Board cuts budget by $184,000

Acting upon the recommendation of the Finance Committee, the Lowell Board of Education voted to cut $184,000 from this year's operational budget and to lay off five half-time teacher aides.

Superintendent Kelly reported that he believed additional cuts of approximately $66,000 will be necessary to bring school district expenses in line with anticipated revenues.

Kelly explained that the quarter of a million dollars worth of cuts are required because of drastically reduced state aid revenues.

Kelly said that every effort is being made to keep direct services to students intact during the initial cost-cutting moves.

He said decisions concerning the additional $66,000 will be made after a State aid bill is passed by the legislature.

HOLIDAY HOURS

Most everyone will be home having family time on Thanksgiving with all the traditional food and football. It would be a good idea to gas up the car on Wednesday and stock up on groceries needed for the feast. Some of the local party stores will be open at least part of the day in case you forgot some item.

The Grand Valley Ledger will be closed both Thursday and Friday.

SENIOR CRAFT SALE

The Lowell Senior Neighbors Center at 214 E. Main will stage a Christmas Craft Sale on Wednesday and Thursday, Dec. 3 & 4, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. All items are hand crafted by area seniors including luscious baked goods and homemade jellies. Always worth a stop when you're on Main St.

CHRISTMAS GIFT LIST

The Ledger gremlin has a great idea how to avoid the beastly hordes of Christmas shoppers and save gas to boot. Check this issue of the Ledger for some great sales and specials from area merchants. Add the personal hometown service that our advertisers offer, and you will find your Christmas gift list all finished in no time.

STILL TIME

There is still time to enter your unit in the Lowell Santa Claus parade which is slated for 2 p.m. on Saturday, Dec. 6. Call the Chamber of Commerce office at 897-8545 so they can save a spot for you.

OFF THE BLOTTER

Last week was a pretty good one. Lowell police report a quiet week with only three car-deer accidents in the area, none with injuries.

Two juveniles and Douglas Powers have given statements to local police in connection with the awning slashing spree on Main Street last week. Approximately $1,000 damage was done to Clark Plumbing and Heating and Pfaller's Riverfront Clothing Inc. A warrant is being sought for Powers and the juveniles await final determination of action.

New bridge one step closer

Getting a bridge built takes reams of paper and infinite patience.

The process involved in getting approval to build a new bridge on South Division St. came a little closer to being finished last week when the City of Lowell was notified that their Environmental Impact Statement would be accepted with minor changes.

According to City Manager Ray Quada, the EIS had been submitted only two weeks ago and it had been expected to take much longer for approval to come through. "We are pleased that the Michigan Department of Transportation and the federal Department of Transportation expedited this stage of the approval process. We worked closely and well with their representatives to put the EIS in proper order," said Quada.

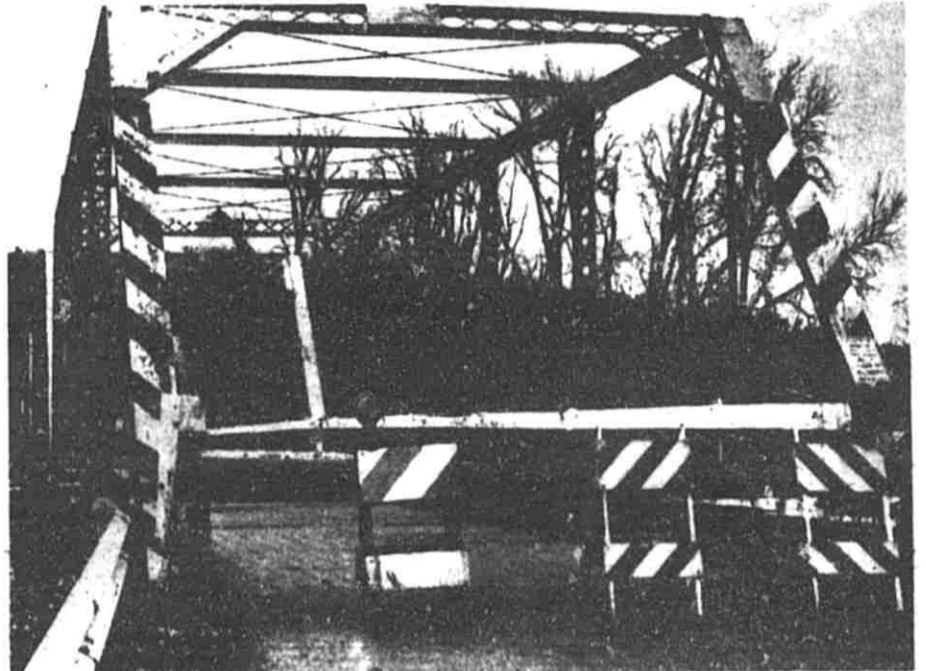

The City of Lowell is cooperating with the Kent County Road Commission in the effort to have the Division St. bridge rebuilt. The old bridge was closed to all traffic May, 1979 because engineering studies showed it to be unsafe for traffic.

Portions of Jackson St., Division St. and Grand River Dr. near the bridge have been turned over to the KCRC for maintenance but the City will still plow the snow in the area.

The EIS—Environmental Assessment and Impact Statement—submitted to the State in early November essentially says that the building of a new bridge at the old site will have no significant impact on the environment of the river or the surrounding area.

The next step in the bureaucratic process is to have the EIS reviewed by State and Federal agencies. Various departments will review the document and make comments which will be added to the EIS. The City will conduct a Public Hearing on the matter, and results and comments from that will also be added to the document. This portion of the process should be finished by February. Hopefully, then, the City and KCRC will get the go ahead to build.

In the meantime, engineers are proceeding with the final design of the bridge and the approaches to it. The Lowell's Division Street bridge moved one step closer to being torn down to make way for a brand new one last week. The bridge was closed in May of 1979 when engineering studies showed the bridge was unsafe for traffic.

goal is to have the preliminary engineering also done by February 1.

Presumably, then, bids for actual construction of the bridge could be taken around April 1 with construction to begin this summer. This will include the dismantling of the old bridge.

Funding of construction has already been settled. The City and the KCRC will share the local cost which includes 10 percent of the construction and engineering fees on an equal basis. The Federal government will fund 90 percent of the bridge construction and the necessary approach work.

Plan Thanksgiving trip for safety

A well stocked Thanksgiving table is usually not associated with "conservation"—especially by those with a tendency to over-eat. Lowell Chief of Police Barry D. Emmons, however, has issued suggestions on how motorists can save energy, themselves and their peace of mind during Thanksgiving trips.

Rule one, according to the Chief, is to observe the 55 mph speed limit. You'll not only conserve fuel, you'll also have a more pleasant trip and arrive at your destination more rested and relaxed.

ROSIE DRIVE INN — 800 W. Main St., Lowell. TAKE OUT Chicken Bucket. Breakfast Special: Eggs, Toast & Coffee, 99c. Weekly Special: Roasted Sausage, 99c. Wed. Night Chicken Night, Thurs. Night Rib Night, Fri. Night Seafood Night. Sat. Night Sizzler Night. Rosie's Hours: Sun. & Mon. close at 6:45, Tues.-Sat., close at 8 p.m. Phone 897-9669. c3

Since Thanksgiving travel in many areas coincides with the season's first snow fall, a lot of conservative management of your car's needs is indicated. A checkup by a competent mechanic before the trip is a must. Brakes, lights, tires, defroster, windshield wipers and washer, battery and exhaust along with a tuneup, should be included.

Stock your trunk with safety gear: tire chains, booster cables, a shovel, tow chain or strap, traction mats, sand or rock salt, emergency lighting equipment and a roll of paper towels for cleaning lights and glass.

Driver and passenger conservation is in order as well, according to Chief Emmons. Plan your routes in advance, keep your timetable flexible in case of adverse weather. Be rested and alert when you start and plan rest stops along the way.

Everybody is always talking about how awful Mondays are. For me, they usually aren't too bad. In fact, I kinda enjoy my Mondays because that's the day that I use to go around town and make my calls on the Ledger's advertisers. It's a change of pace for me to get out of the office and talk to people that I only see on a weekly basis. With this in mind, I guess it's quite important that I be at least a little bit cheerful about Mondays or else I wouldn't sell many ads. Nobody buys from a grump, especially when it's Monday and they're grumpy, too.

This past Monday was an exception though. The day started out well enough, as I got up early and went down to the shop to get a couple of jobs done before the normal work day bogged me down. I came home about 7 a.m., had a cup of coffee, watched some of the morning news, and went out to feed my dogs. Like in an Alfred Hitchcock movie, this is where the plot started to thicken.

The first thing that went wrong was when Thor put a big, muddy paw print on my clean pants. No big deal though, I could sponge it off and that certainly wasn't enough to ruin my day. But it was a start. Do you remember all this business about the one puppy that I had left out of a litter? You know, the one that was "going fast" for so long. Well, she's still "going fast", that is, I've still got her. I feed her in the house so that the big dogs don't take her food. Having the dogs fed, I took off to get the babysitter.

Upon my return, I found that the pup had for some reason, decided to leave her deposit of puppy residue on our family room couch. After some pretty serious scolding, I took her outside to the pen. Because of all the scolding she wouldn't come to me, and I ended up chasing her around and around the pen, back to the house, around and around the garage, and then back to the pen where I finally cornered her. This time she got a little more than just a scolding and I was Dr. Jekyll turned Mr. Hyde. Muddy, out of breath, and furious, I headed back to the house where I cleaned up the dog mess, cleaned myself up and finally got off to work.

I never even got to open my mouth and say "good morning" at the shop before one of the employees shoved three job tickets at me and told me that we had to do them over. They were three of four jobs that we did for a Grand Rapids firm last week, and there was a man's name spelled wrong on all three of them. This meant printing at least a hundred dollars worth of work all over again and I couldn't even chew anybody out because the misspelling was my fault on one of the jobs.

I thought about having one of the office girls paint a lipstick smile on my face before I went out to call on accounts, but the day finally started to straighten itself out and I was able to get my own smile working again.

The white lines in the middle of highways usually have to be repainted about every three or four months.

Weather Word
 With Meteorologist KURT SCHMITZ

Climatology will always be an interesting weather topic. This is partly because good weather records go back a comparatively short time in the earth's history; little more than 200 years in North America. Thus, what we have come to think of as "normal", is not normal at all in the history of this planet.

For example, who would believe that much of Michigan was covered by a tropical climate and vast seas? 500 million years ago, it was. Around the same period, the climate would at times become very arid. Geologists know this from studying the extensive salt deposits found in the state. Two million years back, we entered an Ice Age, with a cold climate and glaciers from the final Ice Age left here a mere 9500 years ago and left the Great Lakes behind. At the time that occurred, Lake Michigan was about half its present-day width.

Our climate then, is not stable. It is constantly changing. Climatologists have a problem trying to predict what our climate will be like in the future. Past history is about all they have on which to base their predictions. And furthermore, they must know the whys. Why was it cold and ice-covered here 15,000 years ago? Was it due to a particular atmospheric composition? What kind of effects will industrialization and overpopulation have on our atmosphere and future climate? Stick around, in another 10,000 years we'll find out.

Already planning Festival '81

Committee chairs for Festival '81 held their first joint meeting last week. Next year's Festival is June 5-7.

"This is the 'Tremendous 12th'." Cochairpersons Johanne Neu and Dave Mix said in calling this first session for the 40-plus committees that do the organizing of the annual festivals sponsored by the Arts Council of Greater Grand Rapids, 17 Fountain St. NW, Grand Rapids, 49503.

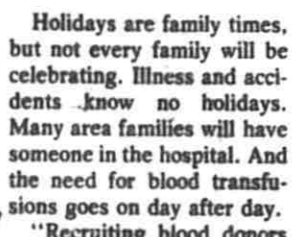

The same is true of organizations which would like to be considered for food booths and those individuals or groups that would like to perform at Festival '81.

Persons with questions should call Bob Van Stee at the Arts Council office, 454-9221.

IT WAS CHEAPER THEN, TOO

America's first drive-in service station was opened by the Gulf Refining Company on December 1, 1913, at the intersection of Baum Blvd. and St. Clair in Pittsburgh, PA. It sold 30 gallons of gasoline the first day.

Special need for donors now

Holidays are family times, but not every family will be celebrating. Illness and accidents know no holidays. Many area families will have someone in the hospital. And the need for blood transfusions goes on day after day. "Recruiting blood donors is traditionally very difficult during the holiday season," said Tracey Kohl, director of donor resources for the Grand Valley Blood Program. "People are wrapped up in their special plans and events and may lose sight of the ongoing need for blood." Kohl added.

Grand Valley Blood Program, the sole source for blood and blood products for Kent County hospitals, is urging families to start a new holiday tradition.

Anyone between the ages of 18 and 66 may donate blood if he or she is in good health and weighs over 110 pounds. Seventeen year olds may give blood with written permission from a parent or guardian. All blood types are needed.

It takes only seven minutes to donate blood. Additional time is needed for nurses to check the donor's medical history, blood pressure and temperature and for the donor to enjoy refreshments in the canteen.

To make an appointment for a convenient time to give blood, call the Grand Valley Blood Program at 774-2300. Or stop in the blood center at 1055 E. Fulton.

Still looking for a logo

The on-going contest for a design that will be used as a logo in different ways by the park department of the Kent County Park Commission has drawn four logos so far, reports James Porritt, KCPC manager.

There have also been many telephone calls regarding the competition, he adds. The contest, in which there will be three prizes given the three top winners, will end Dec. 31. The awards are a $100, $50 and $25 United States savings bonds.

Entry forms may be procured from the KCPC, 1500 Scribner Ave., NW, Grand Rapids, MI 49504 and at the Grand Valley Ledger, 105 N. Broadway, Lowell.

The rules are: Each entry must be an original design, all entries must be in color on 8 1/2 by 11-inch paper, each logo must be accompanied by an official entry blank and no more than two entries per person are allowed.

The winning design, which becomes the sole property of the KCPC, will be used as the official park logo on arm patches, park personnel uniforms, decals, vehicles, equipment and stationery, says Porritt.

Winners will be announced at a January public meeting of the KCPC, and the Buildings, Parks and Transportation Committee of the Kent County Board of Commissioners.—Dave Barnes.

Beware!!!!

A variety of portable heaters now on the market can help reduce energy costs if used for short periods of time. They can also be hazardous if used improperly.

Early symptoms of carbon monoxide poisoning include dizziness, headache, and/or nausea. "I'm not saying that every flame-powered portable heater is unsafe to use," he adds. "But I do not think it would be wise to use any of these for more than an hour at a time without ventilating the house."

Experience a pioneer Christmas

Helping usher in the 1980 Christmas season is Blandford Nature Center's "Christmas in the Cabin" on Sunday, Dec. 7 from 1 to 5 p.m. Due to the popularity of this annual event, the Nature Center has expanded it to four hours.

The Nature Center's Log Cabin is decorated in the pioneer tradition. A large Christmas tree is trimmed with a wide variety of decorations made of such natural items as nuts, pine cone garlands, berries and seed pod animals created by the sixth grade children at Frost School. In addition to the tree in the Center's Interpretive Building, there is a special tree just for the birds that live on the 113 acre site. Decorated with nut and seed cups, suet balls, popcorn and peanut garlands, this tree provides a tasty treat for all our fine feathered friends.

There are even opportunities for the whole family to join in some traditional holiday fun. Visit the one room school house to pull some taffy, or for a small fee, caramelize an apple or dip a Christmas candle. There will be hot mulled cider and doughnuts for sale as well.

The Nature Center, 1715 Hillburn NW, is part of the Grand Rapids Public Museum and is open free to the public. Free shuttle bus service to Blandford is provided from the parking lot of the Westview Christian Reformed Church at 2929 West Leonard.

Christmas sky show for kids

For five consecutive Saturday afternoons, the Chaffee Planetarium of the Grand Rapids Public Museum will present a Christmas program especially designed for young people ages 3 through 10. Beginning Saturday, December 6, the sky show "The Christmas Star" will be presented at 1:30 p.m.

This is the first time the Planetarium has offered a sky show for young people during the Christmas season. This program briefly describes the Christmas star and includes a sing-a-long and flying Santa. Adults are asked to accompany the children.

The program dates and times are December 6, 13, 20, 27 and January 3 at 1:30 p.m. Admission is $1 for adults and 75c for students.

The annual sky show, the "Star of Wonder", will begin December 4 and continue through January 4. Showtimes are 8 p.m. Thursday, Friday and Saturday and 2:30 and 3:45 p.m. Saturday and Sunday. Additional showings are scheduled for the week between Christmas and New Years, December 26, 29, 30 and 31, at 11 a.m., 1 p.m., 2:30 p.m. and 3:45 p.m.

Admission for all programs is $1 for adults and 75c for students. Special showings of "Star of Wonder" can be arranged for groups of 35 or more by calling 456-3985 between the hours of 10 a.m. and 5 p.m. weekdays.

The "Star of Wonder" explores the possible explanations of that first Christmas star. Visitors are transported back 2,000 years where the same skies and celestial happenings that greeted the Magi are recreated on the sky theater's dome. Combined with dramatic readings and music, this program is an inspirational panorama of light and sound.

GREEN POPCORN??

For a special treat this holiday season, serve popcorn snacks decorated with festive colors.

Pop four quarts popcorn and keep in large pan in oven at 200 degrees. In medium saucepan, combine one and one-half cups sugar, one-half cup light corn syrup, two tablespoons butter, one-half teaspoon salt and one-quarter cream of tartar. Bring to boil, stirring constantly. Cook to 250 degrees (hard ball stage) without stirring.

Stir in three to four tablespoons of any flavor gelatin dessert. Continue cooking about one minute, to 260 degrees. Remove from heat and add one teaspoon baking soda. Stir in quickly but thoroughly. Pour at once while foamy over warm popcorn. Mix. Return to oven & bake at 200 degrees one hour. Remove from oven and stir two or three times. Cool and separate into small pieces. Store in tightly covered containers.

We can be well prepared for the big things in life, but sometimes the little things are overlooked and knock us out of commission. Take the hunters this season, for example.

A good hunter knows the proper clothes to wear, how to handle the guns and read the compass, is alert to hazardous weather on the trail, and retains contact with his or her hunting companions.

What even an experienced hunter might overlook is one simple item that could turn an exhilarating hunting trip into a tragedy, namely, the condition of the heating unit in the cabin, camper, or travel trailer.

The heating unit may not be used very often and, as a result, could have developed a faulty condition that could create carbon monoxide and be a threat to life. Each year we have reports of hunters who have been overcome by carbon monoxide, some of them fatally. You can't see it, or smell it, when carbon monoxide is abroad, a good night's sleep could—and sometimes does—become the final rest.

The most dangerous appliances are the intermittently used gas-fired appliances and any unvented unit. A wood stove or fireplace also can emit carbon monoxide, even more when the fire diminishes to glowing embers. At that level the fire doesn't have the strength to surge up the chimney and permeates the room with carbon monoxide instead.

In every case, open windows are desirable, but they may not provide enough ventilation, if dangerous amounts of carbon monoxide are in the room. The only safe way is to be sure that all combustion products are properly vented to the outside all the time. Similar conditions apply to summer cottages that are opened in the spring.

Make it a point this year to check the heating unit before you need it. Play it safe. Don't let the little things knock you out of commission. In this case, the little thing could be the biggest thing in your life: survival.

Another $16,000 slashed from school budget

Saranac's Board of Education voted further budget cutbacks at last Thursday's meeting totalling $16,000. Approximately $200,000 had already been slashed from the budget several months ago.

The Board has eliminated transportation of student athletes to out-of-town sporting events. Parents will be called upon to provide transportation for their own and other student athletes. The decision is effective with the beginning of the basketball season.

According to Athletic Director Gloria Hubbard, accident liability should not be a problem. After checking with insurance agencies, Hubbard said individual students would be covered by their parents' insurance, or the driver's or the school's.

Other cutbacks include the elimination of all field trips, shutting off security lights outside the high school, cutting nearly $4,000 from supplies and textbooks and cutting over $3,000 in administrative supplies.

Anticipating the possibility of further cuts when the State aid bill is finalized in February, the Board hopes to tighten the purse strings so that the fund equity could remain intact.

Pratt to head commission

Saranac Village Clerk Herbert Pratt has been appointed as the new president of the village's housing commission.

Village council members approved the appointment at their meeting on Monday, Nov. 17.

Pratt will fill a vacancy created by the recent resignation of former president Herbert Talcott, who has plans to spend winters in Florida.

DNR has hot-line

The Department of Natural Resources (DNR) has established a toll-free 24-hour law enforcement hot line, 1-800-292-7800, for you to call when you have any information on fish or game violations.

There is much information that can be very useful if remembered when witnessing a violation. If a car is involved, note the make, model, color and license number, as well as any distinctive damage on the automobile. If you can see the violators, remember their clothing, facial features and equipment.

Writing the facts down on paper can help in a better recollection of the incident. Often, when excited, observers can forget to look for or record the necessary information.

Above all, remember that you are not a law enforcement officer, so do not attempt to take direct action. You may be held responsible for your actions if you unlawfully detain a poacher.

Coordinator of the DNR's anti-poaching campaign, Ransom Hill, agrees that "the best course of action for the concerned citizen interested in assisting the conservation officer is to gather the information and then call for assistance."

Reporting fish and game violations is nothing of which to be ashamed. As Mr. Hill says, "Reporting the activities of those who continue to insist on doing things their way—in direct violation of the law—is simply being a good citizen."

Appliance Energy Sense

Attention to home appliances can help you save energy and dollars. Repair or replace faulty appliances that waste energy. Use small kitchen appliances, rather than your stove, to prepare small meals. Fondue cookers, popcorn poppers, bean pots, electric grills and skillets, etc. usually require less energy than your stove when you use them correctly. Keep these portable appliances out of drafts which can reduce their efficiency. Be sure to turn off your appliances as soon as you stop using them. Buy solid state TV's, radios and stereos whenever possible; they require less energy than conventional sets. These few simple measures can help you cut down on your energy consumption considerably.

HOMESPUN DEVOTIONS

by Pauline E. Spray

Be still, and know that I am God... (Psalm 46:10). Have you ever tried closing your eyes and listening to the sounds about you? How many do you hear? Perhaps you can hear the pleasant hum of the furnace blower, a neighbor's door opening and closing, the clang of a car door, the yelping of your pet. There may be also the low rumble of the refrigerator motor, the friendly ticking of the clock, the whistle of an approaching train, and the passing of automobiles.

We miss much of life because we fail to listen. We seldom hear the rhythmic sound of the dancing leaves as the wind rushes through them, the lowing of the cattle on a distant hillside, and the clattering of hungry sparrows as they search for food in the yard.

Likewise, we miss much that the Lord has to tell us because we fail to "stop and listen."

In a time of need God spoke to Elijah, not in the great and strong wind, not in the earthquake, not in the fire, but in a "still small voice." And He is waiting to whisper His secrets to us, if we will "stop and listen."

Prayer: O Lord, I am listening. Let me hear Thy faintest whisper. Tell me Thy secrets. I am waiting for Thee. Amen.

Silently now I wait for Thee, Ready, my God, Thy will to see; Open my ears, illumine me, Spirit divine!

Reflections From Outer Space

By Rev. Jerry Bates

On top of a paper file in my office, I have the following items: 2 warm fuzzies, 1 "I found it" pin, 1 Vacation Church School pin, 1 45-minute cassette tape, 1 suction cup to hang objects on glass and a Cross with some shrink art, which was done by the children in a Church School Class while I was at Trinity in Lansing.

I was just thinking that I should throw it away, or at least part of it anyway. It just makes my office look cluttered. But what should I throw away? I guess that I could put the cassette in a desk drawer, but I am not sure what is on it; it might be something that I really want — I wouldn't have put it there if there wasn't a reason. Guess I had better leave it there!

I could put the "I found it" button and the Vacation Church School pin in a drawer with a lot of other odds and ends, but that just puts off the decision. Now let me see, the Vacation Church School pin—I don't know where I got it and I can't use it again until next year, really should put it with my other Vacation Church School things. Good idea!

But the "I found it" pin now that really has meaning I took part in an "I found it" campaign in Lansing and really want to keep that. I'll hang that on the corner of the curtain and that way I'll remember that one day Jesus found me.

The suction cup just won't work on these rough glass windows; into the drawer it goes. I'll just forget where I put it. Now I'm down to the Cross and the warm fuzzies. It sure was nice of those Church School children to give it to me. The art work is not the best and you can hardly read the words. Some times kids don't do too well but I like it. That would look nice on top of my bookcase there it goes.

There are just the warm fuzzies left. They do have special meaning to me. On Sunday a few years ago I preached a sermon on warm fuzzies and gave everybody as they left the Church, small round fuzzy balls. The next Sunday a Junior in High School game me 2 warm fuzzies in return. They have feet and eyes and ribbons in their hair. They also have U-shaped mouths. I like those warm fuzzies.

We all like warm fuzzies. We like a hug and a squeeze and a compliment makes us warm for hours. But many times it is easier to give "cold icicles" (as in icicles). How easy it is to see what the other person does that is wrong! How hard to forgive real or imagined slight! How often a frown and harsh words replace the warm smile and kind words we like to receive, but find it so hard to give.

There was a warmth about Jesus that made every person He met feel like He has just given them a warm fuzzy. He didn't have to hug everybody, or give a lot of compliments; people just knew he was giving them warm fuzzies.

We need the hug and kind words, and most of us will have to do it that way probably because we haven't reached the kind of sainthood that Jesus would want us to have and that we would really like.

Keep the love flowing...

IN MEMORIAM
ODE TO HUGH
Nine years has not dimmed our memories, or concealed the fact that you are missing from our circle. We know only time keeps us apart. So to our Ultimate end we plunge forward. Like the newborn turtles that rush eagerly to the Sea of Life, only to be devoured by the Hungry Seagulls of Time.
Our future, the one you left behind and the one we still face, is beautiful only by our Children's Faith and their Children's Love making everything seem like Yesterday's Dream.
With Love from the Past, To Love to the future, Your family, The Onans
IN MEMORIAM
In memory of A. H. Storm-zand who passed away 20 years ago, December 1, 1960.
He meant so much to each of us,
In his dear and special way; Memories linger on and on Especially on this day
Sadly missed by His Family

Haskins at GVSC

Freshman Lionel Haskins of Saranac spent most of the 1980 football season on Grand Valley State's JV squad.

However, Haskins did play with the varsity against Northwestern Illinois and in that contest carried several times for 14 yards. Haskins has been playing both fullback and tailback this season.

Grand Valley finished with a 7-3 record and was runner up in the Great Lakes Conference.
