"Millage Information Forum", a presentation of the facts and figures of the upcoming school year's problems, was held Thursday night at Lowell Senior High School. Approximately 60 invited guests, representing a cross section of the Lowell community and the educational system were present.

The meeting was hosted by VanAntwerp, School Chris Board Member, Richard Korb, School Administration and George Jacob, Ass't Supt. for Finance and Personnel.

According to figures presented at the meeting, the Lowell School System is facing financial crisis next year due to the monetary demands placed upon it by the March 14th defeat of the millage proposal, contractual increases, the additional staff needed to return to a six hour day necessary to keep Lowell High School accredidation and inflation

If the current millage is retained without increase by the voters in the next election, the school system would run a possible $803,409 deficit. With the

The school system is bracing itself for another possible defeat through public education of the problem and a desire to achieve community satisfaction.

It was disclosed at the meeting that following the March 14th Millage defeat, a telephone survey was conducted of the Lowell Area Schools residents. A sample selection of 250 of the 2,500 that voted was taken. Out of the 250 contacts 216 people chose to respond.

These are the questions and answers from the poll

I don't know how the school lunch situation works around your place, but it sure doesn't work very well around the Brown household. Over the last couple of years my kids have learned to read well enough to go over the lunch menu in the Ledger, and then pick & choose between the school's hot lunch or a brown bag lunch. Honestly. I think Napoleon had less trouble feeding his armies.

The little gobbers have a pretty good program laid out, they just seem to have a tough time following it. Every Wednesday I bring home a copy of the paper, and they rifle through it until they find the lunch menu. They then write yes by the days they want hot lunch, and cold by the days they are to pack their own lunch. The lunch menu then becomes part of the kitchen decor by being stuck to the refrigerator door with a magnet, which is so covered with other scraps of information that I would be hard pressed to tell you what color our refrigerator is.

The best laid plans of mice, men and munchkins. The program sounds so simple, that you would never guess at all the ways it can Grammy nomination -- is a select go amiss

I'd like to have a nickel for every time we've gotten them all tucked in, and then they suddenly remember they haven't packed tomorrow's lunch. This often results in us missing the first twenty minutes of an R rated movie on HBO while the kids mess around in the kitchen which is in easy sight and earshot of the family room TV. I'd like to have another nickel for every time the little munchkins were supposedly all ready for school, and Terese or Lask, "have you got your lunches packed"? The whole house than goes into a tizzy outings: as choir-in-residence at while we rush around tyring to throw lunches together in time to keep everybody from being late for school or work. Seriously, sometimes I can't wait to get to the Ledger office so that I can relax a Menotti: to the U.S.S.R. for

I'd be nearing retirement status if I had another nickel for every time lunches were packed all right, but then forgotten. I've been - Europe under the auspices of the called at work to deliver lunches, but the kids aren't thrilled with the lecture that goes along with my delivery service, so they usually optfor the school's charge slip program. Getting a charge slip is the school's safety net, to see to it that nobody goes hungry. My kids get Festival in the Canary Islands charge slips if they forget their lunch, lose their lunch, lose their during the summers of 1975 and lunch money, lose their lunch ticket (which is purchased in the 1976 morning) or forget their lunch money. Needless to say, they get a lot of charge slips

My problem with charge slips, is that the kids never tell me that they've run up a tab at the school lunch counter. I've been called at work by the lunch program director to tell me about a past due account, that I didn't even know I had. And the first order of business at parent teacher conferences is to have the teacher slide some past due charge slips across the table to Terese and me.

Finally, this Monday morning I exploded. Angle asked for money to pay some old charge slips that she and Casey have run up. After a short screaming fit, I gave Angie five dollars to cover the charge slips, and another seven dollars to buy school lunch for the entire week. I then laid down the law by proclaiming that no matter if the lunch menu called for marcaroni and cheese every day, they were going to pay for the whole week on every Monday, and eat hot May 23-25, Budapest, Hungary lunch at least for the rest of this year. I further proclaimed that lost charge slips would be punished under the full extent of the law. You should have seen the tears fall, but I stuck to my guns. Somehow I just can't believe that school lunch is bad enough to rate all those tears, but then I've never eaten the school's macaroni and cheese

The following is a partial excerpt from an M.U.C.C., Newsletter and I feel that these matters should receive as broad a public dissemination as possible. Legislation which adversely affects the operation of our DNR, and ourselves, deserves all the attention it can

These new Michigan house bills threaten and jeopardize, not only the operation of the DNR but also are intended to rob, from the people of this state, huge tracts of Public lands. H.B. 4044, if this bill is allowed to pass, partisan polisies will rule the DNR. In essence, it would transfer the authority to appoint the director of the DNR. from the Natural Resource Commission, to the Governor. No longer will the director's tenure be based on that person's personal abilities. More likely that persons job will depend upon their personal political affiliation and whether or not their policies coincide with that of the Governor. We can expect that each ime a new governor is elected, or when the directors views do not co-inside with those of the governor, right or wrong, he will be replaced.

The programs administered by the DNR are long term. These programs concerning fishery, wildlife, and forestry management. require a sound and stable base from which to operate. A department whose director is politically influenced and has the potential of being replaced by the Governor at any time cannot provide this stable management base.

HB 4057; is basically the same, with even further impact on the department. This bill, if passed, would all but eliminate the natural resource commission. It would reduce the Commission to an Advisory position with all decisions resting with the director and ultimately the governor. Do we want our DNR to become completely dependent upon the whims of Politics?

H.B. 4063, the most dangerous piece of natural resource legislation to be proposed in this decade. Passage of this bill will mandate the sale of 10%, each year, or all tax reverted lands in Michigan, for the next five years. The tax reverted lands comprise portions of our state parks, state game areas, state recreational areas, state forests, and access sites. The total to be sold is about 1.4 million acres or nearly one-third of all state owned lands in Michigan. The sale would have a major impact on those who use the land. Instead of returning to that favorite hunting, fishing, camping, skiing or mushrooming spot, many recreationists will return to fences and no trespassing signs.

Michigan's state owned lands are a fixed assett, belonging to all the people of this state. Our land resource is our Herigate, passed on to us by previous generations. It is intended for our use and enjoyment, as a gift to be passed on to future generations. Is the wholesale disposition of public lands the legacy which we wish to be remembered for?

CITY COUNCIL of the CITY OF LOWELL, MICHIGAN

Mayor Collins turned the meeting over to Zoning Board of Appeals Chairman Maatman for a Public Hearing on a request by Mr. Michael Glenn for a variance from square footage requirements in an R-1 Single Family Residential Zone, from 1,500 square feet of living area, reduced to 1.344, to allow construc- IT WAS MOVED by Councilman Christiansen that application tion of a new home at 1001 N. Washington Street.

Manager Quada stated that it was the last parcel of property inside the North City Limits. The request has been reviewed by the Planning Commission who recommend approval, based on a comparison of other homes in the area, and it would be in general conformance to them. There have been no comments received from any of the notified neighbors.

A discussion followed. Councilman Christiansen stated that he had no objections if it meets all other requirements for the R-1 Zone, stating that with today's building costs, heating, etc., he understands people's cut back on home sizes, wasted space, etc. Manager Quada replied that it did meet all other criteria, and that water and sewer lines would be extended to the property also, as required.

Chariman Maatman then declared the hearing closed.

IT WAS MOVED by Councilman Schneider that the request of Michael Glenn for a variance from R-1 Single Family Residential Zoning requirement of 1,500 square feet of living area be reduced to 1.344 square feet, to allow the construction of a home at 1001 N. Washington Street, supported by Councilman Fonger

Next, Council listened to a presentation by the "Gus Macker" basketball tournament committee. Mr. Scott McNeal, founder of the "three-on-three" tournament explained that 1983 will be their 10th Anniversary, and their last year to play in the streets. The tournament has grown beyond their wildest dreams into a huge success. Several film clips were shown as visual aids to the success story. He noted a large following by N.B.A. Players, and that several big-name players would be participating in this year's festivities, to be announced after confirmation of their appearance. He also noted that everyone gets to play, from 10 to 12 year olds, right up to mid-fifties, and that they again have support from the neighborhood.

He stated that their main goal was to leave something to Lowell, that when they were done, the Macker Tournament would still be going strong, and a betterment for the City. He then explained that because the number of teams has increased so fast from year to year, they will limit it to 250 teams, 1,400 players for this year, but must definitely look for an alternative site before another year. Because of safety, crowd control and general size of the playing area, it must be moved, however, they wish to maintain the quality and neighborhood game theme of the tournament. They asked for City support in finding a better area, and pledged monetary support to the City if a suitable site could be found and used or developed in a joint ef-

Council thanked the committee for their presentation, and complimented them on their amazing growth and still being able to maintain an orderly and good quality sport presentation. They pledged support to the committee's effort to relo-

Council then discussed the new Public Works Act and its eligible payments to the City. Manger Quada stated that water and sewer lines end near the ditch line at Main and Sibley Streets. and asked if Council would consider extending them westward if funding can be obtained for such a program. He explained that not much growth has occurred in the area because of the lack of utilities, and it is fast becoming a necessity.

for such funding be made for extension of water-sewer utilities west on Main Street, from Siblev Street, through the Public Works Act, supported by Councilman Fonger.

Manager Quada then presented a proposal to begin development of the park area at the corner of Foreman Street and Gee Dr.next to the C.J. Christoff plant. He stated that a regulation men's soft-ball field and a soccer field could both be laid out in the main part of the park area, each slightly overlapping the other. He proposed that mowing and developing of the mounds and base lines be started in time for this year's playing

A discussion followed on the possibility of fencing the area to keep out motorcycles, etc. on the playing fields, the addition later of restrooms and playground equipment. The discussion then turned to the possiblity of paving the road and parking area, which could be used by the Gus Macker Tournament. Both Council and Macker Committee concurred that that might be an ideal place to hold the annual event, and will get together to work out a plan and costs.

Manager Quada then presented the 1983-84 proposed budget for Council information. He explained that there were no major changes in any of the funds or uses, other than the drastic cut in State-shared revenues. The anticipated $205,000 plus approximate figure quoted by the State will fall about $60,000 plus short, making it hard to plan on use of those funds. He also stated that the tax millage will be increased this year from 11.38 to 11.88. He explained that for a good number of years the City's millage rate had remained at 12.50 per thousand of assessed valuation. Because of the laws, the City was required to drop that tax rate last year because of the increase in assessed valuation, and not being allowed to collect any more in dollars than the year before. This year the millage levy will be increased to maintain the balance

IT WAS MOVED by Councilman Christiansen that the May and May 16 meetings be set as Public Hearings on the 2nd proposed 1983-84 Budget, supported by Councilman Fonger.

Carried

IT WAS THEN MOVED by Councilman Schneider that the meeting of May 2 be set as the date to set the millage levy, supported by Councilman Maatman.

Carried.

Dean E. Collins

Under Remarks from the Audience, Mrs. Lena Lehman was present and asked if water and sewer will be installed at the canoe livery located next to her home on East Main Street. She explained that when the utilities were installed along Main Street a number of years ago. it was found that her. and several of her neighbor's properties were too low to be hooked up to the utilities. She stated that their main concern was that they not be allowed to have "out-house" type toilet operations or improper septic systems that could possibly contaminate neighbor's drinking water

Manager Quada assured her that a proper septic system only would be allowed, and that a permit to install it would have to come from the Kent County Health Deparment, who would not issue one if they did not meet all necessary criteria.

Under Council Remarks, Mayor Collins reported that he had had numerous complaints made to him about problems with Cable T.V. systems which are not being taken care of Manager Quada suggested a joint meeting with the Cable Board to work out solutions to the complaints. Council concurred, Manager Quada to set up a meeting.

Under the Manager's Report, Manager Quada announced quite a few Boards and Commissions terms that will expire on June 30 of this year and that Council members really need to down and discuss replacements, and suggest people who might serve on them.

IT WAS THEN MOVED to adjourn at 9:22 p.m. by Councilman Christiansen, supported by Councilman Maatman.

FOCUS EDUCAT

One class offered as an elective in the Lowell High School Science Department is Ecology. Taught by Mr. Robert Garcia, the class is designed to make the students more aware of the world around them, and to teach them how best we can keep the air we breathe and the water we drink pure, in short, how to preserve the ecology. Besides covering all aspects of water and air pollution, the course content includes energy and energy related problems, and lessons on the basic physical laws. The class meets each semester and is a semester long

One interesting aspect of the class is the field trips taken by the students. Two, which show the students how a municipality like Lowell deals with keeping the environment clean, are trips to Lowell's sewage treatment plant on Bowes Road.

Another field trip, and perhaps the most interesting of the semester, is to a bog. A bog, according to Mr. Garcia, is a lake which is filling in. The water in a bog will have a higher acid content (a higher pH factor) than other lakes. As a result, unusual plant life can be found in a bog. One such find, if you are lucky, might be a Venus's-flytrap. However, the bog visited by the Lowell High School Ecology Class, the Pratt Lake bog, does not contain a Vensus's-flytrap.

Other unusual parasitic plants have been found there, however. Two are the pitcher plant and the sundew. Mr. Garcia reports that these plants grow very small in the Pratt Lake bog, and if you did not know what you were looking for, and how to find it, you could easily search fruitlessly. Nonetheless, they are worth the effort in finding. The tiny picher plants seen on past field trips have usually been found to contain insects, the prey of the pitcher plant. The odor of the plant is what attracts the insect into the pitcher shaped interior of the plant. Like the vessel it is named for, the pitcher plant contains water, and the luckless insect drowns, and is digested by the plant.

In addition to studying the plant life at Pratt Lake bog, the students test water samples taken there, for the pH factor. They can then compare these readings to those taken by classes in years past. If your student is now in ecology class, he or she will have the pleasure of these field trips yet to come this semester.

Rehabilitation Services Offered

Gary Kuipers, local representative for the Michigan Rehabilitation Services.

What would you think of a tax-supported government program that generates more tax money than it uses and that puts hard-to-employ people to work? A pipedream. right?

Believe it or not, there is at least one government program supported by the state of Michigan which generates $7 in tax revenues for every $1 invested.

That program is called the Michigan Rehabilitation Services, a division of the Michigan Department of Education.

Last year MRS placed a total of 6.157 people in the competitive job market. thereby adding to the state tax revenue by $5.9 million for 1982 and reducing the burden on public assistance by $3.1 million.

MRS provides vocational rehabiliation for persons who are handicapped in anyway that might affect their ability to get or keep a job. Such persons are often referred to MRS by government relief agencies such as the Department of Social Services

MRS counselor Gary Kuipers. who represents the MRS in region 2 of Kent County (including Lowell) says that the word "Handicapped" usually brings to mind the person sitting in a wheelchair.

But Kuipers says that a vocational handicap may be something invisible -- diabetes, allergies, epilepsy, or a bad back, for example.

Any of these may be an obstacle which prevents a person from obtaining work at his skill level.

Kuipers said he is aware of one client of MRS who had a Ph.D. in nuclear physics, and yet was vocationally handicapped.

A person accepted by the program undergoes a comprehensive evaluation to determine the extent of his handicap and to pinpoint his vocational skills, interests, and experience.

Once the evaluation is completed, support services are provided to help that person reach his vocational goal. These services may include psychological counseling, vocational training, and direct placement.

One-third of Kuipers' caseload consists of high school juniors and seniors, some of them students at Lowell.

Kuipers says that students are very responsive to the services he has to offer because, faced with a number of tough decisions regarding school and career, 17and 18- year-olds are often unaware of the programs and services available to help them meet their vocational goals

Students with any kind of handicap -- physical, mental, or emotional -- are often dismayed by the problems facing them.

Students may be referred to Kuipers on the basis of school medical records. But often those records are incomplete and students who could legitimately take advantage of this program are overlooked.

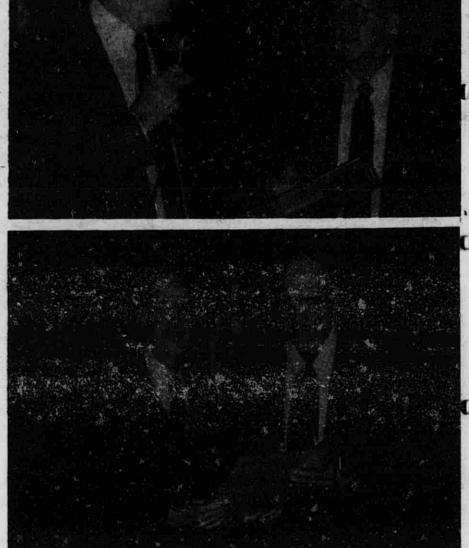

If you feel that you qualify for the services provided by MRS. you may contact Gary Kuipers at 949-7270.
