Usually we do not appreciate having others follow us every where and copy everything we do. However, there are times when we appreciate the close asociation of others. If we are traveling in strange and precarious places, it is a comfortable feeling to have a reliable guide close by. If we are going through lonely territory, it is a blessing to have companionship. The Lord is One who sticketh closer than a brother, but His companionship is never troublesome. He is a helper in time of need. When we must travel through unknown territory, He is our guide. He is a comfort in time of loneliness and sorrow. We need only to trust Him, for "He will not leave us alone."

Did you see the piece on television a few weeks ago about a WWI survivor's club? Years ago 40 WWI veterans in the Philedephia area formed a club that met every year to remember the war days, and as the years took their toll they would eulogize and otherwise honor their deceased comrades. This year when they met there were only two left. The group has a bottle of French cognac that they have kept all these years, and when there is only one of the forty left he is supposed to open the bottle and toast all he departed buddies. One of the two old guys joked that he would have to die before the other because he didn't drink. It was a really touching story to say the least.

About the same time I saw that story on TV the headline on The Times-Enterprise announced that they were folding. The Times-Enterprise was a weekly newspaper that was comprised of the Old Edmore Times and the Lakeview Enterprise. The two papers had been purchased by the Greenville Daily News, and had been combined in an effort to make them profitable. It didn't work, and the Daily News publisher made the painful decision to shut them down.

Word of the closing of The Times-Enterprise came only about a month after the Lade Odessa Wave folded. Like the Times-Enterprise, the Wave had been purchased by a daily, The Ionia Sentinel-Standard, some time ago. Even with the backing of a larger owner, it just wasn't profitable.

With these closings it dawned on me that there have been a lot of little weeklies go by the wayside in the past few years. I started counting on my trusty fingers, and in the eight years that I've owned the Ledger I've seen eight other small town weeklies fold. I came up with The Lakeview Enterprise, the Edmore Times, The Lake Odessa Wave, The Howard City Record, The Rockford Register, The Cedar Springs Clipper, The Belding Banner News, and the Wyoming News Advocate. These were all good old weekly newspapers, many of which were established over 100 years ago.

The Ledger exchanged papers with most of those listed above, and every Friday I'd have a big stack of papers that I could go through looking for ideas for ads, features and formats. Now we get two; the Wayland Globe and the Carson City Gazette. That doesn't mean that we're all that are left. I can think of other weeklies in Hastings, Middleville and I think Caledonia still has a paper. Even the tiny communities of Clarksville and Freeport have weekly papers. No, we're not extinct, but it's probably safe to say that small town weeklies are on the endangered species list.

No, the Ledger isn't in danger of collapse. In fact, we're doing quite well . . . which unfortunately means that I have to continue to come up with something to fill this space each week. Next week I'll try to get things back into a humorous vein, but I felt that I should at least acknowledge some of the Ledger's departed comrades. Pass the cognac please.

Greetings. Beginning next week, in this space, we will be presenting a new column for the Grand Valley Ledger entitled Health. The column will be authored by both of us but we hope that you will help by sending us your questions, thoughts or interesting anecdotes relating to medicine. In the column, we hope to cover various topics of interest relating to health, illness, exercise, injury, diet, surgery, drugs . . . you name it. We will try to answer your questions in the paper, depending on volume and general reader interest. We feel it is important to keep you informed of major recent changes in the field of medicine which may effect your life, Send your inquiries to our office at 147 N. Center St., Lowell, MI 49331.

For those of you who have not met us yet, we have been in practice as family physicians in Lowell since August, 1980. We both graduated from Aquinas College with the Bachelor of Science degree and Michigan State University College of Osteopathic Medicine as Doctors of Osteopathy. This brings up an interesting point of information . . . many patients have asked "What is a D.O. and what's the difference between a D.O. and an M.D.?"

The D.O. is a fully licensed and certified physician, as is the M.D. Both require completion of four or more years of medical school followed by clinical training as interns or residents. The number of years in residency training depend on the specialty desired. Both D.O.'s and M.D.'s have specialists in all fields from pediatrics to cardiovascular surgery. In medical school, basic science courses are essentially the same, with the D.O. obtaining additional instruction in manipulation of the spine. This is the main difference. Both D.O.'s and M.D.'s, depending on specialty, practice all aspects of medicine such as delivering babies, setting fractures, performing surgery, writing prescriptions, etc. But generally, only D.O.'s are fully licensed physicians that also perform manipula-

We are looking forward to hearing from you and to writing this column. As family physicians, we feel that we can define and uncomplicate confusing medical terms or topics and answer your questions in easily understandable language. Dr. Jim Lang Dr. Paul Gauthier

We welcome any questions and/or comments you may have regarding our weekly column. Please send them to our office at 147 N. Center St., Lowell Michigan 49331.

VICTOR C. KRAUSE STATE REPRESENTATIVE NINETIETH DISTRIC

Being a fiscally conservative legislator who thinks taxes are too high and government to too big, I've found myself in an interesting position lately objecting to the Michigan Department of Transportation's hasty decision to discontinue subsidizing Michigan Northern's rail service from Comstock Park to Reed

MDOT's decision on March 28th was a total surprise to me and many area businessmen. As recently as August 22, 1983 rail shippers and users were informed by MDOT that "the state will take all necessary steps to ensure that services over the leased lines are not interrupted". It's customary for a state department to conduct public hearings when considering a policy change that would affect Michigan citizens, and MDOT did not do that in this case. Their decisions were arbitrarily based on analysis of declining traffic and high maintenance costs.

Senator Robert Welborn (R-Kalamazoo) and I have supported rail shippers and users attempts to have MDOT postpone abandonment until September 30th, but so far we've been unsuccessful. Many questions regarding MDOT's decision remain unanswered. Why wasn't the loss of rail excursion tourist dollars considered? Why didn't MDOT ask shippers to enter into long contracts guaranteeing usage? Why buy a railroad then abandon it? What is the projected loss of local and state tax revenues? How will MDOT use the $250,000 subsidy? To finance people movers in Detroit?

I don't like subsidies, but in this case they may be economically feasible. I don't know if they are or not, and I don't think anyone else, MDOT, users, and shippers and taxpayers will know either, until we
