New Riverside parking mall spawns criticism

Temporary precast concrete parking bumpers, street barriers and signs have been installed on Riverside north of Main Street and in the municipal parking lot in the west 200 block of Main Street. The signs and barriers re-route traffic in the area to one way (north) on Riverside to the north entrance of the parking lot, one way (west) through the north aisle of the parking lot and one way (east) through the south aisle. The project was designed to establish more parking in the area, and create a smoother flow of traffic.

The barriers and signs have all been placed temporarily to allow the design to be changed if aspects of it don't work well. Once the bugs have been worked out of the scheme, the islands will be filled with earth, and planted with trees and shrubs. Permanent signs will also be installed.

There are some complaints about the new plan already. Duane Lambert, owner of Lambert Variety feels that the whole design should be much simpler, and thus provide more parking spaces. Lambert thinks the island next to his store, and near the Main Street corner should be much smaller to allow for two or three more parking spaces. He also says that the big island at the east end of the parking lot could be eliminated if both aisles of traffic flowed west through the parking lot. "That would create room for a few more spaces there", Lambert explained. Lambert also feels that there is room for several angle parking spaces north of the parking lot on the west side of Riverside if Riverside was made one-way to Elm Street. "We aren't really gaining any parking with the set-up we've got, said Lambert. "I'm glad to see the city doing something in the area, but I think it needs a little more thought", he said. "Installing these things (the barriers) on a trial basis was a good move", Lambert added.

Curt Albrecht, owner of Curt's Sound and Home Arcade (Radio Shack) has some negative views on the new design too. Albrecht's complaint is that the flow of traffic behind his building and the other stores in the 200 block is reversed from what it has been for years. "It's very hard to get people to change their ways", he said. "People are used to entering the alley from the east, and now they've got to do just the opposite", he added. "The big delivery trucks are going to have a tough time entering the alley from Broadway", Albrecht said. "I drove a rig for thirteen years, and I know how hard it is to make a turn like that", he said. Albrecht agreed with Lambert's contention that more parking could be made available if traffic flowed west through the alley (or south aisle of the parking lot) since the biggest diverter island could be eliminated.

The barriers were just installed late last week. Lowell City Manager Ray Quada has been on vacation, and unavailable for comment about the new parking area. When Quada returns later this week he will likely begin assessing comments about the design of the parking area.

OFF THE BLOTTER

Lowell officers investigated 22 accident complaints in the month of July. Five resulted in injuries.

Jerald Ritz, 18, of Ionia, slammed into the rear of a car driven by Jack Reimer, 58, also of Ionia, on West Main Street at Pleasant Street, Wednesday morning, July 31. A passenger in Reimer's car, 54-year old Margie Reimer suffered minor injuries in the accident.

A 15-year old Ada boy was hospitalized Wednesday morning from injuries he suffered when he ran in front of a semi-tractor on Hudson Street near Bowes Road. According to witnesses, the driver of the truck, Elmer Graham, 70, of Lowell, had no chance to avoid the accident. The youth suffered closed head injuries and a broken leg. He is reported to be recovering from his injuries.

A 16-year old unlicensed youth from Lowell lost control of the car he was driving on Main near Hudson Street on Tuesday, July 30. He ran over a street sign, knocked over 15 feet of fence, a small tree, and tore up 21 feet of lawn, before striking a house. The youth suffered no injuries.

Nicole Divine, 25, of Lowell had her car struck by a vehicle operated by a 16 year old Juvenile from Belleville, Michigan on Monday afternoon, July 29. Mechanical problems in the steering of the Juvenile's car prevented him from avoiding the accident. No one was hurt.

School Board Notes:

Oct. 7 millage vote set

The Lowell Board of Education held a special meeting on Monday, August 5, 1985 at 7:30 P.M. in the Board offices. Following the payment of bills, the Board granted a child care leave to Mary Dewey during the 1985-86 school year. In other personnel matters, the Board approved the employment of Marie Font as an elementary teacher at Bushnell Elementary School, and hired Bill Ingraham as the high school arts and crafts teacher, and Steve Kampfshulte as high school social studies teacher. Also hired was Sally Sterly as a 2nd grade teacher at Bushnell.

In the next item of business the Board approved the new starting and ending times for student school day due to the return of the double bus run system. The new hours are:

High School: 7:55 A.M. to 2:20 P.M.

Middle School: 8:00 A.M. to 2:25 P.M.

Elementary: 9:15 A.M. to 3:40 P.M.

The Board accepted a document entitled "Superintendent/Board Relations" which is annually reviewed by the Board and the Superintendent.

Following some discussion, the Board approved the acceptance of a federal grant in the amount of $91,926. The Schools were notified by the U.S. Department of Energy that they qualified under Public Law 95-619 of the National Energy Conservation Policy Act to receive $91,926 in federal assistance to assist the district in installing systems which will help to conserve energy consumption in the future. Acceptance of the grant obligates the district for a minimum expenditure of $37,774 of local funding to purchase and install energy conserving devices. The local support is expected to be funded from dollars saved in the next two years following the installation of an energy management system. The Board then approved an October 7 special election requesting an additional millage for building and site funds.

A separate building and site millage is needed to support planned projects over the next ten years designed to save dollars normally spent on utility costs. The Board noted the immediate need to repair the middle school roof as the number one priority in a series of projects outlined for the next ten years designed to make all district buildings more energy efficient. Such projects as installation of energy efficient doors and windows, removal of skylights, adding insulation to roofs and walls, updating building heating and air handling equipment, and replacement lighting are planned. A small portion of the plans also calls for the replacement of some building equipment and minor renovations in later years. The Chances are you've seen the Michigan "Lotto" TV ad that shows a woman running from door to door in the office where she works, proclaiming, "I won, I won!". When she finally gets to the boss' office, she sticks her head in the door, gives him the razzberries, and says, "I quit!"

I haven't bumped into anyone with an opinion, that hasn't said they'd do the same thing. Even my own employees say they'd do the same to me. I told them they'd better watch what they say, because if I win, I'm going to stick my head in the door of the Ledger on my way to Lansing and say, "It's yours!" That'd fix 'em.

But... I wonder how many of us would really make good on quitting work. If you won even a standard Lotto jackpot you'd be looking at a twenty year income of well over $100,000 per year, before taxes. That's certainly enough for most of us to live quite comfortably on. You wouldn't HAVE to work, but could a young or middle aged person stand NOT to work? Oh, I know there are a lot of lazy louts out there who don't work anyway. I'm talking about energetic people used to the challenges of a job, just dropping out of the work force. How many of us could really do it?

I can't speak for the rest of you... but as for me, the answer is, "Heck yes, I could quit working!" If you think for just one minute I'd turn down a shot at early retirement, then you'd better get your other oar in the water. I have a friend who says he couldn't quit working, and doubts if I could. This guy is a psychologist. I've told him that if he really believes he couldn't retire early, then he needs to enlist the help of one of his colleagues. And, if he really believes I couldn't quit early, then he had better give his degree back to the University of Michigan, because he's the one that's crazy!

Oh, I realize the life of early retirees isn't the bed of roses that some people think it is. They must wear out two or three "anooze buttons" a year. Each day must be filled with exceedingly tough choices to make. Shall I go sailing today, or just hang out around the house and whip up some Chinese food for dinner? Shall I go golfing, or just putter in the garden? Shall I go fishing, or just read a good book? I tell ya, it certainly wouldn't be an easy life, but I think I would be up to the challenge.

So, if you get your Ledger some week, and there's a six column picture of me on the front page in the traditional "razzberries" pose, then you'll know I hit the Lotto, or am in need of seeing my psychologist friend on a professional basis. Unfortunately, the latter is much more likely.

St. Jude's announces chairman of Bike-a-thon

The Central Regional Office of St. Jude Children's Research Hospital announced today that Mrs. Patty Elzinga has agreed to chair the St. Jude Children's Research Hospital Bike-a-Thon in Lowell.

St. Jude Children's Research Hospital was founded by entertainer Danny Thomas. The institution opened its doors to the public in 1962 to combat catastrophic diseases which afflict our children. St. Jude Hospital is non-sectarian, non-discriminatory, and provides total medical care to over 4,200 patients.

At St. Jude, scientists and physicians are working side by side seeking not only a better means of treatment, but also the causes, cures and prevention of these terrible killers.

All findings and information gained at the hospital are shared freely with doctors and hospitals all over the world. Thanks to St. Jude Hospital, children who have leukemia, Hodgkin's disease, sickle-cell anemia, and other child-killing diseases now have a better chance to live.

The Bike-a-Thon program is dedicated to "Jaime". Jaime is from Ohio and was diagnosed with leukemia in May of 1983, and began treatment at St. Jude Children's Research Hospital. Today, her cancer is in remission and she is doing quite well. Jaime is a living example of the progress and success of the research, patient care, and educational programs of this internationally recognized hospital.

We sincerely appreciate the concern that Mrs. Elzinga has for our work and we hope the citizens of Lowell will support the Bike-a-Thon this fall to help provide the funds that are needed to preserve the world's greatest asset... "Our Children."

HOMESPUN DEVOTIONS

By faith Abraham . . . went out, not knowing whither he went (Hebrews 11:8)

It's fun to travel through new territory, to view new scenery, and to see unfamiliar places. But such adventures call for direction. Road maps are essential, for they give us guidance as we travel through strange territory.

Abraham was called to pull up stakes, leave his familiar surroundings, and to travel through new territory. Obediently, he started out, not knowing what lay ahead but confident that God was leading him, guiding him, and directing him. It was all he needed to take him to the promised land of Canaan.

Many times in our Christian experience we are called upon to travel through unfamiliar territory. New experiences come to us all. Throughout a lifetime, one faces many strange and perplexing situations. There is sorrow. There are disappointments. There are adjustments to make and new fields of endeavor to conquer. All of these experiences call for faith. Without it we have nothing to hold us steady and keep us on the right path. Faith keeps our eyes on the goal. It is "our road map" to our final destination.

Prayer: Dear God, my faith is in Thee. I know Thou wilt guide and direct me. I cannot go astray if Thou art with me. I shall reach my final destination—by faith. Amen.

Let the sweet hope that Thou art mine,
Thy presence through my journey shine,
And crown my journey's end.

American Lung Association aides companies on smoking policy

Nonsmokers, who are now a substantial majority in most workplaces, are looking to company management for protection against exposure to cigarette smoke on the job. Companies can be ready for the workers' concerns about smoking by getting some helpful new materials from the American Lung Association.

The American Lung Association of Michigan has two new publications to assist companies in setting up a smoking policy to create a healthier work environment.

One booklet called "Taking Executive Action" has valuable information for executives and key decision-makers to consider as reasons for developing a smoking policy. Included are statistics about rising insurance costs and lost productivity due to smoking at work.

American business pays about 65 per cent of all private health insurance premiums. In 1983, employer contributions totaled $77 billion -- up from $33 billion just five years before. Smokers, on the average, have 35 to 57% higher absenteeism rates compared to nonsmokers.

A second booklet, "Creating Your Company Policy", provides detailed guidelines to help the worker or committee who is assigned the task of developing a company smoking policy. The booklet contains an employee survey that can be used to gather employees' opinions and suggestions about the policy. It also includes a number of sample policies from companies who have adopted guidelines on workplace smoking.

The booklet offers tips on how to enforce the policy and how to avoid conflicts that might occur after its implementation.

Increasing the awareness of the hazards of smoking to both smokers and nonsmokers has to be a leading priority for any company interested in adopting a smoking policy. Health information carried in the media and the Surgeon General's persistent warnings on all cigarette ads and packages have reinforced the fact that smoking is harmful. However, there are still those who don't know the detrimental effects of smoking just one cigarette or inhaling secondhand smoke.

With the help of the American Lung Association, a company policy that fits each unique office or business setting can be yours. Copies of both booklets are available for a $2.00 contribution. To order call toll free 1-800-292-5979 or write to the American Lung Association of Michigan, 403 Seymour Avenue, Lansing, Michigan, 48914.

Grummet appointed Chairman of 1985 Breath of Life Campaign

The Cystic Fibrosis Foundation has appointed Becky Grummet to be Chairman of the 1985 "Breath of Life" Campaign in Alto. Cystic Fibrosis, an incurable genetic disease that affects the lungs and digestive system, is the number one genetic killer of children and young adults in the country.

September has been designated by the National Health Council as the month for the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation to promote their educational and fund raising campaign. National CF Week is September 15-21. The chairman will organize the campaign to raise money for research, diagnosis, education and treatment of Cystic Fibrosis.

Gene Riley, State Campaign Chairman, reports that "Cystic fibrosis (CF) kills more children each year than diabetes and muscular dystrophy combined. Every day an average of five American children are born with cystic fibrosis and three die from it. We all need to learn more about CF to extend the length and quality of life for children with this disease."

Cystic Fibrosis Week is an opportunity to become aware of the many symptoms of CF. CF causes the body to produce an abnormal amount of glue-like mucus that clogs the lungs and intestines, resulting in severe breathing and digestive problems.

Credit opportunities - an equal right

Are you a good credit risk? If you're married, widowed or divorced and have never established a credit history in your own name, lenders may not think so. To assuage their fears, and to assure yourself that you can have access to extra cash when you need it, take steps now to build your financial identity, recommends the Michigan Association of CPAs.

Creditors want to see evidence of your financial stability. Generally, they determine your creditworthiness by looking at your employment record, your assets—such as your home, bank accounts, stocks and bonds—and your past history of paying bills. If you've never established credit in your own name, the first step is to open your own checking and savings accounts. After a period of maintaining your checking account successfully, apply for overdraft checking account privileges. This is like having a preapproved loan and gives you the flexibility of writing a check for more than you have in your account. Besides, even if you never use it, it will look good on your credit report.

It's also a good idea to establish credit with various retail establishments. Begin by applying for a charge card from one of the local stores; then try applying for credit from some of the larger department stores or oil companies. Be certain to use any credit cards you get to demonstrate your capabilities of making payments on a timely basis. Although more difficult to obtain, you should also apply for a bank charge card, such as Visa or MasterCard. Such cards are important for building your credit history, since credit reporting agencies always list bank credit transactions. Banks usually require several credit references before extending you this type of credit. In most instances, banks also require that you've been employed for at least one year—preferably in the same company.

Under the Equal Credit Opportunity Act (ECOA), a creditor may not deny credit on the basis of sex or marital status. This act gives women important protection and provides the means for them to establish credit records even if they are married and have no opportunity to produce their own income.

The ECOA requires that any credit accumulated by a husband and wife automatically goes under both names. So if you're married and have been using your husband's credit cards to make purchases, you are already on your way to establishing your own credit rating. Be aware that for accounts opened before June 1, 1977, you must specifically request the stores to report the credit history in both names. Otherwise, the credit history will be chalked up entirely to your husband.

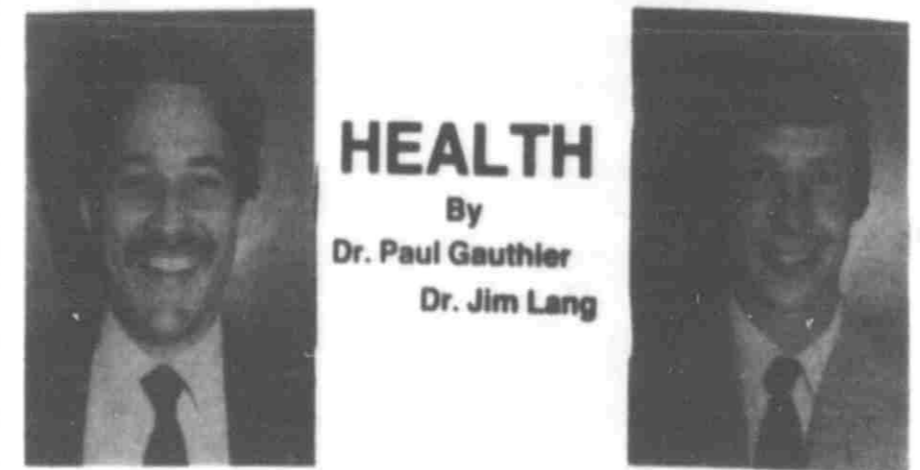

Keep in mind that if your joint credit history is bad, it will affect your personal credit rating. However, you do recourse under

Mary Hosley Graduates From K-College

Mary J. Hosley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Hosley, of Lowell, was among the graduates as Kalamazoo College held its 149th annual Commencement ceremonies on Saturday, June 15. Accompanying faculty, trustees, and distinguished guests in the colorful procession were more than 240 seniors.

Former New York Congresswoman, Shirley Chisholm, delivered the College's Commencement address. "The Civic and Social Responsibilities of a College Education." Ms. Chisholm received an honorary doctor of humane letters degree at the 3 p.m. ceremony in Anderson Athletic Center.

The first institution of higher learning in the state of Michigan, Kalamazoo College is widely recognized as one of the nation's finest small liberal arts colleges. The innovative, year-round "K" Plan provides a uniquely structured curriculum, through which all students participate in the off-campus experiences of foreign study, career development and a senior individualized project, in addition to a rigorous on-campus complement of core courses in the liberal arts and sciences.

Chickenpox

Chickenpox is a highly contagious disease that usually occurs in children less than 10 years old. Many Lowell mothers will attest to the widespread outbreak that we've experienced in the area for the past few months. Once a child is exposed to chickenpox in the household he has about a 90% chance of coming down with the illness. It is spread by direct contact, and patients are usually contagious from 24 hours before the appearance of the rash until all skin lesions are crusted, which is generally 6-7 days. Chickenpox is caused by a virus named Herpesvirus varicellae.

The clinical manifestations are very typical and the diagnosis is easily made. The time between exposure and illness is about two weeks (give or take a few days). Prior to onset of the rash a mild fever may be present. The rash begins 24 hours later appearing first as small red bumps which change to clear vesicles (small blisters). The vesicles then rupture and scab over. New crops of vesicles will appear for 3-4 days. Itching is the most common complaint. The severity of the illness can vary from a few small lesions to hundreds.

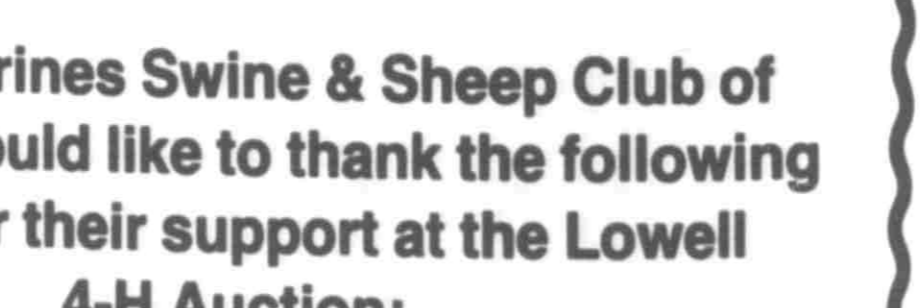

The prognosis is usually good, however, some complications may arise. The most common complication is secondary bacterial infection of the skin lesions. Another complication seen in adults with chickenpox is pneumonia. Two feared but fortunately very rare complications occurring after chickenpox are Reyes syndrome and postinfectious encephalitis (an infection of the central nervous system).

There is no cure for chickenpox. Symptomatic treatment includes frequent baths, applications of caladryl to prevent itching. Benadryl®, and oral antihistamine, has recently been released for over-the-counter use and is usually quite effective in relieving itching. As stated earlier, the child should be kept away from susceptible individuals until all lesions have crusted so as to prevent further spread.

Over nine million votes were cast for a resolution at a recent stockholders meeting, calling for the largest corporate source of acid rain in the United States to issue a report describing what it is doing to control sulfur dioxide emissions, reports National Wildlife's International Wildlife magazine. The company—American Electric Power Company, Inc.—has 19 coal-fired power plants. Though the resolution was defeated, it is believed to have attracted the most votes ever collected by a resolution opposed by the company (8% of the total voting shares).

Krause at the House

VICTOR C. KRAUSE, STATE REPRESENTATIVE, NINETIETH DISTRICT

The proposed $200 million expansion of Detroit's Cobo Hall would be partially finished through higher liquor taxes throughout Michigan and higher hotel rates in Wayne, Macomb and Oakland Counties following the approval today by the Michigan House of Representatives of a two-bill tax package, State Representative Vic Krause (R-Rockford), an opponent of both measures announced today. Krause explained that the Legislature, with Detroit Mayor Coleman Young's prodding, approved a plan to increase the existing five percent hotel room tax to as high as ten percent, depending on the number of hotel rooms each hotel in Wayne...

Oakland and Macomb maintains. The other tax increase measure would raise the state liquor tax to a uniform 15.5 percent, from the existing 8 percent on-premise drinking and 9.85 percent for off-premise drinking. The Kent County Republican added that hotel operators and their guests outside the city of Detroit would be penalized with an additional room tax to fund construction of the expansion of Cobo Hall. "The hotels in Oakland and Macomb that are far away from downtown Detroit will not benefit at all from a bigger Cobo Hall, and we should not expect them to help foot the bill for this needless expense," Krause stated. "The problem with Cobo Hall's inability to secure more conventions is not its size, but its cost. Increasing the room tax at hotels will only fan the fires of escalating costs that are making Cobo an undesirable place to convene." Krause also warned that the liquor tax increase could actually make Detroit a worse place to hold conventions, even with an expanded Cobo Hall. "Any city that charges too much for liquor and too much for accommodations is also deemed undesirable by organizers of the same large conventions that Coleman Young intends to attract. For those reasons, I opposed the hotel tax increase measure, and the additional liquor tax. "What we need to do is make Detroit more attractive to conventioners and hiking the prices of their cocktails just isn't going to make the place more attractive," Krause continued. "It's totally illogical to me that a liquor tax increase is the solution to Coleman Young's funding problems."

A new Senate task force has all order: reducing the viability of liability. The Senate Select Committee on Civil Justice Reform, of which I am a member, will not be spending their summer idly relaxing. Instead, we will tackle the escalating number of civil liability suits, concentrating on medical malpractice, bar owner liability, and governmental immunity. By October 15, 1985, the committee plans to report its findings to the Senate, along with recommended legislative proposals, in the hope some action can be taken this fall. Medical malpractice rates have simply skyrocketed in recent years. Just five years ago, physicians were paying less than half of their current rates; and some were even paying one-third or one-quarter of their current premiums. It isn't just the doctor's problem, either. Higher rates are causing more and more specialists to go into general practice, reducing access to those specialized services. Also, to protect themselves from possible legal action, doctors are ordering more tests for patients to "be on the safe side." Unfortunately, being on the safe side also means being on the expensive side and many of these tests drive up the cost of health care for the patient, the patient's insurance company, or both. Finally, as physicians are forced to pay higher premiums, those costs are passed on to the patient in the form of higher fees. Any attempt at reducing or containing health care costs must include some attention to rising medical malpractice premiums. I am chairing the subcommittee looking at growing governmental liability, which may

WRITS ON SAFETY AND ECONOMY FROM THE EXPERTS AT A LEADING TOOL COMPANY

New Abrasives Make Rough Jobs Go Smoother

Rough home fix-it jobs are going smoother for many do-it-yourselfers these days, thanks to a new line of sanding abrasives made to be especially durable and easy to use.

This versatile new line of abrasives includes sanding discs and wheels, flap wheel Sanders, drum and barrel Sanders and sanding sheets and belts—virtually any type of abrasive needed to tackle any job. These top-quality abrasives range from the premium Red Resin™ line, designed to outlast all other abrasives four to one, to conventional papers that meet most power tool finishing applications.

The Red Resin abrasives from Vermont American can be used for virtually any sanding project. The abrasives are permanently bonded to the backing with a special epoxy that guarantees extra long life. The close coat prevents load-up and allows easy cleaning with a stiff brush for reuses.

These abrasive papers can be found in the company's easy to use Cling-San™ discs and sheets for finishing Sanders. By lightly pressing the

The company's stick-on abrasive discs also feature these high-tech abrasives and fit all 5" and 6" backer pads or 6" stationary disc Sanders. Need to strip, sand or finish a curved or irregular surface? A flap wheel sander and San-Buf wheel may be right for the job.

gan's Dram Shop Act, which allows bar and restaurant owners to be sued for serving drinks to intoxicated customers, has resulted in multi-million dollar awards. Those awards, in turn, have driven insurance rates up from $1 per $100 worth of drinks sold, to an average of $7 per $100 in drinks sold. Legislation limiting the bar or restaurant owner's liability has stalled in a House Committee, so the Select Committee will be looking at alternative solutions to the problem. It is obviously time to take a look at what we can do to reduce unnecessary litigation while preserving protective measures for our citizens. It's a big job; but, unless we come up with some answers, the problem will have a negative impact on our business climate and job market. With the high priority on this issue, though, expect some action—and some results—in the coming months.

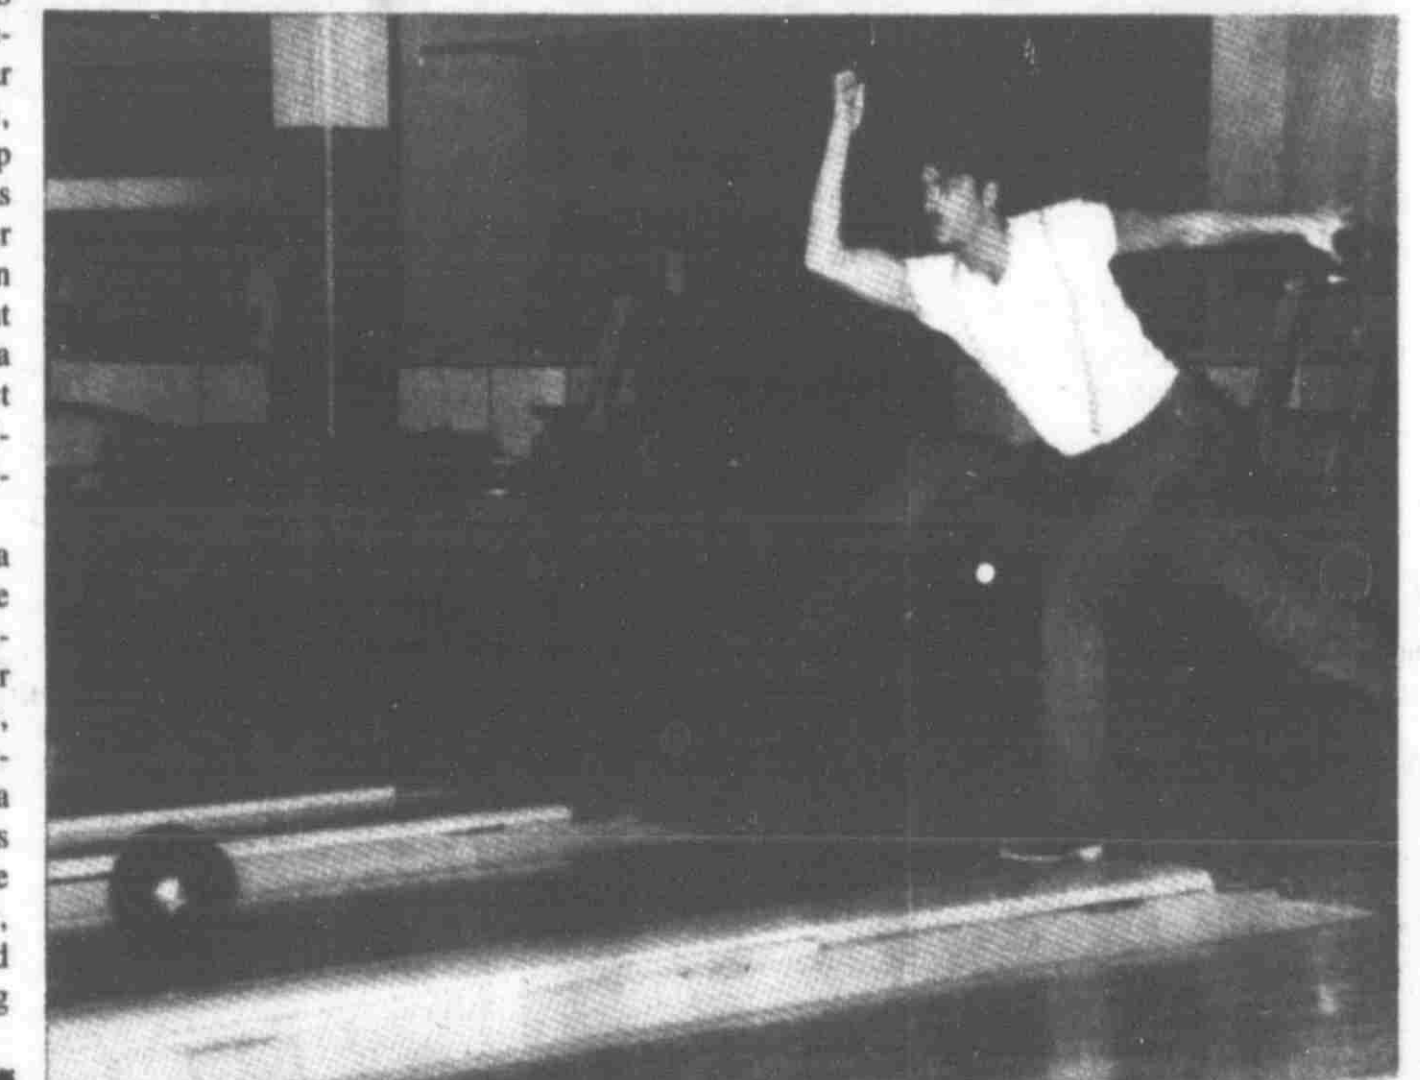

be a less-familiar issue, but affects consumers just as much as malpractice. Not only have the number of lawsuits against state and local units increased dramatically, but the size of awards has also risen. For example, the Michigan Department of Transportation dealt with 212 lawsuits in 1978, paying out $1.4 million that year. By 1984, the number of cases brought against the department had grown to 439 and payouts totalled $11.3 million. And, these figures are for just one department. In total, the state faces 1,400 lawsuits potentially worth $2.4 billion. Bar owners are suffering from similar insurance hikes. Michi-

"Arsenal of Democracy Day" celebrated this weekend

In observation of the 40th anniversary of VJ Day and the end of World War II, Gerald R. Helmholtz, Mayor of Grand Rapids, has proclaimed August 10, 1985 "Arsenal of Democracy Day".

The proclamation honors both the valor and sacrifices of our men and women in uniform and the efforts of all citizens who helped forge the tools of victory.

On August 10 and 11, to commemorate the anniversary, the West Michigan Squadron of the Confederate Air Force will sponsor a fly-in and display at the Kent County International Airport of World War II aircraft that were a major part of the arsenal of democracy. The event will include four famous bombers of the period; a B-17, B-24, B-25 and the only remaining flying example of the B-29, the plane that delivered the atomic bombs on Hiroshima and Nagasaki. In addition, a P-51 Mustang fighter and several training aircraft will be on display.

Admission to the area will be $3.00 for adults. Persons under 18 will be admitted free when accompanied by an adult.

Proceeds from the event will be used by the West Michigan Squadron to restore their AT-11 "Kansan" bomber trainer to flying condition as a memorial to the men and women who built and flew the planes that helped bring victory.

The Confederate Air Force is an international non-profit organization dedicated to the restoration and preservation of the aircraft of World War II in flying condition for public enjoyment and education.

The B-17 "Flying Fortress" is the most celebrated of all World War Two bombers. Tail sections of the B-17 were fabricated in Grand Rapids, and South High School sold enough War bonds in 1943 to purchase a "Fort" that was named "The Spirit of South High".

The B-17 will visit Kent County International Airport on August 10 and 11 for the 40th anniversary of V-J Day. The aircraft pictured has been restored by the Confederate Air force.

Secondhand smoke is a key issue today, too. Inhaling the smoke from an idling cigarette makes the heart beat faster, the blood pressure go up, and the level of carbon monoxide in the blood increase. There is a higher level of cadmium in the smoke that drifts off the burning end of a cigarette than in the drag the smoker takes. Cadmium is a chemical compound in cigarette smoke which has been related to hypertension, chronic bronchitis, and emphysema.
