Recent rash of burglaries is plaguing Vergennes Township

A barrage of burglaries in the Vergennes Township area has prompted area residents to organize an informal neighborhood watch program.

Roger Odell, who lives in the rea recently plagued by the Sbberies, says that he, his wife, and neighbors are trying to keep their eyes and ears open to protect their own and other's

Boosters' Walkathon is a success

Lowell Athletic Boosters Walk-a-thon chairperson Denise Dommer reports that approximately 250 walkers earned more than $6,000 for the Saturday, Boosters November 6.

Students from the High School and Middle School and a few adults swarmed from the High School parking lot at 10 a.m. in chilly weather but in high spirits.

Dommer reports that the Boosters are close to having the first installment of $15,000 which is due Decmeber 1. The response to the Century Club offer has been excellent, Dommer says, and that, combined with the Walk-a-thon pledges and proceeds from the Sale of Koeze nuts, should make the first payment no problem.

Dommer was pleased with the effort put forth from all quarters for the Walk-a-thon.

"I think everybody pulled together to make it a success," she

The Lowell Athletic Boosters would like to thank the walkers, the pledgers, and fellow Boosters for their help.

They are keeping especially alert for strange vehicles traveling through the area.

Detective Miedema, of the Kent County Sheriff's Department, was reluctant to give any information about burglaries, for fear of opening victims to another robbery.

At least two of the burglaries have taken place during the middle of the day, and appear to be well-organized.

One area resident reports leaving his home at 10:30 a.m. and returning before noon, only to discover that his home had been burglarized in the interval.

Miedema suggested some steps residents can take to reduce the chances of their home being robbed:

-- Keep an eye on suspicious vehicles. Obtain a description of the car. License plate numbers are, of course, most useful. Even if the information does not lead to an arrest, the Sheriff's Department knows who is "out there'

-- Keep a record of the serial numbers of appliances, chain saws, etc. If your home should be burglarized, the serial numbers can be put in a computer as stolen property. Such information can lead to the recovery of property and can aid police in tracking down burglars.

If a home is robbed, Miedema asked that residents call the Sherriff's Department immedicately, in the mean time taking care not to disturb any physical evidence.

If a resident suspects that a burglar is still in his home, he should call the Sherriff's Department and wait until their arrival before entering the

Did you ever have one of those projects staring you in the face that looked bigger than Everest itself? I'm not talking about taking down the storms, and putting up the screens in the spring. I'm not talking about putting a new roof on the old abode. I'm not talking about scraping and two-coat painting a big old house. I'm talking

What do I consider a BIG project? When Terese and I were first married, we decided to build our own house. With both of us working 40-hours a week jobs, and Angie on the way, that was a BIG project. When I first bought the Ledger the printshop had been neglected to the point that there wasn't even a pressman employed Over the years we have built the bussiness, bought all sorts of equipment, and now have two full time pressmen employed. That has been a BIG project. There have been other BIG projects in my life, but you should be getting the picture by now. What am I getting at, you ask? Well, I think I have just embarked on the BIGGEST project of my life. It all started about a week ago when my daughter asked if she could play basketball this winter. We said yes, which prompted my son to ask if he could take piano lessons. Since there's a big difference in cost between a pair of gym shoes and a piano, we took some time to think about it. I started looking around for used pianos. What I found were either too beat, too expensive, too ugly, or just too something or other. Terese finally asked her mother about the old upright player piano in her basement. The price (free) was enough to overcome the fact that it needed some work, and it became my BIG project. For a big project, it has gotten in motion rather suddenly. We got the word that we could have the piano on Saturday. I enlisted the aid of one of my brothers and his pickup on Sunday. Hans Fischer removed the player mechanics and the piano action on Monday, and took them to his shop for rebuilding. Mnday evening, Terese informed me that it cannot sit in our living room unless it's refinished. spent most of Monday evening stripping the old finish off one little panel on the front of the thing, and I am now committed to a really The panel that I have stripped accounts for about 10% of the total surface of the piano. So far I have used a $7.25 can of stripper, a package of steel wool, have turned my right arm to mush and permanently stained my hands. All that was to get the old finsih off, and who knows what it's going to take to put a new finish on. I figure that if this project were compared to an assault on Everest, the point I'm at now with my refinishing is about equivilent of buying my plane ticket for the trip to Tibet. vice today cautioned taxpavers about end-of-the-year investments marketed by unscrupulous promoters that lack sound business purposes and promise large tax savings

IRS District Director Charles Parks said that in Michigan during the first eleven months of fiscal year 1982 local IRS agents examined 1,341 returns of investors in abusive tax shelters by IRS. Additional taxes and penalties of $10.6 million have been determined to be due. Another 11,149 returns have been identified as probable abusive tax shelter returns and will be examined, Parks said. Additional taxes and penalties are expected to exceed $100 million, he said. Generally, says Parks, abusive tax shelters involve artificial transactions that lack economic reality, inflated appraisals, unrealistic allocations, "wholesale" buying to reap charitable contribution deductions at retail, and package deals designed at the start to generate losses far in excess of present or future investment.

While the term "abusive" has been applied to tax shelter plans that are contrary to law, many shelters are characterized by outright fraud containing both shallow and complex aspects designed to carry out willfull evasion. Earlier the plans were marketed to stretch the law and recently many are clear attempts to evade. Often the frauds involve backdated documents, fictitious notes, false affidavits and forged trading re-

Abusive shelters often involve nonrecourse loans for which the taxpayer is not liable for payment and that inflate losses or other deductions. Frequently, the financing is packaged to give the appearance of a personal obligation when it is in fact non-recourse. Such financing has been used to inflate deductions and credits to make them larger than the cash investment. However, the law generally provides that the amount on which an investment tax credit is computed and the amount of deductions for losses is limited to amounts actually risked in the venture.

Some abusive tax shelters have been effectively dealt with by the IRS or Congress and have virtually disappeared from the market. For example, the commodity straddle, formerly a popular shelter, has been curtailed effectively by the Economic Recovery Tax Act of 1981. It has been replaced, however, by other shelter schemes ranging from growing jojoba beans to leasing and subleasing energy management de-

RESOLUTION BY COMMISSIONER KUHN

WHEREAS, the Personnel, Safety and Social Services Committee has considered what actions should be taken on Unclassified Salaries for 1983, and whereas, the Personnel, Safety and Social Services Committee is recommending that the following policy be established by the Board of Commissioners.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED that the Kent County Board of Commissioners approve the following policy for Unclassified positions for 1983.

The Personnel, Safety and Social Services Committee agrees with the Pinance Committee that there be no increase in budget, by department, for 1983, for Unclassified positions, and that the Personnel Committee retain the right to make adjustments, as necessary, only if the following conditions are met:

- If efforts to recruit for a vacant Unclassified position have failed and an increase in salary appears necessary for a positive recruitment.
- (2) If an Unclassified position is found to be significantly below (25% or more) the average of a market study of comparable positions conducted by the Personnel

In addition to meeting one of the above conditions, the following two criteria will be required before consideration by the County Personnel, Safety and Social Services Com-mittee, Pinance Committee and Board of Commissioners:

- (1) The Unclassified employee filling the position must demonstrate above average job performance per evaluation form.
- (2) The request was prior approved by the Department Head as well as the Board or Commission responsible for the operation of the department.

RESOLUTION BY COMMISSIONER MAZURKIEWICZ

WHEREAS, there exists in and for Kent County, Michigan (the "County") a need to renovate, expand, furnish, equip and construct additions and improvements to the existing George Welsh Civic Auditorium portion of the Civic Auditorium Complex as hereinafter in the attached Full Faith and Credit General Obligation (Limited Tax) Contract of Lease (the "Contract") more particularly set forth. to provide additional convention center complex facilities; and WHEREAS, preliminary plans and estimates of cost of said facilities have been prepared by Daverman & Associates, Inc. Architects of Grand Rapids, Michigan (the "Architects") which said plans and estimates of cost have been reviewed by this Commission;

WHEREAS, this Commission has determined, and does hereby reaffirm, that it is necessary for the public health, safety and welfare of the County to acquire said facilities for the use of the County in accordance with said plans and estimates of costs; and WHEREAS, Act 31, Public Acts of Michigan, 1948 (First Extra Session), as amended, provides through the procedures of building authority financing a means for the acquisition, construction and inancing of such facilities; and WHEREAS, the County and the City of Grand Rapids, in accordance with the provisions of said Act 31, as amended, have previously adopted Articles of Incorporation and have established the City of Grand Rapids and the County of Kent Joint Building Authority (the "Authority"), with full powers to acquire and construct such

WHEREAS, this Commission determines it to be in the best interest of the County to acquire and finance said facilities through the Authority in accordance with the provisions of said Act 31, as amended, and WHEREAS, a Contract between the County, City and the Authority providing for the acquisition, construction and financing of said facilities and such matters as are deemed necessary thereto has been

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED THAT: This Commission hereby determines it to be necessary for the public health, safety and welfare of the County to acquire the facilities as set forth in the Contract attached to this resolution for the use of the County and City.

2. This Commission deems it to be in the best interest of the County to finance the cost of such facilities through the Authority accordance with the provisions of the aforesaid Act 31, as This Commission hereby approves the preliminary plans and estimates of cost of said facilities as prepared by the Architects.

4. This Commission hereby approves the Contract for the acquisition, construction and financing of said facilities, as 5. As a result, more and *Too large a unit is dangermore people have turned to alous, so make sure you purchase ternate forms of heating, but the on that fits your room's heating price paid for savings on fuel bills has been a dramatic increase in the number of residential fires, injuries and deaths. One of the most popular home heating alternatives is the woodburning stove. Invented by Benjamin Franklin back in the mid-1700s, wood stoves were cited last year as a direct cause in more than 22,000 fires and 800 deaths. These figures are even more dramatic considering that fires and injuries caused by oil and gas heating units are steadily decreasing. In Oregon, for example, the state fire marshal's office reported that in 1981, 87 percent of all heating equipment fires were caused by woodburning stoves.

Despite the risks, scores of Americans are buying and installing woodburning stoves, primarily because they are effective in reducing heating bills. Per unit of heat, wood is less expensive than oil or gas. And unlike a standard fireplace. which tends to heat the air above the outside chimney, wood stoves are much more efficient in heating rooms where they're located.

PROPER INSTALLATION A MUST

"Sixty percent of all woodburning stove fires are caused by faulty installation," commented Donald Mann, Senior Fire Protection Specialist in Aetna Life & Casualty's Engineering Division. "Most people who buy wood stoves are looking to save money on their heating bills, and they don't see the need to pay an expert to come out and install what looks like a simple operation. The cold, hard truth is that people don't realize what they're getting themselves

According to Mann, one essential precaution is to have your chimney examined by an expert for cracks, loose masonry and other defects, before installing a wood stove. If you are connecting a store bought chimney, be sure it has recognized testing laboratory label. If you're connecting the stove to an existing fireplace. you must seal off the chimney below the stove's pipe entry This will prevent toxic gasses from backing up into the room. Mann said that it is dangerous to connect more than one heating device to a single flue.

Stove owners should follow detailed instructions to be sure that the stove pipe's dimensions installation. Ordinarily, Mann explained, the pipe should not pass through a wall or ceiling.

As for hooking a stove pipe to masonry chimney, you'll need to extend the connector through the masonry wall of the chimney to the inner face of the flue liner -- but not beyond, and cement it to the masonry with high temperature cement.

Here are some additional tips for stove connections and placement

*Connect the stove pipe as close and straight as possible to the chimney, with connections properly secured.

*If the pipe must have curves, limit them to one or two

*If you are going to make the connection through a combustible wall, the pipe must pass through a thimble or collar that will maintain at least an 18-inch

*Make sure there is enough clearance between the stove and *Don't place any bookshelves or other combustible objects near the stove.

Mann said that a good idea prior to using your stove is to have it checked by a fire marsor building inspector to. make sure it meets any city or town ordinances for solid fuel

USING YOUR STOVE If you have a woodburning stove, Mann emphasized that to correct use. Never start a fire with flammable fluids like gasoline, kerosene or lighter fluid. Instead, put crumpled newspapers under kindling wood. Once that fire has started, larger logs can be placed in the stove.

"Even if people install them properly, wood stoves are still a fire hazard," Mann said. "Unsafe chimneys, inadequate clearances from combustible items, toxic gas backups, improper ventilation -- all can cause fires and injuries."

Troubles involving wood stoves usually start in the chimney. "Chimney fires are very common because most people don't keep their chimneys thing to do when a chimney fire strikes is to call the fire department first, then close the stove's doors and the damper in the stove pipe. Never throw could cause the stove to crack and start a second fire, "Mann

Chimney fires start from a build up of cresosote, a thick, black, sticky residue, which ignites by the heat of the fire Creosote forms from partially burned combustible material wood that hasn't been properly seasoned. To avoid a dangerous buildup of creosote in your chimney, have it cleaned at least once a year. Mann also your stove hot once a day, for a few minutes." But, don't make this the first fire of the day because a hot fire started in a cold stove could cause cracking.

Using the correct wood is another sensible practice that is often overlooked by the wood stove novice. Well seasoned hardwoods like ironwood apple, red oak, sugar maple are the most efficient and least likely to produce creosote

SAFE AND SENSIBLE Mann said that it's a good idea for parents to take extra safety precautions, such as placing a barrier around the stove, when children are in the house. "Wood stoves don't

'look' hot to children," he said,

woodburning stoves are an effective way to reduce your fuel bills as well as supplying comfort and warmth for many a winter to come.

How to cure the common cold

Bundle up next to a roaring fire? Sweat it out by running several miles? Immerse yourself in a tub of homemade chicken soup? Or, do you run out to your local pharmacy and buy all the cold remedies you can find, hoping that one will provide repharmacist

If you do the latter, you're not alone. In fact, you contribute to a half-billion-dollar-ayear industry ... and that figure doesn't include what is spent on

A cold is caused by one or more of 120 different viruses and affects your body in many different ways. Viruses are usually short-lived and resist virtually all forms of medication. Most colds run their course in about a week, with or without cold medication -- including antibiotics. To treat a cold, doctors suggest the following: get plenty of sleep

rink more fluids than normal eat well-balanced, light meals *avoid stress

Ising cold remedies sold over the counter may provide temporary relief, which is important, out they won't "cure" or even shorten the stay of your unwelcome visitor, physicians say.

If you want temporary relief. Aetna Life & Casualty's staff physicians and pharmacists beieve you should be aware of a few things before you purchase cold remedies.

act with other drugs and can cause more serious medical problems. Also make sure that the drugs you purchase and use have not been tampered with. Inspect the package or bottle for any signs of tampering and return any suspect ones to your

There are two common types of cold medications; one includes ingredients that will act on a specific problem, while the other will work on every cold symptom from A to Z.

To help decide which medicine is right for you, first ask yourself some basic questions like: "Do I have a single complaint or are there a variety of symptoms?" "Is there any skin rash or irritation?" "What type of cough is it -- 'loose' or 'tight?" If you aren't sure, consult your doctor. If you are reasonably certain you know the answers, ask your pharmacist for the best medication available over the counter

Here are a few hints on how various medications work:

Antihistamines help stop a runny nose. When used in spray form, the drug contracts blood vessels which in turn constricts the dripping Oral antihistamines (tablet and liquid) act the same way. However, they can also restrict blood vessels in other areas of the body. People with high blood pressure, hyperthyroid conditions, diabetes, glaucoma or other eye diseases, should consult a physician before tak ing any cold medications, espe-

Decongestants, which are found in a variety of cold medications, act differently than antihistamines -- they reduce the stuffed-up feeling that may accompany a cold. They are often mixed with other cold remedies instead of being marketed as a separate product.

Coughing is an annoying aspect of a cold. However, it does serve a function. Coughing is a natural defensive reaction against fluid buildup in the lungs. Therefore, trying to stop a cough is not advised. There are a variety of cough medications on the market designed to do different things for different types of cough...expectorants induce coughing, while antitussive syrups restrain them. Before purchasing a cough remedy, ask your pharmacist which is best for your type of

Last, and certainly not least, is aspirin. Americans take more than 20 billion aspirin tablets a year -- a daily consumption rate of more than 20 tons. Although aspirin is the most commonly used drug, it can be harmful unless label directions are followed. Because of its wide use. aspirin leads over-the-counter medications as a cause of adverse reactions leading to hospitalization or other problems such as gastric irritation.

Aspirin is mainly used to reduce the aches and pains that can accompnay a cold. It is an anti-inflammatory drug. Thus, it reduces swelling in the joint tissues of the body. Aspirin effectively combats fever as well. However, like a cough, a fever can be an important body reaction to your cold. It is important to treat the cause of the fever, not just the rise in body temperature alone. If a fever persists ing aspirin, consult your physi-

Aspirin substitutes, known as acetaminophen also work to reduce fever, but they do not contain the anti-inflammatory ingredient found in aspirin. The lack of this ingredient makes the substitute less irritating to the stomach lining. In some instances of a cold accompanied with an upset stomach, the acetaminophes may be preferred. Regardless of which you choose, doctors strongly recommend taking only the recommended dosage -- two tablets

12 years old. To repeat -- sleep, get plenty of fluids, eat a balanced diet and avoid stress -- they are your best bet in the battle against the common cold. If your symptoms last longer than seven days. consult your physician right away. Always remember to read prescription drug and cold remedy labels, carefully. When used wisely, over-the-counter cold medications and aspirin can provide welcome temporary relief from your cold.

involvement in Michigan highway deaths should continue to increase de spite new state drunk driving laws unless police raise arrest rates and prosecutors and judges properly punish offenders, according to a study released today (Nov. 3) by the Automobile Club of Michigan.

The study--"Under the Influence"--points out that the percentage of fatal traffic accidents involving alcohol in Michigan is increasing an average 2 percent annually and estimates that 917 persons could be killed by drinking drivers in 1982.

"We do not believe that alcohol-related traffic deaths will decline until flaws in the present system are corrected to ensure that drinking drivers receive swift and certain punishment." stated Auto Club President Jack Avignone.

"Tough Love" group forms in Lowell

"Kindness may not always be love" is the message of Tough Love, a support group for parents whose children's behavior is making home- life intolera-

A Tough Love group is meeting in Lowell Monday evenings from 7-9 p.m. in the teacher's lounge of the Bushnell School.

Tough Love is designed to give support of parents of troubled teens by providing them with the opportunity to share their difficulties with others and to formulate a plan of action.

Tough Love groups can also point parents to agencies such as the Bridge or the Advisory Center for Teens which may be able to help them w/specific problems

Parents rights and obligations -- what they must do and what they do not need to put up with -- are also explained.

One mother involved in Tough Love explains that she became interested in the group when her high school - age son began abusing drugs. The change in his personality and his truancy had left her at a loss to do anything

After meeting with a Tough Love group, she felt she could begin to get a handle on her problems

You lose that hysteria," she said, "You can settle down and face the problem calmly.

She reported that her son had since been getting along better. Part of what Tough Love faces is the notion that "sweet reasonableness" is the only way to deal with children. Tough Love says that at times parents need to make clear just where the limits are - to draw a bottom

The Tough Love logo -- a heart in a fist -- has drawn fire from parents.

Some people think Tough Love means kicking your kids out on the streets," says local Tough Love leader Brenda Smith. "That's not it at all."

"Tough Love is meaning what you say and following it through."

The local Tough Love group began meeting last spring, disbanded for the summer, and resumed meetings this fall. Attendance has not been good.

Smith suspects that, because Lowell is a small town, people are afraid that the group meetings will just be a source of information for gossip.

She stresses that everything said in the meetings is confidential, and that group members know each other only by first

Persons interested in the program may call high school counselor Barb Pierce at 897-9202 or Brenda Smith at 691-
