OFF THE BLOTTER

Involved in property damage accidents this past week were: Richard Osborn of Grand Rapids when he struck a parked car West Main St. near Center early Saturday Morning. William Cook of Lowell reported to Lowell Police that a vehicle owned by him was sturck while parked just off Jackson Street on private property, early Tuesday morning. The driver of the vehicle fled the scene. Paul Erickson reported a vehicle owned by him as struck in the city parking lot in the 200 block on West Main Street Friday, March 11. The other vehicle left the location.

Involved in a minor injury accident on Lafayette St. near Marsac Tuesday morning was Dennis Flanagan of Lowell, when he lost control of his car and slammed into a utility pole. Flanagan was arrested by Lowell officers for driving under the influence of liquor and lodged in the Kent County Jail for the remainder of the night.

Arrested by Lowell officers early Saturday morning on a warrent issued by Grand Rapids Circuit court was Ross Starkweather of Greenville

Issued a citation to appear at a later date in 63rd District Court was James VanHeulen of Lowell for minor in possession of alcohol. The warrant was issued by Lowell officers Tuesday evening.

Lowell City Hall. Collins said that the money left to the city by the late Helen Look Daley totals more than $700,000.

A five member committee consisting of Collins, Dr. Orval McKay, Phil Johnson, Barbara Brown and Mary Ann Gwatkins has decided that only the interest earned on the $723,00 will be used on community projects, and the principle will not be touched. The inheritance to the city came mostly in the form of stocks and bonds which have been sold and converted largely into "Ginny Mae" bonds, a nickname for government insured Government National Mortgage Association bonds. These bonds are currently earning 11 to 12% annually, meaning that the Look fund principle should earn something in the $79,000 to $87,000 neighborhood each year.

Applications from non-profit organizations and perhaps in some cases tax-supported organizations will be considered by the committee. The committee wants to avoid being the sole financial support for any project. In other words, organizations applying for Look funds must also be working to raise capital in other ways. The committee will refuse applications for endownents, contingencies or reserves and will avoid the role of continually supplying funds for annual operating expenses of a program. All applications must be in

The only application put before the committe to date is from the Lowell YMCA for help in paying for planned repairs to the King Memorial Pool. The city may also make application for help in making some sorely needed repairs to the Library and YMCA building.

Dam & Power Plant being restored

The Fallasburg Dam, idle for 18 years, is coming out of retirement this September as a result of an agreement made early this year, thereby postponing funeral arrangements earlier made for it by the Kent County Board of Commissioners.

The County Board is nearly as excited about the agreement as the dam, since the agreement will save Kent County $250,000 and give the board a yearly income of at least $29,000.

The Michigan DNR and U.S. Army Corps of Engineers earlier declared the dam unsafe, and the County Board had set aside $500,000 to tear the structure

Under the terms of an agreement made with STS Consultants, Ltd., of Northbrook, Ill., the county has agreed to spend $250,000 to repair the dam and to lease it for 35 years to STS. The county has also sold the Fallasburg powerhouse to the firm. The agreement, in turn, requires STS to renovate the powerhouse and pay the county at least $29,000 a year.

The total cost of renovation and purchase of the powerhouse is expected to reach $750,000. according to STS Regional Vice President Tim Dahlstrand

The pay-off for STS, of course, will come from the electricity generated when the powerhouse is back in operation Under the law, utilities are required to purchase electricity from renewable generated sources, and STS will be selling its electricity to Consumers

Repair work on the Fallasburg powerhouse has already begun. STS Consultants, Ltd., is expected to shell out $750,000 for purchase and repair of the sturcture.

The Fallasburg Dam, earlier scheduled for demolition, will be repaired and put back into service by early this fall.

COZY corner

By Roger Brown

There's a bar in Mainstee, Michigan called the "1st Street Tavern", where for $3.00 you can have a message painted on one of the foot square ceiling tiles. If you ever happened through there, look for one that reads, "STRANDED on a dead end weekend with Karl and the Bad Head Months ago, an ice fishing weekend was planned by several friends and myself. The plan was to take my camper and fish the Houghton and Higgins Lakes area over a three day, stag weekend. One major flaw developed in our weekend about a week or two before we were to take off. The ice melted. We decided to go anyway, and threw in our regular fishing tackle, hoping to find some fishing from a boat or pier somewhere.

We left Thursday after work, which just happened to be St. Partick's Day. On the way north we hit a couple of bars where the green beer was flowing, and we all got pretty Irish. The next morning in the camper, as the Tylenol bottle was being passed around, the term "Bad Heads" was coined. That explains part of the message on the

For some reason, that has not been wholly answered, the group decided that my name no longer fit and started calling me by my middle name, which is Karl. Nobody can say for sure why Roger no longer fit and Karl did, but they all agreed it had something to do with the quick dip I took in Lake Huron while we were on Drummond Island Friday. I don't know why a Karl can do that, and a Roger can't, but at any rate, I was Karl for the rest of the weekend. Another part of the message is explained.

We spend Friday night in Traverse City's Jellystone Park, and woke Saturday morning to find ourselves in about four inches of newly fallen snow. Figuring that the only thing we were ant to cate around there was a cold, we fired up the camper, and headed to Manistee to check out the fishing from the pier. When we got to Manistee, the breakers were roaring over the tops of the piers. We decided that since all our attempts at fishing had turned into dead ends, we should just tag our weekend, the "Dead End Weekend", and head home. Another part of the message comes to light.

We pulled into the Burger Chef in Manistee for lunch, and as were leaving, the camper died, more or less blocking the entrance to the parking lot. After checking it out the best we knew how by scratching our heads a lot, one of the guys said, "well Karl, what do we do now?" I replied with, "don't ask me, I'm a printer". With that, a couple of the guys took off to find a wrecker. It turned out that we had broken the engine's timing chain, and nobody in Manistee was willing to tackle an eight hour repair job on a Saturday afternoon. We were stranded, and now the entire message has been spel-

The 1st Street tavern is just around the corner from the garage. where we towed the camper, and that's where we spent the afternoon waiting for my brother to come to our rescue. The artist who paints the tiles is due in this week, so hopefully we can check out our message when we go back to get the camper this weekend. I may have a little trouble finding the humor in it after paying the repair bill

P.S. I mentioned that my brother came to get us. Just as a side bar to this story. I learned that he got a call from his neighbor Sunday night. It seems that his neighbor had been to his in-laws and had broken down in Remus. So, it was Ed to the rescue twice in one weekend. He should buy a wrecker, and go into business.

A Michigan History class for adults from the Alto area joined with the Lowell Women's Club as special guests fast Wednesday to hear a program right up their alley. Kit Lane, editor of the Fennville Herald, made a hit with her audience as she not only talked about what has happened over the years in our state but also illustrated it by modeling a variety of costumes.

The meeting was held in the Schneider Manor lounge, sponsored by Marie Street.

Addie Dalstra was welcomed into the membership by President Evelyn Tichelaar, who presented her with the traditional red carnation and new-member packet. Connie Odell was responsible for the mini-report on International Affiars.

Preceding the meeting, dessert was prepared and served by the committee consisting of Maxine Kropf, chairman, Ruth Jones, Louise Schneider. Eleanor Kropf, Edith Roth, Maida Rose, Dolores Laux and Only experience and common sense will dictate to the observant and thoughtful fisherman where these fertile waters lie. All others, randomly fishing the entire area, cannot be successful.

Fish will congregate where the conditions and water temperatures are the most comfortable. They will make short forays from this area to feed, but in general will stay within this comfort zone. In the case of the smaller fish, their first consideration will be survival, consequently cover and protection must take precedence over comfort for their existence. The computer age has arrived in Lowell, as well as elsewhere in the nation. Interested high school students can now take a basic course in computers through the high school math department.

According to Doug Snyder, instructor for the computer program, the high school now has eleven computers with two disc drives and one printer. All of these computers have been purchased with Federal funds, which have been provided through the Title 4B Program. additional money provided schools to purchase equipment which cannot be provided through local funding. all of the high school computers are Commodore PET's.

One class a semester is taught presently by Snyder, for high school students. The students learn basic programming, computer literacy, and awareness. In addition, two community education classes presently use the computers. This beginning in computer training can probably be expanded as the need and desire on the part of students is expanded, and if more teacher hours can be spared for

The computer age has arrived in Lowell, as well as elsewhere in the nation. Interested high school students can now take a basic course in computers through the high school math department.

According to Doug Snyder, instructor for the computer program, the high school now has eleven computers with two disc drives and one printer. All of these computers have been purchased with Federal funds, which have been provided through the Title 4B Program, additional money provided schools to purchase equipment which cannot be provided through local funding, all of the high school computers are Commodore PET's.

One class a semester is taught presently by Snyder, for high school students. The students learn basic programming, computer literacy, and awareness. In addition, two community education classes presently use the computers. This beginning in computer training can probably be expanded as the need and desire on the part of students is expanded, and it more teacher hours can be spared for Adults in the community who are interested in the Community Education classes should speak to Marge Rehl, at the high school, about classes offered.

Hear Better. Chicago, Ill. - A free offer of special interest to those who hear but do not understand words has been announced by Beltone. A non-operating model of one of the smallest Beltone aids of its kind will be given absolutely free to anyone

> Send for this model, put it on and wear it in the privacy of your own home. While many people with a hearing loss will not receive any significant benefit from any hearing aid, this free model will show you how tiny hearing help can be. It is not a real hearing aid, and it's yours to keep free. The actual aid weighs less than a fourth of an ounce, and it's all at ear level, in one unit. These models are free, so we suggest you write for yours now. Again, we repeat, there is no cost, and certainly no obligation. Thousands have already been mailed, so write today to Dept. 00000, Beltone Electronics Corporation, 4201 West Victoria Street, Dam, cont'd.

Annual output of the powerhouse is expected to be large enough to meet the yearly electrical needs of a city the size of Lowell.

The fee paid by STS to the county for leasing the dam will increase as the value of the electricity increases, but STS has agreed to pay a minimum of $29,000 a year

According to Larry Ross. Grants Administrator of the Kent showpiece in the Lowell area" County Road and Parks Comreason for making the agreement with STS was the possibility of developing the impoundment area behind the dam. Ross said the County Board was "well aware of the recreation potential of the area.

No d efinite plans for the development of the area will be made, however, until representatives from the Parks Commission have met with area residents. After determining the need and desire for such development, the county will draw up a master plan and make changes as desired by the community residents

Ross also said that dam renovation is scheduled to begin at the end of April, after bids have awarded

Late snowfall closes schools here

Lowell residents, along with everybody else in the West Michigan area awakened to the first day of spring (March 21) to a sight they hadn't seen all winter...a seven to eight inch snowfall. High winds drifted the white stuff making many country roads impassable. All area schools were closed Monday and Tuesday, some will perhaps even be closed Wednesday.

The only other accumulation of any note for the winter of 1982-83 occured way back in early November when we were blanketed with five to six inches. For you readers still in the sunny south, our advice is to sit tight for a while yet.

Apparently some vehicle owners decided that it was simpler to wait for spring to melt the snow off their cars than to brave the weather and muscle the unwelcome white stuff away.

BRIDGE CLOSINGS MAY Scout Fest coming to Lowell

The lokemo District of the Boy Scouts of America will be holding its 1983 Scout Fest in Lowell Saturday, April 30. An been received and a contract couple of months, the Michigan expected 1000 scouts will be camped around the Riverside School, a stone's throw from the Showboat Amphitheatre.

Cub Packs and Scout Troops from Montcalm and Ionia Counties, northern Kent County and the City of Lowell will converge on the campgrounds beginning at

After setting up booths and displays early Saturday morning, scouts will begin lining up for a 10:30 A.M. parade which will take them down Main Street in Lowell. From noon until 5 P.M. the Scout Fest will be open to the public. Spectators can watch the District Finals and open competition of the Pinewood Derby as well as the Boy Scout canoe races. The afternoon will include an awards presentation for Derby winners and a graduation ceremony for Tiger Cubs.

Saturday will conclude with the Boy Scout canoe race finals. graduation for Webelos, and a Super Campfire Show open to families and friends of scouts.

The Campfire Show will be held in the Showboat Amphitheatre and will feature homegrown entertainment from the Scouts and professional entetainment as well.

Following an interdenominational church service to be held Sunday morning at the amphitheatre, scouts will break camp and head for home.

Although the Scout Fest is still a ways off, Scouts in the community have been selling tickets to the event since March 12. Tickets will be sold for $3 for the entire family or $1 individually. Scout Packs and Troops will receive a 30 percent commission on all of the tickets they sell.
