OLD FASHIONED SHOWBOAT MEETING

Any persons interested in producing a 1984 Old Fashioned Showboat should plan to attend an organizational meeting to be held at 8:00 P.M. Thursday Nov. 3, 1983 at the Lowell City Hall. Showboat Board Members will be present to help assist interested persons in any way possible.

ANNUAL SANTA CLAUS PARADE

Dode Dey, Lowell Chamber of Commerce Secretary says it's time for people to start preparing their entries in the 1983 Santa Claus Parade. This year's parade is scheduled for Saturday, December 3rd at 2:00 P.M. Anyone wishing to register their entry or needing further information should call Dode at 897-8545. P.S. Dode and her partner Shirley Smith operate the Chamber of Commerce out of their place of Business, "That Special Place" at 215 W. Main St. They are celebrating their tenth anniversary this week, so you might want to stop by with congratulations and take advantage of a bargain or two while there.

"CHEMICAL PEOPLE" MEETINGS SCHEDULED

The nationally televised "Chemical People", sponsored by First Lady Nancy Reagan aired locally on Wednesday, November 2 on PBS channel 35. The second half of the program will be broadcast on Wednesday, November 9 at 8 P.M. The program is aimed at creating public awareness of substance abuse, and hopefully lead to the development of community task forces to fight the problem. With that end in sight, there will be meetings on November 9 and 16 at which the "Chemical People" programs will be aired in the choir room of the Lowell Middle School. Meeting time is 7:30 P.M. following the videotaped showing of the program, the first meeting will be opened up to discussion with a panel made up of representatives from the police, clergy, parents, students and Project Re-Hab. The second meeting will hopefully be an organizational meeting to develop a community level task force. Because of the conflict with parent teacher conferences, Lowell is running its program a week behind other such programs that you may see in the media. For further information about the "Chemical People" program, call Lowell High School Counselor Barb Pierce at 897-9202.

OFF THE BLOTTER

Involved in a property damage accident Thursday afternoon on East Main and Division were Robert Kramer, 60, of Ionia and Linda Creguer, 23, of Lowell.
Injured Tuesday afternoon was Timothy Cook, 18, of Lowell when he laid his motorcycle down Jackson Street to avoid striking a car driven by Ester Staal, 70, of Lowell. She failed to yield the Right-of-way and Cook's cycle struck the car. His injuries occurred as he struck the pavement.
Michael Kovich, 20, of Kentwood struck a parked vehicle in the fair grounds, October 24th. The accident occurred as he was backing out of a parking space near Burch field.
Melissa Chase, 17, of Lowell struck a parked car on Riverside Dr. near Main St. Friday afternoon while attempting to park her vehicle. The parked car was owned by Bobby Perry of Lowell.
Confessions were obtained from two juveniles for the destruction of property to a business place on S. Washington Street this past week. Restitution will be made to the owner for the broken windows.
Several juveniles will be making restitution to the Root-Lowell Corp. on Foreman for their part in a window breaking spree last week. Over $150 in glass alone was broken.
Lowell officers are seeking the identity of the subject that took a 22' step van from the rear of the 200 block of West Main. He/she drove it 1-block before abandoning it at a residence Saturday evening.
Kent County Sheriff's Department Deputies are investigating the theft of a 1979 medium blue Pontiac Trans AM Firebird from the Zeigler Ford Dealership, Friday evening. No licence plates were on the vehicle at the time of the theft.

City election is Tuesday, Nov. 8

All three incumbents are on next Tuesday's ballot seeking to retain their seats on the Lowell City Council. They are James Maatman, Phillip Schneider and Robert Christiansen. Besides the incumbents are two challengers, who just happen to be married. William and Helen Thompson have their hats in the ring, each seeking a seat on the council.

The top two vote getters in the election will win four year terms, while the third place finisher will be elected for a two year term. No other issues are on the ballot. Polling places will open at 7:00 A.M. on Tuesday, November 8 and will close at 8:00 that evening. Registered voters living in precinct one will vote at the Runciman Elementary School, and those in precinct two will cast their ballots at Bushnell Elementary School. See an election notice in this issue clarifying precinct boundaries.

Robert Christiansen, 58, has been a councilman for nearly eight years, and has served two terms as mayor. Christiansen resides at 2535 Gee Drive with his wife Jaqueline. They have two children; a son Rob recently graduated from Western Michigan University and a daughter, Mrs. Sandra Seeley resides in Kansas City, Kansas. Christiansen is a sales engineer for the H. H. Barnum Co., a distributor of precision instruments.

Christiansen is a WWII Marine Corps veteran, and served in the South Pacific and China. He is a member of the Lowell Lions Club, Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 8303 and The Lowell Moose Lodge.

James Maatman

James Maatman, 34, was elected to the council four years ago, and is seeking re-election because he feels the present council has laid the groundwork for some good projects, and he would like to be a part of seeing that work through.

Maatman resides at 126 N. Hudson with his wife Kathy and two sons Matthew, 4, and Mark, 2. Maatman is a partner in both Modern Photographics and Modern Printing here in Lowell. He is a graduate of Hope College and was formerly an English and math teacher at Saranac High School.

Phillip Schneider, Jr., 55, was elected to a two year term on the Council in 1981, and served briefly prior to that when he was appointed to finish out a term left vacant by David Carter who left to take a city manager's position in another city. Schneider says he is seeking re-election because he feels that the city is running very smoothly, and he would like to see that trend continue. He owns the Speerstra Insurance Agency here.

City purchases more park land

The City of Lowell today announced the acquisition of nearly nineteen (19) acres of new park property.

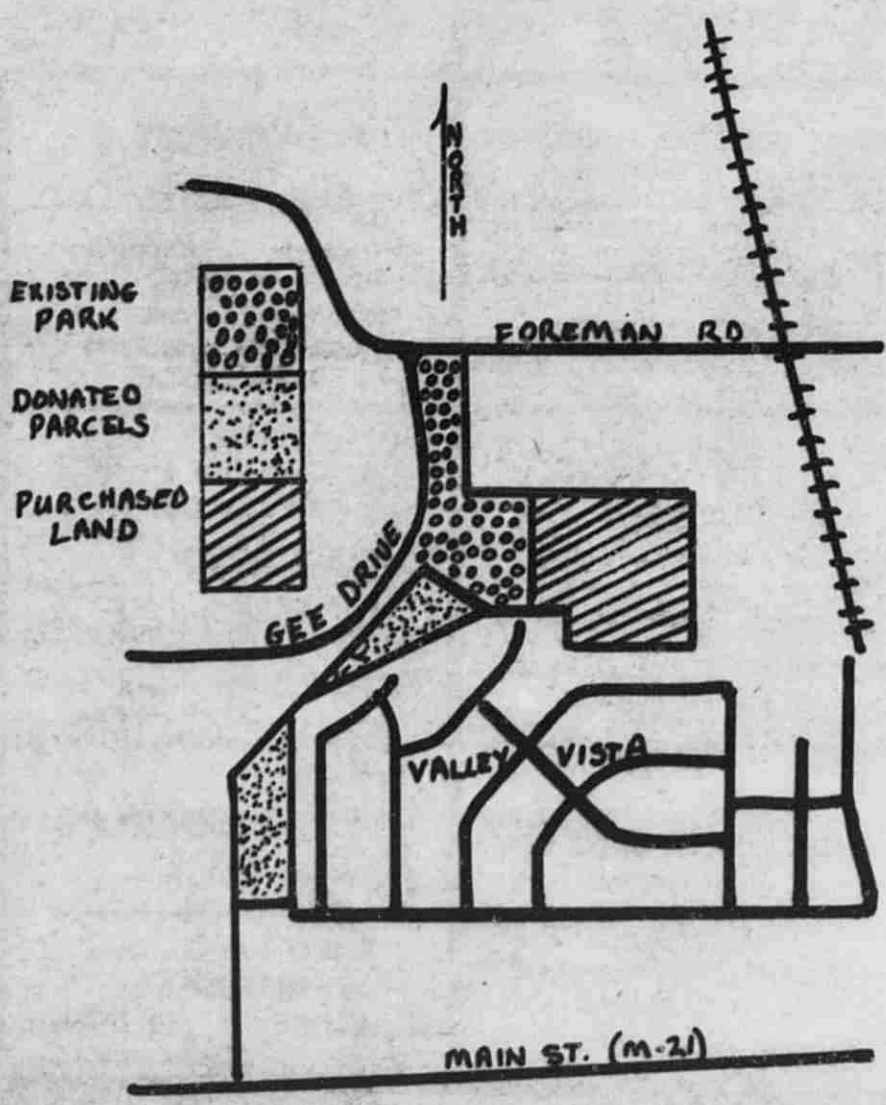

City Manager, Ray Quada stated that the signing of the option represented the culmination of nearly two years of effort on the part of the council to locate available land for parks within the City.

The City has signed an option to purchase ten (10) acres of land adjacent to its existing park located near Gee Drive and Foreman Road with Hartgen and Willard, a Grand Rapids based commercial mortgaging firm. The city will pay $27,500 for the 10 acre parcel.

In addition Hartgen and Willard is donating 4 acres of land immediately adjacent to the same park and another 5 acre tract located on the west side of Valley Vista subdivision but not contiguous to the other parcels.

This acquisition brings newly acquired parkland to a total of 35 acres within the city, including a 15 acre parcel purchased in September from Mr. and Mrs. William Rogers located at the cont'd. back pg.

The Lowell Masons and Eastern Stars are sponsoring a fish fry Saturday November 5 in the Lowell Masonic Temple. Serving family Style from 5 to 7 Adults $3.75, Children under 12 $1.00.

Capitol Column

by Senator Dick Posthumus

The Blanchard administration threatened the coalition of business, labor, and government which we have been building so carefully. Nonsense! He didn't have the votes! The Senate then voted to reject AFL-CIO President Sam Fishman's nomination to the Council for the Arts.

Those rebuffs came just a week after the independent Agriculture Commission picked Dr. Paul Kindinger to head the Agriculture Department despite Governor Blanchard's intense pressure to select former State Senator John Hertel for that position.

The Governor and his aides got in trouble again. This time they elected to tangle with the Senate, and again, they lost.

Just moments before the Senate was to reject the appointment of Clifford Allo to the Workers' Compensation Appeal Board, Governor Blanchard withdrew the nomination, saying opposition to Mr. Allo made his nomination a "symbol which has

Earlier this year, the Department of Natural Resources Commission named Ronald Skoog, the new DNR Director over Blanchard's objections. And the Governor's efforts to directly meddle in the affairs of the Public Service Commission (PSC) were also turned back.

There is an obvious lesson to be learned. The Michigan Constitution calls for three independent branches of government -- executive, legislative and judicial. It also provides for independent boards and commissions. Nowhere does the constitution allow for government "by fiat" from the Governor's office.

The Agriculture Commission's selection of Dr. Kindinger was a reaffirmation of the independent commission system in Michigan. The action taken by the Senate sent a loud message to the Governor underscoring its independence and reaffirming the advise and consent process the Senate holds over gubernatorial appointees.

It also told the Governor that real bi-partisan cooperation on legislative matters can and will take place for the public good, rather than continued partisan politics.

Engagement Told

Rev. and Mrs. Glenn H. Marks of Lowell announce the engagement of their daughter, Jeanette Elaine, to David Ross Oliphant of Greenville, South Carolina.

Jeanette graduated from Lowell High School and received her Bachelor of Science degree in nursing from Michigan State University. David is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Oliphant of Oak Ridge, Tennessee. He studied at the University of Tennessee and Clemson University. The couple met at the Columbia Graduate School of Bible and Missions, Columbia, South Carolina, where David completed his Master of Divinity degree. He presently teaches high school math at Shannon Forest Christian School in Greenville, South Carolina. Jeanette is a nurse at Memorial Hospital in Greenville.

Jeanette and David will be married December 17th at the Lowell Missionary Church on Settlewood Drive.

HOMESPUN DEVOTIONS

by Pauline E. Spray

...he departed again into a mountain himself alone (John 6:15).

We had just moved to a new pastorate. While I was tucking the children into bed the first night, Sybil began to cry.

"What's the matter?" I asked with motherly concern.

"I don't think we're going to be happy here," she sobbed. Tears ran profusely down her round, babyish face.

I assured her that in time we would make friends and learn to love our new home as we had all the others.

Loneliness isn't pleasant. Man's gregarious instinct calls for the companionship of others. But the Christian finds that there are some times when he must stand alone. When these times come, it takes real courage and stamina to be a true follower of Christ.

Jesus Christ, the Son of God, knew loneliness. He came into His own, but they received Him not. Is it little wonder He departed often into the mountains to commune with His Heavenly Father and seek strength for His mission? Fellow Christians, since He trod the path before, He sympathizes with us in our hour of need. He is able to impart divine comfort when our hearts ache with "loneliness and grief."

Prayer: Precious Lord, Thou art able to comfort me. When I must walk unaccompanied on my journey, Thou wilt walk with me and cheer me on my way, Amen.

Anywhere with Jesus I am not alone.

Other friends may fail me, He is still my own.

Thou' His hand may lead me over dreary ways,

Anywhere with Jesus is a house of praise.

Letters

Dear Editor,

As a community and county, we are nearing the end of the 1983 United Way Campaign. As this year's chairperson, I would like to take this opportunity to thank all of the volunteers who have helped make this drive a success: the Rotary Club, which handled the business and professional sections and the Lions Club, which handled the individual contributions. A job well done.

We are very near the 1984 Goal of $8,900. To those of you who have already participated, thank you! And to those of you who have not, an invitation to be a part of the United Way Program - it helps, because we help. For more information, see any Rotary or Lions Club member or call my office, 897-5906. Thank you.

Sincerely,
Dr. Rich Greenwood
Lowell United Way Chairperson

Michigan Association of CPA's

If you own a small business, there are still a few weeks left in which you can find ways to reduce your 1983 federal income tax bill. There are two basic ways: shift income into 1984, or increase deductions for 1983 before January 1, according to the Michigan Association of Certified Public Accountants.

This would involve careful planning plus an awareness of how tax laws affect you. Then try to position the most deductions in the year with the highest income.

Postponing income can be as simple as delaying billings. This may be practical unless delays create December cash-flow problems.

CPAs note there are many ways to increase your business deductions in 1983. For instance, if you plan to buy business equipment early in 1984, move your purchase into 1983 instead. That way you qualify for your first depreciation deduction this year. Equipment purchased in December can be treated the same as equipment purchased in January -- you get a full six months depreciation.

If you don't depreciate business property, you can "expense" up to $5,000 of the cost all at once. That's a $5,000 tax deduction for 1983 if you buy before the end of the year.

Another tax break on business equipment is the investment tax credit (ITC). During the year of purchase, you can subtract a portion of an asset's cost from your tax bill. For property written off in three years, the tax credit is six percent of the asset's cost. For a property written off in more than three years the tax credit is 10 percent.

So, with a $5,000 computer (which has a five year write-off period) you can deduct $500 directly from your 1983 tax bill. By taking the tax credit, however, the basis of your depreciable asset is reduced by one-half of the tax credit. With the $5,000 computer the cost basis for depreciation is $4,750 ($5,000 cost minus half the $500 tax credit). Claim the investment tax credit, however, and you cannot "expense" the computer.

There are other business expenses that qualify for deductions, if you act now. You could prepay some expenses, such as your anticipated first quarter tax bills or your January 1984 rent, utilities or other business expenses. With a cash-basis business you get the deduction when those bills are paid.

It could be beneficial to put your spouse or children to work in your business. CPAs say they will have to do bona fide work and be paid realistic wages, but you can deduct those wages as a business expense. And, if your business is unincorporated, you won't have to pay Social Security tax on the wages of your spouse or children under 21. Keep in mind that your children probably won't be taxed on their earnings because they are in a lower tax bracket.

For another tax break, your spouse can put up to $2,000 of his or her earnings into an Individual Retirement Account and pay no tax at all on those earnings until the money is withdrawn. Working couples can each contribute up to $2,000 into an IRA.

Remember that the 10 percent marital deduction married couples can claim when they file jointly may be lost if your spouse contributes all his or her earnings to the IRA account. Also, pre-

Kent County adults can learn wilderness survival skills

"Kent County older youths and adults who want to learn more about wilderness survival should take advantage of the opportunity to participate in the 4-H Challenge wilderness adventure training program," says Tim Gerard, Kent County 4-H Youth Agent.

Through the 4-H Challenge Program, participants learn a variety of skills, including hiking and backpacking, canoeing, cross-country skiing, orienteering, and wilderness cooking and survival.

According to Gerard, county residents interested in becoming part of the Challenge leader program, and, after training, serving as group leaders for young people, should sign up now.

The 4-H Challenge leader orientation will be next spring sometime, and that anyone interested in becoming a Challenge should call now to get all the details. Some requirements include: each leader must attend four weekend intensive training sessions, pass a comprehensive written test and take a Multi-Media Standard First Aid and CPR course. Additional training in areas such as climbing and rappelling, caving, survival, canoeing, kayaking, sailing, bike touring, winter survival (including skiing and snowshoeing) and wilderness backpacking is available.

"Because Challenge leaders will be involved in high adventure situations and be responsible for youngsters participating in wilderness outings, they must be prepared," Gerard points out. "After completing all the training, Challenge leaders become certified and are qualified to take youths on wilderness adventures."

"It's worth all the hard work and studying if you like the challenge of the out-of-doors."

Gerard adds: To be eligible for the 4-H Challenge certification program, applicants must be at least 21 years old. Young people age 16-20 years may become associate leaders, and youngsters 12 and up can be program participants.

Kent County residents interested in signing up for the 4-H Challenge leader certification program should contact Tim Gerard at the Kent County Cooperative Extension Service office, or call 774-3265.

Kent County Cooperative Extension Service is an educational unit of Michigan State University. Kent County Extension offers up-to-date information and educational programs in Agriculture, Horticulture, 4-H, Family Living, Homemaking Clubs, Nutrition, Energy, Natural Resources and Public Policy. For more information, call 774-3265. One of the educational programs coming up is a Deer Hunters Workshop at the Kent East Beltline Skills Center Auditorium, 1665 East Beltline, N.E., between Leonard and Knapp, N.E., west side street, on November 7, 1983, 7-9:30 P.M. It is sponsored by the Fish and Wildlife Department of Michigan State University in cooperation with the Michigan Outdoors and the Kent Cooperative Extension Service.

One way to cut driving costs in the winter is to clean the snow and ice off from under the fender to reduce gas-eating weight.

FISHING INFORMATION:
General Information: slow. Off shore Lake Michigan fishing has been slow, but steelhead and lake trout are beginning to dominate the catch at 6th Street Dam on the Grand River. Chinook salmon are still in fair abundance in the Rogue River and also the 6th Street Dam.
Upstream at Lowell, Ionia, Lyons and Portland, cohos and chinooks are still the dominate species in the catch, but steelhead are beginning to show up in the Flat River and Prairie Creek near Ionia.
Cohos and chinook are being caught at Hubbardston on Fish Creek. Few steelhead have reached there as yet. Activity at the Grand Haven Pier has been Game (Saginaw County).

Diving ducks arrived in the Lower Peninsula during the week of October 10, and more divers are expected to arrive soon. Generally, the last two weeks of October and the first two weeks of November are prime times to hunt the lakes for ringnecks, scaup, redheads, canvasbacks, and buffleheads.
Deer Hunting:
Bow season got off to a good start and we are expected to have an equally successful gun deer season.
State conservation officers are renewing their plea that citizens watch for and report poachers in Michigan. If you see a poaching incident in progress, or suspect that poaching has occurred, please contact your local conservation officer or DNR office, or phone the 24-hour toll-free RAP hotline (1-800-292-7800).

HUNTING INFORMATION:
Reports in On Duck and Goose Season Openings:
Hunter success during the opening days of the duck and goose season was comparable to last year's in most of Michigan and better at some state waterfowl management areas, including Fish Point (Tuscola County) Nayanguing Point (Bay County) and Shiawassee River State

Deer Hunting:

Big brother/big sisters: A special kind of friendship

Single parent households have increased by 79% during the last decade. Children and adults who are part of this growing segment in American life face a unique set of problems. Boys often miss the male companionship of a father and all that such a relationship has to offer. Frequently, they have no one to teach them how to throw a football, hit a baseball or catch a fish. More importantly, they often lack proper adult guidance during their formative years. Their own mothers often feel uncomfortable teaching such skills and are themselves overwhelmed with the problems of caring for a family all on their own.

The Big Brother/Big Sister program of D.A. Blodgett Homes for Children, a United Way Agency, is designed to meet some of these important needs. The program emphasizes a one to one relationship between a volunteer and a child. Volunteers are asked to see a child once a week for at least a year, and to provide a warm, accepting friendship for the child. Volunteers come from all walks of life. They may be young or old, single or with families. They are usually busy people with one thing in common - a desire to share their time with a child. As the Big Brother/Big Sister relationship meets a child's need for companionship and guidance, volunteers also find that making a difference in a child's life is a rewarding experience and worth the effort.

In our community of Lowell, there are presently four young men between the ages of nine and fourteen who have requested and are eagerly awaiting a Big Brother. These are normal youngsters who are experiencing some stress in their lives because of the absence of one parent from their homes. In order to meet their needs for friendship and activity, four Lowell area Big Brothers are needed now.

Please consider sharing some of your time and leisure activities with a child. For more information about the Big Brother program, please call Diana Korb at 451-2021.

Snowmobile safety classes

Snowmobile clubs and instructors, in coordination with the Kent County Sheriff's Department, will offer snowmobile safety classes through the fall. These classes will be open to students between 12 and 16 years old. This will allow these young snowmobilers to be able to comply with the Snowmobile Safety Act, which states that a person 12 to 16 years of age may operate a snowmobile only if (a) he is under the direct supervision of a person 18 years or older, (b) he has a snowmobile safety certificate in his possession, or (c) he is on land owned by his parent or legal guardian. Also, a person 12 to 16 driving a snowmobile may cross a highway or street ONLY if he has a valid snowmobile safety certificate in his possession.

A class will be limited as to the number of students. Please sign up early to allow us to set up classes for new students; parents are also encouraged to attend. Students are reminded to bring an ink pen to each class.

For further information about these Snowmobile classes, call the Kent County Sheriff's Department at 774-3111. To avoid overcrowding to classes, please take advantage of classes when held in your area.

If you are between 12 and 16 years old and would like to attend a Snowmobile Safety class, you may enroll in the following classes: November 8-9-10 1983 at Lowell High School, Foreman Road, Lowell Michigan at 7:00-9:00 P.M.

By Roger Brown

Some of my wife's family, better known as in-laws, were over Halloween evening. We sat around the table chatting, and somehow the conversation turned to a young man my youngest sister-in-law had met at a summer camp some years ago. She had taken him to one of the family weddings, and some could remember him, while others of us couldn't recall him at all. After several attempts at trying to describe him, my mother-in-law finally said, "you remember, he's the one who kept making fun of us for saying, 'yup' all the time". That got a laugh, and then someone mentioned that the same sister-in-law's current boyfriend makes fun of the family for always saying, "I guess I'll have..." when beginning to order at a restaurant. The same guy also ribs me about the way I pronounce roof, I'm still not convinced that I pronounce it incorrectly, but he sure thinks I do.

The latter of these two guys is from the Detroit area, and I didn't catch where the other one was from, but certainly far enough away so that he wasn't brought up to say "yup". What's ironic about all this is that nobody has any right to be poking fun at another person's dialect. Whether they're willing to admit it or not, they've got quirks in their speech too.

I saw a guy on a TV talk show some time ago who had conducted years of research, and had completed a book about dialects in the United States. He claimed that after spending only a few minutes with a person he could pinpoint their home to within twenty miles, providing they were born and raised there, and hadn't moved, picking up a new dialect in the process. Can you imagine bumping into this guy at a party, and after chatting awhile he says, "By the way, how are thing back in Lowell", and you haven't even hinted at where you are from. Creepy!

I do know that you can disguise your dialect. During the military build-up of the '60's, most of my friends were drafted. When they came home on leave, I often wondered if they hadn't been to a foreign language school rather than basic training. Depending on who their new acquaintances were, they would come home speaking southern twang, east coast slur, western drawl, black jive, or a combination of the above. But, no matter what, they never came home speaking like a Western Michigianian.

When I finally went into the army, most of my acquaintances were from the east. I spent six months at a little outpost in New Mexico where among my closest friends were guys from Long Island, Staten Island, Brooklyn, Boston, Providence and some small town in New Jersey. When I came home on leave before going overseas, I sounded like a cross between Sylvester Stallone, Maj. Charles Winchester and the entire Bowery Boys gang. I said "deez, doze and dis" instead of "these, those and this", and couldn't figure out why no one could understand me.

I've lost most of that over the years, though I still occasionally slip out a "dis" or a "dat", and I still call a pop a soda. But, for the most part I'm back to speaking Western Michigianian, and glad of it, because I sure wouldn't want to speak one of those funny dialects that doesn't use "yup" and pronounces roof some weird way.

Some Energy Saving Tips From...
LOWELL LIGHT & POWER
OWNED BY THE PEOPLE OF LOWELL

WATER HEATER INSULATION
Why waste energy heating water, when an insulation blanket is simple to install and cuts water heating costs considerably?

HOT WATER SAVERS
It's a cinch to install water-saving showerheads, sink aerators and flow restrictors in a home! An easy way to cut down on energy consumption.

PIPE INSULATION
Hot water pipes running from water heater through unheated spaces are fuelish. Wrapping them with foam and vinyl or foam and foil tape can make them energy efficient!

Bankers and dentists go all out for Halloween

If you visited the State Savings Bank on Monday (Halloween) you were no doubt shocked when you walked through the doors. With a couple of gift certificates for dinners at fine restaurants up as prizes, the employees went all out with their Halloween attire. We won't try to identify everyone here, but the Keystone Cop in the left rear of the photo is none other than bank president Keith Caldwell. Can you imagine sitting across the desk from him as he explains the details of a contract loan? Winners will be announced at a later date.

A trip to the dentist on Monday would have been different, to say the least. Pictured here are Dr. Robert Reagan, Nancy Kyser, Dr. Robert Kyser, Nona Kyser and Marlene McCormick. Would you trust your teeth to these people?

Studies show widespread misuse of child restraint seats

Despite the first-year success of Michigan's child restraint law, only about one of every five children is restrained properly, reports the Automobile Club of Michigan.

While State Police statistics show a 27 percent decline in casualties for children under 4 during the law's first year, two independent studies show only about 20 percent of the devices are being used correctly.

"The compliance rate increased from 16 to 42 percent during the first year of the Michigan law," said Robert Cullen, Auto Club's Safety and Traffic Engineering manager. "However, there is evidence that many parents are not following the manufacturer's recommendations on proper use of the restraints."

Misuse involves failure to secure the child properly within the restraint or failure to anchor the child restraint correctly to the seat. In addition, infant restraints (for children under 20 pounds) may be facing forward instead of rearward.

Michigan's child restraint law, which went into effect April 1, 1982, requires infants under 1 year to be in an approved child restraint regardless of seating position. Children ages 1 through 3 must ride in an approved restraint while in the front seat and either a safety seat or a seat belt in the back seat.

A study conducted by Physicians for Automotive Safety, which was based on more than 2,300 observations at 23 sites, including Ann Arbor, showed a misuse rate of 75 percent in the way devices were anchored to the vehicle with a lap belt or where a top tether was required.

"A seat with a top tether strap affords extra protection against head injury only if it's installed properly," said Cullen. "Otherwise the restraint is more likely to pitch forward during a sudden stop or collision, and tests have shown that it leads to more serious head injuries than if the child had been restrained with a lap belt."

An observational study conducted by Borgess Hospital in Kalamazoo showed a compliance rate of nearly 46 percent following the new law, but only 20 percent of the children were restrained properly.

The four steps to ensure safety for children riding in cars are: 1) Only use restraints that meet strict federal safety standards (indented by a seal on the box or a label on the restraint). 2) Fasten the harness and make sure all straps fit snugly. 3) Fasten the vehicle's seat belt around the restraint in the position recommended by the manufacturer (a locking clip is required when the seat is secured by a combined lap and shoulder belt). 4) Place the device in the back seat for the best protection, ideally in the middle.

Local Army Ranger one of the first to land on Grenada

Last week's invasion of Grenada was an important event for all Americans, but it was especially important to Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Dykstra of 7570 3 Mile Road, N.E. Ada. Their son, P.F.C. Ted Dykstra is an Army Ranger attached to the 1st Battalion of the 75th Infantry, and was the 12th paratrooper to make the jump at the airstrip being constructed by Cubans on Grenada. The Dykstras knew their son was involved in the Grenada campaign, but they went without any word from Monday, October 24 when the invasion began, until Saturday, October 29 when Ted called from Hunter Army Air Force Base in Georgia, saying he was back and had suffered only minor injuries. Ted is a 1982 graduate of Lowell High School. The following is an account of Ted's ordeal as related to us by his father: Seventy Rangers from Ted's battalion flew in at 500 feet over the air strip in a single plane in the pre-dawn gray light on Monday morning. Their mission was to secure the airstrip so that following planes and troops could land safely. Their plane came under heavy anti-aircraft fire and took several hits, one ranger was killed and three were wounded as the plane made its approach. As the Rangers learned later, the Cubans had their anti-aircraft rounds set to explode at 1,000 feet, if they had been set to explode at 500 feet they almost certainly would have been shot down. When jumping from 500 feet you hit the ground in about eight seconds, not much room for error. The first person out the door was the commanding officer, a full colonel, he was followed by the other officers, the M-60 machine gunners and then the mortar crew which included Ted as the crew chief. As has been reported in the press, the paratroopers met resistance much heavier than had been expected. Ted backed this up in his account to his father. The paratroopers were on the ground alone for an hour and fifteen minutes, and rather than securing the airstrip for following planes, they were literally fighting for their lives. After setting up his mortar, Ted's crew member was killed by sniper fire coming from a nearby ridge. Ted was hit in the helmet and back pack, and was knocked backwards several feet by a hit from some type of heavy weapons fire. In the fighting that followed Ted expended all his 60 millimeter mortar rounds on the ridge, three Cuban barracks and in close support of some of the Rangers, at one point dropping his shells within 100 yards of the units calling for mortar fire. One of the officers decided to call in naval artillery in on the ridge where the enemy fire was coming from. Ted relayed the coordinates to the navy, and they began firing.

Having not secured the airport, the ranger officers on the ground kept the planes full of reinforcements circling above, but finally a decision was made to call them in. According to Ted, many of the Rangers were out or very low on ammunition for their machine guns and rifles, and by the time additional troops arrived many were armed only with sidearms and knives. At one point in the fighting Ted said that he and several others were running headlong in front of a pursuing armored personnel vehicle, and trees about 25 feet tall that it was knocking down were falling right at their heels. They were finally able to elude the vehicle by scrambling down a steep bank. Ted's Ranger unit continued with the invading troops, and were in combat for five days before the island was considered secure, and the rangers were sent back to their home base. Ted suffered a bruised elbow and heels in the jump, but was otherwise uninjured. Of the seventy Rangers in the initial jump, 25 were either killed or wounded.

Smooth northern migration expected for deer hunters

A record number of hunters should encounter few traffic problems during the annual migration north for the firearm deer season opener Nov. 15, reports the Automobile Club of Michigan. "The season opens on a Tuesday and traffic should be spread over the preceding weekend and Monday (Nov. 11-14)," said James Drury, Auto Club's Travel Operation manager. "Northbound traffic should be heavier than normal on Sunday and Monday afternoons, but congestion should be minimal."

The Michigan Department of Natural Resources (DNR) estimates that 750,000 hunters will participate in the 16-day season which ends Nov. 30. The total is 4 percent above last year and compares to the previous record of 747,000 hunters in 1978. Despite the anticipated record number of firearm hunters, the deer kill is expected to be down 6 to 12 percent. The DNR is issuing 150,000 hunter's choice permits this year, a 25 percent reduction from 1982. "While the fawn crop was excellent because of last winter's mild weather, bucks may be scarcer than last year due to previous harsh winters," said Drury. "About 100,000 are expected to be taken, 10,000 fewer than in 1982. In all, 140,000 to 150,000 buck and antlerless deer should be bagged." DNR studies show a lower than normal deer population in sections of the northwest and north central Lower Peninsula. The only problem areas for motorists may be along I-75 near the Zilwaukee Bridge north of Saginaw and along northbound M-33 from Alger north to Mio and Atlanta areas. To help ease possible jams near the Zilwaukee Bridge, where three lanes merge into two, shippers using the Saginaw River have been asked to restrict traffic during peak travel times Nov. 11-14 and Nov. 16-17. The Michigan Department of Transportation expects northbound traffic to be the heaviest from 4 to 9 P.M. Friday (Nov. 11), 11 A.M. to 5 P.M. Sunday (Nov. 13) and noon to 9 P.M. Monday (Nov. 14). Southbound traffic is expected to peak between 2 and 5 P.M. on Wednesday and Thursday (Nov. 16-17). Mackinac Bridge officials expect hunter-vehicle crossings to be about equal to last year's estimated total of 11,000 during the four-day period preceding the opener. The Auto Club will provide traffic bulletins via radio for traveling hunters between 8:15 A.M. and 4:30 P.M. Saturday (Nov. 12) and from 8:15 A.M. and 6:30 P.M. Monday (Nov. 14). The special reports will be in addition to the Auto Club's Weekend News Service which operates from 3:15 to 11 P.M. Friday (Nov. 11) and 2:30 to 11 P.M. Sunday (Nov. 13).

John Ball Zoo continues to grow

Yes, Virginia, the Zoo is still open. It's not only open but growing. The Jaguar/South American Panorama, the last exhibit in phase I of the Zoo's master plan, is nearing the first stage of completion. By the first of December, the only remaining work will be the Granite or Artificial Rockwork. This process will have to wait for the warmer spring temperatures for completion. The underground winter quarters, the Jaguar enclosure, Llama barn, and the board walk will all be finished within the next few weeks. The exhibit is scheduled to open to the public in 1984 as part of the Park's Centennial Celebration.

The Jaguar/South American Panorama will be the largest exhibit at the zoo. It will stretch nearly 100 yards across a wooded hillside. An attractive boardwalk will allow visitors a close view of the animals. At one point the walkway juts into the exhibit, inviting the visitor to become a part of the Panorama. The Jaguar enclosure is located on a cliff overlooking the rest of the exhibit. Several different types of South American animals will seemingly co-exist in the rest of the enclosure. There is a spider monkey island surrounded by a pool inhabited by South American Waterfowl. A Macaw Tree will give the viewer a close look at these colorful exotic birds. Flamingos will have their own pool as will the Tapirs, Llamas and Capybaras will have a run with Natural grasses and foliage.

The emphasis of this exhibit is

One estimate is that it takes you thirty minutes to reach a level of deep sleep.

The average person can distinguish about 150 different colors; while someone with an expert eye can pick out more than 100,000 hues.

to provide a variety of animals in a natural setting. The pools, waterfalls, grasses, trees, and foliage will not only be appealing to the visitor but will allow for a more natural existence by the animals.

Funding for the artificial rockwork is still being sought by the John Ball Zoo Society. For information on the Exhibit and Zoo Master Plan, please call 456-3809. Zoo winter hours are 10 A.M. until 4 P.M. There is no admission charge from November 1 - March 15.

Lowell girls pick up 2 more wins in last weeks action

The Red Arrow girls basketball team came up with two wins last week over Fremont and Sparta.

The win over Fremont 66-55 was the first time Lowell has beaten Fremont at Lowell. Lowell jumped out to a quick 16-11 lead after the 1st quarter.

An aggressive offensive and defensive third quarter by the Arrows gave them a 55-43 lead entering the final stanza.

Amy VanderGalen came off the bench and scored 12 points and 13 rebounds. Phyllis Beachler, playing a fine defensive game, caused numerous turnovers and tossed in 18 points. Kathleen Beachler had 13 points and 8 rebounds. Others scoring were Paula Doyle 6, Chris Ellison 2, Maria Ritzema 5, and Lynn Dowling 10.

In the game against Sparta, Lowell shot 48% from the floor to down the Spartans 58-47. Senior Lynn Dowling paced the Arrows with 20 points; 14 in the 4th quarter where she was 7 for 7.

Both teams came out hot in the early stages of the game. Lowell as 7 for 15 and Sparta 7 for 12 in the first quarter.

Lowell applied more pressure in their zone in the 2nd quarter to cool off Sparta. The Arrows continued to shoot 50% while Sparta dropped to 10%. Lowell had a 31-20 half time lead.

Phyllis Beachler had another fine defensive game with 7 steals. Chris Ellison helped Dowling in her record scoring by dishing out three assists. Dowling and Kathleen Beachler had 8 and 7 rebounds respectively.

Lowell Red Arrow's Amy VanderGalen put this shot in for two of her 12 points in Lowell's 66-55 victory over the Fremont Packers last week.

Others scoring for Lowell were: Cathy Kazmier 3, Paula Doyle 10, Phyllis Beachler 11, Kathleen Beachler 8, Chris Ellison 4 and Maria Ritzema 2. Lowell is home next week entertaining Cedar Springs and Greenville.

TIPS ON TRIPS

Some people always seem to get the best seats on ships, planes or trains. Careful planning is often the trick. If you're leaving on a cruise, while friends are still drinking bon voyage champagne, slip out and see the dining room steward. If you're traveling as a single, don't hesitate an instant about asking for a large table with other singles... men and women. If you're traveling as a couple, ask for a table with other couples.

housing complex for senior citizens on Boves Road, Lowell. Schneider is a WWII Marine Corps veteran and belongs to the American Legion and Lowell Rotary Club.

Helen Thompson, 27, says she doesn't want to be one who sets around complaining about city government, but would rather get involved with the decision making process. Thompson resides at 329 North St. with her husband William. She is a graduate of Lowell High School and holds an Associate degree in Business Administration from Davenport College. She is currently working toward a Bachelor degree in Business Administration at Davenport while working as a buyer at the Rochester Product Division of General Motors in Grand Rapids. Thompson has been a Lowell resident for about five years, having previously lived in the Parnell area.

William Thompson, 29, feels his education in business management would be beneficial to the council, and specifically would like to see improvements in city recreation, services and ordinances dealing with junk cars.

Thompson is a lifelong resident of the city. His father, G.R. "Butch" Thompson was a city councilman for 8 years. Thompson holds a degree in Business from Aquinas College and is currently working toward his Masters in business at Central Michigan University.

fluence of the Flat and Grand Rivers.

Quada pointed out that while some members of the community have expressed concern that the City Council has not spent all of the Lee Fund earnings, the recent purchases of parkland would not have been possible without such savings.

The future development of the new park will be discussed by the city's Park Advisory Committee, but will be ultimately approved by the Council.

"This land was not acquired with any special interest group in mind, but is part of the City's five year plan to improve parks throughout the City and to meet the recreational needs of the Community now and in the future," said Quada. "The Council has an overall responsibility within the city to improve recreational pursuits for all ages", he said, and, to date, "this council has been even more progressive than most of our neighbors in setting a logical course for park development", added Quada.

Jaycee Women give apples to local teachers

The Lowell Area Jaycee Women recently conducted a project that delivered a shiny red apple to each Lowell Area Teacher.

Project organizer Cheryl Williams, local President Tena Mellem, and member Nancy Anderson delivered the apples and thank you notes to teachers at all of the Area Schools. Williams stated that "the project was run to thank our teachers for the excellent job they do in teaching our children. The appreciation was expressed on behalf of the entire community."

Rotary donates to Showboat

The Lowell Rotary Club has given the Lowell Showboat a second check for $1,000 this year. Pictured here are Rotary Treasurer Ival Paulsen, Rotary President Bill McPherson, Showboat President Ray Quada and Rotarian and Showboat Board Member Gordon Gould. The money will be used to help reduce the Showboat's long term debt.
