Saturday as the result of injuries he sustained from being struck by an automobile at the intersection of 28th Street and Lake Eastbrook Boulevard Kentwood. Terry Heaven, 33, of 65 Franseca Ct. was attempting to cross the busy five lane 28th Street on foot with his wife Linda and their 7 year old daughter Terri, when the trio were struck by an oncoming vehicle. The accident occurred at about 7:00 P.M. on Friday, November 18.

Heaven underwent emergency which runs north and south from surgery at Butterworth Hospital.

Witnesses said that the family tried to cross the roadway against the light, and Terry Heaven was thrown about twenty feet months ago. through the air landing in the middle of the road. The driver of the vehicle was Michael Kelly. 28, of Kentwood. The accident is still under investigation by Kentwood Police.

Amway announces lay offs

Amway Corporation said lingering effects of the recession and the strong U.S. dollar slowed its sales during fiscal 1983. The international direct selling firm's worldwide corporate revenues for the year ended August 31 were $1.13 billion, down from 1982 record of $1.2 billion

The compnay also noted it has lost numerous manufacturing jobs in Ada since Canadian tariff barriers required Amway to move several manufacturing activities to London, Ontario, the only Amway manufacturing plant outside the United States.

As a result, Amway said it will lay off 230 of the 7,000 workers it employs worldwide. The reduction is divided among hourly office, hourly manufacturing and salaried personnel.

Historically, the direct sales industry is one of the last to feel a recession's impact, and one of the last to recover. Amid this industrywide conditions, Amway has been studying ways to cont'd. back pg.

Johnson bags coyote

Bagging a four point buck was only secondary to 72 year old Homer Johnson of 4221 Causeway Drive, Lowell. Homer, who has been hunting since he was, "old enough to carry a gun" shot the first coyote he had ever seen in his many years of hunting. Johnson bagged both the deer and the coyote while hunting near Roscommon, his annual whitetail hunting turf since 1937. Johnson said he shot the coyote from exactly 100 yards through deep swamp with a 3.08 caliber rifle. There is no longer a bounty on coyote in Michigan, but Johnson said that he was told by Department of Natural Resource agents that they are very plentiful and still considered a nuisance.

A PERFECT HAND FOR ROSIE

Rosie Fonger joined a select group of cribbage players on Friday, November 4. She was playing the popular card game with George Archart at the Lowell Moose Lodge when George dealt her the five of clubs, diamonds and spades along with the jack of hearts. Rosic cut the cards, and lo and behold, up came the five of hearts giving her the extremely rare "29" hand. Yours truly, Roger Brown, had one on May 3, 1979, and I asked in my column at that time if anyone knew of a national or international "29" club. I have heard that there is such a thing, and again, if anyone out there has any information about it. Rosie and I would like to hear from you.

HOLIDAY SEASON APPROACHING

With the Christmas Shopping season upon us, many Lowell merchants will begin opening extended hours. Watch their ads for announcements of hour changes. Modern Photographics will again be taking pictures of kids with Santa Claus. The sittings will be at Lambert Variety on Saturday, December 3 following the parade until 5:00 P.M. and again on Wednesday. December 7 from 6:00 until 9:00 P.M. The photos will cost just $2.00 and will be a profesional 5 x 7 color print in a folder. The annual Santa Claus Parade is scheduled for 2:00 P.M. on Saturday, December 3. Anyone wishing to register an entry should contact Dolores Dey at That "Special" Place. 897-8545. This year's parade chairpersons are Ivan and Jane Blough and Melinda D'Agostino.

Celebrities cash in on excercise

By Elaina Thompson

How much help can show business personalities gen-erate by the self-help videotapes they create?

Apparently anywhere from zilch, if one is just skimming, to life-changing for the highly motivated. Of the latter, Richmotivated. Of the latter, Richard Simmons can draw on a pile of testimonials of grateful "losers." Some of them are 100 pound losers, who get invited to guest on his television series and inspire others to follow sane advice on-good nutrition and hearty exercise.

Dedicated to keeping fit, Simmons' later projects spun from his first exercise salon. (He now has a network of around 100, all with child care facilities for mothers with young'uns). Then came the best seller books, like "Never Say Diet."

Simmons, like Jane Fonda, who developed her fitness regimes at her pilot salon classes, then went onto the best-seller book list, then videotape, has developed a 90-minute "private class at home" videotape.

Also now out plugging her exercise videotaping is sports commentator, Jayne Kennedy.

She explains how the see-aswell-as-hear format has evolved from her successful audio-only albums, "Love Your Bedy" and "Love Your She says.

Body More." She claims that her regimes are tougher than Fonda's but adds that "this is a big enough market for more entries."

The Kennedy maxim, roomfor-one-more, is what some of us have been urging on Cybill Shepberd, currently co-starring on NBC's "Yellow Rose" with Sam Elliott and Edward Albert.

She will have to change her proposed title, "The Well-Rounded Human Being," because the image doesn't fit trimness.

A lifelong athlete, Miss Shepherd runs, rides horses, does calisthenics three times a week, and swims or uses her exercycle twice a week. "And I always watch my weight," she says.

Body More." She claims that her regimes are tougher than Fonds's but adds that "this is

I saw it there a week or so Moore, Esther Mutchler, Andrea ago, and went all over the classic finding it to be a pretty faithful reproduction. My interest in this particular reproduction is not without reason. Even though I was born twenty years after the first of these babies were made, one just like it was my main mode of transporta-

It wasn't actually mine, as my father's name was on the title, but since I was just sixteen and in desperate need of "wheels" when he bought it, I more or less laid claim to it. It was a restored 1930 Model A Roadster Pickup that he bought for a song somewhere near London, Ontario. than that, she was original. The thing was used year round, and for all purposes. It was a delivery truck for my father's business. It was a second car for the family, and most importantly it was transportation for me! I'll never forget the day they brought it home. It was a Saturday. and I was flat on my back in bed after tearing my knee up in a football game the night before. My father and a friend had gone after it. and had planned on towing it home. But, somewhere along the way they had problems with the tow bar, and my father ended up driving it most of the way. When he pulled in the driveway I hobbled out on my crutches to look it over, and I nearly died when I realized I couldn't operate the clutch because of my burn knee. Within a few days I got a system figured out that allowed me to clutch the old bomb with my left knee in a splint. As they say, "Where there's a will, there's a way".

After that, the Brown boys became notorious for their escapades in the old flivver. I have to admit that it did cramp our style some. because if anyone saw the old yellow bomb tooling through town with the occupants tossing eggs or firecrackers, there was no question that it would get back to our dad. And speaking of being conspicuous. I think the whole county was put on alert by my girlfriend's father, to keep an eye out for a yellow model A parked down a quiet country lane.

own a quiet country lane.

After several years of enjoying the old Model A, my dad got a chance to sell it for a tidy profit, and since he was starting a new business and needed some cash, he sold it. We all hated to see her go, but I know one thing for sure...there is no way the new owner will have nearly as much fun with her as the Brown Boys did:

By Doreen Rickert

Monday, November 28 is the night to get involved in the community battle against substance abuse. Task forces will be set up at this time

Monday, November 28, at 7:30 in the Middle School Cafeteria is the time and place of the meet-

If you have any concerns what so ever, it is suggested that you attend this meeting.
