One injured in Hudson St. car/truck crash

Michael Lockwood, 23, of Ypsilanti escaped with only injuries when his vehicle was broadsided by a truck Friday. Lockwood was eastbound on Foreman St. at about 8:30 A.M. when he ran the stop sign at the Hudson Street intersection at an estimated 30-35 miles per hour. Officer Calvin Kamphuis of the Lowell Police Department was returning home from working the third shift and witnessed the accident.

When Lockwood entered the intersection a northbound flat bed truck loaded with empty apple crates had no chance to avoid a collision and hit Lockwood's compact car squarely on the passenger's side. The truck driver, Richard Elliott, 54, of St. Johns was uninjured. Lockwood was treated at the scene by Lowell Rescue personnel. He suffered facial lacerations and later sought his own treatment at a Lowell doctor's office.

The truck rolled on its side and came to rest just short of the front steps on Mary and Lydia Wingeier residence at 903 N. Hudson. The car came to rest near a tree on the south lawn of the Wingeier home. The apple crates on the truck were scattered across the Wingeier lawn and on into the next yard to the north. Lockwood was cited for "failure to stop".

City fire and rescue personnel remove crate debris from the Wingeier front lawn after the truck overturned just short of the front steps. The driver of the truck was not injured.

Alzheimer Disease suffer still missing

Last Thursday's disappearance of 76-year-old Angela Trotter still has area authorities baffled. Trotter suffers from Alzheimer's Disease, a disorder that causes deterioration of brain functions usually resulting in loss of memory, especially of recent events. She is a resident of Cumberland Manor and was last seen while attending a birthday party there at about 3:30 P.M. on Thursday.

Kent County Sheriff's Deputies, Lowell Police and other agencies combed the area following her disappearance. On Monday a Sheriff's Department tracking dog failed to turn up any new clues, and divers searched a pond adjacent to Cumberland Manor, but also found nothing. Sgt. Kenneth Kleinheksel of the Kent County Sheriff's Department says, "If she's still in the area, she's very well hidden." Kleinheksel urged residents in the area, especially those in the neighboring trailer park to, "look in and under anything and everything that could be a possible hiding place."

Though they haven't given up searching the immediate area, officials speculate that it is highly possible that Trotter was picked up by a passing motorist on the busy M-21 that passes by Cumberland Manor. If that is the case, then she could be miles away. Her son, Norman Trotter of Cascade Township said she may have headed for Toledo, her home until last October, and may even give her maiden name of Angela Keller. "Her memory is pretty bad," said Trotter, "She has reverted back to childhood on occasion. She may think she's in Toledo."

Law enforcement agencies throughout the area have been alerted to Trotter's disappearance. She was described as five feet tall, 145 pounds, brown eyes, gray and white hair wearing a tan jacket, blue pants and fuzzy bedroom slippers. Anyone with information about the case should contact the Kent County Sheriff's Department at 774-3113 or Silent Observer at 774-2345.

Look bequest has benefitted many

August 31 would be the 92nd birthday of the late Helen Look Daley. Her bequest to the City of Lowell and the Congregational Church of Lowell two years ago has been used to fund some worthy projects in the area. Daley left a sizeable portfolio of stocks and bonds to be divided evenly between the city and the church. When the portfolio was appraised at the time it was first turned over it was valued at nearly $1.5 million.

The City is not allowed to hold stock in private corporations, and was sold. In the months that it took to get the stocks physically transferred and the legalities of the will finalized, the city's half of the stocks were sold for over $800,000. The cash was then used to buy government National Mortgage Association Bonds (Ginny Maes), and the fund generates about $75,000 in interest annually. The money was used to form the Look Memorial Fund that is overseen by Dr. Orval McKay as specified by Daley in her will, Jim Maatman who is automatically a representative of the city as mayor, Barbara Brown, a city appointee, Phil Johnson representing the Congregational Church and Mary Ann Gwatkins, a fifth member appointed by the two city representatives. This committee meets the criteria set down in Daley's will.

Capitol Column

by Senator Dick Posthumus

During these balmy, warm days of summer, the last thing we want to think about is the blustery cold and snow that winter will inevitably bring. Yet, for many poor people who wintered by now, it is time to be concerned.

A $6 million program within the Department of Social Services had an annual target of upgrading and winterizing 5,500 dwellings. Although 687 houses have had energy audits, and 193 are finally ready for contractor bids, only six homes have been completed since April.

What has caused the delay? Initially, the entire process required 128 separate steps for each home, ranging from obtaining a signed client agreement and manually verifying the status of each mortgage and property tax account, to bidding contractors and running energy audits and before-and-after inspections.

Some streamlining has subsequently taken place, cutting out several of the required steps, but there is also a problem with contractors. Of the 52 licensed Detroit contractors involved, not one completed a job satisfactorily the first time. That was a factor that wasn't considered when the program was developed.

While some of the problems cropping up can be attributed to the beginning wrinkles of a new program, it seems like an awful waste of money and manpower. The program is funded mainly through federal grants, and unless those monies are used, they revert back to the federal government.

While the concept of reducing home heating costs (which the state would normally have to help pay anyway) through a winterization program is not outlandish, a completion rate of six houses out of a targeted 5,500 shows definite defects in the program. The Department of Social Services has said from the beginning that 1,500 homes per year is a much more realistic target. Perhaps changes should be made to ease the implementation of the plan, and/or new completion targets should be set. The state can only continue to lose under the present guidelines.

Well this is it folks. The kids are already back in school and the Labor Day weekend is just a couple of days off. I don't ever remember a summer flying by so quickly. Good gosh the Lions even begin regular season play Sunday, and it sounds like we're in for another typical Lions season with Coach Monte hemming and hawing about who to play at quarterback. Hopefully the weather will remain nice enough that I can continue to sail on Sundays, and not have to subject myself to the Lions for a few more weeks.

I am double-dreading fall and winter this year. I never look forward to the snow and cold, but this year is especially bad because the wife has about a dozen good sized redecorating projects already planned for me. I am not looking forward to six months of painting, wallpapering and chasing all over Grand Rapids in search of new furniture. It's amazing how much a house that is home to two kids, dogs and two adults (one of which my wife claims is just a big kid) can deteriorate over seven years. We've done some maintenance during those years, but for the most part I've been pretty crafty at avoiding the major projects.

For starters comes the complete redecorating of the kitchen and dinette area. Beginning at the top we're going to paint the ceiling and put in a new light fixture. Next comes all new wallpaper, which is going to be great fun working around all the cabinets and a bay window. There might be one spot in the whole project where I've got a straight shot from floor to ceiling, everywhere else will require special cutting. Then comes new floor covering, which hopefully won't involve me to a great extent. Frankly, we need a new dinette set, which will of course require that I be dragged through every furniture outlet within a forty mile radius. That should do it for the kitchen, unless we decide to install new counter tops. The old ones are cracked in a couple of places, and if I get my way they will stay, but from past experience I'd say we'll probably tackle that project too.

Next is a small half bath that is slated for new wallpaper and paint on the ceiling. With luck that might not be a huge project, but if you follow this column, you know how my luck is. If it wasn't for bad luck I wouldn't have any luck at all.

The inside of the garage has never been finished and painted. That's one of those cost cutters made back when we built this place seven years ago. This should be fun because it requires taping the seams and finishing the drywall, something I've never done before. I may be calling a professional before that's over with.

That's just a partial list. There are bedrooms to paint and wallpaper, the stairway and upstairs hall are starting to look a little tacky, the basement needs some work and I am still being needed to put shutters up, another cost cutting move made seven years ago.

Boy, am I ever looking forward to spring!

Views On Dental Health

FLUORIDE FACTS

Dental literature is replete with facts on the effectiveness of fluoride in preventing tooth decay. How does it work? Sugars in the mouth set up a favorable environment for the growth and development of germs. These germs produce acids that cause decay and leave behind deposits that injure the gums. One of the big defenses against this process is fluoride which builds up the resistance of teeth to these acids. It should be in your child's drinking water so it can be absorbed in his growing teeth; it should also be in your child's toothpaste, and applied regularly on this teeth by the family dentist.

Chicago (the first big city to fluoridate its water supply) reports that tooth decay has been cut in half among its school children, and credits fluoride for this improvement. As an added plus, Chicago parents are saving an estimated $20 million a year in dental bills.

In areas where the water is not fluoridated, children's teeth can be substantially protected against cavities by fluoride in drop or tablet form.

"Your neighborhood bank for 50 years."

Chaffee Planetarium will be closed from August 27 through mid-September

The Chaffee Planetarium sky theater will be closed for maintenance from August 27 through mid-September. It reopens on Thursday, September 20th with an all new sky show entitled "Countdown to Tomorrow - Our Past, Present and Future in Space." The program commemorates the first 25 years of the space age, and looks ahead to some of the exciting accomplishments which we can expect in the next 25 years. The show was entirely produced by the staff of the local Planetarium.

The program begins with people venturing out into their backyards to catch a glimpse of the first Russian Sputnik in 1957, and progresses through the "Space Race" of the early 60's, when it appeared that a Russian cosmonaut might be the first person to walk on the moon. A highlight of the program is a dramatic sequence simulating the flight of Apollo 8 around the moon, followed by a vivid recreation of the first moon landing, one of the most significant events in the history of mankind.

Some attention is also given to the deep space robots that have so drastically increased our scientific knowledge of other planets with simulated closeup views of Mars, Jupiter, Saturn and some of their satellites.

The second half of the program looks to the future, to a time when ordinary individuals such as scientists, engineers, and business people will make routine space shuttle flights to a large orbiting space station. Here, a multitude of activities are being carried out. Among these is the construction of a giant space craft capable of carrying a manned expedition to the planet Mars.

Visitors will learn how the exploitation of space resources and the mining of rich resources from the moon and nearby asteroids, might lead to the day when a giant self contained space city might be established.

It is an exciting look into a future of space exploration and exploitation that will be even more valuable to mankind than the first 25 years have been.

The Planetarium returns to its regular schedule of sky shows beginning September 20, with performances of "Countdown to Tomorrow" at 8 P.M. Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings. There will be afternoon shows Friday at 2:30, and Saturday and Sunday at 2:30 and 3:45. Other times for groups by appointment.

The popular sky show for young children, entitled "The Sky Tonight" will be offered on an expanded schedule, beginning September 22 and continuing through November 24. There will be two performances on Saturdays, the first at 11:30 A.M. and the second at 1:30 P.M. For this program only, preschool children will be admitted. Adults are urged to accompany young children.

Admission to the Planetarium is $2.00 for adults, and $1.50 for children through age 15 and senior citizens. This includes complimentary Museum admission daytimes. Call 456-3985 for further information.

HOMESPUN DEVOTIONS

by Pauline E. Spray

... be clothed with humility.
(1 Peter 5:5).

How long for vacation time to come! Won't it be wonderful just to move out of the house - leaving the daily toil behind? No dishes to wash for two whole weeks. No beds to make. No floors to clean. No windows to wash. What luxury to forsake responsibilities, to be foot loose and fancy free!

But after some time spent away from familiar surroundings, home begins to sound good to us again. It's funny, but we find we're as eager to get back to the daily grind as we were to leave it. Even the sensation of hands in the dishpan is a pleasant prospect. And it is actually fun to

To enjoy homelife is a great privilege. Nothing else takes its place. Nothing can compare with the freedom experienced within one's own home. But with privilege goes responsibility.

Christian living is also a privilege, and with it goes responsibility. The privileged must help bear the burdens of the weak. Godly living has for its true pattern the attitude of humble helpfulness toward the less fortunate. "Humility is a must."

Prayer: Heavenly Father, truly it is a privilege to belong to Thee, to be loved by Thee, and to serve Thee. Help me also to realize I have a responsibility to those about me. Make me helpful to one of Thy weak ones today. Amen.

I believe the first test of a truly great man is his humility.

DNR Reports...

FISHING INFORMATION:
Cold water close to shore in Lake Michigan has brought salmon in close to the pierheads at the various harbors, particularly at Grand Haven. Muskegon and Whitehall-Montague reports good catches of these cold water species being taken. Perch, on the other hand, have been very spotty. A hit and miss situation at best in recent days. Bluegills and other panfish are deep this time of year. When located, these species yield good catches on crickets and red worms. Fishing 20 feet or deeper is the key this time of year. Smallmouth bass catches have been good in the Grand River in Ionia County. Walleye catches in Kent County have been good also. Most inland streams are very low in level this year because of a lack of rain. They are difficult to fish for that reason. 1984 ELK HUNTING SEASON: The Natural Resources Commission approved the elk hunt proposal for December 11 through 16, 1984. License quota is 50.

-Elk hunt applications cards will be available around September 10 at license dealers for a $4 nonrefundable application fee. -An application guide and hunt area map will also be available at license dealers. -Applications must be submitted to the DNR by OCTOBER 15, 1984. -Drawing for elk licenses will be on or about November 1, 1984. -Successful applicants will be notified on or about November 10 by registered mail. -The $100 elk license fee must be submitted to the DNR within two weeks of notification of successful application. -Elk licenses will be available to successful applicants on December 10 at the mandatory training session in Gaylord.

The first major item of business was the removal from the table the request by King Milling Company to vacate S. Lafayette Street, right-of-way, south of Main Street, and Kent Street, west of S. Monroe Street.

Manager Quada stated the Planning Commission had reviewed the request at the direction of the City Council and recommended that the vacations not be granted, but rather that a mutual lease agreement of some sort be worked out, whereby King Milling Company can fence and use the rights-of-ways as part of their parking area for fleet trucks, for the same amount of time that the City can use the property where the Main Street Parking Lot is located.

Mr. King Doyle was present and stated that he felt that King Milling Company is being portrayed as the "Villain" in trying to take something away from the citizens of Lowell. He was born here, and will die here, and has always maintained civic pride for his community, and through the Milling Company.

For 100 years, the old mill stood on the lot where the parking lot is now located, over both rights-of-ways. When the parking lot was built, they were advised against giving the property away, but instead, allowing the City the use of the land. The only cost to the City is in the yearly property taxes, which at the present year, amount to about 80 cents per car, per month.

He also stated that the King Milling Company is very content to lease the property to the City, and again reiterated that the Company has no intentions to ever build on, or sell the property to someone else.

He then asked that if such a lease agreement was approved, if the following three points could be included:

1. The billboard at the rear of the parking lot, either take it down, or fix it, (maintaining something suitable, and current.)
2. Making a park-area, or historical site including the old turbines to be hauled out of Flat River. (Arts Council to be asked to participate in the design.)
3. That King Milling Company grant the right to the City to keep people off the Main Street Dam. (The area is dangerous, and is posted at the present time.)

Councilman Fonger stated that the billboard does not belong to the City, but belongs to the Chamber of Commerce, and he agreed that it is unsightly. He stated that he would like to see the billboard used for the High School football schedule in the Fall, and perhaps basketball season, etc. Changing with events of the City. The background would be worse if it was gone.

Mr. Doyle concurred that it was a good idea, and offered that King Milling Company would provide the paint to any non-profit group who would do the work, but does not want any advertisement for any private business.

IT WAS THEN MOVED by Councilman Schneider that the City Manager be authorized to negotiate with the King Milling Company, and enter into a mutual lease agreement for the use of the S. Lafayette Street right-of-way, and the Kent Street right-of-way, by King Milling Company, in return for the use of the Main Street Parking Lot property by the City of Lowell. Both parties to be bound by a thirty (30) day notice to quit, should either wish to terminate their use of either property, and subject to Council approval, supported by Councilman Fonger.

Carried.

Manager Quada then reported back to Council on the request, also by King Milling Company, for a truck access across the northeast corner of the City property on S. Broadway Street.

He explained that there are approximately 40 trucks which, because of their length, cannot make the turn into the dryer-silo complex without driving over the corner of the City's D.P.W. Garage property on S. Broadway Street. The D.P.W. building is 21 feet from the north property line, and approximately 20 feet is needed for the turning radius.

He suggested that King Milling Company build a retaining wall along a portion of the northeast corner of the City property, with a ramp that would give access to Milling trucks and City vehicles to both pieces of property, and continue the wall across the rear of the D.P.W. property on the east side, and pay for the filling in of that area on a level with the D.P.W. building. Also, a strip of land 20 feet wide from S. Hudson to S. Broadway, along the south property line of the D.P.W. property, would need to be filled in to compensate for the loss of property on the northeast corner. That way the City could continue with their plans for the construction of the enclosed equipment storage area by shifting the plan 20 feet south.

Mr. King Doyle stated that they could not possibly afford to fill in all that amount of property, as well as pay for a retaining wall, which he would be willing to do, and then be able to pay for the silo. They might as well not build, better to lose half a million bushels, than a million bushels.

A lengthy discussion followed on getting costs for the fill, and ingress and egress on S. Broadway versus S. Hudson Street for City vehicles.

Councilman Thompson suggested that the Manager check the cost of the fill for the original D.P.W. expansion plan, and the difference between that and what it will cost now with the proposed changes.

Mr. Doyle offered to pay $2,000 toward the retaining wall and fill, but felt that it was unfair for the City to expect them to pay for the entire project of filling in behind the D.P.W. Garage, when that is something that will have to be done anyway, as well as pay the additional cost of filling the 20 foot strip on the south of City's property.

It was agreed by Council and Mr. Doyle that Manager Quada be directed to get cost figures on the fill needed and the retaining wall and negotiate on splitting the difference as long as both parties will benefit, and report back at the next meeting.

Under Remarks from the Audience, Mr. Leonard Jackson stated that the Council Room needs a P.A. system, that it's like watching T.V. with no audio!

Under the Manager's Report, Manager Quada reminded Council that at the August 20 meeting there would be Public Hearings on requests for Certificates of Exemption under the tenets of Public Act 198 for both Metric Mfg. and King Milling Company. Bieri Bros. will begin tearing down the old Curtis building on W. Main, the Library building is undergoing a facelift with the chemical cleaning, and bronze-cased storm windows will be installed. He reminded everyone of the Primary Election the following day.

Manager Quada also noted that the B.O.C.A. code amendments must be adopted periodically to become a standard part of the City's Zoning Ordinance. They must be published in the newspaper according to the City Charter, with 45 days in which the public can petition for referendum.

IT WAS MOVED by Councilman Schneider that the current amendments to the B.O.C.A. Code be adopted, supported by Councilman Collins.

Carried.

Manager Quada announced that the Planning Commission will hold a Public Hearing on August 27 on the proposed zoning changes to bring it in conformance with the Zoning Code and Land Use Map, for the East side of the City.

Manager Quada also requested an executive session at the close of the regular meeting to discuss pending litigation.

Under Council Remarks, Councilman Thompson complimented the 4-H Fair Association for the running and clean-up of this year's Fair. Council concurred.

Councilman Collins stated that the water had seemed rather hard over the past several days and asked if there had been some problems at the treatment plant.

Manager Quada replied that there had been none, and that Councilman Collins' was the only complaint.

Councilman Fonger asked if the Bieri Bros. were finished with the grading at the West End Park yet. Manager Quada replied yes, they are through, and mowing has begun on the new grass at the Park, and a sprinkler system is the next thing needed.

IT WAS THEN MOVED by Councilman Schneider that the Council adjourn into an executive session at 8:55 P.M., supported by Councilman Collins.

Carried.

mittee members are working to establish a total for expenditure in 1984.

To date projects funded by the Look Memorial Fund include $3,000 to repair the King Memorial Pool, $1,000 for the Envelope of Life project sponsored here by the Grand Rapids Junior

League, $7,750 to re-roof and restore the soffit and fascia of the Lowell Library, $3,500 for 10 rescue alert monitors for the Lowell Rescue Squad, $2,950 for re-certification training of present Emergency Medical Technicians, $1,000 for a new pump at the King Memorial

Pool, $1,455 for two window air conditioners at the Lowell Library, $2,720 for 8 more Rescue Alert Monitors and as yet an undetermined amount for the further restoration of the Lowell Library. Small Look Memorial plaques have been purchased and will be placed at the site of Look funded projects.

A plaque which will be constantly updated with projects funded by the Look Memorial is on display in the lobby of city hall. Betty Coons is currently working to compile a history of the various trusts left to the city.

The Congregational Church has basically left their half of the estate in the original stocks and bonds. The portfolio was moved from the Arizona law office that was handling the estate to an Old Kent Bank Trust account. A committee comprised of several members of the church oversees the account and funds projects that they feel are appropriate.

To date the church has purchased the Howard Rittenger home which adjoins the church property to the west, given $25,000 in scholarships to area students and helped fund such projects as Access-6, Lowell Rescue, Grand Rapids Center for Ecumenism, the Salvation Army, the YMCA Domestic Crisis Center, Pilgrim Manor Retirement Home and the Lowell YMCA's Summer Day Camp program.

The bequest left to the people of Lowell has had, and will continue to have a sizeable impact on the area. To remember Helen Look Daley on her birthday may be a way to show our gratitude for her generosity.

WHERE'S THE BEEF?

Lippert Pharmacies once again purchased a prize bull from the Kent County 4-H Fair students which is annually given away to various charities.

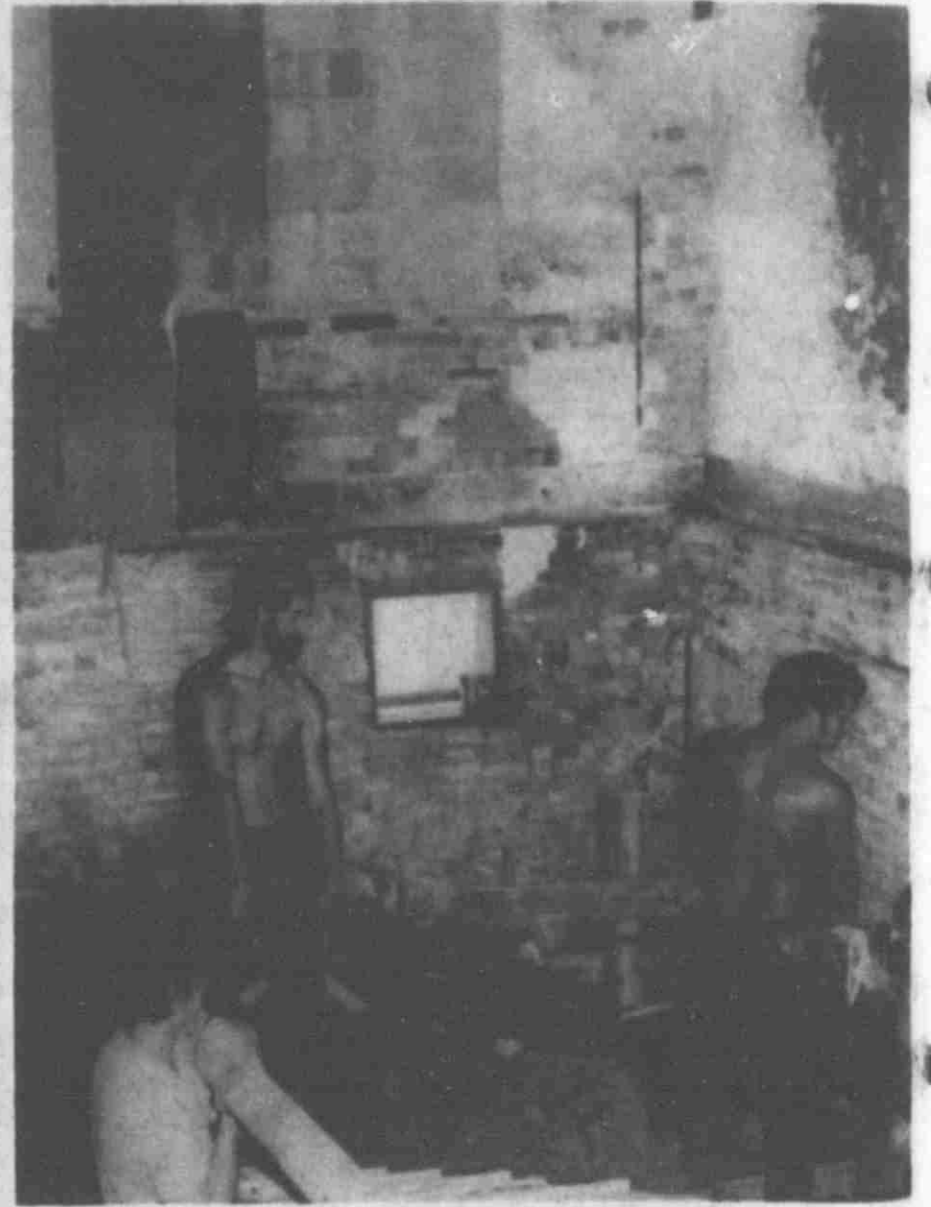

This year the recipient of the half-ton beauty is the Ionia County chapter of the American Cancer Society. They, in turn, auctioned off the bull and used the proceeds for their very worthy cause.

Kathy Peterson of Alto, Michigan was the student who nurtured this prime creature and then entered it in the competition at the Kent County 4-H Fair the last week in August.

100-year-old building being repaired

Workers are pouring new footings and walls under the back half of the Fischer Piano Shoppe at 101 E. Main. Owner, Hans Fischer removed the floor and joists in advance of the operation. When the walls are poured he intends to build a new floor over the back portion of his building, move all his piano repair equipment to the rear and tackle a similar restoration of the front of the building. The water level in the Flat River reservoir had to be lowered to allow the work to be completed.
