At 8 p.m. on Saturday, doors open for the showboat benefit concert featuring Steve Wariner, a nationally known country recording star. Steve's recent hits include "Kansas City Lights," "All Roads Lead To You," "Midnight Fire," and his latest, "Heart Trouble." Opening for Steve will be the local country-rock outfit "Bust-N-Loose." Tickets for the show are $6.00, available at all Believe In Music stores, Lowell City Hall, and at the door. As is tradition, the concert will be performed outdoors in the showboat amphitheatre, with the stage being the dock and the boat itself serving as a backdrop.

No time for a garden? Not much space? Try a mini-garden. A small garden will provide a variety of vegetables and salad ingredients. Plant in narrow rows leaving space for your foot between rows. Also consider the square foot concept of small groups of four squares with space for weeding and harvesting between groups. Depending on size of seeds use the rule of thumb of planting big seeds such as beans nine to a square foot, smaller seeds in proportion. Large single plants in one square or more. If against a wall or framework train climbers on strings to go up and out of the way.

Capitol Column

by Senator Dick Posthumus

George Bernard Shaw once said, "Government that robs Peter to pay Paul will always have the support of Paul." That is obviously the motivation behind the Governor's new tax plan.

Blanchard unveiled his supposed "Tax Fairness Plan" recently, incorporating a number of different cutbacks and increases. His plan calls for new taxes on sales of computer software and additional levies on lump sum payments, such as insurance or pension money. In addition, it calls for a special new tax on banks and in-state insurance companies and higher capital gains taxes, as well as an income tax on military personnel stationed in Michigan. These increases are supposed to offset a drop in the income tax to 4.6 percent on July 1, 1986, more money in the property tax rebate fund, million in research and development tax breaks aimed primarily at General Motors' Saturn plant, and a tax amnesty plan.

Although it is called the "Tax Fairness Plan," it could also be called "The Election-Year Gimmick." With one hand, the proposal reduces taxes on consumers, only to raise them with the other hand. The added tax burden on insurance companies and banks, for example, will certainly be passed on to consumers. Not surprisingly, the tax reduction is due to go into effect shortly before next year's gubernatorial primary vote.

This plan marks the first time Blanchard has entered the tax rollback debate, and acknowledged a fact Senate Republicans have argued for months -- that a budget surplus does exist as a result of the Governor's 1983 tax increase and that it is time to take action. With strong bi-partisan support, Senate Republicans took action nearly two months ago. The Republican plan would roll the income tax rate back to 4.6 percent on January 1, 1986 (six months earlier than the Governor's proposal), and would increase the personal exemptions from the current $1,500 per person to $1,750 per person. For a senior citizen couple filing jointly, that means a $1,000 increase in personal exemption. The Republican proposal is simple and fair. It is a tax reduction without any tax increases, ensuring a limit on state spending. Blanchard's proposal simply shifts the tax burden around, without forcing a reduction in state spending. Must the people of Michigan wait until an election year to get a piece of the huge surplus our state has accumulated? Under Blanchard's plan, apparently so.

You don't know how close you came to not getting your Ledger last week. Problem number one was the fact that I was just coming off a ten day vacation, and I simply did not have my mind shifted back into the right gears to go about the business of publishing a paper. Terese and I got home at midnight on Sunday from our first vacation without kids since our honeymoon, and we were both at work before eight on Monday. I can't speak for Terese, but I was a little fuzzy. Physically I was at the Ledger office, but mentally I was still on vacation.

I was soon to find out that my state of mind was the least of our problems here last Monday... our typesetting computer was acting up again. Virtually everything we do here hinges on this stupid computer. It's like a baker and his oven, a farmer and his tractor or a carpenter and his saw. A newspaper has to have a typesetter, or it just isn't a newspaper. The Ledger may not be much of a newspaper, but without this computer we might as well turn this place into a warehouse.

The problem had started the previous week, and our operator was just about at the end of her rope. It's a good thing she is a patient sort. I'm afraid I would have put my foot through its screen the first day! Like any computer, the information typed into the thing is forgotten if the machine is turned off before the information is stored on a disc or tape or whatever. Our problem was that everything would suddenly go blank for a moment, and whatever hadn't been stored was lost. Sometimes it would go an hour before acting up, or sometimes only a minute or two. This meant that the operator could type only a couple of paragraphs, save them, type a couple more, save them, and so on until the machine fritzed out. A slow process to say the least.

We tried all the tricks...re-seating the boards, checking for loose fuses, taking the cover off for better ventilation, etc. Nothing worked, and the best they could tell me at the technical support center was, "sounds like you got a flakey board or somthin". Gee, thanks. Finally I called for a serviceman, who I knew would probably just tell me, "looks like you got a flakey board or somthin", but I was desperate. The earliest they could get a serviceman to me was Wednesday. Oh boy.

Well, it looked like we would just have to muddle through an edition with the darned thing shutting itself down about every fifteen minutes. We had pretty much resigned ourselves to that when the thing went blank, and stayed blank. It was dead, deceased, gone, out of it, stone cold, defunct, lifeless, inanimate, demised and conked out! The little lights didn't come on, the blower fans didn't run and the screen was blank. Like I said... it was DEAD!

A quick check of the fuses showed that they were okay. Baffled, we were all standing around scratching our heads, when one of the guys from the back shop grabbed the plug from its socket in a special "clean line" that we have for the machine, and plugged it into a regular wall socket. BINGO! We were off and running again. An inspection of the "clean line" revealed a loose connection in a fuse box that had been the culprit all along. We all apologized to the computer for the bad language that we had used, cancelled the service call and went to work.

Somewhere amidst all the confusion, my mind, or at least enough of it, finally came back in from vacation so that I could get to work on putting a paper together. My situation was something akin to the chlorine "shock treatment" swimming pool owners give to their pools in the spring to get rid of the excess algae. I needed the "shock treatment" of a broken computer to clean out the vacation algae. Unfortunately it worked.

Safety belt law nears

The first of 100 signs alerting motorists to Michigan's new safety belt law are going up at freeway rest areas and border points around the state.

Michigan Department of Transportation (MDOT) sign crews will place the three-by-four-foot signs at all 77 rest areas along the state's 1,788 miles of freeways in advance of the law's July 1 effective date.

Another two dozen signs will be erected at major highway entrances to the state, alerting visitors to Michigan's safety belt law.

The signs at the rest areas read: "Buckle Up... It's the Law!" and replace existing "Are You Putting Me On?" signs the transportation department placed there several years ago to encourage motorists to use their safety belts.

Michigan is the fifth state in the nation to enact safety belt legislation. Seven states have adopted such legislation during the past 10 months.

The new law requires the driver and all front-seat passengers of motor vehicles to wear safety belts. Failure to comply can bring a fine of up to $10 until January 1986, when the fine will increase to $25.

HOMESPUN DEVOTIONS

by Pauline E. Spray

...he goeth before them, and the sheep follow him: for they know his voice (John 10:4).

My brother Paul used to ride his motorcycle to go after the cows. They learned to recognize the sound of the motor and would head for the barn when they heard him coming. I can tell when my husband drives into the yard; I recognize the hum of our car engine. A mother recognizes the cry of her child; she can distinguish it from many others.

Not everyone recognizes the Lord when He speaks—only those who are acquainted with Him will recognize the Shepherd's voice.

The Lord speaks gently, but He speaks with authority. He speaks, also, in His own time. We may have to wait for quite a season before obtaining the assurance we want. Sometimes His answers come clearly above the din of life's confusion. At other times we find our answers in quietness. Often they come through people. However, hearing God's voice need not be a once in a lifetime experience. We should listen expectantly at all times for the "special messages." He has to give us.

Prayer: Dear Jesus, lead me and I shall follow. Draw me close to Thee and I shall yield to Thy embrace. Speak to me and I shall hear. Whisper a special message to me today. Amen.

It is the voice of Jesus that I hear;

His are the hands stretched out to draw me near.

And His the blood that can for all atone.

And set me faultless there before the throne.

In the mood for a spy novel intrigue and suspense? If so, consider these new books:

The Fourth Protocol by Frederick Forsyth is that author's most ingeniously constructed and tensely paced novel since Day of the Jackal. A meticulous executed jewel robbery in London sets off the action with deceptive simplicity. Soon, readers are introduced to a train of plot and counterplot, calculation, and mischance. The action moves from the highest councils of Kremlin leadership into the innermost workings of half a dozen intelligence services east and west of the Iron Curtain.

Travelers' Diarrhea - Part I

Discomfort or incapacitation during travel because of something as mundane as diarrhea is enough to frustrate even the most seasoned traveler. There are ways of dealing with the disease when it attacks, however, and also of preventing its occurrence in the first place. In the next two articles we will discuss recognition, treatment and hopeful prevention of this common ailment.

No uniform definition has been agreed upon for traveler's diarrhea, but the centers for disease control refer to the condition as two or more loose stools occurring in a 24 hour period with onset more than 24 hours after a person's arrival in unfamiliar territory. Accompanying the diarrhea is at least one of the following: Abdominal cramps, vomiting, fever, and chills and generalized malaise.

The reported prevalence of travelers' diarrhea varies widely. The incidence among travelers to less developed regions of the world is often estimated at about 40%, and among travelers to Mexico, where diarrhea affects more than 1 million people a year, from 25% to 50%. Since many Americans travel to Mexico for warm vacations each year, it is easy to appreciate the enormity of this health care concern.

The risk of contracting travelers' diarrhea depends more on what travelers eat and drink than where they come from and go. Carelessness with water consumption, particularly with ice cubes, accounts for a great deal of risk. Beverages that are generally safe include coffee and tea made with water that was first boiled for five full minutes; bottled beer, wine, and softdrinks; and water that has been properly disinfected. Bottled water may be safe if the seal is intact and the source can be assured.

Following is a good summary of "safe" and "risky" food with regard to potential for causing travelers' diarrhea: Risky: Salads, raw vegetables, cold platters, custards and pastries, dishes prepared in advance and left to stand. Raw shellfish, raw or undercooked seafood or meat dishes, steak tartare. Raw eggs, cheese, milk and other dairy products.

Safe: vegetables that have been boiled or immersed in chlorine solution. Nuts, fruits and vegetables purchased intact and then shelled, peeled or skinned. Meat and seafood dishes prepared well done and eaten while hot. Cooked eggs, pasteurized and refrigerated dairy goods.

Next week: Prevention and treatment.

Allinder travels to Israel and Greece

Dome of the Rock - Jerusalem Mosque. Sacred site for Jews, Muslims, and Christians.

Many school teachers plan all year for their summer trip. Mrs. Joan Allinder, a seventh grade teacher at Lowell Middle School is one step ahead of them. She speaks of her Spring tour to Israel and Greece in these words.

"It was a magnificent experience. The sights, the sounds, the smells. I had been there many times before in my readings. Now I was there in this land in person. It was breath taking. I walked in awe."

Mrs. Allinder was graciously given a two week leave by the administration and the Lowell Board of Education, in March of this year, to tour Israel and Greece with her husband, Reverend William Allinder, senior pastor of Park Congregational Church in Grand Rapids.

The Talmud says, "He who wishes to enrich himself should go up to Galilee. He who wishes to become wise should go up to the large, heavy plungers. This sucking sound vibrates through the waters, frightening the fish into the awaiting nets.

A long continued impression of a country may come from the land, the people and the food, but the biggest influence on one's grasp of the country is the guide. A seasoned guide will reveal the heartbeat of the people of his country. Their guide was no exception.

One of the main concerns for tourists in Israel is the military activity. War and rumors of war are a reality for Israeli people. Even though there is military unrest in Israel, at no time did Mrs. Allinder feel threatened or in danger. Nevertheless, whenever the tour group neared a border, extra precautions were taken with cameras. Their flashing might attract soldiers in the surrounding hills.

Unlike the United States, an Israeli man at the age of eighteen must give three years to the military and the young women must serve eighteen months. The men remain on call for military service until they are fifty-five years old.

"Young people in any group must be escorted by military personnel. They are the prime target of the enemy," reports Mrs. Allinder. There is a saying among

"Galilee was one of my favorite areas," Mrs. Allinder said, "because it was like walking through the pages of the Bible." Familiar Bible stories and their characters seem to walk right out of the picturesque landscape.

Remarkable acoustics in Galilee's bowl-shaped area make it understandable how Christ could be heard by so many people on the hillside as He preached to them. On shore, He could shout to the discouraged, weary fishermen out on the sea and be heard. His voice penetrated the atmosphere.

Fishing boats still dot the Sea of Galilee but the signs of progress are evident. Now many of the boats are equipped with outboard motors and special plunger nets. With their heavy fishing nets thrown over the sides of their boats, the fishermen begin to thump on the floor boards with the people that if an old person dies, the young feel sad but they forget; if a young person dies, the old people are sad, but never forget.

There were so many places to see in this little country, and the time pushed them hurriedly from one location to another. One of the most moving incidents of their trip took place at dusk. It had been a long day and the minds and the bodies of the tourists were becoming sluggish and sleepy. And then they saw the lights ahead of them. The walls of the city of Old Jerusalem were lighted, as if beckoning them to come into yet another time and place in this amazing little country.

As they toured and shopped in the Old Jerusalem city, its biblical heritage still seemed to shout out its stories. The smells, the colors, the sounds seem to bump into each other and then blend to make "a people."

One of the fun things to do is try the different foods of a country. Israel's diet is a healthy one made up of lamb and seafood, vegetables and brothy soups, white cheeses and the ever wonderful bagel. The happy surprise with the bagel was its dinner plate size.

There was so much more to see in Israel, but their trip to Greece was on the agenda and it was time for their flight. As Mrs. Allinder and a smaller part of their tour group took off for Greece, Reverend Allinder stayed on in Israel to continue graduate work at the Jerusalem Center of Biblical Studies.

GREECE
As the plane flew into Athens, Greece, the depth of blue-green water held everyone's attention. There is water everywhere. There are over a thousand islands in Greece, but only one hundred and sixty-one are suitable to live on. With so much water around them and the weather in March a cool and damp sixty degrees, winter clothing from Michigan that Mrs. Allinder brought with her made the time spent there more comfortable.

They arrived in Athens about 1:00 p.m., thinking this would be the beginning of a busy afternoon. They were wrong. It was the beginning of the daily quiet time. Most Greeks work from 8:00 a.m. to 1:30 p.m., then take an early afternoon rest break and go back to work from 5:30 to 8:30 p.m. They do this for six days a week.

The Acropolis, Mars Hill, the Parthenon, Corinth, the Corinthian canal that links the Aegean Sea with the gulf of Corinth, were some of the sights they visited. Delphi, the spiritual and religious center of ancient Greece, introduced them to a Greek snowstorm. Outdoor theaters and arenas are still being used and still lend much to the imagination of the activity that surrounded them thousands of years ago.

Having had little education in Greek mythology, the subject had never taken on much interest to Mrs. Allinder. Now for five days with a Grecian tour guide who had a degree in ancient Greek history and mythology, an interest awakened on the subject in this eager Lowell teacher. "Would you believe that the first week back at school, our reading lessons were on Greek mythology? I was ready," she gleefully reported.

Brothy Greek soups, white cheeses, fruit, olives, lamb and fish make up the menus. Greek pastry is delicious. It oozes butter and olive oil. Olive oil seems to saturate most everything in cooking.

If you like flea markets, you'd be flabbergasted with the ones in Athens. Shops of all different kinds of merchandise line both sides of the little narrow streets. These shops go for blocks and blocks. They are open year around. One thing that they all have in common is fur coats. Fur coats hang from the rafters, from racks, indoors and out-of-doors. The exciting and tempting part is that they are so reasonable in price.

The five days in Greece had passed quickly, and it was time to go back to Israel and be reunited with her husband, then on home, to the United States. Home is always a wonderful sound when you are so far away. "Shalom (peace), dear Israel." "Yah-soo (goodbye), Greece."

Council Proceedings

OFFICIAL PROCEEDINGS
CITY COUNCIL
of the
CITY OF LOWELL, MICHIGAN

Regular Meeting of Monday, May 6, 1985.

The Meeting was called to order at 8:00 p.m. by Mayor Maatman. The pledge of Allegiance was given and the Roll called.

Present: Councilmembers Collins, Fonger, Schneider, Thompson and Maatman.
Absent: None.

IT WAS MOVED by Councilman Thompson that the minutes of the April 15 Meeting be approved as written, supported by Councilman Fonger.

Carried.

IT WAS THEN MOVED by Councilman Collins that the Bills and Accounts Payable be allowed and warrants issued, supported by Councilman Schneider.

Yes: Councilmen Collins, Fonger, Schneider, Thompson, and Maatman.
No: None.
Absent: None

BILLS AND ACCOUNTS PAYABLE TOTALS
General Fund	$31,054.74
Major Street Fund	130.30
Local Street Fund	256.63
Sewer Fund	3,079.40
Water Fund	1,923.16
Equipment Fund	68,797.91
Building and Site Fund	8,770.00
Trust and Agency Fund	377.50
Lee Fund	2,103.00
Look Memorial Fund	2,215.52

The first item of business was a request to the Zoning Board of Appeals by Mr. John Ingersoll for a variance from Square Footage Requirements in an R-3 Zone, to allow the placement of a modular home unit on property on Hunt Street. Mayor Maatman turned the meeting over to Chairman Thompson, who opened the Public Hearing.

Mr. Ingersoll was present and stated that the modular unit would contain 896 square feet, the requirement is 1,000. It is 64 feet long by 14 feet wide, with conventional siding and shingle roof, placed on footings with a crawl-space. At a later date he will purchase an additional unit to be added on to the existing one, thereby making it a full sized home. The request for the square footage requirement will only be temporary.

Manager Quada stated that there had been no comments against the request, and that there is ample room on the 76 x 188 foot lot. He recommended however, that the request be turned over to the Planning Commission for review and recommendation, explaining that they have been discussing the idea of reducing the square-footage requirements in all of the residential districts, and may wish to take this one into consideration for that area.

Chairman Thompson closed the Hearing at 8:05 p.m.

IT WAS MOVED by Mayor Maatman that the Public Hearing be tabled until the June 3 Council Meeting, and that the request be forwarded to the Planning Commission for review and recommendation at their May 28 Meeting, supported by Councilman Collins.

Carried.

Council then discussed the award of bid for the Sewer Rehabilitation Project.

Manager Quada explained that sewage cannot be properly treated because of the amount of infiltration of ground water and rain water. More chemicals are used because of the volume of water that has to be treated. Ten manholes need to be raised above the ground water level. The reconstruction of some of the manholes such as bases and sewer lines can decrease the amount of infiltration as much as 50,000 gallons per day which is enough to then allow for new sewer hookups to that capacity. He stated that only one company had responded for the bid, that of Interstate Pipe Company for $9,066.00. He recommended that the bid be accepted, and suggested that the cost be appropriated from Federal Revenue Sharing Funds. The workmanship will be monitored by City Engineers.

IT WAS MOVED by Councilman Schneider that the bid of Interstate Pipe Company for $9,066.00 be accepted for the Sewer Rehabilitation Project, and that the cost be paid out of Revenue Sharing Funds, supported by Councilman Collins. Manager Quada then stated that in order for the Lowell Showboat Corporation to apply for a Michigan Lottery License for the WCUZ/Budweiser Showboat Benefit Weekend, the City must recognize the Showboat Corp. as a non-profit organization.

The following resolution was offered by Councilman Collins for adoption, supported by Councilman Schneider.

WHEREAS, the Lowell Showboat Corporation has been in existence since 1932; and

WHEREAS, said Corporation has been a non-profit organization operating in the City of Lowell; and

WHEREAS, the assets of said organization will revert to the Citizens of Lowell in the event of dissolution.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the Lowell Showboat Corporation is hereby designated a non-profit charitable corporation and recognized as such by the Lowell City Council.

Carried.

Council next discussed the Tree Lease Proposal for Main Street. Manager Quada explained that 40 trees in containers would be placed in the parking lot development at the corner of Main and Riverside Dr. If the parking area is not made permanent after the six-month trial, the trees will then be moved onto Main Street Business District. If the parking lot remains a permanent fixture, then additional trees will be placed in the Business District.

A lengthy discussion followed on the cost of moving the trees when they outgrow the containers, and several Councilmembers asked that they be guaranteed for one year after moving. Concern was for the fact that the City will be paying first for the initial tree, then for the cost of moving, and then for a new tree to be replaced in the planter. Another concern is that with the maintenance program for these trees, will the firm be able to continue with the regular trimming and maintenance program for the rest of the City.

Mr. Ed Gross of Gross and Associates was present and stated that he would have no problem with the guarantee, but, assured the Council that a tree with a six to eight or ten-inch diameter, with a large enough established root-ball will survive a move. He also explained that moving trees of that size, rather than having to purchase ones of comparable size, over 1/2 the initial cost will be saved in growth over a five year period that it is in a container.

IT WAS MOVED by Councilman Collins that the Tree Lease Proposal be approved with the addition of a clause guaranteeing trees to be moved from planters for an additional one year, at a moving cost of $65.00 per tree, supported by Councilman Schneider.

Yes: Councilmen Collins, Fonger, Schneider, and Maatman.
No: Councilman Thompson.
Absent: None.

State camping seson is off to a strong start says AAA

Michigan's private and public campgrounds are headed for one of the finest seasons ever due to unseasonably warm spring weather. 12 percent more sites than last year and a 28-percent boost in early state park camping reservations, reports AAA Michigan.

State and private park officials report the number of advance reservations, spurred by mid-April's 80-degree temperatures, shows Michiganians already thinking about camping. Some state parks have filled their advance reservations quotas for the upcoming Memorial Day weekend.

Softball team 1 and 3 last week

The Red Arrows softball team lost to Rogers on Monday 4-2, 11-5, and to Kenowa Hills on Wednesday 10-0. On Thursday the Arrows snapped a 4 game losing streak by defeating Greenville 10-1.

Rogers jumped off to a 4-0 lead after four innings in the opener. A walk and a single along with Lara Nora's triple drove in two runs in the first inning. Rogers then picked up single runs in the second and fourth innings to close out the scoring. The Red Arrows could only master three hits of Golden Hawks pitcher Kim Swieger, all in the same inning. Micki Denman singled and came home on Phyllis Beachler's triple, who scored on Trisha Stencel's double. That completed the scoring as the Red Arrows suffered their third loss in conference play.

In game two the Arrows took a 5-4 lead into the seventh inning but disaster struck as Rogers sent 16 batters to the plate and scored 11 runs. The Hawks jumped off to a 3-0 lead in the third, but Lowell took the lead in the bottom half as they scored four times. The Arrows added to their lead in the fifth, but the Hawks cut the lead to 5-4 in the sixth. Then came the fateful seventh as the Arrow lead record drops to 7-4, good for third place.

On Wednesday, Lowell traveled to Kenowa Hills and lost 10-0 in a mercy rule loss in six innings. Lowell managed eight hits for the day but could not put any runs on the board. Kenowa got on the board in the third with five runs. Five walks with two Knight hits did in the Red Arrows. Kenowa scored three more in the fourth and one each in the fifth and sixth. Lowell's Ronnie Watrous collected 3 hits while Micki Denman banged out two. The Arrows still hold down third place with a 7-5 record. On Thursday, Lowell hosted ex-Tri-River member Greenville, and won 10-1. Lowell jumped on top early scoring two runs in the second inning. An RBI single by Melanie Agostini and Debbie Crawford's double scored two runs. In the fourth Phyllis Beachler three run homer highlighted the 5 run inning. It was Beachler's third home run in the past week. In the sixth inning, six straight pinch hitters scored three more runs. LuAnn Howard, Michelle McGee walked and came home on Angie Pastor triple to right center. Pastor then scored on Darcie Rickert's double to the same spot. Phyllis Beachler allowed three hits in picking up her twelfth victory of the year, against six losses. The Red Arrows over all record is now 17-7.

AAA's public and private, state and federal campgrounds, compared to 63,000 last summer. There are 39,000 private campsites on the AAA guide and the average cost of a site with electricity is $8.42 per day, 53 cents more than last year. Prices range from $1.50 with electricity as the only amenity to $19 which also can include flush toilets, showers and at-site water hook-ups and trailer sanitation disposal. Private campgrounds included have from 30 to 1,000 sites with 75 percent offering access to a pool or lake. Most welcome telephone reservations. Campers using the state park's 14,378 sites will pay $8 nightly for a site with electricity, and a $4 reservation fee, both $1 higher than last year. Other fees, such as $4 for a rustic site, the $2 daily and $10 annual park entry permit, remain unchanged. Rustic site fees at Michigan's 3,000 state forest campgrounds still range from $1 to $4.

The next item for discussion was the question of "pool investing." Manager Quada explained that City funds are pooled with other community monies from all over Kent County. It is a significant benefit to the citizens of Lowell in earning higher interest percentages. Michigan Legislators are considering stopping of the practice. Funds are administered by the Kent County Treasurer's Office, and there has never been any problems with any of the monies being returned when their use is necessary. He recommended approval of a resolution urging Legislators to support the continuation of pool investing.

The following resolution was offered by Councilman Fonger for adoption, supported by Councilman Schneider.

WHEREAS, the Kenty County Treasurer's Office has successfully administered a pooled investment fund since 1978; and

WHEREAS, the investments of the pool earnings have consistently exceeded other investment vehicles available to governmental units regardless of size; and

WHEREAS, the earnings of the Pool are in large part contingent upon the large investment base and the portfolio management expertise of the county; and

WHEREAS, the Pool has proven extremely valuable, providing its participants with a safe, liquid and high yielding depository; and

WHEREAS, The concept of pooled investment is supported by existing legislation (P.A. 367, 1982); and

WHEREAS, the concept of pooled investment is supported by existing legislation (P.A. 367, 1982); and

WHEREAS, The pool has the unanimous support of the Kent County Treasurers Association and the Kent County Treasurer; and

WHEREAS, the pooled investment concept could be used by all counties of Michigan for the benefit of all Michigan citizens; and

WHEREAS, certain legal questions have jeopardized the Pool's existence,

NOW THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED that the Kent County Treasurers Association requests the State of Michigan to enact legislation to:

1. give express statutory authority for a government agent or agency within the State of Michigan to operate an investment pool for those units located within its jurisdiction and 2. satisfy any other legal considerations impeding operation of an investment pool.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the Ken County Treasurers Association encourages all interested government entities to work for expedient passage of legislation to minimize distraction to the investment programs of participating government units.

Carried.

Manager Quada then presented a request from the Gus Macker Tournament sponsors to again hold the Tournament in the City streets. He explained that all the neighbors have been contacted for their approval, and that there will be more court monitors, more traffic control, more parking facilities and more porta-johns than in past years. He stated that he was impressed with this year's handling of the details in advance, and recommended approval. He noted with interest the sponsors willingness to participate in the development of the Recreation Park Plan for future tournament play, with monetary donations.

IT WAS MOVED by Councilman Thompson that the request to hold the Macker Tournament in the streets be approved supported by Councilman Schneider.

Carried.

Manager Quada then presented to Council, copies of the proposed 1985-1986 Budget, and suggested setting the date of the May 21 Meeting as the required Public Hearing. He explained a drop in the millage levy to 11.67 to reflect a drop in the Assessed Valuation, and having to add a slight increase to reflect the adoption of the Parks Plan, making a total millage levy of 11.97 per thousand of Assessed Value.

He stated that there would be no charge in the water "readiness to serve" charge, it will remain at $6.50 per month. There will be a raise of 7 cents per thousand gallons on consumption, from 67 to 74 cents. Sewer charges have been 55% of water consumption, and will be raised to 65%. This is to expand the available funds for the expansion of the sewage treatment program.

He explained that there will be no more federal funds available to communities for such expansions, the City must bear all the cost for expansion and maintenance. $200,000 plus have been set aside for construction which, a. if funds become available again, can be used at the City's share, or b. the funds will have grown enough to take the stop for initial construction.

In the Parks category, additional manpower will be needed if we increase the number and size of the parks, and in the "Other Services" category, $20,000 will be set aside for Council discretion for use for recreation programs.

He continued that the City is in excellent financial standing, the State Equalized Valuation for Public Act exemptions is nowhere near the limit, and because of the proper use of federal REvenue Sharing Funds.

IT WAS MOVED by Councilman Schneider that May 21, and June 1 be set as Public Hearing dates for the proposed 1985-86 Budget, supported by Councilman Thompson.

Carried.

Manager Quada reminded Council of the Mayors Exchange program on Monday, May 20, when members of our Council will travel to the City of Hudson, and Wednesday, May 22, when we will entertain their City Officials.

There was no Citizen input or suggestions.

Under Council Remarks, Councilman Fonger asked about the snow Removal Ordinance. Manager Quada replied that it would be ready for Council review at the next meeting.

Under the Manager's Report, Manager Quada requested an executive session at the close of the meeting to discuss land acquisition and details of the Macker Tournament.

IT WAS MOVED by Councilman Collins that the Council adjourn into Executive Session at 9:34 p.m.

James D. Maatman, Mayor Ray E. Quada, City Clerk

Prepare for tornadoes

Tornado safety begins with preparedness and because spring tornadoes can be the most intense and dangerous, AAA Michigan cautions residents to get ready now.

"The most dangerous tornadoes generally occur in April, May and June," stated Bob Cullen, AAA Michigan's Home Safety and Security Program Manager. "Most tornadoes occur between 3 and 7 p.m., but they can happen at any time."

Since 1950, 234 Michigan residents have died in tornadoes, the fourth highest state total behind Texas, Mississippi and Arkansas. One of the worst tornadoes in recent years hit Kalamazoo at 3:58 p.m. May 13, 1980. Five persons died, 79 were injured and 83 buildings were destroyed.

"Advance planning is the key to tornado safety," said Cullen.

"It is important that all family members know the difference between the tornado alert signals," he said. "A tornado 'watch' means that weather conditions are suitable for a tornado to occur while a 'warning' means a tornado has been sighted or detected by radar."

In preparing for a tornado threat, residents should select a family shelter site and practice the fastest route to safety so every family member knows exactly what to do when a tornado alert is issued.

The best tornado shelter is a basement, primarily along interior walls, under a stairway or sturdy workbench for protection against falling debris. Items for the shelter site should include a radio, flashlight, extra batteries, first aid kit, and a supply of water.

"Most home insurance companies, including AAA Michigan, have tornado coverage in their basic policies, but every homeowner should make sure the insurance policy is up-to-date," Cullen said.

Because tornado winds can reach up to 300 miles an hour, homeowners should do preventive maintenance now to minimize possible damage. Steps may include making sure the roof is in good repair, notifying the utility companies of any sagging power or telephone lines and repairing loose gutters, shutters, storm windows and screens.

Mobile homes are one of the most dangerous places to be during a tornado. They are particularly vulnerable because of their surface area to weight ratio. They can be picked up easily, rolled and even hurled through the air.

They also are not structurally sound enough to withstand high winds and can come apart or even disintegrate. Nearly one-third of all persons killed in tornadoes last year in the nation were in mobile homes.

"Persons living in a mobile home should develop a safety plan which directs the family to the nearest shelter area at the first sign of danger," Cullen said. "Many mobile home parks have shelters on site, but any solid structure will give added safety."

"Persons in a mobile home when a tornado is sighted should leave the trailer immediately and lay flat on the ground in a low spot," he said. "The same procedure is advised for those in a car since the high winds also can pick up and roll a vehicle, and it is impossible to drive away from a tornado."

Persons in schools or office buildings during a tornado should keep away from large open rooms with ceilings that could collapse. They should stay close to walls and away from possible flying glass and debris.

"Persons who plan, prepare and practice now should be able to combat the dangers associated with a tornado," Cullen said.

Survival skills for adults

Kent County older youths and adults who want to learn more about wilderness survival should take advantage of the opportunity to participate in the 4-H Challenge wilderness adventure training program, says Deb Schuster, Kent County 4-H Program Assistant.

Through the 4-H Challenge program, participants learn a variety of skills, including hiking and backpacking, canoeing, cross-country skiing, orienteering, and wilderness cooking and survival.

According to Schuster, county residents interested in becoming part of the Challenge program and, after training, serving as group leaders for young people, should sign up now.

Schuster says that anyone interested in becoming a Challenge leader must attend four weekend intensive training sessions, pass a comprehensive written test, and take a Multi Media Standard First Aid and CPR course. Three of the four sessions will be held this summer, starting with a basic orientation session on June 28-30 at Kellogg Biological Station, Richland, MI. The fourth session will be held in January, 1986 to accommodate training in snowshoeing and cross-country skiing. All four training sessions will be held in the West Michigan area.

Additional training in areas such as climbing and rappelling, caving, survival, canoeing, kayaking, sailing, bike touring, winter survival (including skiing and snowshoeing) and wilderness backpacking is available.

"Because Challenge leaders will be involved in high adventure situations and be responsible for youngsters participating in wilderness outings, they must be prepared," Schuster points out. "After completing all the training, Challenge leaders become certified and are qualified to take youths on wilderness adventures."

"It's worth all the hard work and studying if you like the challenge of the out-of-doors," Schuster adds.

To be eligible for the 4-H Challenge certification program, applicants must be at least 21 years old. Young people age 16-20 years may become associate leaders, who must be accompanied by a certified adult leader when taking a group of youngsters on a Challenge outing. Training for both types of leader is identical.

Kent County residents interested in signing up for the 4-H Challenge leader certification program should contact Deb Schuster at the Kent County Cooperative Extension Services office by calling 774-3265.

The deadline for submitting completed applications to the Kent County Cooperative Extension Service Office is Friday, May 25. Cost for the training program is $50.00.

Timing is critical in garden planting

In gardening, timing is critical. Take the matter of planting, for instance.

Lee Taylor, Extension Horticulture specialist at Michigan State University, points out that garden vegetables are divided into two large groups: cool-weather crops and warm-weather crops. Which group a crop is in determines when it should be planted.

Cool-weather crops mature best before or after the hottest part of the growing season, so they're planted early in the spring or late in the summer, for a fall harvest. Warm-weather crops can't tolerate frost and may be damaged by temperatures in the 40s, so they're planted only after the soil has warmed up and the danger of frost is past.

Cool-weather crops include lettuce, the cole family of crops (cabbage, cauliflower, Brussels sprouts, broccoli, kohlrabi, Chinese cabbage), spinach, radishes, onion, peas and carrots. Warm-weather crops include tomatoes, peppers, eggplant, all the cucurbits (cucumbers, melons, summer and winter squash and pumpkins) and beans. Though sweet corn is usually grouped with the warm-weather crops because of its need for warm soil for germination (seed tends to rot if it sits too long in cool, damp soil), early varieties can be planted at least a couple of weeks before the last chance of frost.

Cool-weather crops that are planted late tend to germinate and grow quickly, but they often produce poorly or go to seed quickly in hot weather. Seeds of warm-weather crops planted too early in the spring either fail to germinate or germinate only after the soil has warmed up. If set in the garden as transplants, they fail to grow until the weather warms up or die from frost or cold injury.

Taylor provides the following planting guidelines:

Cool-weather crops: in mid-Michigan, plant the following crops from seed as soon as the soil is dry enough to work -- beets, endive, kohlrabi, leeks, lettuce, onions (seeds, sets or transplants), peas, radishes and spinach. In April, plant the above crops plus the cole crops as transplants, carrots collards, mustard, parsnips, potatoes, salify, Swiss chard and late in the month, sweet corn.

Such crops as lettuce, radishes and spinach can be planted several times at two-week intervals to provide a continuous harvest well into the summer. They can be planted again in the late July, August, or even September for fall harvest. Likewise, Chinese cabbage, cauliflower, cabbage, broccoli, kale, kohlrabi and mustard can be planted in July -- some in August -- to mature in the fall, after the weather cools off.

Warm-weather crops: begin to plant snap beans in early May. In late May (after May 20 in central Michigan), plant lima beans, cucumbers, melons, eggplant, okra, peppers, sweet potatoes, pumpkins, summer and winter squash, tomatoes and watermelons. Warm-weather crops planted much earlier than this may need protection against frost and low temperatures.
