City Council reviews a mixed bag of subjects

The Lowell City Council covered a variety of subjects at their meeting of Monday, January 16. After approval of the minutes from the December 19 meeting and accounts payable, the council adjourned to open a public hearing the Zoning Board of Appeals. Agnes Kent, owner of the Beauty Box located on the north side of Main Street just west of the Hudson Street intersection was requesting permission to construct a driveway in front of her shop, which also serves as her residence. A previous owner of the property sold the back yard and much of the side yard to the adjacent Standard Oil property, thereby leaving a lot not much larger than the house. New managers at the Standard Oil Station are not allowing Kent, and an aunt that resides with her, to park their car on the station's property. Westdale Realty, owners of the property across the street have granted only temporary permission for Kent to park there.

City Manager Ray Quada expressed his concern of vehicles backing from a driveway so near an intersection that is already very busy. Kent said that the driveway could be constructed so that cars could turn around before exiting onto Main St. The councilmen serving as the Zoning Board of Appeals said they would like to see a site plan before making a decision in the matter, and it was tabled until the February 6 meeting.

Dave and Linda Blodgett made a slide presentation to the council showing examples of some of their work as mural painters. Blodgett is the brother of Jim Blodgett, a teacher and resident here. The Lowell Area Arts Council is attempting to commission the Blodgetts to paint an historical mural to be primarily funded by the Helen Look Daley Memorial Fund. The Blodgetts have surveyed the community, and would like to see their work done on the west wall of the pocket park in the 300 block of East Main St. Speaking on behalf of the Look Committee, Dean Collins who represents the city on that committee said that the committee is considering funding the materials and labor on the project, but would like to see the city pick up the tab for site preparation. The wall being considered would require considerable restoration since it was once a fire wall between buildings, and is constructed of only un-fired sandstone brick, which is now crumbling. Collins mentioned that the wall would likely have to be furred out and covered with cement board.

No costs for the project were offered, but the Blodgetts said that they would probably have 1,000 hours of work into it. The council instructed Quada to formulate a proposal for the project, and they would review it at a later date.

The Council accepted a low bid of $9,343.00 for a new police cruiser from Thomet Chevrolet and Buick. The new cruiser will be a Chevrolet Impala. Quada said that he was glad to finally see a General Motors product win a bid for a cruiser so that its performance and maintenance record can be compared to the Fords and Dodges that have won all the bids in the eight years Quada has been city manager.

In his comments to the council, Quada reported that there is a very good possibility that the city's new sewage treatment plant will not gain grant approval by January 1, 1986. Such projects are currently being funded at 75% by the Federal Government, but after the January 1, 1986 cut-off date, they are going to be funded at a lesser rate, probably around 50% according to Quada. The Environmental Protection Agency has mandated that the City build a secondary sewage treatment plant, but the research and design of the plant has spanned several years. The plan was approved last year, and is now on a list with other proposals awaiting grant funding.

The Council voted to expand the Parks and Recreation Commission to five members. Currently serving on the commission are Jerry Kellogg, Randy Os-seward and Ray Zandstra. Residents wishing to serve on this commission should contact city hall.

Art Warning, owner of Art's TV, 104 E. Main spoke from the audience to disapprove with any possible land swap between the city and Michigan Wire Processing for property that is currently the Recreation Park ball diamond. The Council has heard an initial proposal from Don Fizer, owner of Michigan Wire Processing, that offers construction of a new softball facility in exchange for the old ball diamond which is adjacent to Michigan Wire property. Fizer says that his company has grown to the point where he sorely needs the additional space. The council has agreed to look at a more complete proposal from Fizer, but has concurred that any such sale or trade of city park land would have to be approved by a two-thirds vote of the people.

Councilman Phillip Schneider read into the minutes a Certificate of Appreciation to Dean E. Collins for his years of service as Lowell's Mayor. Collins was mayor from January 1978 until January of 1984.

North receives Army citation

PFC John North

Just prior to his discharge after serving for two years in the United States Army, PFC John North was awarded the Army Achievement Medal for saving the life of a German civilian. North is currently living with his mother, Mrs. Marion North of 237 Elizabeth Dean, Lowell. The narrative that accompanied North's medal read as follows:

PFC John North distinguished himself by exceptionally meritorious achievement on 14 December 1983, while assigned to the 1st Platoon, 218th MP Company 793rd MP Battalion, 14th MP Group. PFC North was personally responsible for saving a man's life through the implementation of cardiopulmonary resuscitation. On the morning of 14 December, PFC North was off-duty and travelling on a U.S. Army shuttle bus. As he departed the bus he noticed an unconscious elderly German man on the sidewalk. Several people were attempting to slap the man into consciousness, without success. PFC North assessed the man's condition and immediately stepped in. After finding no signs of breathing or a heartbeat in the man, PFC North initiated CPR. He was able to restore the man's vital signs and maintain them until medical aid arrived. An ambulance eventually transported the man to the German hospital. This man is alive today because of the efforts of PFC North. PFC North displayed great compassion and high level of maturity in his willingness to become involved in this situation, rather than pass it by as many others had done. His personal composure and sound training were responsible for his quick reaction time in initiating the CPR. His actions demonstrated to his German neighbors which he and his unit can be proud. His response to this critical situation reflects great credit upon himself and the United States Army.

the high caliber of the United States soldier in Europe. PFC North willingly accepted the responsibility to helping this man. He set a sterling example, one of

Leo Bryant retires after 56 years with P.O.

Leo Bryant loads his vehicle for one of his last runs as a rural mail carrier at the Alto Post Office.

With 56 years as a rural mail carrier to his credit, Leo Bryant has more years on the job than many postal workers are old when they retire. At age 74 Leo hung up his mail pouch on December 30, 1983 after serving as both a substitute and regular mail carrier out of the Alto Post Office since May 1, 1927. Leo worked as a substitute from his starting date until December 26, 1981 when he became a regular carrier.

Leo who resides at 137 S. West Street, Lowell with his wife Bertha says things were a lot different when he first began delivering the mail. Driving a Model - T Ford, farmers would wait to see if the mailman could make it through snow plugged roads before they'd attempt to go into town. If he got stuck, Leo said he could always count on a friendly farmer to come along and pull him out with a team of horses.

In his 56 years at Alto, Leo worked under 6 postmasters, only two of which are still living.

Capitol Column by Senator Dick Posthumus

Someone once said the trouble with present-day education is that it covers the ground without cultivating anything in it. The recent studies and commission reports on education, both at the state and national levels, would seem to give credence to that statement.

From the President's Commission on Excellence in Education to the Michigan Department of Education's High School Commission, it is clear that greater emphasis must be placed on education.

What is happening in Michigan is frightening. According to a recent U.S. Department of Education report, the student dropout rate in Michigan public schools has increased more than 8 percent over the last ten years, and college entrance exam scores fell. Over the last fifteen years, student scores in the Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT), a nationally-administered academic achievement exam, indicated that while math scores have increased slightly, verbal and reading scores have dropped. The combined scores show an overall decline in Michigan students' performance.

The state is neglecting its responsibility to insure that the educational needs of students are met; and that trend must be reversed.

The state's share of funding for public education, kindergarten through 12th grade, has decreased dramatically over the past fifteen years. In 1968, state spending for K-12 education amounted to 44.8 percent of the state budget. Today, that figure has dropped to a disappointing 30.9 percent.

Early last September, Republicans unveiled a comprehensive education plan that calls for mandatory competency tests for all new teachers and graduating high school students. It also calls for mandating minimum curriculum requirements, with emphasis on math and science. It calls for a teacher certification process and requires that, from the sixth grade on, subjects be taught only by a teacher with a major or minor in that subject. Legislation that would implement the Republican plan was introduced last fall and is still awaiting action in the education committees of both houses. Other Republican proposals call for increasing the percentage of the state budget used for education. In short, Republicans are and have been, ready to move on improving the quality of education for our children.

Just recently, the State Board of Education adopted a blueprint to upgrade schools. Their recommendations are similar to the Republican proposals. However, they do not call for legislation to mandate the guidelines or address the funding issue; and, unfortunately, they suggest a four-year phase-in period. We believe that's just too long a time and too casual a format for improvements that are so desperately needed to improve our schools.

State School Board President Phillip Runkel said, "The fundamental issue is the state board's constitutional responsibility to insure that the educational needs of students are met for the future."

HOMESPUN DEVOTIONS

by Pauline E. Spray

... thou shalt take thy rest in safety. Also thou shalt lie down, and none shall make thee afraid (Job 11:18,19).

After saying her evening prayer - "Now I lay me down to sleep. I pray Thee, Lord, my soul to keep. If I should die before I wake. I pray Thee, Lord, my soul to take" - Sybil always added this postscript: "Help so nothing don't get us. Help so the house don't burn down." Years later, we recall her childhood prayer with amusement.

Fear is an unpleasant thing. Many people are afraid of the dark and the perils which they suspect lurk in the blackness of night.

To be able to lie down in safety is the Christian's privilege. His life belongs to God. Should anything happen to him before he awakens, his soul will go to be with his Maker forever in a place of eternal bliss. The Christian's material possessions belong to God, also, therefore, the loss of temporal things through fire or theft is not the end of living for him. Within the heart of the surrendered Christian there is a yieldingness to his Father's will. From his heart he can pray, "Let the Lord do as it seems best to Him," and, "Now I lay me down to sleep - in safety." Prayer: Dear Lord, my life belongs to Thee and to Thee alone. All that I have is Thine. Thou hast only lent it to me. I surrender my life and possessions into Thy keeping. I rest in the wonder of Thy love. Amen

Anywhere with Jesus I can go to sleep

When the dark'ning shadows round about me creep, Knowing I shall awaken never more to roam.

Anywhere with Jesus will be home, sweet home.

United in marriage

Jeanette Elaine Marks and David Ross Oliphant were united in marriage at the Lowell Missionary Church on December 17, 1983, at 2:00 P.M. Jeanette is the daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Glenn Marks of Lowell and David is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Oliphant of Oak Ridge, Tennessee.

The reception was held at the Lowell Middle School cafeteria. The family orchestra entertained guests with Christmas carols and Swedish folk melodies. A highlight of the program was a humorous skit by Lars Marlene Sjolholm and Tom and Cindy Marks. There was also an Arabic flavor as the bride and groom shared their plans to serve as missionaries in the Middle East. Jeanette and David are now residing in Greenville, South Carolina where David teaches high school math at Shannon Forest Christian School and Jeanette works as a registered nurse on the post coronary care unit of Greenville Memorial Hospital.

What you should do and who you should call when your phone's in a fix.

It isn't very often that you need to deal with telephone repairs, but when you do, you want them taken care of as fast as possible. Now that Michigan Bell has separated from AT&T, there are some changes in the way repair problems are handled.

We have some suggestions for you on how to identify your phone repair problems so that you can get them handled as quickly as possible. But first it's important to know who will make specific telephone repairs. For example, effective January 1, 1984:

1. AT&T assumed ownership of the phones Michigan Bell had been providing you for a monthly fee. AT&T will continue to lease those phones to you and will offer repair services.
2. AT&T will also offer repair service for phones that you purchased from Michigan Bell prior to January 1, 1984.
3. Michigan Bell will continue to service and repair the lines that lead to your home or business.

Now let's talk about how you can tell if it's your phone that needs repairing or your phone lines.

Here's how:

- If you have plug-in or modular service, make sure all of your phones are properly plugged in.
- Check all phones for physical damage or frayed cords. If you find damage, it's probably an instrument problem.
- If you have more than one telephone, check them all for a dial tone. If you don't hear a dial tone on any of the phones, you may have a line problem. If you do hear a dial tone on at least one phone, the problem is probably in one of your other instruments.
- If you determine that the trouble is isolated to one instrument at one location, and you have modular service, try that instrument at another outlet or possibly at a neighbor's (if both you and your neighbor have similar one-party service). If the instrument works at another location, the problem may be with a specific outlet. If the instrument does not work at another phone outlet, the problem is probably with the instrument.
- If you have only one phone and it does not appear to be damaged, but cannot be moved to another outlet for testing, call Michigan Bell Repair Service. We will help you determine whether you have an equipment or line problem.

We suggest you clip and save the following phone numbers and keep them near your telephone.

LINE PROBLEMS... On all line problems, call the appropriate Michigan Bell Telephone Repair Service:
 Residence ..... 221-2121
 Business ..... 221-3131

AT&T INSTRUMENT PROBLEMS...
 Residence ..... 1 800 555-8111
 Residence Key ..... 1 800 526-2000
 Business Single Line: In area code 313 call ..... 1 800 992-2772
 In area codes 517, 616, and 906 call ..... 1 800 248-2772
 Business other than single line ..... 1 800 526-2000

PLEASE REMEMBER...

Calling the wrong company for repair service could be costly. For example, if you call Michigan Bell for repair service and the trouble turns out to be in a telephone instrument, you could be charged for a service call and still not have your problem corrected. That's why we've suggested the line and instrument checks before calling anyone.

Michigan Bell can't promise you that you'll never have a repair problem, but we can assure you that we're bringing the same skill and experience to your telephone service repair needs. We want, just as much as you, to keep your service working as it always has.

After all... IT'S AT&T WE'VE SEPARATED FROM... NOT YOU.

Facts down the line. Because your telephone business office is busily engaged in normal, day-to-day telephone service matters, we are providing this toll-free number as a source for answers to the questions you may have about your changing telephone company. We also suggest that you watch for our informational messages in your newspapers and in your monthly telephone bills. 1 800 555-5000

Checking the thermometer this morning, I notice that we've got a regular heat wave brewing. At 5:00 A.M. my thermometer is reading a rather balmy seventeen degrees, and that's on the high side of zero for a change. For the benefit of our readers who have the Ledger sent to their winter address, it's been a COLD winter. How cold? Well, my thermometer read twenty below zero Sunday morning, and it felt every bit that cold when I went outside to get the Sunday paper dressed only in a pair of sweat pants and slippers.

Describing "cold" in print is not an easy task. A couple of cliches describe the cold by referring to anatomical parts of witches and well diggers, but neither is suitable for use in a family newspaper. Jack London effectively described the cold in his short story "To Build a Fire". The main, and only character in the story was hiking between two towns in Alaska. He could tell that it was at least fifty below zero, because when he spit, it froze solid before it hit the ground. I tried that the other morning. It didn't quite freeze before it hit the ground, but it damn sure wasn't long after.

Using zero degrees fahrenheit as a base, let me list a few ways that you can tell it's at least that cold, without the aid of a thermometer.

At temperatures below zero your car tires will freeze in the shape that they were in overnight, and your car will ride like you have four square tires. You can tell how far below zero it is by how long it takes the tires to round out a little bit. I figure it at about five degrees per mile. In other words, if you have to drive about two miles before your tires round out, then it is about ten below. You can forget about trying to take a cup of coffee to work on these mornings, because with the square tire effect you'll spill the whole thing before you get two blocks down the street.

"Thor the Wonder Dog" makes a pretty good thermometer too. When we let him in on these cold mornings, you can't smell him right away. It takes awhile for his unique aroma of "Ode' Dog and Straw" to thaw out. Again, I have a ratio worked out, and it's about a degree per minute. If he's been in the house ten minutes, and you still can't smell him, you know it's at least ten below.

The white, pink, blue syndrome works pretty well too. During these Michigan winters, most of us turn a ghostly white while indoors. When outdoors in temperatures from about forty down to zero, we turn rosy in the cheeks, or pink. When outside in temperatures below zero we turn blue. If you're out in temperatures below zero for too long, you'll start to turn white again. If this happens, you'd better find a warm place quick, because if that white ain't returning to normal, that's frostbite pal!

For averaging out how cold it has been over a month's time, there's no better way than referring to your heat bill. If it's bigger than your car payment, it was below zero at least ten days during the month. If it's bigger than your paycheck, and your grocery bill together, it was below zero twenty days out of the month. And, if it's bigger than your house payment, and your post-Christmas Master Charge bill, it was below zero the whole month.

Now that you know how to tell how cold it is, maybe you'd be interested to know that it was eighty degrees in Key West yesterday. It's exactly 1,650 miles, and let me know if you need a navigator.

Doing MORE... With LESS! THE MOTHER EARTH NEWS ORGANIZING YOUR LIFE TO REDUCE STRESS Eliminating the unhealthy stress caused by an overly complicated life is frequently just a matter of exercising common sense and practicing a few simple techniques. If you feel that you could benefit from a bit more order in your day-to-day existence, make a firm commitment to put your hurried past behind you... and use the following tips to guide you toward better organization and less stress. Keep a planning notebook. By maintaining a cumulative master list of jobs that need doing, problems to be solved, and goals you'd someday like to reach, you'll find yourself focusing on achieving your aims rather than simply on trying to remember what they are. Maintain a daily "to do" list. Each day, as things come to mind, compose a list of tasks to do tomorrow. The next morning, put numbers beside the different jobs to rank them in order of importance. As you go through your day, try not to give in to the temptation to skip over high-priority tasks to do less important ones. Stick to your original ratings and attempt to cross out all the entries by the end of the day. Establish lifetime objectives. Ask yourself, "How would I like to spend the next five, ten, or fifteen years? If I knew I were going to die in six months, what would I want to do between now and then?" Once you've given the matter some thought, you should be able to come up with a list of very specific lifetime objectives. Write them down in your planning notebook, and review them from time to time... just to keep yourself "on track". Use an appointment calendar... and schedule time for self-care. A daybook can help you remember meetings, bill payments, and such. Be sure, too, to allow time for relaxing, reading, exercising, or whatever, and for simply being with your family and friends. Also try to structure breaks for yourself during working hours. Do your best to quit working at a fixed time each day, too. Establish a regular planning time. Once a day, sit down and review your cumulative list of tasks and complete your "to-do-tomorrow" roster. Once a week or so, you'll want to hold a long-range planning session. Examine how you use your days. If you keep a detailed time log—that is, if you write down precisely how you spend your minutes and hours—over a period of three days, you'll probably be surprised at the results. Most people find that they spend only one-third to one-half as much time on productive projects as they thought. Don't let "impossible" situations intimidate you. There's simply no such thing as a problem so complex that it can't be solved. The secret is to break big problems down into smaller, more manageable units... and then tackle one component at a time. Learn to unload unnecessary tasks and to say no. Chances are you're being robbed of at least some time every day by doing things that you don't need to do or that you're making more work of than necessary. When you do undertake a task, try your best to complete it, and finally, teach yourself to say no to people who ask you to do things you don't want or need to do. Don't hesitate to ask for help. You're not alone in this world. When you're up to your ears in work, there's no reason why you shouldn't request a little assistance. ## SUPER BOWL SUPER STARS

Washington Redskins' running back John Riggins set four records in Super Bowl XVII: most rushing attempts, 38; most yards rushing, 166; the longest touchdown run from scrimmage, 43 yards; and most combined attempts—38 rushes, 1 reception.

Miami Dolphins' Fulton Walker set five records in Super Bowl XVII in a losing cause: most yards, kickoff returns, 190; longest kickoff return, 98 yards; highest average, kickoff returns, 47.5 yards; most touchdowns, kickoff returns, 1; and most combined yards, 190.

As a result of rushing 166 yards in Super Bowl XVII, Washington's John Riggins became the first player in NFL history to rush for 100 or more yards in four consecutive post-season games.

According to Figgie International's Rawlings Sporting Goods Company, Washington (Super Bowl XVII) and Oakland (Super Bowl XI) are the only teams to amass 400 or more yards on offense in a Super Bowl game.

ROUTE OF THE 1984 OLYMPIC TORCH RELAY

In short, the 1984 Olympic Torch Relay is the longest run ever. It will cover 20,000 kilometers—nearly 13,000 miles—and pass through all 50 states and the District of Columbia. The event, sponsored by AT&T Communications, begins on May 8, 1984 and ends 81 days later at the Los Angeles Memorial Coliseum.

Any individual, group, corporation or organization making a tax-deductible commitment of $3,000 can designate a torchbearer for one of the 10,000 "Youth Legacy Kilometers" available to the public. Proceeds will go to Boys Clubs of America, Girls Clubs of America and Family "Y's".

A free brochure describing how you or your organization can participate in the relay is available by contacting your local youth club or by writing to: The Torch Relay Foundation, Los Angeles Olympic Organizing Committee, Los Angeles, CA 90084, or by phoning (213) 60-TORCH.

Write addresses carefully to avoid broken hearts

If you want your valentines to be delivered on target and on time, you can help the Postal Service by addressing them properly. Postmaster Charlie Doyle said today, "A return address should be the first address a person puts on an envelope," he said. "If there is a delivery problem, it will allow us to return the letter, card or parcel to the sender." Both the return address and mailing address should contain complete address information. This includes all of the following elements that apply:

- Full name of recipient.
- Apartment mailbox number or apartment number
- Street name and number
- City, State and very important - ZIP code.

GARDEN CORNER

The changing seasons don't halt the flow of lawn and garden questions. Extension specialists at Michigan State University answer timely queries on house plants, vegetable gardening, fruit growing, landscape plants and other topics:

Q. I must have brought in a bunch of insects when I brought my house plants inside. Both the plants that were outside for the summer and some that never left the house are now more or less covered with aphids. There are some mealybugs, too. What can I do to stop the pest population explosion?

A. Chemical insecticides—such as pyrethrin or malathion—are one possibility. Be sure to read labels closely—some materials will damage ferns and other sensitive plants. Another possibility is insecticidal soaps. Insecticidal soaps are specially formulated to control pests. These soaps are biodegradable. That is, they break down quickly in the environment. And they are non-toxic to humans and many beneficial insects. Liquid dishwashing detergent and other household soaps are not interchangeable with insecticidal soaps. They may harm plants and even enhance insect problems.

Gladys represents not only the Lowell Women's Club but also Kent County Federation of Women's Clubs. Her term of office is for three years. It will end in May, 1986. The meetings are once each month.

Gladys said she would be studying the court system and attending trials and hearings under the direction of the four Juvenile Court Judges and the other professional workers. This would include delinquency, neglect and abuse adoptions.

Gladys said she considers this a great opportunity to serve and is sure she will be able to bring some interesting reports back to the club.

Gladys said any concerns any one may have which is covered by the Juvenile Court can be referred to the Citizens Advisory Council.

Flat River Snowmobile Club News

January 15, 1984 the regular meeting of the Flat River Snowmobile Club was called to order by President Brad Potter, with all officers present. Topping our list of priorities, is cleaning and brushing our trails.

Ed Marshall, Chairman and committee are urging that every able bodied man, woman and child meet at the Club House at 9:30 next week-end, January 21 and 22 to help on this project. Bring machines, brush cutting tools, chain saws, sleigh for pulling equipment, etc. There will be hot food and coffee waiting back at the club house. February 11 is the date tentatively set to host the Kent county Road Commissioners for an outing of snowmobiling and hot lunch. Hopefully the new groomer is to be there on display. More details on this at a later date. We are wishing a speedy recovery to Sgt. Montgomery of Kent County Sheriff's Department, Safety Instructor for Snowmobile Classes, for Kent County and the DNR. Also to Kemo Sabe - Quack - Quack. Jane Anible recover quickly from your operation on your hand. A special Hi to our Newaygo Members, Junigr and Mary Jane Duluth, hope to see you soon. The drawings this week were won by Gerry Bryant, new member and George Scheck, sharing the 50-50 drawing. Sue Bradford, the mystery gift and Craig Fonger the childrens drawing. After the meeting many were out snowmobiling, while some ected to stay in the Clubhouse and played cards, where it was warm.

Note: This club is a family affair with activities for youngsters and oldsters alike. Guests always welcome. We hold our meetings every 3rd Sunday of each month. Pot luck dinner at 12:30.

SNOWMOBILE FACTS:
A snowmobile and rider exert dramatically less pressure on the earth surface than other recreation activities. A Hiker, for example, exerts 10 times as much pressure on the ground than a snowmobile does. Given adequate snowfall and RESPONSIBLE OPERATION, all evidence of snowmobile operation disappears from the environment when the snow melts. (Source ISIA Snowmobiling Factbook).

'OUTDOORS' with Jack Friesner

Recently a health hazard report was issued by the Indiana Dept. of Public Health. It was much the same as several previously issued by Michigan, Illinois, Wisconsin, Ohio, New York, and Pennsylvania. Concerning Fish from Great Lakes waters. In essence the report warned that fish from Lake Michigan waters should not be consumed by children or women of child bearing age. How idiotic can such a statement be? If, in fact, these fish contain chemical contamination to the extent that any portion of the population could be affected, I am certain that they are not fit for human consumption.

Several years ago Lake Erie had become so contaminated that persons were warned not to eat any fish from that major lake, in fact it got so bad that nearly all fish died. After a massive clean up effort was completed by Ohio, Michigan, Pennsylvania, New York and Ontario, the lake once again purged itself and after heavy plantings, came back as an outstanding walleye, smallmouth and perch fishery. The sad part of this success story is that after the waters were cleaned up and the fishery was re-established, everyone seemed to slack off on their efforts to enforce pollution laws and at this time the lake is once again dying. The natural spawning is failing and many fish taken have cancerous growths.

The Great Lakes waters contain some eight hundred known compounded chemicals. Most of which have been proven to be detrimental to human health and welfare. It is a known and accepted fact that certain species of fish from these waters contain levels of chemical contamination of unacceptable levels for consumption. What about the dozens, perhaps hundreds of cities and villages who utilize these waters as their primary water supplies? They are directly consuming these same contaminants, in all the waters they utilize. I know; the argument is that most of these chemicals are neutralized by the addition of other compounded chemicals. Let me assure you that this is true, however, many of these additive chemicals are also suspect as health jeopardizing elements. Just how safe are the waters we consume?

This earth's oceans seem endless and capable of supplying a bountiful harvest of seafoods through eternity. Not so; due, primarily to chemical contaminations our entire marine environment is in serious trouble. Thousands of once bountiful coastal areas through the world are now vast aquatic deserts capable of sustaining nearly no marine life. These once fertile, relatively shallow, inshore areas are where most aquatic creatures spawn and feed. Without these coastal shallows the entire oceanic ecology and the life cycle of all marine life is seriously jeopardized.

It is also factual that within the United States, approximately forty percent of all large metropolitan city water supplies are unfit for human consumption. Sound incredible? It's a fact. The reason that persons living within these areas have not been warned is strictly economical. These cities simply do not have the funds to clean up the water supplies, so instead of causing a panic, they say nothing. If you were to take water samples from these areas and have them analyzed by the Dept. of Public Health, and report to them that the sample was from your well; they would condemn your well.

As I have stated before, if we cannot jar enough people into understanding the facts of survival, life upon this planet is going to be seriously jeopardized within a very few centuries. I am willing to predict that wintin one hundred years, drinking water will be more expensive than gasoline through the world. The time we should have acted to clean up the environment is far past.

PET OWNERS NOTICE

Due to the extreme cold this winter, owners of pets that are housed outdoors should take special care that their pets are properly protected from the elements. John Erickson, Animal Control Officer for the City of Lowell, on two occasions has had to pick up frozen dogs this year.

You should insulate your dog house or at least insure that the house has plenty of straw for the animal to keep warm. Further, any drafts should be covered with a canvas or something that would keep the draft from coming through the doorway. Always insure that the pet has some type of shelter to protect itself. Do not leave them out in the cold.

Remember if you are cold and have to turn the heat up, so is your pet. Not only is this the humane thing to do, it is also state law. Anyone in violation could be charged.

Thank you for your cooperation.

Respectfully,
John K. Erickson

William J. Nowak memorial fund is established

On January 2, 1984 a special committee of Scouters, past and present, met to finalize the by-laws that will govern the William J. Nowak Memorial Fund that has been set up at the State Savings Bank of Lowell.

As Boy Scout Troop 102 of Lowell began to grow under the leadership of William "Mr. Bill" Nowak the character and style of this man touched many citizens of Lowell, young and old alike. As Mr. Bill demonstrated throughout his years of working with boys in scouting, "if you like it, get involved". This type of commitment is the intention of the Memorial fund that has been established. Its one and only function will be to regularly contribute to the scouting activities within the structure of Troop 102 of Lowell.

Mr. Bill once related a feeling of purpose that became a meaningful part of his life. He confided that his two highlights in scouting always involved the new kid on this first campout that proudly presented him with a cup of scorched cocoa or a sandy piece of chicken (probably the first thing he ever cooked) but you knew he tried his best. His other highlight was after the scout had left the troop, when a young man, whom Bill might not recognize, would come up to him and introduce himself and tell Bill how much scouting had meant to him.

It is this type of purpose that was considered with the establishment of a lasting tribute to "Mr. Bill" in recognition of his many years of personal dedication to the Boy Scout Program in the Lowell area.

Boy Scout Troop 102 continued to grow in size and accomplishments under the leadership of Mr. Bill over the years. The many Eagle Scout achievements that were attained under Mr. Bill's guidance were the personal accomplishments of the boys that Bill was very proud of. Bill felt such potential was within each boy that joined the troop, given the opportunity and the adult leadership that scouting has to offer.

William Nowak being presented the highest Scouting Award that can be achieved by an adult volunteer is scouting in 1970, the Silver Beaver Award.

Mr. Bill knew these boys yearned to be a part of something and he felt a real sense of accomplishment when they began to contribute something of themselves to the troop and their fellow scouters.

With the establishment of this fund in Mr. Bill's memory, it represents Bill's ongoing commitment to the youth of Lowell. It gives purpose to those things meaningful in a young boys experience within the structure of scouting. It establishes the resolve of continuing support to the goals and objectives of Boy Scout Troop 102 of Lowell.

Contributions are requested at this time so as to build a sufficient reserve of funds allowing withdrawal requests to come only from the interest incurred. If the monies contributed at this time can establish that cash reserve, the fund will have accomplished the goal for which it was established.

Please send your tax deductible contributions to:

GARDEN CORNER

The changing seasons don't halt the flow of lawn and garden questions. Extension specialists at Michigan State University answer timely queries on house plants, vegetable gardening, fruit growing, landscape plants and other topics.

Q: Is there still time to divide and transplant peonies?

A: To give the plants a chance to reestablish roots before winter, dig and divide or plant new peonies by mid-October.

IT WAS THEN MOVED by Councilman Collins that the Bills and Accounts Payable be allowed and warrants issued, supported by Councilman Fonger.

Yes: Councilmen Schneider, Thompson, Collins, Fonger and Maatman.
No: None.

Absent: None.

BILLS AND ACCOUNTS PAYABLE TOTALS
General Fund	$18,638.26
Sewer Fund	2,952.98
Water Fund	549.07
Equipment Fund	$8,343.06
Current Tax Fund	54,607.40

Manager Quada then stated that bids had been taken in November for a front-end loader to replace the one that was destroyed by the fire in the Foreman Building in early Fall. He explained that this was the first time he has ever seen that all the bids met the specifications, making the selection difficult. Field demonstrations were arranged by the two lowest bidders, after which Manager Quada was able to make the recommendation on the bid of Miller Equipment on a Case W20-C, with a one year warranty, two years or 1,000 miles on the engine.

The following resolution was offered by Councilman Schneider for adoption, supported by Councilman Collins.

WHEREAS, the City of Lowell desires to purchase a Front-end Loader; and

WHEREAS, the City of Lowell sought and received the following bids:

Miller Equipment	$48,000
Northern Equipment	47,485
Northern Equipment	46,865
Wolverine Tractor	52,221
Contractor Machinery	50,530
Telford/Doolen	53,102
Telford/Doolen	74,198
AIS Construction	53,840
AIS Construction	52,850
Michigan Tractor	52,632

NOW THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the Lowell City Council does hereby accept the bid submitted by Miller Equipment Company and waives the low bid requirement; and further resolves that the City Manager is hereby authorized to expend $48,000 from the Equipment Fund for purchase of a front-end loader.

Carried.

Manager Quada reported that he had met with Mr. Don Fizer of Michigan Wire Processing Company on Mr. Fizer's request to purchase the Recreation Park ball diamond property.

He explained that the Charter, the decision, even to place any City-owned park property up for sale must be made by a vote of the community. Mr. Fizer has requested that such an election be held, that he will pay the election costs, which is allowable.

A lengthy discussion followed on getting plans for a new ball diamond all worked out before the trading of any land, so that both sides know exactly what is expected.

IT WAS MOVED by Councilman Collins that the engineering be done limited to the ball diamond as submitted by the Parks and Recreation Commission to be placed on the newly acquired property, supported by Councilman Schneider.

Carried.

Under Citizen Input and Suggestion, Mr. Bruce Walter was present who has been maintaining the City's ice skating rink at Richards Park for the last several years.

He encouraged the Council to spend monies for a Winter recreation program, such as expanding the ice skating, to an indoor rink at the Foreman Building, Ernie Foreman's dream. The City also has access to existing property that could be used for skiing area, as it once was, on the East side of the City. He explained that if the City were to make these types of programs available to area children, growing competitive sports, such as the hockey program could be maintained through the schools, etc. His only wish was that if the City does adopt such a program, and he continues to work on the ice skating rink, he wants his salary doubled!

Manager Quada thanked Mr. Walter for his interest in the Winter recreation program, stating that the Community as a whole owes a vote of gratitude to him for all the work of maintaining the Richard Park rink, noting that he has been seen scraping, spraying, shoveling, etc. at 3:00 to 4:00 a.m. in the morning when the weather was right for freezing the surface.

A discussion followed on the size of the existing rink, the possibility of purchasing freezing equipment for the Foreman Building as had been talked about years ago. Mayor Maatman thanked Mr. Walter for his time, stating that it was a point well taken, not much thought has been given to any Winter recreation program, only Summer activities.

Under Remarks from the Audience, Mr. Jim Bricker of Miller Equipment Company thanked the City for accepting their bid on the front-end loader.

Councilman Schneider asked if it could be delivered the following day so that we could get rid of the snow on Main Street immediately!

However, it will be a matter of 30 to 45 days before the City can get delivery, hopefully Spring will be on its way in by then.

IT WAS THEN MOVED to adjourn at 9:07 P.M. by Councilman Collins.

Approved: January 16, 1984

James D. Maatman,
Mayor

Ray E. Quada,
City Clerk

Can you tell the forest from the trees

Forest currently covers 53% of Michigan's land area, with commercial forests comprising all but one percent of these acres. About half of this forest land is located in Upper Peninsula, 37% in the northern Lower Peninsula and 15% in the southern Lower Peninsula. Commercial forest land in Michigan has been decreasing since 1962. An estimated 44,000 acres will be converted to other uses each year until at least the year 2000. The decline in forest land is closely related to population growth which has resulted in increased acreage needed for highway, powerline, industrial, civic, residential and other developments. The northern Lower Peninsula is particularly affected because it is 50% commercially forested and its population has been increasing at a rate two and one half times the national average. The Office of Land Use of the Michigan Department of Natural Resources, stated in a 1974 study of Michigan's future that, "Michigan's intensive and consumptive use of land can be expected to escalate dramatically in the next 27 years."
Forests provide many indispensable services. They help maintain the quality, quantity and temperature of the water in Michigan's 38,250 miles of rivers and streams. They release large amounts of oxygen into the atmosphere; they protect soils from the adverse effects of compaction and erosion. Along with these benefits, Michigan's deep green forests provide a unique habitat for an abundance of wildlife. Forests, wetlands, and agricultural lands also serve us by collecting massive amounts of solar energy and transforming it into lumber and crops, for example. If soils are carefully protected, these lands can collect solar energy indefinitely.
Most of Michigan's 7 million acres of public recreation land is forested and provides excellent opportunities for camping, hiking, canoeing, cross-country skiing, hunting, fishing, bird watching, and other sporting activities. But forests are also indispensable because of the subtle environmental services they provide. Even modern-day amusement parks can't compete with the cool serenity of Michigan's forests. Lofty trees towering towards a prismatic blue sky is one of the most rewarding aspects of Michigan's landscape. The pleasures of escaping into the woods are immeasurable.
Trees are one of mankind's most versatile and vital resources. As the world's supply of nonrenewable resources - like petroleum - become more and more expensive, renewable forests increase in importance as an industrial and home resource.

Downs Agency opens office here

After fifteen years of providing complete, efficient and personal insurance and real estate service out of the Downs Agency in Saranac, owner DeWayne Downs has decided to expand by opening an office here in Lowell. Along with DeWayne's wife Jennie and his son David, the Downs family has more than thirty years of insurance and real estate experience to their credit. Boasting a complete range of insurance for home, auto, life, health and casualty, the Downs Agency offers protection for the smallest family up to large farms and businesses. Among the lines of insurance written by the Downs Agency are; Auto Owners, Century Mutual, Indiana Insurance Group, Ohio Casualty Group and Southern Michigan Mutual.

DeWayne has been in the insurance business for more than twenty years, starting in the Ithaca area specializing in farm estate planning packages. He later moved on to take a position with the Carr Agency in Ionia eventually purchasing their branch office in Saranac, renaming it the Downs Agency. DeWayne has been very active in community affairs over the years; he served on the Saranac Village Council, is a past president of both the Ithaca and Ionia Jaycees. He is also a member of Kiwanis, Lions and Sons of the American Legion.

Dave has worked with his father for ten years and has completed insurance courses at both Ferris State College and Oberlin College. Also active in community affairs, Dave is a past president of the Saranac Jaycees, serves on the Saranac Library Board and Saranac Planning Commission.

Jennie has been office manager at the Downs Agency for four years, and will bring her knowledge and experience to the Lowell office on a full time basis, while DeWayne and Dave will work out of both offices.

For fun, Dave is a commercial hot air balloon pilot, while DeWayne and Jennie are enthusiastic observers, and sometimes chasers.

The Lowell office of the Downs Agency is located in the Crystal Flash Mall at 1004 W. Main St. Office hours are 9-5 Monday, Tuesday and Friday, 9 - noon Wednesday and Saturday and 9-6 Thursdays for the convenience of those who can't make it in before 5:00. The phone number for the Lowell office is 897-7676 and the foreign exchange number for the Saranac office (no long distance charges) is 897-7052.

DeWayne, Jennie and David Downs look forward to serving the community with a wide range of insurance.

Seminar for children of divorce

As many of us are painfully aware, Kent County has one of the highest divorce rates in the United States. Often times, for the family and children involved, a divorce causes great hardship and personal stress for the members of that family.

Research indicates that the age group that is probably the hardest hit is the fourth through sixth grader. This is why we are offering a special discussion group, "Children of Divorce" for this age group.

This discussion and growth group is for the fourth through sixth grader whose parents are going through or have recently been divorced. The group leader is Mr. Steve Wessels, a master's level school counselor with the Jenison School System and a therapist in private practice. Mr.

Wessels has run a number of these groups in the Jenison area. While this group is sponsored by our church, you need not be a member of our Church. The group's focus is on how to handle the pain and changes caused by divorce, not religion. The group will help the participants learn to recognize, identify and deal with the feelings they have about divorce in a positive manner.

MS Read-a-thon to get underway in Lowell Schools

The Multiple Sclerosis Society Read-a-thon begins this week in the Lowell Area Schools.

The MS read-a-thon is a unique educational program developed by the National Multiple Sclerosis Society in 1974. This is the sixth year the program will be used in Michigan.

The Read-a-thon has proven successful in thousands of schools across the United States. It serves as a strong motivational tool to stimulate children between the ages of five and 18 to read books of their own choice and for their own enjoyment and at the same time help fight MS. The program also teaches the value of community service and helping others.

Each participant collects a list of sponsors who make pledges which are used to help scientists and doctors find the cause, cure, and treatment for MS.

Often referred to as the Mysterious Crippler, MS is a chronic, often disabling disease of the central nervous system. MS usually strikes in the prime of life, (70% of the victims are between the ages of 20 and 40). The frequency of MS is greater among women than men, and is five to ten times higher in the northern United States than in the southern States. Michigan has the highest incidence of MS in the United States. There are more than 11,000 MS patients in our State.

The banana does not grow on a tree. It grows on an herb—the largest known of all plants without a woody stem or solid trunk.

Tip-Up Town this weekend

Cabin fever, winter doldrums, the blahs...whatever you call them, they don't stand a chance against the unrestrained clowning that reigns supreme at Tip-Up Town, U.S.A. scheduled for the weekends of January 21-22 and 28-29. Tip-Up town originated in 1951 as a festive gathering of the thousands of ice fishermen who flocked to Houghton Lake, Michigan, every winter and has grown into one of the most popular festivals of any kind in the country.

The buffoonery includes such events as the "Brothers of the Brush" Beard Contest, pie-eating contest for all ages, and a softball-on-ice tournament in which sliding into a base is not only allowed, but largely unavoidable. A similarly slippery tug-of-war matches teams of volunteers representing neighboring states against the host Michigan team. For snowmobilers, there are torchlight parades on the ice both Friday nights as well as poker runs, safaris, and drag races. Beyond that, you can expect just about anything...the Grand Parade, a marathon run, sky-diving exhibitions, lumberjack competition, sleigh rides, and plenty of other continuous activities and events for all ages. Fishing is still the name of the game at Houghton Lake, though, and there are numerous contests for all anglers with prizes awarded for the longest, heaviest, and mostest bass, pike, walleye, bluegill, etc. "Tip-Up Town" takes its name from those traditional ice-fishing contrivances whose little red flags "tip-up" to herald the demise of a fish who would have done better to ignore the baited hook dangling below it.

The madness is presided over by the Tip-Up Town Mayor whose sole qualification for office is the ability to orate longer, more loudly, and with more questionable commitment to the truth than his opponents. The Tip-Up Town citizens also elect a Town Marshall, a person with the courage to look danger straight in the eye...and promptly faint. Nonetheless, the Marshall is steadfastly dedicated to the apprehension of anyone suspected of taking the goings-on seriously.

Tip-Up Town, U.S.A. is only one of the many excellent reasons to get outside and enjoy yourself in Michigan this winter. For more information about Michigan's winter festivals, skiing, fishing, snowmobiling, and other entertainment, indoors and out, write the Michigan Travel Bureau, P.O. Box 30226, Lansing, Michigan 48909.

Multiple sclerosis is often confused with muscular dystrophy. Actually the two diseases are very different. Multiple sclerosis, or MS, usually strikes those from 15 to 50. Most often it strikes those who are in their prime of life—their 20's or 30's. It is a disease of the central nervous system. Muscular dystrophy is most common among children and is a disease of the muscles.
