Root Lowell donates to Honey Creek

It was something akin to 'Christmas in July" last Thursday at Honey Creek Christian Homes. Root Lowell Corporation located at 100 Foreman Road, Lowell donated a used company pick up truck loaded with their garden sprayer products to the home for underprivleged boys. The truck, a 1978 3/ 4 ton Ford pickup will be used as a maintenance vehicle on Honey Creek's sprawling campus at 11652 Grand River Avenue. The merchandise that came with it will be sold at auction during Honey Creek's annual Country Fair scheduled for Saturday, September 15.

Root Lowell President Dennis Cece said that he had become aware of Honey Creek and their worthwhile program very through his church, and other sources, and he is happy that Root Lowell was able to help their cause. Honey Creek houses about 45 boys in homes on their campus that provide strong family oriented environments that these boys don't have in their real homes. Honey Creek is also a licensed foster care facility that has about 60 more boys currently enrolled in homes other than those on campus.

Further information about the Country Fair will appear in future Ledgers, but businesses or individuals that would like to donate items for the auction should contact Honey Creek Christian Homes at 897-8457.

Terese and I attended a fund raiser party for State Representative Vic Krause Monday evening. The party was hosted by Don and Jean Rocheleau and was held aboard the Lowell Showboat. Over 100 people enjoyed bratwurst and excellent music provided by the "Muscat Ramblers" of Grand Rapids. All I can say is, "What a great place for a summer party!".

In typical Showboat tradition, the party began at about six o'clock under threatening skies. And sure enough, it rained on us before the evening was over. But the rain proved to be very little problem for this type of party, as the band, refreshments and party goers were easily moved to the shelter of the boat's bottom two decks. Insects didn't appear to be a problem, and we were all treated to a gorgeous sunset over the river with the swans gliding over the water along the far shore. As I said before "What a great place for a summer party!".

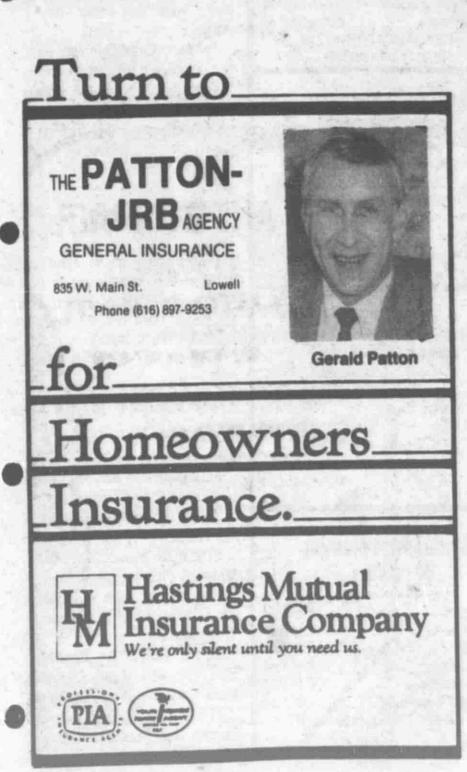

Most of those in attendance were from out of town, and were captivated by the picturesque setting. Those of us from Lowell spent a good share of the evening conducting informal tours of the boat. The visitors were totally impressed, despite the damage done by vandals, and the need of a fresh coat of paint. I think Showboat may have gained about 100 new supporters from this single party. I think any type of activity one the boat, or in the amphitheatre is good for Showboat, and I for one would like to see more of it.

People come to a party like this, have a good time, go away impressed and tell there friends. When Showboat finally gets up and running again (hopefully next year) people who have been here and learned a little of what Showboat is all about are very apt to come

So, if you're planning a party, be it an anniversary, birthday, wedding reception or whatever, why not consider the Showboat? I would guess that the boat could pretty easily accommodate 100 to 150 people if rain forced you under cover, and if the weather is nice, go ahead and invite thousands. There is a nominal charge for renting the boat, and arrangements must be made with the school system for the use of the rest rooms in the Riverside School. Information about renting the Showboat can be obtained at City Hall. Applications for using the school can be obtained at the superintendent's office in the Middle School.

If you should host, or just attend a function at the Showboat this summer, I would be willing to bet that you'll come away feeling as I did about seeing Showboat revived. And that is exactly what Showboat needs. . . people who want to see it churning down the river again each summer, and are willing to pitch in and make it happen.

NEW THERAPY FOR HERNIATED DISCS A relatively recent advance in the field of medicine has been the advent of chemonucleolysis, a technique whereby herniated discs in the back are treated via injection rather than surgery. In today's column we'll explain this new procedure to you, as well as highlight some of its advantages and disadvantages. Low back pain and "sciatica" are very common complaints in the office of any family doctor. It is estimated that about 50% of adults are at some time during their life at least temporarily incapacitated by low back and leg pain. Many times, protrusion, prolapse or herniation of an intervertebral disc is the cause of such pain. The "disc" is a shock absorber of sorts which lies between the bodies of our spinal vertebrae. Its function is to maintain adequate space between the veterbrae, thereby preventing any impingement on the spinal nerve roots as they leave the spinal cord. If through injury, the disc herniates or "slips", very frequently it will protrude, casuing pressure on a spinal nerve root. This pressure results in the characteristic low back and leg pain experienced by the patient with a herniated disc. For the majority of patients, relief is offered by the simple conservative measures of bed rest, heat, tractin, and manipulation, usually accompanied by the use of muscle relaxants and pain medicine. About 30% of patients, however, receive no benefit from conservative therapy, and a more aggressive approach is necessary. Until recently, this meant surgery, either a discectomy, laminectomy or spinal fusion. Now, however, chemonucleolysis (the injection of an enzyme directly into the herniated disc) is coming into its own as a valuable alternative to open surgical proedures. The injectable enzyme in use is papain, which happens to be an extract of the papaya Truit plant. Interestingly, this substance has been used for centuries areas of the total YMCA opera- service, with a chance to develop not only for wound healing, but also as a meat tenderizer! The enzyme works by chemically disolving any protruding disc fragments, thereby alleviating any nerve root impingement and hopefully reversing the symptoms of low back and leg pain.

Once the diagnosis of herniated disc is definitely made and the patient has been deemed a good candidate for disc injection, the procedure is carried out in the hospital operating room. The injection is given directly through the skin of the back and down into the area of the herniated disc. No incision is necessary. Recovery time in the hospital is usually two to three days, after which time the patient is discharged to convalesce at home. If the patient has not had favor-The ble results in four to six weeks time, the injection is considered to have failed, and surgery is then the only viable therapeutic alterna-

- Chemonucleolysis offers several advantages to the patient: 1) Greater safety and ease when compared with surgery
- 2) There is generally a shorter recovery time 3) It reduces time lost from work

4) Economically speaking, the total cost of treatment for disc injection is well less than half of that for surgery

The only distinct disadvantage to disc injection is the possibility of serious allergic reaction to the papain. Only 1.5% of all patients injected have had any serious reaction to the papain.

In summary, chemonucleolysis has become a valuable alternative to surgery in the management of herniated discs. It involves less risk, costs less, and reduces time lost from work. All this from a papaya fruit extract which up until several years ago was only used to soften our sirloin steaks!

Dr. James Reagan joins father's practice

Dr. James (Jim) E. Reagan has joined the dental practice established here by his father, Dr. Robert (Bob) Reagan in 1953. Jim received his D.D.S. Degree from the Marquette University School of Denistry this spring. Prior to that he received his Bachelor of Science Degree from the University of Michigan, an Associate's Degree from Grand Rapids Junior college and graduated from Lowell High School in 1976. Another sister, Jane Reagan is a trained Dental hygienist, but is currently working at an unrelated job for the State of Michigan.
