Two new businesses open on Main Street

Two new businesses have opened their doors on Lowell's Main Street in the past week. Hinkley's Drug Store opened at 219 E. Main Street on Friday.

The building was last occupied by Discount Enterprises. Extensive interior remodeling and new paint on the front of the building have converted it into a very attractive store. The new store's owner, Mike Hinkley, of Saranac said that they processed nearly 100 prescriptions on Friday. Hinkley compared that to the one prescription written on the first day his Portland store was open.

Hinkley will continue to operate his Saranac store while Joel Roudabush will manage the location here. Roudabush has been a pharmacist for over ten years and was the store manager of the Lowell Lippert Pharmacy. Roudabush remained with Rite Aid following their purchase of the Lippert chain, but left to assume his new position with Hinkley.

The new store is described by Hinkley as a "full service" pharmacy featuring computerized prescriptions, a 10% senior citizen discount plan and insurance co-pays. Michigan Bell and Consumers Power customers can pay their monthly bills there and photo processing and money orders are also available at Hinkley's. The drug store will also carry typical pharmacy items such as cosmetics, health and beauty aids, cards, gifts and magazines.

Carole's Critters opened Monday, and is Lowell's newest business. Carole Roderick is the owner of the new pet store at 206 E. Main Street. Carole's Critters is aptly named, as it will soon be bustling with fish, birds, dogs, cats and other creatures that qualify as pets. Carole's is now pretty well stocked with pet accessories, supplies and food. Most of the pets are yet to come, but as Roderick said, "there just seemed to be so much interest that we couldn't resist the temptation to open". Carole has a limited selection of parakeets and finches on hand at present, and she hopes to have all her fish, puppies and kittens available within the next two weeks.

Besides pets and supplies, the new store will offer tack and riding accessories on consignment from local horse enthusiasts. Also offered is a complete pet grooming salon. The salon is located in a corner of the store and is equipped with a large window so that customers can watch the process.

A pet lover herself, Carole has a total of twelve "critters" at home. The most prominent of which are "Oscar", a 170 pound male English mastiff and "Sidney" a large salmon crested cockatoo. "Sidney will be a regular attraction at the store, but Oscar is just too big and affectionate to have around as an official greeter", Carole said.

Both new stores are welcome additions to Lowell's central business district and are now part of a trend toward a revitalized downtown Lowell. These new businesses join several, such as Modern Mini-Lab and Carmera, Cousins' Card and Gift Shoppe and Curts Sound & Home Arcade Center, White Lace Fashions and others, as new businesses that have opened their doors here in the past six months.

"Y" kicks off fund drive

The Lowell YMCA will be kicking off its annual "Sustaining Membership" campaign on Friday, February 1. The "Y" is again using the theme "Invest In Youth". This year's goal is $11,000, which comprises about 7.5% of the Lowell Y's annual budget of $147,000. The remainder of the budget is funded by an endowment from Florence King, The United Way, The City of Lowell, fund raisers, memberships and program fees.

Projected expenses of operating this year's programs are up 6.5% according to Lowell Y Director Jim Hodges. Hodges added, "Your help will ensure that the fees that are paid by the youth participants will stay low as the Lowell 'Y' serves its second generation".

Contributions to the "Invest In Youth" campaign are tax deductible. Donation levels are bracketed as follows: Invest In Youth Membership $25 - $99, Century Club $100 - $249, Patron of

Halley's comet is coming to Chaffee Planetarium

The Roger B. Chaffee Planetarium will feature three sky shows during the month of February; "Halley's Comet is Coming," "Exploring the Universe Through Your Backyard," and "The Sky Tonight."

Beginning January 31 through June 8, Halley's Comet is Coming, a unique and humorous sky show will explore the anticipated return of the famous sky visitor. This audio/visual drama will examine in depth, comets, meteors, and meteorites. Through special effects, the show will trace the evolution of a comet as it nears the sun, the orbit of Halley's Comet, and how the apparition will appear in the skies of earth late in 1984 and early 1985. Showtimes are 8:00 P.M. Thursday through Saturday and 2:30 P.M. on Friday. The show should prove to be an entertaining and informative hour for all who see it.

Exploring the Universe from Your Backyard will be a special treat for visitors, informing them of the most prominent constellations and then taking them on an imaginary voyage through the realm of the universe. The show, which will run from February 2nd through June 9th, is approximately 40 minutes in length. Though shorter than the usual planetarium shows, Exploring the Universe from Your Backyard explodes through special effect, music and dramatic readings. Showtimes are 2:30 and 3:30 P.M. on Saturday and Sunday afternoons. The popular children's planetarium show, "The Sky Tonight" continues until April 27th. This fascinating program was designed especially for children ages 3 through 8 and is an excellent tool used to introduce youngsters to the constellations. The show will also answer the never ending question of night and day, and how the sky bear got his long tail in the Indian legend. Showtimes are 11:30 A.M. and 1:30 P.M. every Saturday through April 27th. Admission to all planetarium shows is $2 for adults and $1:50 for Children and Senior Citizens. Children under 5 cannot be admitted to any sky show except the "The Sky Tonight." Chaffee Planetarium Director, Dave DeBruyn feels, "The variety of shows enables visitors to choose from an assortment of subjects, show lengths and program styles." For more information call the Chaffee Planetarium at 456-3985.

IT'S YMCA SUSTAINING MEMBERSHIP CAMPAIGN TIME!

1985 GOAL $11,000

25 YEARS OF SERVICE TO LOWELL

The Lowell YMCA began in 1959 with a bequest from Florence King, in the memory of her father, Frank Twining King. This endowment has been invested and the interest provides operating revenue for the annual work of our local Lowell YMCA. The other sources of income come from the United Way/Lowell Community Fund, City Of Lowell, fund raisers, membership and program fees. The YMCA's Sustaining Campaign "Invest In Youth" provides the balance of the necessary funds to operate the Lowell "Y" each year.

While this year's attendance will be at an all time record, the budget will need to also be the largest ever to keep pace with the cost of doing programs. Despite efforts to keep the cost of providing the Y's programs at the lowest possible level, the operating expenses will be 6 1/2% higher in the calendar year of 1985.

So...the Lowell YMCA will need to make every effort to stay debt-free and balance the $147,000 budget. Your help will ensure that the fees that are paid by the youth participants will stay low as the Lowell "Y" serves its second generation.

AECP selects Lacklander

A Lacklander is one of 10 Air Training Command Members among 103 Air Force enlisted people chosen recently by the Airmen Education and Commissioning Program Selection Board.

TSgt. Richard H. Palmer, faculty advisor of military studies and world affairs at the ATC Noncommissioned Officer Academy, will enter AECP during the next few months to pursue an electrical engineering degree.

He will be attending Texas A&M University at College Station.

AECP is an Air Force program which offers enlisted members a fully funded three-year scholarship program leading to a commission as a second lieutenant.

Qualifications for consideration include: 45 semester hours of transferable college credit including one course in calculus-based physics, two courses in calculus and in analytic geometry.

Section for the program includes pay and allowances of a Tech sergeant while attending college full time to obtain a science or engineering degree.

After completing their degree programs, airmen attend Officer Training School.

Sergeant Palmer, who said he started out as a mechanic on airplanes 11 years ago, is an example of the merits of perseverance.

"I started two and a half years ago taking night courses at San Antonio College fulfilling basic calculus and physics requirements to see if I could get into the program," Sergeant Palmer said.

His aspirations proved successful. He will be attending OTS after he graduates from A&M in 1987.

According to the sergeant, airmen are offered a number of opportunities in the Air Force to promote their careers.

"You just need to reach out and grab those opportunities," Sergeant Palmer said.

Sergeant Palmer is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Palmer of Lowell, Michigan.

HOMESPUN DEVOTIONS

by Pauline E. Spray

Sing unto the Lord, bless his name; shew forth his salvation from day to day (Psalm 96:20).

"Before" and "after" pictures are interesting. Pictorial advertisements reveal the difference a new linoleum makes in the appearance of a room. Some magazines feature photographs of homes before and after remodeling. In one publication there was the picture of a little girl with straggly hair and a wistful expression on her face. Across the page, the same little girl smiled happily. A new home permanent made the change in her appearance by giving her curly locks and assurance. Frequently an ad will show the picture of a bald-headed man before using hair restorer. Close by is a photo of the same gentleman - with hair - after the prescribed treatment.

"Before" a Christian sought a place of prayer to find release from his cares, his cross showed plainly on his face. "After" he had cast his burdens on the Lord, he wore a smile. Now he takes all his troubles to the Lord in prayer for he has found that God's grace is sufficient for every need. Now instead of sighing, he sings.

Prayer: Dear Lord, Thy love and Thy goodness are unchanging. Thou art the same day after day. Thou art always ready to lift my load and carry my burdens. I leave them at Thy feet. Amen.

His goodness stands approved. Unchanged from day to day:

I'll drop my burden at His feet,
And bear a song away.

A continuing series of articles for high school students on what Kent Skill Center has to offer you.

ENGINEERING DRAFTING
Engineering Drafting is a two year program. It is designed to teach students how to translate the ideas, rough sketches, specifications and calculations of engineers and designers into working plans used to manufacture mechanical products.

Students will prepare detailed drawings of machinery and mechanical devices with the use of drafting instruments such as compasses, dividers, protractors and triangles. They will also learn to read engineering tables and handbooks.

Starting in the fall of 1984, a computer Aided Design (CAD) system will be installed in the Engineering Drafting department at the College Avenue Center. This computer will allow students to draw on a screen rather than on a drawing board.

The majority of drafting graduates will be employed by private industries that develop machinery, electrical equipment, fabricated metal products, transportation and aerospace equipment. A smaller percentage will be hired by the federal, state and local governments.

DIESEL MECHANICS

Diesel Mechanics is a two-year program that gives students training in repairing and maintaining agricultural, material handling, construction and highway vehicles.

During the first year, students will gain experience in equipment operation, welding, gasoline engine repair, basic electricity, equipment minor maintenance, the use of mechanics' tools and shop equipment.

Second year students may specialize in one of the following three areas: agricultural and power machinery mechanics, material handling and construction equipment, or highway truck and equipment mechanics. Second year students will be instructed in diesel engine repair, heavy duty electrical, hydraulic and cooling systems, along with gasoline, LP, and diesel fuel systems.

The Diesel Mechanics' lab is a shared facility between the Skills Centers and Grand Rapids Junior College. The Industrial Mechanics program at G.R.J.C. also offers advance college placement for Skills Centers' graduates.

After graduation, student may find employment in dealerships (auto/truck, materials handling, agricultural, construction, or specialty engines), government units, salvage yards, manufacturing and company garages, large farms or construction companies.

Premenstrual Syndrome

Premenstrual syndrome has received much attention in the press lately, partly because of recent court cases resulting in "diminished responsibility" in women who had committed serious crimes while suffering from the syndrome. Medical literature contains reference to the premenstrual syndrome as early as 1931, but there is still no convincing evidence on the cause or treatment of this disorder.

Premenstrual syndrome (PMS) is a disorder with emotional and physical symptoms. Symptoms occur cyclically before the menstrual period and disappear during the period. The timing of the symptoms is essential for diagnosis. Usually symptoms appear two days to two weeks prior to menses (period) with rapid relief at the onset of menses.

Symptoms of PMS are variable and include abdominal bloating, swelling, tenderness or fullness of the breasts and mood changes. Some women will experience headache, fatigue, increased appetite or a craving for certain foods. Premenstrual symptoms can vary from month to month in type and intensity, but in some women the symptoms are consistent.

It has been estimated that 30 to 40% of women have premenstrual symptoms severe enough to disrupt their lifestyle. PMS may start at any time during the woman's reproductive years. The cause of PMS is unknown. Theories include an imbalance between estrogen and progesterone to changes in specialized chemicals in the brain.

Your doctor will usually make the diagnosis of PMS after a careful history and physical examination which includes a pelvic and breast exam. Often the doctor will have you chart symptoms in a diary for a few months as an aid in diagnosis.

There is no specific treatment for PMS, but some therapies have proved helpful for some women. Pharmacologic methods of treating PMS include vitamin B6, natural progesterone suppositories, diuretics and hormone inhibitors. Non-drug therapies may be of some benefit in alleviating symptoms and include regular exercise, weight reduction and a low sodium, high protein diet. It is often reassuring in discussing PMS with your doctor, to find out that your symptoms are real rather than imagined and are experienced by many women. You should be able to openly discuss your symptoms so that an appropriate treatment plan can be chosen. Although there is no "cure" for PMS, appropriate therapy will minimize symptoms.

We welcome any questions and/or comments you may have regarding our weekly column. Please send them to our office at 147 N. Center Street, Lowell, Michigan 49331.

1. Girl Scout cookies have been around since the 1920's, with the first commercially baked cookies appearing in 1934.

2. Girl Scout cookies are sold by local Girl Scout councils. There is no national sale. The Michigan Trails Girl Scout Council sells cookies in Ionia, Kent, Mecosta, Montcalm, Oscoda, and Ottawa Counties.

3. Cookies sell for $1.75 per box, and Girl Scouts will be taking orders from February 1-11 and delivering cookies beginning the week of March 4.

4. Little Brownie Bakers makes the cookies sold by our council. They are one of 8 bakers licensed by Girl Scouts of the U.S.A. to produce Girl Scout cookies.

5. Cookie proceeds remain with our council to benefit the over 8,540 girls served by Michigan Trails Girls Scout Council, and money is used to provide camping, educational and enrichment opportunities for its members.

6. Local Girl Scout troops keep a portion of the proceeds and the girls vote on how to spend the money they earn. Last year one troop traveled to Savannah, GA, to visit the birthplace of Juliette Low, the founder of Girl Scouting.

7. Of the 130.25 million boxes sold nationwide last year, 394,000 were sold by local Girl Scouts.

8. Cookie selling is a voluntary activity, and all girls who participate must have written parental consent and be trained in proper selling procedures. The Girl Scout cookie sale is often a girl's first exposure to the business world. Through it, girls develop responsibility, learn how to handle money, and to follow through on a promise to deliver a product.

9. Girl Scouts in our area are selling the three cookie varieties sold nationwide - chocolate mint, shortbread trefoil and peanut butter sandwich. In addition, they're also selling optional varieties, including chocolate chip; peanut butter patties; vanilla cookies covered with caramel, rolled in toasted coconut and striped with chocolate; and an assorted pack containing pecan shortbreads and light shortbreads dipped in lemon.

10. Regarding the isolated cookie-tampering incidents of last spring, the F.B.I. and F.D.A. concluded that: - There were no grounds to indicate intentional or accidental contamination in the manufacturing process. - It was found equally unlikely and even impossible that there was a nationwide conspiracy to contaminate Girl Scout cookies in the distribution process.

- Most complaints were found to be hoaxes or "copycat" incidents, probably as a result of the attention given to the situation as a whole.

Individuals who would like to purchase Girl Scout cookies but have not been contacted may call the council at 949-GIRL.

That troublesome garden pest known as the dandelion was brought to America from Europe by the early colonists. The name comes from the French dent de lion and means lion's tooth.

Cold weather brings the danger of hypothermia

For millions of Americans, the chilling winds of winter mean more than snow and icy roads. They also bring the danger of hypothermia, a condition in which the body loses heat to a cold or cool environment faster than it is replaced.

Charles W. Miller, District Manager for Consumers Power Company, issued an alert about hypothermia during the coldest part of the year.

Hypothermia means low body temperature, typically 95 degrees F. But temperatures in the immediate surroundings do not have to fall below freezing for hypothermia to occur. Even household temperatures close to 70 degrees can lower body temperature below the normal 98.6 degrees F.

Most vulnerable to hypothermia are the chronically ill, infants and the very old, whose systems are generally not strong enough to conserve body heat when the temperature drops. If undetected, it can quickly prove fatal.

Fortunately, awareness of the condition and its symptoms plus some commonsense precautions can prevent the worst from happening. Early detection is vital.

Lose of body heat dulls the brain so that the victim is not aware of the condition and is dependent on the awareness, knowledge and action of others, says Miller.

Common warning signals are: confusion and reduced alertness; trembling on one side of the body or in one arm or leg; shivering, in the early stages, but absence of shivering as the condition worsens; cold and stiff muscles, cold abdomen and back; difficulty in speaking; slow breathing; bloated face, pale and waxy skin; forgetfulness; drowsiness; unconsciousness; low body temperatures.

Miller urges that anyone displaying these symptoms should be gently wrapped in a warm blanket and emergency help should be summoned immediately.

Staying warm involves more than throwing another log on the fire. To guard against hypothermia, older persons should maintain a good diet as food provides necessary fuel and heat for the body. They should also drink plenty of liquids, but go easy on alcohol which speeds up heat loss and makes it very hard to keep warm. Rest is also important, balanced by a moderate amount of exercise.

Indoors, loosely layered, dry clothing will help trap heat around the body. Outdoors, a hat or scarf will cut down on heat loss.

The basic rules, Miller says, are take cold weather seriously - use caution and common sense.

ENERGY BILLS A PROBLEM?

If you can't pay your energy bills, cold winter weather can be frightening. But help may be as close as your telephone.

State government and local utility companies have developed a number of programs to protect low-income and senior citizens from winter shutoff.

But you must tell us if you're having trouble keeping up with energy bills. We won't know you need help unless you ask for it.

If you can't pay—even if you think you won't be able to pay—call us. Help may be available.

Be WinterWise.

Annual rock and mineral exhibit at public museum, February 2 - 24

"What can you do with a rock," is the theme of the annual Rock and Mineral exhibit at the Grand Rapids Public Museum. Sponsored by the Grand Rapids Mineral Society in conjunction with the Tulip City Mineral Club, the February 2nd through the 24th display will feature a variety of demonstrations and programs for the public. The exhibit will also feature the ever popular "touch table," where visitors can examine first hand the variety of items collected by members of both organizations. A special display will feature a gem tree, "made of copper and gems and an electronic microscope for public viewing of micromounts and thumbnail crystals. This is the 25th year for the popular display and Museum Director, W.D. Frankforter says, "The exhibit is designed to make the public aware of the beauty citizens. Children under 5 are admitted free. Museum hours are Monday through Saturday 10 to 5 and 1 to 5 on Sunday. The Museum is closed on holidays."

Weekend demonstrations and programs will be held in the Multi-purpose Room of the Museum's East Building. Admission is $1 for adults and 50¢ for children (5-15) and senior citizens. Children under 5 are admitted free. Museum hours are Monday through Saturday 10 to 5 and 1 to 5 on Sunday. The Museum is closed on holidays.

The important thing to do if you have the flu is to get to the doctor quickly. Physicians now have available the antiviral Symmetrel® which is effective against all strains of influenza A, the most serious of the influenza viruses.

IT'S A FACT!
Sweepstakes: Growing more popular as prizes get bigger.
When Rebecca Wright, the 27-year-old mother from suburban Detroit, was announced by Ed McMahon as American Family Publishers' $2 million grand prize winner this year during NBC's Tonight Show, the record-setting amount seemed almost too good to be true. But it was true, just as is American Family's newest sweepstakes, which offers a $10 million grand prize. This latest sweepstakes mailing has begun, and someone like Rebecca will be $10 million richer as a result. But as Rebecca points out, "You have to mail in your entry to win." Rebecca knows how important mailing in the entry is because someone else failed to do that in the $2 million sweepstakes and Rebecca's entry became the alternate winner. The $10 million grand prize is one of 110,000 prizes to be given away in the largest mail-in sweepstakes in U.S. history.

License tab renewal is extended

Secretary of State Richard Austin today announced that Michigan residents temporarily living outside the state may now renew license plates within a six month period before the plate expires.

Previously, individual vehicle owners could only renew within a 45-day period prior to expiration.

Austin said a new Michigan law, effective January 1 of this year, enables the Department of State to renew vehicle registrations early. This early registration is expected to be more convenient to workers, students, retirees and others who are out of state for extended periods of time.
