High winds topple trees and down power lines

Wind gusts up to 60 miles per hour toppled a large tree in the northeast corner of the Riverside

Schoolyard last Friday, just after students had been sent back to their classrooms to prepare to leave school for the day. Runciman and Riverside students had been participating in their annual "Field Day" events near the tree all afternoon. One teacher said that his entire class was under the tree at one time in the afternoon. A starting line for one of the events was located where the tree fell. Fortunately the tree waited until after the students had gone inside, and a tragedy was averted.

Bob Cilley, Sales Manager at Vennen Chrysler, Dodge and Plymouth also got a lucky break last Friday. The high winds blew out a huge plate glass window next to his desk while Cilley was seated there using his phone. "I heard a crack, and was moving backwards before I even looked up," Cilley said. The glass completely covered his desk destroying his phone. Cilley's quick reflexes likely spared him from serious injury. Cilley jokingly said, "The biggest problem is that I had to organize my desk afterward."

Trees and limbs were down all over the area, and several Lowell

This wind toppled tree fell in an area of the Runciman School playground where students had been participating in their annual "Field Day" just a short time before.

Light and Power and Consumers Power customers were without electric service because of downed lines. Lowell residents with downed limbs and branches can deposit them at a brush pile in Recreation Park. Lowell City Manager Ray Quada said that in emergency situations the city makes a collection site available for storm damaged limbs and branches, but no household refuse is allowed. The brush will be burned by the fire department later.

Drug bust nets four from Lowell

Kent County Sheriff's Deputies arrested eleven Kent County residents and are seeking four more as the result of a six month investigation of a "loose knit" drug dealing operation. Two juveniles and two adults from the Lowell area were among those arrested.

Robert Lee Moore, 20, was charged with one count of delivering LSD and Robert Reedy, 19, was charged with one count each of delivering LSD and delivering marijuana. The two juveniles were accused of selling LSD, and were arraigned in Kent County Juvenile Court.

Those arraigned were described by Sheriff's Department official as "street level" dealers. Sheriff's Department officers worked under cover to infiltrate the group that allegedly dealt drugs to a broad cross-section of individuals in the area.

OFF THE BLOTTER

Lowell officers investigated 18 accident reports in the city during the month of May, 4 of which resulted in injuries.

A 16 year old juvenile from Lowell struck a parked car in the 900 block of west Main early Thursday morning, May 30th. Two other parked vehicles were also damaged in the accident as the first parked car was shoved into the others. There were three injuries.

Hubert Gibson, 22, of Lowell, backed from a private drive into a parked car on Amity near Main Street on Tuesday afternoon, May 28th. No injuries were reported.

Issued an appearance ticket to appear in 63rd District Court at a later date was Richard Mockerman, 30, of Lowell on charges of storage of inoperable motor vehicles upon residential property.

Reported to Lowell Officers Friday, May 24th, was a hit and run accident which occurred in Eberhard's parking lot to a vehicle registered to Susan Sanic, of Lowell.

Cited into 63rd District Court at a later date on charges of shoplifting was Dawn Irwin, 25, of Lowell. She was apprehended by store employees Sunday, June 2nd at Eberhard's.

No injuries were reported in an accident which occurred Saturday morning, June 1st on Main Street near Jefferson when a car driven by Sandra Fetterhoff, 34, of Lowell was struck from behind by a pick-up truck driven by Kenneth Maddux, 31, also of Lowell.

Council approves 1985-86 Budget; okays fire truck deal with county

The Lowell City Council approved the city's annual budget for 1985-86 at their regular meeting of Monday, June 3. Lowell City Manager Ray Quada explained that a levy of 11.475 mills would be necessary to balance the nearly $3 million budget. The millage is up from last year's 11.23 mills. Quada said, "I am confident that the citizens recognize that we are making every effort to keep a leash on taxes and rising costs". Quada added, "The obvious and most significant increases in water and sewer rates are necessary to offset increased treatment cost and to continue saving for a new wastewater treatment plant". The average water and sewer bill for a Lowell homeowner will go up about $1.95 per month.

The council also approved an agreement with the Kent County Fire Commission concerning the recent purchase of a new $64,500 FMC pumper truck. The issue arose recently when it was discovered that the main pump on the county owned 1971 International Harvester pumper truck was in need of replacement. After seeking bids on the necessary repairs it was determined that the truck was not worth the roughly $20,000 it would take to put it back into service. The city is scheduled for a new truck from the county in 1987, but the council voted last month to go ahead and purchase the new pumper as it was a demo model and immediately available. A reserve fund established for public safety purchases was used.

The city then entered into negotiations with the County Fire Commission and struck a deal which gives the city title to the worn out truck, $6,000 in lieu of repairs and keeps the city in line for either a new pumper or tanker in 1987 as previously scheduled. The new city owned pumper will also be inserted into the county's maintenance program and will be serviced the same as county owned trucks. The city has the option of salvaging equipment from the old truck and scrapping it, or possibly modifying it into a rescue unit to replace the blue rescue van that is currently being used.

Quada told the council that the agreement was a good one in his opinion, and that it is as good as the city could have hoped for prior to entering into negotiations with the county.

A proposition from the Lowell Moose Lodge concerning the sale of a parcel of property to the city was also discussed. The Moose owns a large parcel of land bounded by Front Street, Division Street, the Grand River and the C&O Railroad. The land has been offered to the city $35,000. The council is interested in the land because it would mean that the city would then own all the property on the north bank of the Grand from Division Street to Hudson Street, and the Moose parcel could become parking with a pedestrian walkway under the C&O trestle to other city owned property west of the railroad tracks.

The council decided to offer the Moose Lodge $20,000 for the land, and let the Moose establish the $15,000 difference as a gift to the city.

Local businessman Gerald Patton and attorney Michael Tummino have recently purchased the building at 311 East Main Street and approached the council with a plan for installing windows and a door on the east side of the structure. The problem is that the building adjoins the city owned pocket park, and any traffic into the building through the proposed entrance on the east side would have to cross through the park.

Patton and Tummino plan to renovate the front portion of the 2,000 sq. ft. building into office space for Tummino's law practice. The rear of the building would also be rented as office space. The side entrance is necessary to provide a second fire exit for both offices. The windows would be placed high enough so that employees in the offices couldn't look directly out into the park, or vice versa.

The councilmembers had many reservations about the proposal, and Councilman Bill Thompson recommended that it be sent to the planning commission for their inspection. The council concurred with Thompson's suggestion, and the issue was tabled.

The council also approved a request from State Liquor Control Commission to strike Harry and Robert Larkins' names from the liquor license for Larkin's Saloon. Steve Larkin is now the sole name on that license.

Senator Dick Posthumus

The second year of the Outstate Equity program generated nearly as much debate as the first year, and the matter was finally resolved with overwhelming bipartisan support of Senate Bill 128.

The whole issue was raised last spring when budget discussions centered on Detroit's annual grant of $34 million for its "jewels" such as the Detroit Institute of Arts, the Detroit Zoo and other city attractions. Senate Republicans decided other cities in the outstate area deserved grant money as well, and set up a $4 million fund for cultural attractions in 19 cities throughout the state.

This year, lawmakers claimed the program was unfair to smaller outstate cities not eligible for the money. During discussion, amendments were offered abolishing the aid package for all cities, cutting the equity aid appropriation in half and withholding Detroit equity aid money until Mayor Young designated two prison sites in the city.

The agreement worked out by the committee members made most legislators happy. The Detroit aid package remains the same, allotting $34.2 million for the city. Aid to suburban and outstate cities is increased to $6 million, with $4 million available to large cities and $2 million available to smaller areas.

Large municipalities, having a population over 50,000, are eligible for grants up to $500,000 under the Senate-passed plan. Smaller localities, under 50,000 residents, are eligible to receive up to $100,000 grants. The money is available to help fund cultural centers such as museums, libraries, zoos and convention centers.

In addition, the newest proposal does not limit participation to specific cities—any municipality is eligible to apply for the grants. The funding level will be decided by the State Commerce Department and the Legislature will have oversight authority.

There's no guarantee this proposal will be approved by the House or that the Governor will agree to sign it into law. However, considering the heated and divisive debate this proposal generated, the final result proves how the governmental process can bring strongly opposite factions to a near-consensus decision.

Did You Know?

Parent-Teacher groups in our Lowell Elementary Schools play a very important part in the educational program offered to our students. With the money earned from fund raisers, they are able to finance areas not budgeted within the school's financial budget. Here are some samplings:

BUSHNELL - The parents in this school have purchased much-needed equipment and supplies, including computer software. The school's Art Enhancement program and special assemblies have been supplemented by the group's funds. $2,000.00 has been put toward the improvement of the playground area. Annual subscriptions of magazines for teacher-use and resource material are purchased by the Parent-Teacher Club.

RUNCIMAN-RIVERSIDE - The Runciman organization at this school has begun a long-range playground and landscaping project, of which they put $1500.00 into during this school year. The project will continue into the next year. They have also supplemented assemblies and Art Enhancement programs, along with offering an Art Day to students. Books for the school library are purchased each year with Book Fair profits. The group runs and financially supports a "Publishing Center", which prints the Young Author's books written by the elementary students.

ALTO - The Parent-Teacher club of Alto has many annual projects they finance and support, as well as special ones during each school year. They range from sand for their playground to purchasing books for their library. Library books are purchased with profits received from their Book Fair. Special assemblies and Art programs are supplemented by the group's budget, as was this year's Science Fair. Field Trips taken by each grade level at Alto were paid up to $200 per trip for expenses. A first for Alto this year was having their fifth graders attend the Aman Park Indian Trail Campgrounds, near Standale, for several days, giving the students learning experiences in many outdoor-related areas. $225.00 was given by the Parent club toward this event. Also, money was given towards the purchase of a projector and cart.

As you can see, our Parent-Teacher groups are very vital to a well-rounded educational program for our elementary students. If you are a member of one of these groups, you should feel very proud that so much has been accomplished during this school year. Hats off to you and thank you for caring for the elementary students of Lowell Area Schools!

HOMESPUN DEVOTIONS

by Pauline E. Spray

Nay, in all things we are more than conquerors through him that loved us" (Romans 8:37).

It was amusing to watch three youngsters as they played leapfrog over some large rocks, purposely placed on the lawn to keep the cars off. But one of the children astonished me most of all.

She was about ten years old and walking with crutches. However, her inability to walk with two good legs didn't stop her from engaging with the others in their game. She merely put her crutches on either side of the huge rocks. Then using her one good foot as a lever, she went over the boulders easily, managing to keep but a step behind the other children in their play.

How often we are prone to make excuses! It is so easy to look at our difficulties and say, "I just can't make it! If things

Buying a home . . . here are some tips for you

Making a decision on buying a home this spring demands as much skill as predicting the weather: You have to guess on which way interest rates are heading, decide between hundreds of different mortgages, calculate a budget to make the monthly payments and you have to find just the right home.

Buying a home is the biggest investment most people ever make and it demands some personal financial savvy to get the best deal you can, according to the Michigan Association of CPAs. Only one in four U.S. households has enough income to support today's median-priced home. Mortgage lenders, facing the highest rate of foreclosures since the Great Depression, are talking about stricter income qualifications for borrowers.

Qualifying for a mortgage: Most mortgage lenders say your monthly housing costs may not exceed 28 percent of your monthly gross income. Your total long-term borrowings, which includes your housing payments and any other debts with a term of more than six months, cannot exceed 33 percent of your monthly gross income to qualify for most mortgages.

Shopping for a mortgage: "There are two things you have to do in choosing a mortgage," says Jim Kropp, a CPA who buys properties for a major real estate firm. "The first is shop and the second is to shop some more."

A quick way of shopping is by using electronic mortgage brokers. The largest of these computerized mortgage brokers has 25 lenders from around the nation offering variations on eight or nine different mortgages. This allows you to shop for mortgages from lenders across the country. You can usually request printouts of the mortgage payments from computerized brokers and use them for further comparison shopping.

Appreciation: With the current rate of appreciation on real estate remaining steady at about five percent, those who are buying a home as an investment should think twice, says Kropp, of the AICPA's Real Estate Committee. "In the case of a Yuppie, for instance, it may be better to hold off buying a condo or town house," he says. "It may pay for them to rent and invest their savings in a Certificate of Deposit (C.D.), rather than tie their money up in a home they plan to sell soon." Single family homes, by the way, are appreciating at a faster rate than condos.

Taxes: If you're buying a second home, you may want to wait until the battle over the budget deficit ends. The Treasury Department's tax proposal would end mortgage interest deductions on second homes, casting some doubt on the market for vacation homes.

Subsidizing mortgages: Find out about any low-interest mortgages that may be offered in your state. However, these programs are usually directed at first-time buyers.

Mortgage points are deductible: When you're purchasing a home, any points you pay up front are generally deductible in the year you pay them. You can secure an immediate tax benefit by paying up front, rather than tacking them on your mortgage.

Sweat equity: If you can't afford the home you want, find one in the same neighborhood that needs to be fixed up. Generally, a home that needs a fresh coat of paint and some elbow grease sells for 10 to 15 percent below its potential value.

Letters To The Editor

As a community coordinator for the Washington-based Close Up Foundation, I recently had the opportunity to work with approximately 250 high school students from across the Grand Rapids area who traveled to the capital city to participate in the Close Up Foundation government studies program.

Over the past several weeks, the Grand Rapids area students participated in a series of week-long seminars on the issues and processes of the federal government as they questioned members of Congress, political experts, lobbyists, journalists, and policy-makers. The students behaved maturely and responsibly and were always prepared to ask intelligent and pertinent questions of the speakers.

The students were not selected based on academic achievements nor on extracurricular involvement or on ability to pay; the program was open to anyone. Because of the diversity of students, they shared their viewpoints on the issues facing the nation.

Through the efforts of the schools, teachers, parents and the entire community, the students had the opportunity to travel to Washington. For many of the student and the teachers, the program would not be possible without fellowships provided each participating school which are supported by a host of local individuals, businesses and philanthropic organizations. In addition, many businesses and organizations in your area helped sponsor individual students.

I want to applaud everyone whose combined efforts make the program a successful one for the students.

Sincerely,
Barbara Krebs

LHS Softball Team loses heartbreaker

On Saturday, Lowell Red Arrows softball team traveled to Greenville to play league champs Northview Wildcats in State District play and almost pulled off an upset. However, it was not to be as Northview defeated Lowell 3-2, in a hard fought and well played game. Lowell outhit the Wildcats 7-3 while neither team committed an error. All conference pitchers, Phyllis Beachler and Kelley Drake faced each other for the third time this year, with Beachler winning the battle but Drake the war. Beachler allowed just 3 hits but Denise Felix's first inning triple with two runners on by walks, gave Northview a 2-0 lead. Margaret Patulski then bunted in Felix to close out the Northview scoring for the inning and the game. Beachler then settled down and allowed only a third inning single to Felix the rest of the game.

The Arrows had plenty of chances leaving 9 runners on base for the game, and at least one in each inning. The Arrows scored in the third when Micki Denman collected her second single of the game. Phyllis Beachler then singled to left and Trisha Stencl walked to load the bases. Dianna Miller then drove a shot through the box to score two runs and bring Arrows within one run. The Arrows threatened in the fifth by putting two runners on base with only one out but Drake got tough and got the last two outs on a strike out and a ground out. In the seventh, the Arrows again threatened with Dianna Miller's double to right center with two outs and a runner on first base, but a well executed relay throw nailed the runner at home for the final out of the game.

The Arrows finished the 1985 campaign with a 19-9 record, and a third place in league play with a 8-6 record.

Phyllis Beachler, Chris Crawford and Trisha Stencl are the three seniors that are closing out their careers at Lowell. Beachler is a four year starter on the varsity. She patrolled the outfield for her first three years and then took over mound duties this season. Crawford, is a two year starter who DH last year and then took over first base this year. Stencl is a three year starter who guarded left field and saw some spot duty on the mound. All three will be missed and the team wishes them the best in years ahead.

I did this same thing last year, so I feel like I'm cheating on writing my column. I received a bundle of great letters from a grade school class that toured the Ledger last week, and I just have to share some of them with you. Mr. Goff's second graders from the Runciman/Riverside School are responsible for the letters. There are 22 letters, and even though they are all very flattering, I'm afraid time and space won't allow us to print them all. I will attempt to pick some that are representative of the the group.

Dear Mr. Brown, I like everything in there. You are nice and pretty and cute. I like the cutting paper. (hydraulic paper cutter) I like the ofis (office) and the safe. I like the paper printer. I like the camu. (camera) Sincerely Derica Kennedy

Dear Mr. Brown, I had a raddit. (rabbit) We had to give it away. Because it bit me. And the one that we gave the rabbit to, he had to get rid of him. Sincerely, April Ransom

Dear Mr. Brown, I like the paper. It was neat. I like you. It was fun. It is sad that some children are missing. The coputer screen was small. Sincerely, Ronda Lowe

Dear Mr. Brown, I like you. It was fun. I'm going to Florida. I wish you could come. I think you are neat by. Sincerely, Roy Golebiewski

Dear Mr. Brown, Those machines are cool! I liked it when your usistant (assistant) printed: This is Mr Goff's class. well see you later by! Sincerely Joe Casares

Dear Mr. Brown, I liked the things you showed us like the printing machine. Its fun there. Sincerely Isaac Chandler

Dear Mr. Brown, I like your machine. But I like the computer best of all, will you put mine in the newspaper? Do you like my writing? You mite see some rips in the letter. Or one. I like you a lot. Sincerely Jason Pecor

Dear Mr. Brown, I like the machines. I like the typewriter. It was fun there. I like the metal. Have a nice day. Dennis Jackson

Dear Mr. Brown, I like the Camra machine. And I like the newspaper machine. How are you doing? Im doing fine. I like you and the workers. Sincerly B.J. Rittersdorf

Dear Mr. Brown, Thank you for the stuff. (we pass out note pads, copies of the Ledger and instruction on how to make a paper pressman's hat) I like it a lot. I like everything!!! You are nice!!! I have to go now but I had fun!!!!!!!!!!!!!! Sincerly Karyn Rogers

Dear mr. Brown, How are you doing. I like the machines the best and you too. I like you because you are very very cool! You are very very speical to me. I like the Showboat the best. Sincerly Dana Radle

Somehow I get the sneaking suspicion that Mr. Goff may have tipped the kids off to the fact that the letters saying nice things about me might get first preference to be printed. Whoever said, "flattery will get you nowhere"? It will get your name in the Ledger if nothing else. Thanks kids, your letters were wonderful. You are welcome to come back and visit anytime.

Band plays at Adult Ed. Graduation Sign up for summer reading clubs

Lowell Community Education's adult graduation ceremony was greatly enhanced Thursday night, May 30, by the performance of our Lowell Community Band. Under the direction of Lowell High School band director, Bob Rice, and past LHS band director, Orval Jessup, the band played several selections while guests of the graduates were arriving and being seated. Then, marching to the strains of the traditional "Pomp and Circumstance", the graduates made their way to the stage. After a welcome by Gordon Gould, Community Ed Night Supervisor, Reverend Bill Amundsen of the First United Methodist Church of Lowell gave the invocation. Dick Korb, Principal of Lowell High School, delivered the commencement address, after which the graduates proudly received their diplomas from Lowell School Board President, Roger Kropf. A reception immediately followed the graduation ceremony, attended by teachers, fellow-students, family, and friends of the graduates.

The community band will not meet during the summer months, but will resume again in September. Anyone interested in joining will be most welcome.

Children's Service Librarian Mary Johnson has been visiting schools throughout the county and inviting children ages 3-15 to visit their local Kent County Library branch the week of June 10 to sign up for summer reading clubs and programs.

Get Career Guidance from WMU

Children of Western Michigan University alumni recently were offered help in selecting a career through the WMU offices of Alumni Relations and Testing and Evaluation Services.

Among the students participating in the career assessment program were: Tim Hoffus and Todd Webster, both of Ada, and Bob Johnston, of Alto.

A "Career Guidance Inventory" developed by WMU was administered to more than 200 children of alumni who are high school juniors and seniors. While a majority of students participating in the program this year were from Southwest Michigan, some drove from Detroit and as far away as Cleveland to take advantage of this opportunity.

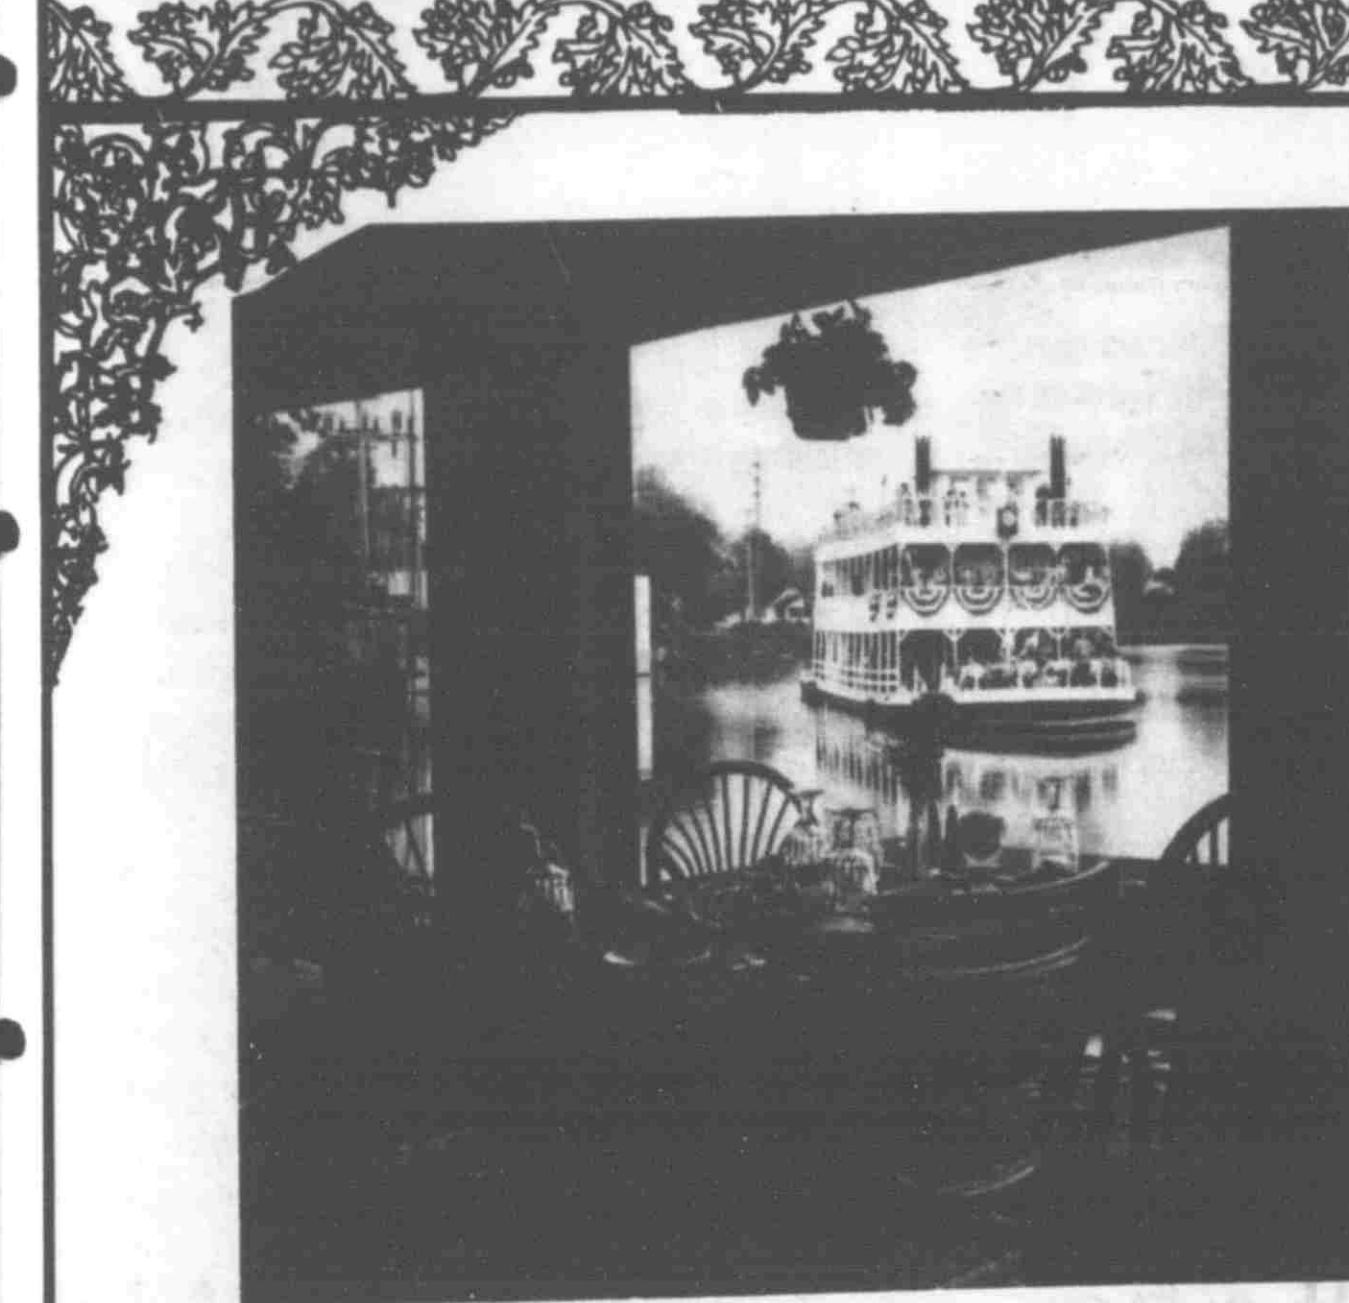

"This program first was offered in 1983 and each year the interest has grown," said M. Jamie Jeremy, WMU director of alumni relations.

The inventory, which also is used with Western students, consists of four parts, according to Laurence H. Berman, director of Testing and Evaluation Services: a diagnostic achievement test to determine a student's skills in mechanics, mathematics, science, and English; a personal assessment that matches a student's personality with occupations; a value assessment to determine what a student wants out of a job; and an interest assessment to show willingness to do a job and interest in success.

Western's Career Guidance Inventory, now used by several other colleges, first was administered in 1972 and is taken annually by about 2,000 persons across the state.

Protect from drinking drivers

A new pamphlet "How to Protect Yourself from Drinking Drivers," is just off the press, Secretary of State Richard Austin announced today. The Pamphlet, available in all Secretary of State branch offices, tells how to recognize drivers who may have been drinking, when drinking drivers may be encountered on highways and what can be done to avoid them. Austin said that a total of 1,331 highway deaths occurred in Michigan in 1983 and 1,551 in 1984. Alcohol was involved in more than half in both years. Despite efforts of public and private agencies, law enforcement and safety organizations, alcohol-involved highway deaths have increased, he said. The pamphlet is designed to help drivers become aware of the problems of drinking and driving, how to recognize a driver who has been drinking and how to protect yourself.

The year 1934 saw the production of an immensely strong synthetic fiber later patented under the name nylon. It was first used as bristles for toothbrushes.

Mayor Maatman opened the Public Hearing on the Proposed 1985-86 Budget.

Manager Quada explained that he had some "good news-bad news" concerning the budget. In preparing the new budget, he inadvertently picked up the wrong figure of 11.97 for the millage levy, which instead should have been 11.475, the good news. The bad news is, that the millage rate after the reduction in S.E.V. is to 10.650, making the increase .825 mills.

Councilman Schneider asked if there would be a 4 1/2% increase across the board for wage and salary adjustments.

Manager Quada replied that merit raises have been the policy in the past, on an individual basis. Some may perhaps be 4 1/2%, some more, some less.

There being no questions or comments from the audience, Mayor Maatman closed the hearing at 8:09 p.m.

Manager Quada then updated the Council on the Parks Plan, stating that as originally drawn on the Plan for the West End Park, soccer fields will be incorporated into the area. There just is no reasonable time frame in which to plan soccer fields for an area in the newly acquired property adjacent to Recreation Park, because of all the studies and restrictions that will have to be met over the next several years regarding the location of indian burial grounds, duck breeding grounds, etc. He also stated that bids will be received in the next two weeks for the final construction of the softball diamond.

Also, the Riverside Dr. parking area is being targeted for set-up between June 15 and 20.

He also reported that Memorial Day is the obvious time of the year for concern and complaints about the condition of Oakwood Cemetery. City crews will move in this week and will have everything mowed and trimmed before the holiday. He stated that he is sympathetic to family concern for members buried there, however, the cemetery covers 26 acres and there are approximately 3,500 headstones to trim around, and 1,200 separate lots to mow. With the extra park property now being developed, personnel have to be taken off one project and sent to another, there just aren't enough people to go around, one more reason for the increase in the proposed budget for hiring parks personnel. There are perhaps 10 to 20 complaints in any given year, if that many, and for that size cemetery, if the City were doing that poor a job, there would be many more.

Council then discussed a request from the Lowell Chamber of Commerce for a donation to the 4th of July Fireworks fund. Manager Quada stated that the Chamber has changed the policy from past years in which fireworks were ordered, then donations were sought, and finally begged for. This year, donations have been collected in advance, $1,500 worth. They are asking the City for a 50% matching donation, to order a $3,000 display. He stated that in contacting other communities in the area, all contribute to their fireworks fund on a yearly basis. He recommended approval, stating that the $1,000 discretionary fund from the Look-Daley funds could be used if Council wished. Councilman Collins stated that he felt that City funds should be used instead of the Look discretionary fund, leaving those monies for an emergency-type basis if needed. Council concurred.

IT WAS MOVED by Councilman Collins that $1,500 be appropriated from the City's Council Discretionary Fund for donation to the Lowell Chamber of Commerce for the July 4th Fireworks Display, supported by Councilman Schneider.

Carried.

Under Citizen Input, Mr. Howard Acheson, Mr. Jim Briggs and Mr. A.J. Zengri, representatives of the Lowell Moose Club were present to offer the City a proposal for approximately 22.8 acres of riverfront property on Front Street for development as part of the City's Park Plan.

Mr. Acheson stated that with the newly acquired building on E. Main Street, near the City Limits, there is no need to build on the riverfront property, and the club wishes to sell the property. The Moose Club would consider a sale price of about $30,000, with a donation back to the City of $10,000 to $12,000. They have owned the property for seven years, and have paid approximately $13,000 for fill dirt. The current assessed value is $14,000.

Manager Quada and Council concurred that they would like an opportunity to meet in executive session to discuss the proposal, and that the earliest that they could make any kind of an offer would be the June 30 meeting, after discussion.

The Moose Club representatives agreed to wait until the June 3 date before taking any other action.

Also under Citizen Input, Mr. Ray Ingersoll and Mr. Steve Ireland were present to ask about letters received from the Lowell Police Department in Mr. Ireland's neighborhood, regarding 4.7 of the City's Code of Ordinances, on not allowing trash debris, junk cars, etc. to collect on private property.

Mr. Ingersoll cited City owned property on N. Washington Street having lightpoles, cable wire, broken concrete stockpiled in the yard, and asked how the City could enforce the junk law on private citizens, when they don't take care of their own property.

Manager Quada replied that he was not aware of any letters having been sent, but would look into the matter, and that he also was not aware of any problem with the property on N. Washington, that being under the Jurisdiction of the Lowell Light and Power Co., but that if there is a problem, he would see to it that it is cleaned up immediately.

A lengthy discussion followed on the subject, on how properties in the City are picked for citing of the Storage of trash and junk section of the Ordinance.

Another discussion followed on the possibility of getting a traffic light in front of the McDonald's-Eberhard's entrances on W. Main Street, due to the climbing accident rate. Manager Quada again explained the State Highway's position on trading a traffic light for the removal of downtown parking on Main Street in the business district.

Mr. Acheson also asked what percentage of interest the City gets on the Look-Daley Fund. Manager Quada replied that this year the funds are earning 12.76% on approximately $790,000 to $800,000. There are an additional $410,000 in U.S. Treasury Notes.

Under Council Remarks, Councilmembers reported on attending the Mayors Exchange Day activities in the City of Hudson. Councilman Thompson stated that it was a very nice community comparable to Lowell. Councilman Fonger reported that they had been impressed by their bank, an old home that has been restored to its original condition.

Councilman Schneider asked if there would be any grading done in the Riverside Dr. parking area. Manager Quada replied, no, just tree-planters and diverters on a temporary basis until Fall, to see if the program is workable.

Mayor Maatman stated that he was impressed by the community spirit in the City of Hudson. People have donated buildings, and the money to fix them up to the City to enhance their community.

He also stated that the Helen Look Daley Committee is interested in the Tree Program for the entire City, and is waiting for a proposal from the City.

Under the Manager's Report, Mr. Quada reminded Council that Councilmembers from Hudson would be here tomorrow for the second half of the Mayors Exchange Day program.

He then requested an executive session at the close of the Regular Meeting to discuss land acquisition.

IT WAS MOVED by Councilman Schneider that the meeting be adjourned into executive session at 9:01 P.M.

Approved: June 3, 1985

News from Congressman PAUL HENRY

Making government run more efficiently should be a primary goal of both the executive and legislative branches of government. Recognizing that, early in his first term President Reagan created the President's Private Sector Survey on Cost Control—commonly known as the Grace Commission—to critique government management policies and make recommendations for improvements.

The Grace Commission made its final report to the President in January 1984. Since then, their recommendations have been an excellent reference for cutting budget waste. The Commission made 2,478 individual recommendations, many of which do not require direct Congressional approval. Most of these common sense proposals already have been put in place by the President.

It is time for Congress to get in the act. Some of the Grace recommendations are controversial.

going beyond simple cost efficiency to suggest changes in longstanding government policies. Although many of these suggestions also have merit, Congress has the responsibility to verify these savings and propose legislation to incorporate the most meritorious ideas.

Toward that end, I have joined with other Members of Congress in organizing the Grace Commission Causus, This bipartisan group reviews legislative proposals which incorporate Grace Commission ideas, and educates other Members of Congress on feasible Grace Commission recommendations.

Our group has joined with other Members in cosponsoring a number of legislative initiatives. House Resolution 60 requires the Grace Commission pertinent to its area of jurisdiction. House Concurrent Resolution 144 sets up a cooperative relationship with the President to help revise federal laws and regulations to carry out the best suggestions of the Commission. My colleagues and I are currently trying to gather support for these initiatives.

I have also cosponsored six additional bills which incorporate Grace Commission recommendations with savings estimated at almost $25 billion. The proposals range from streamlining federal computer systems to reforming Department of Defense management and purchasing procedures.

Even if some of the Grace Commission recommendations do not achieve the level of savings claimed or propose unwise changes in current policy, they have served a very useful function in focusing attention on government waste and proposing practical alternatives in many areas of government inefficiency. It's time Congress started giving them serious consideration.

Poison Ivy

Most, if not all of us, have probably experienced the rash of poison ivy at one time or another. This irritating rash is probably responsible for more visits to the doctor than any other skin condition.

Poison ivy is a contact dermatitis caused by exposure to the plant Rhus toxicodendron. For all practical purposes, poison ivy causes the same rash as poison sumac or poison oak. After contact with the plant, a resin is left on the skin which penetrates the epidermis and reacts with a protein which then leads to an allergic reaction. This reaction can take a couple of hours to several days to fully develop.

This explains the continued appearance of the rash after exposure to poison ivy. The rash is not spread by itching or contact with someone that has the rash. The rash will only develop where the resin comes in contact with the skin.

The rash of poison ivy is quite characteristic. Small fluid filled vesicles or blisters form, which cause severe itching. The vesicles may burst, leading to crusting and oozing. Swelling is common, especially on the face and eyelids.

Treatment of mild cases can be managed at home by applying cool compresses three or four times daily for 30 minutes. Burrow's solution can be made by dissolving the contents of one packet (available at any pharmacy) in a pint of cold water. Between applications, the solution can be refrigerated to assure proper temperature of the compresses. Drying agents such as caladryl can be applied. Benadryl (soon available over-the-counter) can be taken three or four times daily if needed for itching. In more severe cases, systemic steroids may be prescribed by your doctor. Avoidance of contact with the plant is the best medicine. There is no indication that shots will desensitize a person to poison ivy.

Robots at library

Kent county youth ages 6-12 are invited to visit any of 16 Kent County Library branches the week of June 17-21 to help construct robots to serve as the branch summer reading mascot. Children should bring clean cans, bolts, aluminum foil, boxes, pop can tabs or anything else they think will lend character to the robot.

"Robots seem to be all the craze these days so I hope the children will be enthused and join the fun," says Children's Services Coordinator Mary Frydrych. "This will be a good opportunity for the children to be creative and make a weekly book-borrowing visit to the branch."

Displays of new books on robotics will also be available for the children to peruse and check-out. Children should check with their local branch for the specific date and time of this event which is, of course, free. Also, children are not expected to stay the entire day but may participate as long as they'd like. Librarians will be available throughout to assist and supervise.

Also during this same week, the Kentwood, Caledonia, Cutlerville and Cascade branches will host STORYBOOK BEARS, a film and story time for children ages 3-8. This program will be repeated at the other Kent County Library branches later in the summer.

Complete schedules of summer events are available at local county library branches or by calling the Children's Services Department at 774-3253.

New trees to grace Main St.

Lowell's Main Street from Washington to Amity Streets will undergo a dramatic change over the next few weeks. Large trees in exposed aggregate concrete containers, like the three pictured above, will be placed about three to a block on both sides of the street. The 40 trees are being leased by the city for a five year period at a cost of about $54,000. At the end of the five years, these trees will be outgrowing the containers, and will be planted along city right-of-ways throughout the community. The downtown containers will essentially serve as a nursery while at the same time provide beauty to the central business district. The company leasing the trees is entirely responsible for their maintenance over the five year period and guarantees to replace any that should die.

3-year-old lands whopper

Three-year-old Christy Holz hooked this three and one half pound bass while fishing with her father Bill Holtz last Wednesday. The pair were fishing on the Grand River near the Hudson Street Bridge. Bill said he had Christy's hook baited with a softshell crawfish in hopes that she might hook a big carp just for fun. If anybody is interested, Bill headed back to the river to let the still lively bass go. Remember...he likes softshell crawfish.
