner-hunter relationship is a strained one at best and poses a real threat to the sportsman. Hunters are being faced with a yearly decline in the amount of available land on which to hunt. Creeping civilization has an effect on the amount of land available, but so does the hunters' attitude. Many landowners post their land in response to damage done by the unethical or "slob" hunter.

The slob hunter is easily identified by his inconsiderate attitude and apparent inability to read signs or a list of hunting laws. He may break down fences, leave gates open, harass livestock, start fires, shoot towards buildings or a variety of other activities which arouse the ire of even the most patient landowner. Unfortunately the slob hunter gives all hunters a bad name and closes land not only to him self, but to the true sports man as well.

There is no excuse for the slob hunter and he may soon become an endangered species. Many hunters, who witnessed the unsportsman like conduct of the slob hunter but turned their backs, are feeling the effect of this type of hunter and are doing something about it. Sportsmen are taking pride in their hunting sport, and in an effort to preserve its integrity as a viable wildlife management tool, they are watching and reporting illegal activities.

In an effort to make reporting of poaching easier, the Michigan Department of Natural Resources has established a toll free number 1-800-292-7800, to call to report such information.

It is clear that unless this trend is halted, more and more hunters will be forced onto the few parcels of publicly owned land, and the quality of hunting will be greatly reduced.—Steve Harrington.

Test for diabetes is free

Free blood tests to detect diabetes will be offered by 165 Michigan hospitals and health centers during Diabetes Detection Week of November 16-22. The statewide testing program is sponsored by the American Diabetes Association-Michigan Affiliate (ADA-M) and open to persons 18 years of age or older.

Diabetes is a serious disease that is a major cause of heart attack, kidney failure, blindness and death. The symptoms of diabetes, which present, may include frequent urination, abnormal weight, unusual hunger, rapid weight loss, itching, fatigue, blurred vision, and slow healing of cuts and scratches.

IBC conference held here

Independent Bank Corporation recently held a Directors Conference at Deer Run Country Club in Lowell. Directors of all five affiliate banks attended the conference and directors from the Peoples Bank of Leslie attended as guests.

Approximately 40 of the 45 directors of IBC affiliates were at the meeting to discuss a number of topics.

Jud Moran, Marketing Consultant for IBC, spoke on Banking in the 80's. John Gleason, President of Gleason and Associates, Incorporated, and former treasurer of Northern Trust Corporation, spoke on "How to recognize a high performance bank".

Other topics included discussions on bank director's evaluation of loans, evaluation of bank performance and how a bank can cope with shrinking interest margins.

The five affiliate banks of Independent Bank Corporation include First Security Bank, Bank of Rockford, Western State Bank, First State Bank of Newaygo and The Olivet State Bank.

CITY OF LOWELL NOTICE

A Public Hearing will be held before the Lowell Planning Commission on Monday, November 24, 1980 at 7:30 p.m. in the Council Chambers of City Hall, 301 E. School gets donation

Students at St. Mary's School are now using new calculators in the classroom. They were a gift of First Security Bank of Lowell. Trying out the new calculators are (L-R): Brian Zigmont, Pat Brown, John Sawka, Val Phillips and Edie Hong.

First Security Bank of Lowell has donated $125 to St. Mary's School in Lowell for the purchase of calculators.

St. Mary's Junior High math classes use the calculators as a means for checking math problems. These calculators are very useful and help the students in a variety of ways.

The students are very grateful for the generosity of the local bank. They will be entering a calculator contest in May at Grand Valley State College. The calculators will help the students prepare for the competition.

Other classrooms received one calculator to be used by the teacher and students as necessary demands.—Mike Dykstra, 7th grade.

STILL PLANT GRASS SEED The best time for seeding lawns in Michigan is late August through mid-September. You can wait until cold weather has set in to sow your seed however.

This is called dormant seeding because the seed does not begin to grow—it lies dormant—until spring. Then it begins to grow early, well before the broadleaved weeds.

State trails listed for X-C skiers

Cross-country skiers in Michigan will have more than 150 pathways to choose from this winter in state forests, state parks, national forests, and national lakeshores.

All of them are described in "Michigan Hiking and Skiing Trails," available from the Michigan United Conservation Clubs (MUCC), which compiled the publication to promote outdoor recreation in the state.

"Michigan Hiking and Skiing Trails" is available for $2.45 a copy, including tax and postage, from MUCC, Box 30235, Lansing, MI

Board Proceedings

LOWELL ARE A SCHOOLS BOARD OR EDUCATION School Board Meeting Resume November 10, 1980

The Board approved general fund checks totalling $339,516.25; funds 3, 5, 7 checks totalling $40,260.07 and building and site checks totalling $7,955.88.

Informational items included discussion of a transportation complaint; reports on the School Boards Convention in Detroit; a joint agreement from Forest Hills and Lowell to deny a property transfer request from Mr. and Mrs. Olds; presentation of policy revision proposals; a brief discussion of national trends in the population of school-age children; grievances in process from the teacher association involving reprimands, insurance, and granting of credit for correspondence courses; and the outlook for state aid.

Superintendent Kelly reported that schools do not expect a state aid bill for some time and it will probably be less than anticipated when the budget was prepared in August.

The board passed motions appointing Attorney Eugene Aikema as legal counsel and/or spokesman for the Board in 1981 negotiations with the teacher association, and approving installation of fencing at the storage shed and a new backstop, totaling $3,983.

The meeting was adjourned at 8:42 p.m.

Albert and Winnie Beukema will celebrate their 60th wedding anniversary on November 25.

Approval of Engineering Agreement With Fishbeck, Etc. Step II Grant

Council then discussed the proposed engineering agreement from Fishbeck, Thompson, Carr and Huber for responsibility in completing the requirements of the Step II Grant process for E.P.A. guidelines. Manager Quada recommended approval.

IT WAS MOVED by Councilman Christiansen that the engineering agreement submitted by Fishbeck, Thompson, Carr and Huber be approved, supported by Councilman Maatman.

Approval of Site Plan/Interstate Pipe Co./Bowes Road

Manager Quada then presented a Site Plan to the Council, stating that it had been reviewed by the Planning Commission, for the Interstate Pipe Company, to locate an office-storage building on Bowes Road. The Planning Commission has recommended that it be approved. Manager Quada stated that it would be a welcome new business to the area, a televising service of sewer systems, such as the City had done recently with the Step I portion of the E.P.A. Grant. Sophisticated television equipment and televising trucks will be stored on the premises, along with office space for the business.

IT WAS THEN MOVED by Councilman Christiansen that the Site Plan be approved for the location of the Interstate Pipe Company on Bowes Road, supported by Councilman Maatman.

Blue Lake has biggest year ever

Blue Lake Fine Arts Camp in Twin Lake, MI experienced the biggest year-to-year enrollment gain in its history during 1980.

Blue Lake President Fritz Stansell said 3,742 students attended the Muskegon county fine arts camp during the summer of 1980, an increase of 565 compared to the previous year.

Stansell said several factors were responsible for the 15 percent increase in the number of talented junior and senior high school students who attended Blue Lake's four two-week sessions last summer.

The 3,742 summer campers came from 69 Michigan counties, including 210 from Kent County, and 15 states.

Stansell said an additional 2,000 high school and college students attended post-season marching band and choir camps held at Blue Lake during late August, September and October.

According to Glen Dudderar, Extension wildlife specialist at Michigan State University, the total number of deer in Michigan is about the same this fall as in recent years. The composition of the herd has changed, however, particularly among the younger bucks.

"The mild to moderate winter of 1979-80 gave us a good crop of fawns this past spring," Dudderar points out. "Pregnant does were able to forage freely in many areas last winter, enabling them to produce many strong, healthy fawns. As a result, there are a lot of antlerless deer around."

Permits for antlerless deer are being issued in almost all of the southern half of the lower peninsula, in certain portions of northern lower Michigan, and only in Menominee County in the Upper Peninsula.

Take care with the holiday bird

Michigan turkey farms, located primarily in Ottawa, Allegan, Antrim and Barry counties, produced a record 31.2 million pounds of turkey in 1979, according to the Michigan Department of Agriculture.

An unstuffed turkey cooks faster and takes less time to prepare—up to an hour of cooking time can be saved. Savory dressing is easily baked separately in a casserole to accompany the bird.

If you do stuff the turkey, the dressing should be put in just before roasting. NOT the night before. MDA food technologists say if a stuffed bird is taken from the refrigerator and put into the oven, the center of the stuffing may not reach the desired temperature of 165 degrees by the time the bird is done. Any food poisoning microorganisms that might be present could multiply under these conditions.

After dinner is served, be sure to remove and refrigerate the stuffing immediately.

HUNTERS MAY SEE LOTS OF DEER BUT FEW LEGAL TARGETS

Deer hunters can expect to see a lot of deer this fall. But whether you see anything you can legally shoot at will depend largely on where you're hunting and whether you have a hunter's choice permit.

According to Glen Dudderar, Extension wildlife specialist at Michigan State University, the total number of deer in Michigan is about the same this fall as in recent years. The composition of the herd has changed, however, particularly among the younger bucks.

New exhibit opens at museum Self-help program for smokers offered

Opening November 15 is the Grand Rapids Public Museum's new permanent exhibit, "People of the Grand." This exhibit traces the history of people in this area from the ice age to 1826 when the first Europeans settled here.

The exhibit, unique in the country, combines dioramas, murals, sound recordings, artifacts and written information to tell its story. Featured in this dramatic interpretation of history are the Paleo-Indians with whom the first Europeans traded, and a log cabin such as the area's first settlers would have built.

The "People of the Grand" was designed and built, almost exclusively, by the Public Museum staff.

When "People of the Grand" opens, it will culminate five years of research and construction and will stand as a fitting tribute to those who came before us.

The "People of the Grand Exhibit" will be open during regular Museum hours: 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday and 1 to 5 p.m. Saturday, Sunday and holidays. The Museum is closed Christmas Day. There is no admission charge at the Public Museum.

TIPS ON TULIPS

Plant tulip bulbs about 6 inches deep (an inch or two deeper in sandy soil) in a well drained spot that has been worked to a depth of about 18 inches. Daffodils, hyacinths, flowering onions (allium) and other large bulbs should also be planted about 6 inches deep.

Smaller bulbs—such as crocus, scilla, galanthus and grape hyacinth—should be planted about 3 inches deep. Space hyacinths and daffodils 5 to 6 inches apart, tulips 5 inches apart and the smaller bulbs 1 to 2 inches apart.

By Jim Fitzgerald

So I won't be accused of favoring one sex over the other, I must report that Gov. Milliken broke the law in my former hometown, Lapeer, on Friday, Oct. 31, 1980. In broad daylight, he tried to fly over a train without a pilot's license.

Last year, the governor's wife, Helen, was clocked going more than 80 m.p.h. on her way from Lansing to Detroit. Of course, she didn't get a ticket for breaking the speed limit by 25 m.p.h. because the chauffeur of her limousine was a state policeman. Cops don't get tickets, they give them.

Mrs. Milliken's limo blew past Jim Brown, a former state legislator who was then publisher of the Ingham County News. He wrote an indignant editorial rapping Mrs. Milliken for allowing her tax-paid chauffeur to break traffic laws and waste energy. In reply, Brown received a note from Mrs. Milliken's secretary explaining that the speeding was necessary because she was late for an important luncheon.

Brown retorted that taxpayers probably wouldn't agree "that being late to a tea party is a good enough reason to fly 80 miles an hour past poor slob doing the legal 55, some of whom are probably also late but don't have a state trooper at the wheel."

It seemed like an interesting argument, so I wrote a column about it, suggesting first ladies should be required to obey the same laws obeyed by last slob. And that's why I'm writing about Mrs. Milliken's husband today. Both she and the governor support the Equal Rights Amendment, which has a flip side, so certainly they'll agree it would be unequal of me to write about her law-breaking but not his.

Gov. Milliken was in Lapeer to speak at two schools and on a radio talk show. The Lapeer County Press reported: "The state trooper chauffeuring Gov. William Milliken through Lapeer Friday certainly didn't have a governor on his limo's engine. We clocked him doing 55 m.p.h. in a 35 m.p.h. zone. We were hot in pursuit of the story on his zone's visit, but one maneuver gave us pause as the gov's driver pulled to the left as if to go around the crossing gates at the Saginaw Street railroad tracks. The driver pulled back as an eastbound train sped through."

"When we asked one of Milliken's aides about their wild cross-town ride, he grinned. "Is it true the governor flew over a train?" he asked. Trooper Mark Calcaterra said it's all right for state cops to speed, even when chauffeuring the governor."

Many times I have driven the route Milliken took, between Lapeer's two high schools. It's probably three or four miles. Traffic is congested, and much of the area is residential. The 35 m.p.h. limit is generous. According to the newspaper report, Milliken would have covered the distance in less than five minutes if he'd been able to get around those railroad crossing gates in time. Holy cow!

I'm sure the troopers who chauffeur the state's first family are excellent drivers. I'm sure they would deny risking lives. I wouldn't bother arguing with them about that, because their driving skill isn't the point.

The point is that everyone should obey the same laws, or face the same penalties, and it's outrageous that the governor allows a policeman to break the law simply so he won't arrive a few minutes late to give a speech.

This is the same sort of unblind justice that sends the banker to summer camp for two weeks for embezzling $5 million, and the burglar to prison for 10 years for stealing $500. I realize white-collar speeding is peanuts compared to the greater injustices, but I purposely gag on peanuts to keep in shape for gagging on cantaloupes.

Not incidentally, Milliken's speeches in Lapeer included his doomsday criticism of Proposition U, the Tish tax-cut amendment which, if it hadn't been defeated four days later, would have forced the state to cut back on many services.

For instance, it would have been necessary to lay off many state troopers. Milliken might have had to learn how to fly his own limousine.

Proper tires aid winter driving

If your Christmas list includes a smoker, the American Lung Association of Michigan has a gift idea. The organization has new self-help manuals for smokers who want to quit.

The Freedom from Smoking program marks the culmination of four years and a quarter of a million dollars of planning, study, research, and testing by the American Lung Association and also marks the beginning of a major new outreach to help millions of Americans quit smoking.

The self-help program consists of two manuals that are companion pieces. Manual #1, "Freedom from Smoking in 20 Days," guides smokers step by step through a 20 day program. They'll be helped to understand why they smoke, what people, places and things trigger smoking, what elements determine their personal pattern and what action must be taken to break that pattern.

On the average 80 of every 100 people who quit smoking go back to it within a year. Manual #2, "A Lifetime of Freedom from Smoking," is the maintenance component that helps the quitters stay off cigarettes. The manual provides continued help and support until nonsmoking becomes a new way of life. It outlines the temptations that may lure the novice non-smoker back to cigarettes. It offers a series of suggestions for coping with tensions, the feelings and the social situations that once prompted light-ups. It helps the former smoker to build a reward system.

To get the "Freedom from Smoking" package in plenty of time for Christmas send a $5 contribution to cover postage and handling charges for the two manuals to Freedom from Smoking, American Lung Association of Michigan, 403 Seymour Ave., Lansing, MI 48914.

An estimated 865,000 Michigan peach trees of all ages produced a 35 million pound crop last year. As with most fruit crops in 1979, severe winter and spring weather caused a major volume reduction. Predictions for this year's fruit harvest are good, with most fall fruit yields expected to increase from last year's totals.

Barletts comprise 87 percent of the state's total pear crop. Total production was 28 million pounds in 1979. Pears are picked while still firm, when less damage is likely to occur in transportation, so leave pears at room temperature for a few days to ripen.

Fearing that last winter's unusually mild weather in many areas may have lulled Lowell's motorists into a false sense of security about what can be ahead this year, Chief of Police Barry D. Emmons issued early warnings to unprepared motorists who could become hopelessly stuck or skid into accidents.

According to the Chief and the International Association of Chiefs of Police, it's every driver's responsibility to be aware of the type of driving conditions he will encounter throughout the winter and to equip his car to protect his passengers and other drivers, as well as himself.

The tires or traction aids used on your car are of vital importance under winter's snow and ice conditions. For getting started and for keeping moving, tests show that conventional snow tires provide only a small improvement on ice (28%) over standard highway tread tires. Reinforced tire chains provide about seven times the pull of regular tires on ice. On loosely packed snow, however, conventional snow tires provide half-again as much pull as regular tires. Reinforced tire chains provide more than four times the pull of regular tires.

For stopping, conventional snow tires were found to offer no advantage over highway tread tires on ice. Reinforced tire chains a 50% improvement on ice as compared with regular tires. On loosely packed snow, snow tires offer a 13% improvement over regular tires; reinforced tire chains are 37% better than highway tread alone.

According to the Chief, National Safety Council researchers have recently studied what happens when traction aids are used on front drive cars, compared to their use on rear drive vehicles.

Based on preliminary tests, the committee found that when either studded tires or tire chains are used on the front wheels of front drive vehicles, improvements in stopping performance are generally similar in degree to those achieved when the same traction aids are used on the rear wheels of rear drive vehicles.

While some traction aids do provide substantial help on snow and ice, the Chief was quick to point out that the resulting traction is nowhere near that of regular highway tires on either wet or dry pavement.

Going hunting? Go prepared!

The best way to set yourself up for trouble is to believe that hunting accidents always happen to the other guy. If you think you're immune to getting lost or getting hurt when you're out in the wilds, you may take some chances that could get you into trouble.

Glenn Dudderar, Extension/Wildlife specialist at Mich. State University, advises hunters & others heading for outdoor fun to play the game of "what if?" and go prepared to cope with whatever might happen.

This doesn't mean loading yourself with so much gear that you can hardly waddle. A few pieces of survival equipment and the presence of mind not to panic are all that's necessary to get you through most wilderness emergencies.

"The first and most important thing to do is to tell someone who loves you where you're going and when you intend to be back," he advises. "Someone who loves you won't hesitate to send someone out looking for you if he/she thinks you might be in trouble. To avoid the embarrassment of being rescued when you don't need it, you might establish how long that person will wait before calling the local law enforcement office."

If something changes your plans, take a moment to find a phone and let your loved one know of your destination or time of return. It could save him/her hours of unnecessary worry or possibly save your life.

Dress appropriately for the current weather conditions but remind yourself of how quickly they can change and be prepared. Wear layers of lightweight clothing so you can add or subtract garments as the weather and your activity level change.

Problems often begin when someone who has kept warm through strenuous activity has to slow down or stop. A person can quickly become so chilled that his fingers get clumsy and he can't think clearly. Proper clothing—including footwear to keep your feet dry and warm, headgear, gloves or mittens, a moisture-absorbing layer next to your skin to wick perspiration away and an exterior wind-breaking layer—minimizes the danger of chilling.

Basic emergency equipment includes matches in a waterproof container, a knife, some high energy food, a whistle, some string, a small flashlight, and perhaps a few bandages and a little antiseptic.

With the matches and kindling shaved with the knife, you can light a fire. The heat can warm you and dry out wet clothing. Making the fire gives you something meaningful to do and provides you with a means of signaling for help. There's also a psychological factor: a cozy fire takes some of the threat out of your predicament.

The food will help you get warm and keep your spirits up.

The whistle is for signaling for help. It doesn't get hoarse or run out of ammunition or fuel; it will operate under all sorts of weather conditions, and it doesn't sound like anything else you're likely to hear in the woods. It won't be mistaken for any naturally occurring sounds or the sounds of someone hunting.

The string is helpful in first aid, emergency repairs, shelter building and a host of other chores. The bandages are a convenience to keep a small wound from becoming troublesome.

To this list of gear, add a compass—but only if you know how to use it. If you don't, it may just get you into more trouble. Heading in the wrong direction when you think you know where you're going can lead to disaster, and make you harder to find.

"The key to getting out of trouble in the wilds is to keep your head," Dudderar emphasizes. "If you realize you're lost, or if you get hurt and can't get back on your own, stay calm. Find a dry, sheltered spot, if possible, and get busy making a fire. Then stay with it."

"This Week In Outdoor Michigan"

Cold nights and cool days mark the advent of winter yet to come. Summer foliage is succumbing to freezing temperatures and fall winds. This loss of wildlife cover will prove an aid to anxious hunters. Cool waters are promoting an otherwise sluggish fall run of steelhead and lake trout.

At Lake Michigan piers, steelhead and lake trout are being taken using spawn and small spoons such as cleos.

Upstream fishing is more sluggish with better fishing apt to come.

Panfish are being taken on most inland lakes. Spring Lake reports fair catches of crappie while Lake Macatawa, Muskegon, and Muskegon River report some walleyes taken.

Bow and arrow deer hunters report good numbers of deer with many a lucky archer recording his prize.

Grouse hunting seems heaviest along the river bottoms and in game areas with a marked increase in kill numbers.

The Allegan waterfowl management area is closed for hunting with the hunters moving into the Muskegon County wastewater managed hunt. Interested hunters should apply at the Muskegon State Game Area for a 5:30 a.m. draw. Steel shot not larger than 1's with a 25 shell limit is required. This hunt is held on odd numbered days such as the 1st, 3rd, etc., and is limited to morning hunts only. Totals to date include 162 geese, 242 ducks, with 561 hunters participating.

He may have been happy, but guests at Abraham Lincoln's wedding to Mary Todd in Springfield, Ill., on November 4, 1842, described him as "Pale and trembling as being driven to the slaughter."

He soon adjusted to married life. Some of the furniture from the Lincolns' Springfield home is now on exhibit in the Decorative Arts Gallery of Henry Ford Museum, Dearborn, MI.

Weather Word

With Meteorologist KURT SCHMITZ

Everyone knows we're getting into the snow season. But, we're also approaching the fog season, and there are times when fog can be as great an inconvenience as snow. If you were traveling during the Christmas holiday a year ago, you're probably aware of that fact.

December is the foggiest month in Grand Rapids with heavy fog on an average of four days during the season. Last December, eight such days occurred, all of them within the final eleven days of the month.

Fog is merely a cloud at the ground. Although there are as many as five types, the fog we see at this time of year usually falls under the class of advection fog. Often associated with fronts, advection fog forms when warmer, moist air moves over colder ground or water. Fog seen on the Great Lakes is usually of this type.

Precipitation—induced fog, also a frontal type, occurs when warm rain falls through cool air, which then becomes saturated by the rain, forming fog. Our "Christmas fog" of last year was mainly this type, although advection played a part in it.

We also see radiation fog from time to time, but it's not nearly as thick or persistent, occurring mostly during summer in patches on clear, calm nights.

OPEN LETTER

Dear friends,

To be human is to have problems. It is only when we have grown in wisdom, in compassion, in unselfishness to truly 'love thy neighbor (all mankind) as thyself' that we may return to our spiritual heritage and be free of humanity's scourges.

Respectfully,

Newlyweds settle in Kansas

Linnette Susan Karbowski and Daniel Joseph Fallon Jr. were united during an afternoon ceremony Oct. 18, 1980 in St. Anthony's Catholic Church with the Rev. Larry Pashak officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Elgis Karbowski and the late Richard O. Karbowski of Saranac. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. Daniel Joseph Fallon Sr. of Kansas City, MO.

Attending the bride were Georgienne Hammer as maid of honor, Nancy Karbowski, sister of the bride as junior bridesmaid and Annette Hammer, ring bearer.

David Karbowski, brother of the bride, was best man. Michael Gibas and Todd Michalski, cousins of the bride, were ushers. Music was by Tom Hagen.

Honored guests were Mr. and Mrs. Otto Karbowski and Raymond Reder, grandparents of the bride.

A reception was held in the church basement. Master and mistress of ceremony were Mr. and Mrs. William Goss. Guest book attendant was Mrs. David Klahn and cake was served by Sherri Meyers.

The newlyweds honeymooned in Chicago and are now living at 559 E. Loula, Olathe, Kan.

Loads of laughs in SHS production

The curtain is going up on the annual Saranac High School fall comedy, "The Odds Are Against You." It will be presented Friday and Saturday, Nov. 21 and 22, at 8 p.m. in the S.H.S. cafeteria.

The Mondale family residence is the center of the play. The family includes Gerald the father, Emily the mother, two daughters, Susan and Cathy and Grandma Ed and Grandma Bill. The grandmas are trying to raise money for an extra addition to the house. One of their many schemes is the purchase of a racehorse named Alphonso the Terror from tough guy Big Louie.

The play is extremely funny and it will be an evening well spent.

The cast is Jim Austin, Kim Coulson, Cindy DeMeester, Chris Powell, Cheri

Gage, Dawn Bellil, Bob Ainsworth, John Davison, Alan McPherson, Mike Knowles, Darlene Ware, Mike Batson, and Darcy Heilman. Mr. David Benjamin is the director of the play.

The 1980 4-H Fall Achievement Banquet is planned for Wednesday, Nov. 19, 7:30 p.m. at the Ionia Free Fair Youth Building. All Ionia County 4-H families are invited to attend. They need not have been nominated for an award in order to come. Any 4-H family who wishes to come is asked to call the 4-H Office (527-1400).

Christmas craft day planned

Macrame mice, bead ornaments and ceramics are all part of the 4-H Christmas Crafts for Kids Day on Saturday, Nov. 22, at the Westwood Elementary School, 883 Cross Street, Portland. All Ionia County youth nine and up 4-H and non 4-H are invited.

Seven classes are being offered including: Ceramics, Macrame mice and angels, bead ornaments—beginning (candy cane, star and wreath), bead ornaments—advanced (star and angel), Artex painting, spice ropes, napkin holders, paper art, and toothpick art.

Each participant is limited to two classes. Registration begins at 9:30 a.m. The first class runs from 10:11-30 a.m., lunch until noon, and second class 12:1-30 p.m. There will be a small charge of $1 per class with the exception of the paper art which will be 50c.

Everyone should bring a sack lunch. The workshop was planned and sponsored by the Ionia County 4-H Crafts Developmental Committee.

turkey under cold, not warm, running water.

Cook the turkey within 24 hours of thawing it. If you don't plan to cook it immediately, cover it loosely with waxed paper and place it in the refrigerator, but never refreeze it.

Clean the turkey by washing it thoroughly inside and out with cold, running water. Drain it, and do the same thing with the giblets. As you're cleaning it, be aware of stickiness in three places: under the wings, at a point where the legs and body join, and on the upper surface of the tail. That means the turkey is beginning to spoil. If the wing tips are turning a darker color and if there is a bad odor, throw it away. Don't risk food poisoning on the day you count your blessings. When in doubt, throw it out!

When the bird is cooked, keep it hot or in the refrigerator. Never let it stand out for serving or nibbling for more than two hours. When dinner is finished, cover it with waxed paper and put it in the refrigerator.

Although preparing the Thanksgiving dinner is a flurry, don't take short cuts with cleanliness. Never use the cutting board or knife that was used for the raw bird to serve up the cooked turkey. Wash all utensils and boards with hot soapy water after you prepare the raw bird.

Poultry spoils easily, so follow directions for a safe and hearty meal. It doesn't matter if you get your "national birds" confused. The important thing is to celebrate the holiday, the time when not only the turkey but also the family makes it a day of Thanksgiving.

A NOT SO PHONY IDEA

Thomas Edison announced his invention of the phonograph in November, 1877. His talking machine was so unique that the government granted him a patent in a mere three months. Between that time and 1926 Edison received a total of 186 patents on the phonograph, one of his most important inventions. At Greenfield Village, Dearborn, MI visitors can step into the laboratory where the first talking machine was invented, moved by Henry Ford I to Dearborn in 1929.

Ada Bridge to open by Christmas

The $92,000 Ada covered bridge, being built on the east side of the Thornapple River, will be hauled into place next Monday or Tuesday by two cranes, reports

Warren DeYoung, spokesman for Dan Vos Construction Co. of Ada, which is constructing the span at cost. This bridge is replacing the 112-year-old span which was razed by fire Sept. 9, 1979, and is being paid for by donations from Amway Corp. and the public. The Kent County Road Commission is donating $10,000 or 10 percent of the cost, whichever is lower, says James Porritt, KCRC manager. Arson is suspected in the fire. The wall studs were built flatwise on the ground and then lifted upright on edge so the roof rafters and floor joists could be assembled. The span is 125 feet long, 15 feet high and 14 feet wide. It is an exact replica of the former bridge. Last week a concrete capping for the east pier was laid. A form, 2 feet thick, 3 feet wide and 20 feet long, was built to receive the concrete. The bridge, 50 tons in weight, is slated to be opened to pedestrian traffic before Christmas, says DeYoung. The walls, flooring and roof will be built after the span has been moved into position.—Dave Barnes.

YFU seeks host families

YFU, a non-profit exchange program, seeks responsible, caring host families who are willing to open their hearts and homes to South American exchange students, from January to July, 1981. Students (aged 14-18) will be carefully matched with local families and will attend high school during the exchange experience. Host families provide room and board for the student, welcoming him or her as a family member, not a guest. Youth for Understanding program fees and personal expenses are provided by the student's natural family. YFU international students are highly motivated, have studied the English language and are eager to learn about the American way of life by firsthand participation! For more information on becoming a Host Family or other YFU opportunities, contact Diana Follebout/Regional Director, 6264 Dixie Highway, Bridgeport, MI 48722, or call collect: 517/777-4420.

November 24 - 30, 1980

FAMILY TIME WEEK IN LOWELL
Our nation's freedom was born in the families that formed our thirteen colonies. During Family Time Week we pay tribute to the vital role the American family has played and continues to play in the preservation of our free society. The family is the birthplace of order, justice and faith, and is essential to the healthy growth and development of children into responsible adults and good citizens. Armed and buttressed by the knowledge that he or she is an individual backed by an affectionate family, the child becomes an adult who willingly accepts community responsibilities and serves as a leader in the affairs of the nation. Family Time Week is a positive response to those who have stated that the family is no longer of any value, that it is an outdated institution. Therefore, I Dean E. Collins, Mayor of the City of Lowell, do hereby declare November 24 - 30, 1980 as, Family Time Week in Lowell, and urge all citizens to be mindful of the fact that the stability of a community, state or a country depends in great measure upon the influence of strong, cohesive families.
Dean E. Collins, Mayor, City of Lowell

Little Indians organize

The Lowell YMCA will be holding its annual organizational Indian Guide/Princesses meeting Friday, November 21, at the American Legion Bowling Lanes. The time for the meeting will be 7 p.m. The meeting will serve two purposes. It will allow those dads and sons/daughters who are interested in joining Indian Guides/Princesses the chance to learn about the program. Secondly, it will allow the dads to have a fun evening out with their son/daughter. The child will bowl the first ball and dad will bowl the second. Prizes will be given. The YMCA Indian Guide/Princesses program is for those dads who are looking for a fun, but meaningful way to spend time with their son/daughter. The program is centered around small groups that meet in the homes and which uses the Indian culture as a means of providing a learning experience. Some of the events that the Indian Guides do during the year are winter campout, spring canoe trip, fishing trips and other similar activities. For more information about the Indian Guide/Princess program please contact the Lowell YMCA, 897-8445.

Clear a path for rural mail

Notices went out this week from the Lowell Post Office reminding rural customers that postal regulations regarding delivery of mail to rural or curbside boxes require customers to keep the approach to their mailboxes cleared of snow, vehicles, and other objects.

This will permit the carrier to drive up to each mailbox to deposit and collect mail without leaving the vehicle. The approach to and exit from the mailbox should be cleared sufficiently on both sides to allow the carrier to drive ahead and not be required to back up the vehicle after delivery.

Postmaster Charlie Doyle stated that carriers are instructed to take all mail with them daily as no mail will be given out over the counter. On days of heavy snow, rural customers should meet their carrier if mailboxes have not been cleared.

YES — We have no bananas! But we finally have scratch pads made. 50¢ a pound. Grand Valley Ledger, 165 N. Broadway.

Lessens joins staff of WZZM TV

George Lessens, Lowell native, will join WZZM TV Channel 13 news and weather staff, according to Jack Hogan, News Director for the station.

Lessens will be doing the Weekend Weather spot during the news beginning November 29 and will also be producing special science reports for the news department.

A graduate of Lowell High School, he earned his Associate Degree in science from Grand Rapids Junior College and his Bachelor Degree in meteorology from Pennsylvania State University this past March.

Since April of this year, Lessens has worked for the National Oceanographic and Atmospheric Administration. In June, he began doing the televised weather report for the "A.M. Weather" program on public television channels. It was carried locally on GVSC TV Channel 35.

Lessens will replace weathercaster Ted Gribas who is now teaching full time in the Forest Hills School District. Gribas will continue to be affiliated with WZZM on a part time basis.

Lessens is the son of Dan and Phyllis Lessens of Lowell.

Honor Society initiates 25 new members

The Lowell Chapter of the National Honor Society held its traditional formal initiation ceremony Thursday evening, November 13, in the "K" quad of the high school. Twenty-six new members and their parents and friends were greeted by the President Deb Timinskis. Mrs. Virginia Fonger, advisor, presented a short history of the organization and explained the process of member selection which has evolved over the years since the Lowell Chapter was chartered in 1964.

Those taking part in the candle-lighting ceremony were this year's officers: Deb Timinskis, Tina Zywicki, Pam Desotell and Darla Price. The candles symbolize the four cardinal principles of NHS: character, service, leadership and scholarship.

The speaker of the evening was Mr. Ray Quada, Lowell City Manager, who urged the students to continue being active leaders as adults in their local communities whether it be city, township or county government.

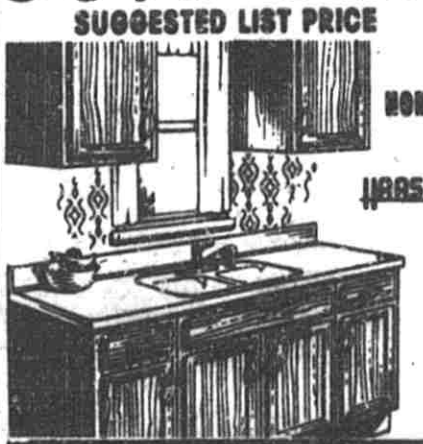

Membership cards and society insignia were presented by Principal Gary Kemp and Mrs. Fonger to the following new members: Meredyth Althaus, Paul Baerwalde, Beth Beachum, Ray Benedict, Joq Bieri, Rose Bigelow, Tom Brown, Jayne Bruce, Duke Burdette, Kelly Byrne, Tom Caldwell, Sue Chrisman, Dawn Condon, Kevin Conrad, Lori Greenwald, Brenda Kleinjan, Pam Miller, Camden Parks, Bonnie Peters, Julie Ramsdell, Ann Rivers, Sue Schoenborn, Carla Shores, Kim VanWeelden, and Brian Westcott.

Following the program, the second year members and their advisors hosted a social hour in the Carl Hagen Media Center.
