DID YOU KNOW?

Did you know that the Lowell School Board has adopted a policy stablishing a Curriculum Council, consisting of equal members of building administrators, teachers and parents from each level and two non-voting members from the Board of Education. The Council approves or rejects requests made by the Curriculum Committee. Requests are brought to the Curriculum Council after the building administrator has approved the request. This information has been supplied by the Lowell Citizens for Education.

HOW COLD WAS IT?

If those covers felt mighty snug and warm to your last Friday and Satruday mornings, it was probably because it was so damed cold outside of them. Waste Water Treatment Plant operator, Frank Martin said that the official Lowell reporting station located in the fairgrounds registered a nippy 21 degrees below zero Friday morning and another sub-zero reading of minus 20 degrees Saturday morning. Martin reads the temperature and precipitation instruments at 7:00 A.M. each day and reports them to the National Weather Service in Ann Arbor. Frankly, we'd rather be reporting the first robin

Our school will receive a citation for the effort made in the collection. You can help by sending or bringing your Kellogg's box tops to the Runciman office.

OFF THE BLOTTER

Richard Jenkins of Grand Rapids, reported to Lowell Officers his car had been struck by a vehicle that left the scene of the accident in a private lot near Main and Pleasant Streets, Thursday, February 7.

ruary in Grand Rapids said Weather Service Specialist Mike Kalembkiewicz at the National Weather Service office at the Grand Rapids Airport. From the time the snow started at about 9:00 A.M. on Monday until our conversation Kalembkiewicz at 10:00 A.M. Tuesday, the weather service had recorded just over 10 inches of total snowfall. Lowell Area Schools Superintendent, Fritz Esch decided at 10:45 P.M. on Monday to cancel classes for Tuesday. Esch said that he surveyed rural roads south of Lowell while Bus Garage Manager John Schneider checked out conditions north of town. Esch said that it was obvious that the county roads wouldn't be cleared in time for the buses to run Tuesday morning.

City street crews worked continuously from Monday morning with at least two-plows on the streets at all times keeping the city streets passable. Tuesday morning the crews were using small trucks with plows and the big front end loader to clear parking lots and sidewalks.

Kalembkiewicz said that our average season snowfall is 73 inches, and we are well on our way to matching that with 50.3 inches to date. Tuesday's forecast class for another 1 to 3 inches of snowfall for the area during the day and early evening on Tuesday. The big threat of worsening road conditions lies in forecasted high winds of 15 to 25 miles per hour with gusts to 30 m.p.h. and more. "The driving north winds expected throughout the day and evening could cause near blizconditions". Kalembkiewicz. A winter storm warning posted Monday remained in effect Tuesday, and would probably not be lifted until Tuesday evening.

Darwin Nellist of the Kent County Road Commission said Tuesday morning that county roads are, "snow covered and slippery, some east-west roads are plugged". When asked whether he had any idea of what we could expect for road conditions on Wednesday he said, "Your guess is as good as mine.

. . we just received word from the weather service in Chicago telling us to expect high winds all day and night and into tomorrow". "There's a lot of loose snow out there, and we could have some real problems", he added. County crews were operating their plows around the clock during the storm with the day and night crews each working twelve hour shifts.

Just so we wouldn't lead you to believe that we are the only ones experiencing bad weather, we put in a call to the National Weather Service in Key West, Florida. Tuesday's forecast there called for clearing skies and "cold" temperatures ranging only in the mid to upper 60's, and dropping all the way down to 58 degrees at night. Doesn't it make you feel better to know that it's "cold" there too?

Even with the aid of a snowblower, keeping a driveway cleared has become a considerable chore with over fifty inches of snowfall already this season, nine of which fell in a 24 hour period Monday. Roger Raisuer of 950 N. Hudson none the less continues to push the white stuff back.

It is once again the time of year when we are stricken with cabin fever. The mid-winter doldrums, like the dog days of August when the fishing is slow, our mid-winter ice fishing becomes iffy at best. Most of the talk around the shop has lately turned to spring and summer. Bushels of mushrooms and tons of fish have been taken right here in the shop during the past couple of weeks.

One very constructive proposal has emerged from all this B.S., and that was our decision to organize a Lowell Area Fishing Club. We presently have 35-40 interested individuals and are actively soliciting prospective members from throught the area. Our first organizational meeting is scheduled for Wednesday, February 20, at 7:00 P.M. in Larkin's Saloon, Lowell. The second meeting will be held at the same time and place on March 6. At this time election of officers will take place. Anyone who is interested in joining is urged to attend one of these meetings.

Some of the spring's proposed projects will be to plant walleye fry or fingerlings, in the Flat River, above the Burrows impoundment, just north of Lowell and also to revive the outstanding smallmouth fishery of the Flat River. We also intend to promote and sponsor a youth and handicapped fishing tournament on the Grand River in Lowell during the peak of the sucker run. We are planning a clean up project along local streams and rivers. Several other tournaments for both adults and children are being planned.

It is going to take many interested members to promote and conduct these projects and make this a worthwhile organization to both the membership and the surrounding community. We fully intend to be involved in all aspects of clean waters and the improvement, promotion, preservation and conservation of our fisher resources. Please plan on attending one of our meetings.

I have had many inquiries as to why I have not been contributing this column on a regular basis. Beginning now I will do my best to

I understand that there are movements afoot to ban all cigarette advertising in magazines and to rid the airwaves of beer and wine commercials. Now I can go along with the cigarette ban. After all, we haven't had cigarette ads on TV for a good number of years now, and who misses them? The only ones I can remember being even remotely humorous, or otherwise entertaining, were the Benson & Hedges 100s ads with people getting their long cigarettes caught in elevator doors, etc.

But if we lose our beer commercials, we're in big trouble. Beer commercials are about the only ads left on TV that offer any humor. There used to be others. Remember the Alka Seltzer ads with the tune "No Matter What Shape" playing in the background to scenes of people poking other people in their stomachs, belly dancers, a guy running an air hammer with his stomach jiggling, etc? How about the cartoon of the guy's stomach in a chair lecturing him about his eating habits? Then, of course, there was the guy who said, "I can't believe I ate the whole thing." Volkswagen also had a longrunning series of humorous ads, but over the years it has been the beer companies that have set the standard for comedy in TV com-

What will Strohs do with Alex, the dog that goes after beer for his poker playing master, and is heard drinking it in the kitchen. Or how about the two guys 200 miles out in the wilderness with nothing to do but walk through deep snow after a Strohs? And what will ever happen to the poor guy crawling through the desert who is offered a glass of water, but keeps on going after saying he really had a taste for a Strohs? These are classics that just can't be replaced by "Wisk

The banning of beer commercials from TV would put a whole gaggle of once-retired coaches and athletes out of work again. I'm speaking of the Miller Lite ads of course. Poor Tom Madden would have to go back to coaching instead of bursting through paper signs and getting scared in train tunnels. The Detroit Lions might have been smart if they had waited to see if this ban goes into effect, Madden is probably one of the few coaches who could make a winner out of them. Billy Martin might have to take up boxing, and Bubba Smith might really have to take up a polo career if this ban is instituted. Even though he never gets any respect, Rodney Dangerfield is probably the only one in the bunch who would keep on working.

If this ban is imposed we would also lose all the new Bud-Lite commercials with the flaming arrows, torches, neon signs and chandeliers being served up to bar partrons asking only for a "light". Though they aren't humorous, the "It doesn't get any better than this" ads with people feasting on freshly caught stone crabs in the Florida Keys and drinking ice cold Old Milwaukee, and other ads in that series, always captured my imagination. We'll also miss the

So, my suggestion is, write your congressman urging him to support the cigarette advertising ban, but to vote against a ban on TV beer commercials. If it begins to look like the beer commercial ban is going to be passed, then legislation should be introduced forcing such advertisers as Crest Tootpaste, Wisk Laundry Detergent and Listerine to hire the ad agencies used by the beer companies.

How to Avoid Most Common Errors On Form 1040

Each year there are some predictable trouble spots with federal income tax forms, according to the Internal Revenue Service. These are areas where large numbers of taxpayers make incorrect entries and thereby slow the processing of tax forms.

These trouble spots fall into two broad categories: problems that recur each year, such as taxpayers selecting the incorrect figure from the tax tables; and problems that stem from changes in the tax laws and forms from one year to the next, such as the addition of a new line to a form or the shift of an existing line to a new position on the

Not surprisingly, the largest percentage of errors are made on Form 1040. the so-called long form. To assist filers of this form, IRS has compiled the following list of problem areas to dou-

Medical Deductions. This item is not entered on Form 1040, but on a related schedule. Because Schedule A was redesigned last year, this item will probably lead the list of last year's most common errors. Due to rule changes on medical deductions, IRS expects problems again this year. Be sure to check the limitation on medical expenses.

2. Figure from Tax Table. Because of the number of pages and figures involved, this item is always high on the list of most common errors for all tax forms. Double check the figure from the tax table for your filing status and enter on line 38. Check the box for Tax Table.

3. Unemployment Compensation. Due to changes in the tax law last year, this item moved into the list of most common errors. Doublecheck your figures on the worksheet in the tax instruction booklet (page 10), and make appropriate entries on lines 20a and 20b.

4. Child Care Credit. Read instructions carefully and double-check your computations on Form 2441, Credit for Child and Disabled Dependent Care Expenses. Enter the figure on line 41 and attach Form 2441 to your return.

5. Balance Due/Refund. This important item usually makes the list of most common errors. If your total tax (line 56) is larger than your total payments made (line 64), enter the difference on line 68. Amount You Owe. Follow the instructions for remitting payment If the reverse is true, enter the difference on line 65, Overpaid Enter on line 66, Refunded to You, the portion of the line 65 overpayment that you want refunded to

6. Earned Income Credit (EIC) Not Claimed. If you are a working parent and have at least one child living with you, and if your adjusted gross income (line 32) is less than $10,000, you probably qualify. See page 16 of the instructions.

7. EIC Error or Not Qualified. Make sure you are qualified. Certain limitations must be met and you must have a dependent child living with you and you must have worked during the year. Follow the instructions carefully and enter on Dividends. You must complete and attach Schedule B if you have $400 or more in dividend income. Enter your total dividends on line 9a; your exclusion (up to $100 for individual filers, up to $200 for married filing jointly) on line 9b; and enter the difference (subtract line 9b from 9a) on line 9c.

9. Income Computation. This is an outgrowth of item 8, since the taxpayers who miscompute their dividend income will have an error on line 23, total income. Doublecheck these figures.

10. Income Averaging. Schedule G, Income Averaging, is one of the most complicated and intimidating forms for individual filers, due to the number of tax years covered on the form. You should have copies of your returns for the preceding three years in order to accurately complete this form. Read and follow instructions carefully and double-check all figures.

Lots of Stamps at Lowell P.O.

An adequate supply of "D" stamps and other nondenominated items is available at the Lowell Post Office to help customers make a smooth transition after the February 17 postal rate change.

Postmaster Charlie Doyle says that the nondenominated "D" stamps in sheet, coil and booklet formats represent the new 22cent first-class rate. There are also nondenominated postal cards and plenty of two-cent stamps that, when added to 20cent stamps, make up the new first-class letter rate.

"Nobody likes to see higher postal rates. But this increase is moderate and justified." Postmaster Doyle said. "Since the last increase in November 1981, the cost of living in the United States, as measured by the consumer price index, has gone up almost 13 percent, the 22-cent stamp is only a 10 percent rise."

"The nondenominated items are available because we estimate that stamp inventories in

The sampling program is continuing under the recent consolidation of Midwest Breeders and MVBA.

One of the newest offerings from the full-service cattle breeding cooperative is 21H921 Janeland Electrafier-ET, a son of Thonyma Electra.

Combined with his maternal gradsire, Foxlease Explosion, Electrafier has a Pedigree Index of +661M, +11F, +$60 and a Genetic Index of +947 M, +23F, +$100.

Her current Cow Index is +827M, +29F, +"$101. Her last three lactactions have all been over 25,000 pounds of milk.

Electrafier is now at the MBC-MVBA junior sire housing facility in Stewartville, Mn. He is one of about 100 high genetic potential young sires enrolled each year in the cooperative's sampling program.

Electrafier and the other young sires will have to wait over four years from sampling before their first Predicted Differences (PD's) are calculated.

Miss Crandall has a very busy schedule, and travels frequently with her mother while making visits such as the stop here in Lowell. She was scheduled to visit another school later in the day. "Her visit lasted the better part of two hours", said Korb, "and we were all entertained and impressed by her charm the entire time", he added.

As for Mike Doyle, Korb said he was naturally a little embarassed by the visit, especially when some of his classmates goodnaturedly teased him about keeping his relationship with Miss Michigan a secret from them. Despite a little embarassement, "Mike was very excited, and delighted by the visit", Korb said.
