Lowell has benefitted from numerous bequests

Lowell has been an extremely fortunate town due to the unusual number of large bequests received from the estates of citizens who were particularly interested in the welfare of their "home town," although they may have moved to distant places. On behalf of the Look Memorial Fund Committee, Dr. Orval McKay asked me some time ago if I would compile information on these various grants, to preserve their history and to help the community be aware of its good fortune.

Some of the research for this article was done by Tom Stuart while he was an employee of the Grand Valley Ledger, whose editor and publisher, Roger Brown, has made it available to me. His notes on interviews, the clippings gathered and the letters received from friends and relatives of the donors of grants to Lowell have been very helpful in carrying on this project. In addition, I was given access to the bound copies of past Ledgers and used this news source extensively. I would also like to thank the many persons who have given me information during period of work on the subject. Among those to whom appreciation is especially due are David Coons, King Doyle, Harold Englehardt, Stanley Gardner, Mary Ann Gwatkin, Thelma Hahn, Jim Hodges, Phillip Johnson, Elmer Laver, Orval McKay, Eva Lampkin Nelson, Nancy E. Oatley, Irene Osborne, Ray Quada, Philip Schneider, Inga Weeks and Sam Yeiter.

Clockwise from upper left: The Lowell Rescue Squad, 4-H Fairgrounds, Lowell Showboat, YMCA and Library housing in the Graham building, micro-filming of old copies of the Ledger, the King Memorial Pool and various city parks have been some of the benefits reaped from the donation of property and money to the residents of Lowell. Betty Coons' historical summation of these bequests will be featured in this, and future issues of the Ledger. We're sure you'll find it interesting reading.

KLONDIKE DERBY HIGHLIGHTS ON CHANNEL 2

Highlights of the Boy Scout District Klondike Derby will be aired on Lowell Cable TV's public access channel 2 this week. The Klondike Derby is an event in which teams of Boy Scouts pull dog sleds over a course, and perform outdoor skills at checkpoints along the way. The Lowell Troop hosted the event at the Bill Nowak Activities Center at the north end of Washington Street. The footage will be shown on Wednesday, January 15 at 3:00 p.m., on Thursday, January 16 at 5:00 p.m., on Friday, January 17 at 7:00 p.m. and on Saturday, January 18 at 10:00 a.m.

POST OFFICE WILL BE CLOSED FOR MARTIN LUTHER KING DAY

The Lowell Post Office will be closed, and there will be no regular mail delivery on Monday, January 20 in observance of a new federal holiday honoring Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. The U.S. Postal Service reminds customers that the lobby will be open, and post office box customers will be able to obtain mail from their boxes. No window service will be available.

Lowell City Hall, and all other businesses that we checked with said they would be open normal hours on the holiday. Most state and federal offices will be closed, so don't plan on buying new license plates or applying for a passport on Monday.

The "Ottawa Treasure"

Was the first sizable grant intended for the benefit of the people living in the area which later was to become the Village of Lowell made by a chief of the Ottawa Indians, perhaps nearly 200 years ago? If so, the treasure was lost to posterity, according to legend.

An article in the Lowell Ledger for April 27, 1939, tells of the discovery during a sewer project on North Division Street, north of the Methodist Church, a skeleton buried six and one-half feet below the surface in an upright position in its grave. In excellent condition, the skull still bore some black hair which showed signs of having been braided, but no particles of clothing or personal effects remained. After examination by the coroner, it was decided that the skeleton was that of an Indian, certainly buried long before the streets were first put through, and that it should be given to the Grand Rapids Public Museum.

This discovery gave credence to a legend from the days when land in the area was bought by white men from the Ottawa Indians resident here. Fearing that the tribe might misuse the money, one of their chiefs decided to bury it. When he refused to distribute it to the tribe, or even upon torture to reveal its location, he was exiled and soon died. Now the Ottawa's realized that their leader had been acting for their own good, and they buried him in honor under a pine tree on a side hill. They purportedly placed his body in a sitting position, that he might continue to watch over the tribe. The treasure was never found, as far as anyone knows. The legend remains, with only the tantalizing finding of 1939 to lend it an aura of truth.

Whatever the ancient facts, history makes it evident that in the years following such exchanges of property the white man's culture prevailed and the 1831 settlement of "Dansville" grew into the chartered Village of Lowell. The town thrived, and became a tree-shaded home and place of business for many citizens who left their mark upon its development.

Richards Park

The square of land still known as Richards Park, and so marked by a granite marker within its bounds, was granted to Lowell in 1855 by the town's first physcian, Dr. Arba Richards, who platted the west side of the Flat River. The park is bounded by Hudson, Spring, Lincoln Lake and Elm Streets. Having developed into a popular playground, picnic area and site for small-scale softball games, it was renovated by the city in 1983 with money from the Solomon S. Lee Fund. Berms have been constructed, trees planted and play equipment upgraded, providing a grassy oasis for those seeking the quieter pursuits of leisure in a summer setting and a place for youngsters to play safely. In the winter months the park offers gentle sledding slopes for children and a small outdoor skating rink.

The Graham Home

One of the earliest brick buildings in Lowell was the Italianate style residence built at the corner of Main and Hudson Streets, now occupied by the Lowell branches of the Kent County Library system and of the YMCA. Robert William Graham, born July 20, 1828 in Lancashire, England, came to Lowell in 1858, and in 1863 he married Emma Elizabeth Post. Here he worked as a brick mason, a farmer and a merchant. In 1873 (the year of his wife's death) he designed and built a handsome two-family structure for his children, Herbert, Ernest, Myrtis, and Frank, and for the family of his wife's brother and sister-in-law, Leander J. and Ella Post. Son Ernest, who as a small boy had laid one of the bricks in the family home, grew up to become an architect of international renown, especially for Chicago buildings designed by him and his firm. These included the "city in white" which marked the World's Columbian Exposition of 1893, and such later landmarks of the 1920's, still admired today, as the Wrigley Building, the Field Museum and the Merchandise Mart.

In 1922 Miss Audie E. Post persuaded her cousin Ernest to extend the use of the west apartment of the Graham home to Lowell rent free, for use as a library, as the current quarters were inadequate. Ernest complied in memory of his parents; his father, builder of the home, had served about 1878 as the Lowell librarian at $50 per annum, in one room of the Central School Building. Under the direction of Audie and her mother, Ella Carter Post, the library was moved from quarters on Main Street into its new home, and the upstairs rooms were rented out as apartments.

News From 5th District Congressman... Paul Henry

Congressman Paul Henry launched today an art competition for the second year, for high school students throughout the Fifth Congressional District. The winning entry will be displayed this coming summer, along with artworks from Districts across the country, in a corridor of the U.S. Capitol -- an area dedicated to the artistic skills of today's young artists.

According to Congressman Henry this contest is part of An Artistic Discovery, the fifth annual competition implemented by Members of the U.S. House of Representatives to recognize the creative talents of young Americans. Between now and May 14, 1986, Congressman Henry, along with other Members, will conduct local competitions for high school students in order to select artwork to be displayed in the national exhibition. The theme chosen for the Fifth District competition is "Michigan in the Year 2000." All entries from the district, which should incorporate this theme, will be displayed in the Gerald R. Ford Presidential Museum in Grand Rapids prior to final selection of the winning entry. "Nothing is more important to the soul of America than its artistic heritage," Congressman Henry said. "This competition allows us to encourage our young artists whose creative energies are so vital to our rich cultural traditions."

The competition, to be conducted at no expense to the Federal government, is open to any high school student in the Fifth District. Artwork must be two-dimensional and no larger than 30" x 30" (unframed). Eligible categories are paintings, drawings, collages, and prints.

Further information may be obtained from any high school art teacher, or from the congressional office at 616/451-8383.

By State Senator
Dick Posthumus

It happens every year—the merriment of Christmas brings "harmment" to the Legislature. It's traditional during the holiday season to clear the legislative agenda, which means important votes on key issues. This year was no exception.

Teacher and student competency both got the nod from the Senate. SB 447 calls for graduating teachers to pass "basic skills" and subject matter tests, and SB 195 establishes a minimum competency test students must pass to receive a high school diploma.

A new version of Essential Insurance legislation was once again under consideration in the Senate, after the initial Senate-passed version was vetoed by the Governor. The bill removing some of the prohibitive restrictions on state auto insurance companies was approved, and is now in the House for a vote on the changes.

Major new banking guidelines were also approved, following the veto of a similar bill by the Governor last year. The new bill, Pack 3188 will meet at Run-ciman School, beginning at 7:00 p.m. This is a family event. Future activities will be discussed and awards presented.

THE RECYCLE CENTER at Eberhard's parking lot is open for bottles, tin cans, aluminum, newspaper, and brown paper bags.

THE LOWELL COMMUNITY BAND will rehearse Monday, January 13, 7:30 p.m. in the High School Band Room.

REVIVAL SERVICES Lowell Church of the Nazarene will hold revival services January 26-30 at 7:00 p.m. each evening with the exception of Sunday when services will be 11:00 a.m. and 6:00 p.m. Larry Leckrone, a noted evangelist/song evangelist will present the program.

OLD TIME MOVIE PARTY Friday, January 17 an old time movie party starring Charlie Chaplin will be held at the Lowell Senior Neighbor's Center, 214 E. Main in Lowell from 1:00 p.m. to 3:00 p.m. All senior citizens are invited to attend. Sponsored by Lowell Community Education.

mer reviewing the problems and developed a major package of legislation we felt would help keep costs to insurance companies down, thereby keeping costs to consumers in check. The House, which started much later, is grappling with the issue now, but the real test will come next year when Senate and House members work out their differences in Conference Committee.

Legislation reforming Michigan's child support system was also taken up and approved by the Senate and has now gained House approval. The 11-bill package addresses the critical need for stronger child support enforcement measures, while also shoring up the rights of non-custodial parents.

The biggest issue, though, was not resolved. Even though the Governor declared the state out of debt on November 8, our income tax continues at a higher rate than when he took office in 1982. Senate Republicans have led the fight to reduce the rate with a number of different legislative proposals. However, without the cooperation of the House and Governor, no agreement has been reached. It will be one of our first orders of business in the new year.

So with a clean slate and some hot topics to cover in 1986, we adjourned for 1985. On the balance, it has been a good year, but we hope 1986 is an even better one.

Watch your snow piles

Property owners piling snow high along roadways and shoulders or pushing it to the opposite side of the street without clearing debris can cause hazardous conditions for motorists, and the Michigan Department of Transportation (MDOT) warns that it's also against the law.

MDOT said state law (P.A. 82 of 1978) prohibits businesses and citizens from jumping snow on roadways and shoulders or piling it so high at driveway entrances that it obstructs the vision of motorists.

The department recommends residents keep the shoulder in front of their driveways clear and also clear from snow for a short distance from the driveway in the direction of approaching traffic.

"That way the view of a motorist entering the roadway from a driveway is not obstructed," explained Maurice E. Witteveen, MDOT's chief of maintenance.

"When clearing your driveway," he said, "push the snow away from the roadway and to the sides of the driveway for its full length and the problem of the high snow banks blocking a driver's view will be eliminated."

Witteveen said large businesses should make special arrangements ahead of time to remove snow from their driveway entrances and driveways. In some cases it may be necessary to truck snow away from parking facilities.

Violators leave themselves open to fines and lawsuits for public liability and property damage. For a charge to be filed, a police officer must witness the violation or a citizen must file a complaint.

All property owners and persons hired to remove snow are responsible for maintaining safe traffic conditions and preventing careless snow-removal techniques.

Homespun Devotions

By Pauline Spray

Let us...come boldly unto the throne of grace, that we may...find grace to help in time of need (Hebrews 4:16)

It's amazing what a cup of steaming hot tea can do for a tired individual! One lady found it the remedy for times of disturbance. When things piled up and her nerves began to fray, she put the tea-kettle on to boil. Then she and her young daughter sat down together and leisurely drank cups of the hot beverage. When they had finished, each was ready to face her duties with poise and confidence. It was the pause that refreshed them.

When the day is turbulent, when the stress is on, when perplexities mount up, the Christian can find new courage and stamina to face life undaunted. Strength and confidence come through prayer. Hope and assurance come through the reading of God's Word. One can exchange distress for composure through quiet and prayerful meditation. God speaks to His children through these mediums, reassures them of His loving-kindness, and strengthens them with His touch. Time spent in His presence is "a pause that refreshes."

Prayer: Heavenly Father, I thank Thee for this "pause that refreshes." Boldly I come unto Thy throne. Give me grace for the cares of life and courage and strength to live triumphantly. Amen.

Why should this anxious load Press down your weary mind? Hasten to your heav'nly Father's throne, And sweet refreshment find.

Hello Dolly Comes to

Gaslight Village

The Grand Rapids Public Museum's Gaslight Village will come to life as cast members of the Calvin College Alumni Players present an "1890's Musical Afternoon," Saturday, January 18, 1986.

Actors and actresses will move among the visitors, singing selections from the long-running Broadway Musical, "Hello Dolly." The performers will dance and sing in full 1890's period dress, design by Costume Designer Aileen Brittain.

An 1890's Musical Afternoon will feature two-15 minute performances at 12:15 and 12:45 p.m. The performances are free with museum admission.

The Calvin College Alumni Players will perform the entire musical, "Hello Dolly," on February 13, 14, 15, 21, 22. Call 957-6282 for tickets.

For more information on Saturday's performance call 456-3978.

IT'S A FACT!

Surprisingly, cold winter air contains very little moisture. When it's 30 degrees outside, with a relative humidity of 35 percent, that air warmed by your heating system to 70 degrees will reduce the relative humidity to a parched seven percent. For your skin, that's worse than living in the Sahara Desert!

Zeigler in national TV ads

Harold Zeigler, Jr., of Harold Zeigler Lincoln Mercury, Kalamazoo; Harold Zeigler Ford AMC Jeep, Plainwell; and Harold Zeigler Ford, Lowell, takes time to thank a Ford Motor Company employee during the filming of television commercials at the Edison, New Jersey plant. Zeigler was one of 14 dealers producing commercials in a special pilot program initiated by his ad agency.

Harold Zeigler, Jr., President of Harold Zeigler Lincoln Mercury in Kalamazoo, Harold Zeigler Ford AMC Jeep in Plainwell and Harold Zeigler Ford in Lowell, was a participant in a unique series of television ads recently filmed at the Ford Motor Company, Escort/Lynx Assembly Plant in Edison, New Jersey.

Zeigler joined dealers from across the nation to produce television commercials designed to explain what Zeigler calls a "great American success story." "QUALITY IS JOB 1" is the Ford/Lincoln Mercury slogan" said Zeigler. "We wanted to show that it's more than a slogan. Our factory workers are proud of their product and grateful to the consumer for buying American. I think these commercials illustrate their determination to build a quality American product at competitive prices."

According to Zeigler, all the taping for the series of commercials was completed in one day at the Edison factory. "The real work was in the editing," said Zeigler, "the commercials were assembled over several weeks in New York." CBC Inc., the ad company directing the commercials, and Zeigler's ad agency, said that 14 different dealers from various parts of the Country participated in the production. According to Jim Boldebock, CBC spokesman, other group factory productions are planned.

The commercials will be aired soon on various area television stations.

According to the EPA, the air pollution inside your home may be 10 times greater than that found in the air near chemical plants, reports International Wildlife magazine. Among the indoor hazards: styrene, used in plastics; paradichlorobenzene, used in moth crystals and home deodorants; foam rubber and insulation; benzene, present in smoke and gasoline; and chloroform, given off by tap water, especially during hot showers.

School Board Notes:

The following are notes regarding the regular Monday, January 13 meeting of the Lowell Board of Education.

Following the payment of bills, Gary Vos of Dan Vos Construction Co. gave a report to the board on the Middle School roof project. The re-roofing is scheduled to begin as soon as school is out this summer.

Under personnel items, the Board hired Cathy Bertelson as the district's half-time speech pathologist to fill a vacancy due to a resignation. Mrs. Bertelson had previously been employed by Lowell in the same capacity and returns after devoting full time to her family. Mr. Kris Kropf was employed under an extra-duty contract as the district's high school head baseball coach for the 1985-86 season.

In other matter, the Board ratified both the Lowell Education Association and the Lowell Support Staff Association contracts. Both contracts represent a three year (1986-89) agreement between the Board of Education and the two groups.

The Board then adopted a resolution establishing the 1985-86 Advisory Committee of Elementary School Organization. The purpose of this committee is to study the elementary school population and determine the best utilization of classroom in all three elementaries. A final recommendation from the committee is scheduled to be brought to the Board at its regular meeting on April 14.

In the last items of business, the Board approved an Adult High School Completion Rationale which outlines the purposes for providing adult education programs, and gave approval to canvass the taxing units to see if millage renewal could be sought on March 24.

Lowell takes two in league play

The Lowell Red Arrow Varsity squad evened their league record at 2-2 with two victories last week. The Arrows Brent Noskey scored 7 of his 14 points in the fourth quarter of Tuesday's game with Kenowa Hills. The fourth quarter surge by Noskey and the test of the Red Arrows saw them sneak by Kenowa by just four points, with the scoreboard reading 42-38 at the buzzer. Salvador Rodriguez also scored 14 in the effort. On Friday, Lowell hosted Sparta, and won the game in overtime 62-53. The Arrows lost a four point advantage late in regulation play, and Sparta forced the contest into overtime. All of Lowell's scoring came from four players, but they all hit double digits. Jay Messner had 18, Mike Dumas scored 16, Salvador Rodriguez dumped in 15 and Noskey added 13. Rodriguez also pulled down 10 rebounds. Lowell hosts Rogers at 7:30 this Friday. JV's tip off at 6:00.

Arrow gymnasts lose to Ionia

The Arrows, despite senior Michelle Shick's three first-place performances, could not pull ahead of the Bulldog's 97.85-92.85 victory. Lowell led 28.05-22.6 after the vault with Shick placing second (7.9) and sophomore Sherry Wilson capturing fourth with a score of 7.15.

But Ionia gained points at the uneven bars taking the second, third and fourth places. Shick won that event with a 8.0 mark.

"We're really proud of the girls," said coach Brenda Hendrick. "I thought we did well considering we have a few young and inexperienced gymnasts." Hendrick, Tammy Fitzpatrick took over the squad as coaches in October.

After two events, Ionia had a 51.25-47.1 lead. Lowell made a few balance beam dismount errors that cost them the chance to make-up lost points.

Shick won the balance beam with a 6.7 score and junior Jenny Dykhuizen added points taking fourth (5.75).

The Arrows fared well in the floor exercise with Shick placing first with a 7.95, senior Carolyn Hobbs third (6.85) and junior Trudy Watson fifth (6.45).

JV team wins two

The boys' junior varsity basketball team won both its games last week. In a Tuesday night matchup they defeated Kenowa Hills by a score of 69-43. Ken Nelson played a fine all-around game with 17 points, 6 rebounds, 6 steals and 6 assists. Jeff Phillips scored 15 points and grabbed 11 rebounds. Paul Stroosnyder added 14 points to go along with 7 steals. They received strong support from the bench as 11 players broke into the scoring column.

In the Friday night game the Red Arrows defeated Sparta by a score of 64-52. Phillips led the balanced scoring with 16, followed by Nelson with 10 and Stroosnyder with 9. Dan Byrne led the rebounding with 7 to go along with 6 points. The bench players had another good showing as all but 2 players scored.

The 2 victories moved the Red Arrows record for the season to 5-3.

Frosh win two in a row

The Lowell Freshmen came out on top in two league games last week. In a match-up with Kenowa Hills, Lowell outscored their opponents 46 to 40. Ben Richman was high point man for the Arrows with 13 and also pulled down 12 rebounds. Tim Westrate had 9 points on the evening, and Eric Fulkerson had 7 with a matching 7 rebounds.

In a game with Sparta, the Arrows won by a comfortable 8 point margin, 44-36. Eric Fulkerson led Lowell scorers with 11 while also pulling down 7 rebounds. Tim Westrate dumped in 8 points with 6 rebounds, and Ben Richman tossed 5 while compiling 10 boards.

The two consecutive wins bring the Frosh record to 3 and 5 on the season.

The Bowling Corner

By Jay Michaels

I've got a question for you out there. Just what exactly is it that the American Bowling Congress and the Women's International Bowling Congress does for you the bowler? While you're trying to think of what it is these two groups do, let me tell you a little story.

About twelve years ago there was a bowler who rolled a 299 game in a supposedly "sanctioned" tournament. For reasons that aren't real clear, the ABC and WIBC never sanctioned this event and the poor soul who had come within a whisker of perfection has only his memories of the elusive "jewel". Seems that the proprietor of this tournament never sent in his sanction application, yet advertised the tournament as being sanctioned. ABC took a hard line with this proprietor and denied the bowler an award, even though the lanes were perfectly legal and the guy had earned it. Now why would ABC/WIBC risk making this gentleman irate? The answer is simple; these two organizations are so powerful, that you and I, the little people, don't matter any more.

You pay your $4.25 a year for the privilege of bowling in a sanctioned league, and the ABC/WIBC doesn't give a hoot about you as a bowler, UNTIL you qualify for one of their awards. When you qualify, you'll be scrutinized, examined, and questioned. Your bowling center proprietor will be run through the wringer, and maybe, just maybe, you might receive the award that you earned. Years ago, a 300 ring was the ultimate achievement in our sport. Believe me, you'd wear that ring with great pride and be the envy of all your friends. This year's version of the "ultimate" is just about one step above what you'd receive out of a box of Cracker-Jack, unless you care to put another $400.00 or so buck-ar-ros with your order for a gold ring. ABC, you've gone too far this time! No wonder the Bowling Proprietor's Association, and the National Bowling Council offer rings for outstanding accomplishments now.

Granted, ABC/WIBC does provide some useful function in our sport, and when I find out just exactly what that function is, you'll be the first to know. The way I see it right now, ABC is just another poor excuse to rob a man's pocket every September. Okay, Okay! I know I'm not supposed to let my innermost feelings come out in my column, but doggone it, I bowled my heart out for that 299 game (stinking 4 pin!). OOPS! I let the cat out. But they are also a necessary evil in our game. All sports need some type of regulation to a point, and that's supposedly what these two organizations are trying to do.

So what good are they! They sanction tournaments and offer awards for outstanding accomplishments (usually). They bond leagues and tournaments against theft, and protect the bowlers' interest in these events. They make an honest attempt to make playing conditions uniform across the country, and the world. And they've been around for so long that they've become an American institution, just like Mom and apple pie. Sure, I may have a running feud going with them, but I still support what they are trying to represent to our sport, and that's honesty and integrity for a game that actually evolved from the "alleys" of our past. Bowling has fought a tarnished image since time (well almost) began, and ABC/WIBC, even though they sometimes lose their foresight, stands for the integrity of our game.

On a lighter side of bowling, Lowell Lanes has scheduled another Mini-Marathon for January 25th at 12:30 p.m. Entry fee is only $20.00 and all entries MUST be in the hands of the Lowell Lanes staff no later than January 23rd.

Also upcoming in February is the Lowell Women's Bowling Association's Annual City Tournament. Entries for this year's event are due January 15th, with the team event being contested at Lowell Lanes and the doubles and singles taking place at Legion Lanes. Time's wasting ladies, enter today!

Legion Lanes First Annual "Snow Bowl" Doubles is still being led by the team of Boyd Morrow, Sr. and David Smith of Greenville. Their 1306 leads the handicap division and is in line for the $500.00 First Prize. Still in 2nd Place is the doubles team of Don Bigelow and Tom Morrow with a 1286 count, while 3rd place is held by locals Linda Colburn and Evelyn Moore with a 1272 total. The "Snow Bowl" runs weekends through January 26th, and some sports are still available. Call Legion Lanes at 897-7566 for more details or to make your reservations.

Next week in The Bowling Corner you'll get a chance to voice your own opinion about the condition of our sport in the 1st Annual Readers' Poll. Till then, GO BOWLING AND TAKE THE FAMILY!

IRA

Is your money working for YOU?

If you'd like to have part of your money working for the future, perhaps you should be putting a part of it into a personal "IRA" retirement plan. New legislation makes it possible for virtually all working people—including those already covered by a qualified pension program where they work—to save tax dollars today and have more money to enjoy at retirement.

Answer these tax questions

The countdown to April 15th has begun. Over the coming weeks, more than 100 million American taxpayers will be mulling over income tax questions to help you get a fix on your tax picture, the Michigan Association of CPAs has put together this quiz on filing 1985 returns. Try not to peek at the answers.

1. True or false. Tax indexing, when tax brackets, exemptions and zero bracket amounts are adjusted for inflation every year, is to effect for the first time in your 1985 federal return.

2. If you gave away clothing or furniture valued at more than $200 in 1985, you must file a Form 8283 for non-cash charitable contributions.

3. Which one of the following is not deductible?

4. Advertising expenses for a business:

5. Child support payments:

6. Costs for credit bureau reports:

7. True or false. President Reagan's tax reform proposal will change tax rules for 1985.

8. An exemption in 1985 is worth:

9. $1,000 b. $2,000 c. $1,040

10. If you gave to charity in 1985 and are not itemizing deductions, you can deduct:

11. One-half of all donations up to $300

12. Charitable contributions only if you itemize

13. True or false. You cannot use a limousine to fund an IRA contribution.

14. True or false. You do not pay tax on your first $100 of interest income ($200 if you're married).

15. True or false. You cannot extend the deadline for making a 1985 IRA contribution beyond April 15.

16. Which one of the following is not taxed?

17. a. A debt that is forgiven
b. Federal income tax refunds
c. Interest from H or HH Savings Bonds

18. True or false. You can deduct the cost of running a home office only if you use a part of your home regularly and exclusively for business.

19. True or false. You can only deduct medical expenses that exceed five percent of your adjusted gross income.

20. True or false. Cosmetic surgery is a deductible medical expense.

21. True or false. The cost of traveling to your doctor is deductible.

22. AMT stands for:

23. Absolute Margin of Taxation and is used to forecast taxes on investment income

24. Alternative Minimum Tax and

Bequests to Lowell, cont'd.

In 1954 Lowell acquired title to the entire building through the Graham heirs to the property, and it was designated the Robert W. Graham Memorial Library. Dr. Frank Graham came down from Hart Springs, Michigan, to present the deed to the Village Council, as his brother Ernest had died in 1936. In 1960 the east half of the building was leased to the newly-formed Lowell YMCA for its headquarters. In 1984 a plaque was installed by the Showboat Garden Club, the West Central Michigan Historical Society, and the City Council, recognizing the Graham home as a historical building. Renovation has proceeded with the intent of restoring the structure to its original handsome appearance and sturdiness, with funds allocated by the Look Memorial Fund.

The Schneider Fund

News of the first of the large financial endowments with which Lowell has been favored came when the will of Philip H. Schneider of Akron, Ohio, was made known in 1935. This local farm boy who became an industrial leader was born December 1, 1866, in Wayne County, New York, to parents who were natives of Baden, Germany. When Philip was a child, the family moved to a farm south of Lowell, in the Snow district; he attended rural school and then Lowell High School. Married to Jennie Winegar of the South Boston district of Ionia County, he eventually became manager of the Boston Store in Ionia, owned by J.L.

What should every boy and girl know before they begin to babysit? This question will be answered at a free babysitting class at Metropolitan Hospital, offered in cooperation with the Kent County Chapter of the American Red Cross.

The one-session class is open to boys and girls between the ages of 11 and 14. It will be held Saturday, February 1 from 10 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. Advance registration is required, because class size is limited to 30. Others will be placed on a waiting list and notified of future classes.

Topics discussed will include: normal growth and development of children, safety, first-aid, bathing and diapering. Participants will be mailed a certification card after completion of the course.

To register or for further information, call 247-7178.

Who can honestly say they didn't watch any football over the weekend? I gotta believe that darn near everybody watched those wacky, zany, eat 'em up & spit 'em out, Chicago Bears. What a team! I've had more fun following them this year, than I've had in twenty years of watching the Detroit Lions. Of course, being a Lions fan is anything but fun; it's more a form of masochism than anything else.

But, I'm not here to bore you with another recount of the Bears game. I'll leave that to the sports editors in the daily papers. I'm here to critique the Hewlett Packard commercials that have been so prevalent throughout the playoffs. These commercials may also be quite common at other times too, but about the only time you'll catch me watching network TV is during a football game. If Hewlett Packard commercials are aired between bedroom scenes on the nightly soaps, I have no way of knowing.

For those of you who haven't seen these commercials, the whole idea is to have Hewlett Packard executives never stop working. Their minds, it would seem, are always busy searching for ways to make their product work for you. Throughout the playoffs, I've probably seen these mini-dramas four or five times each, and I'm still not sure what Hewlett Packard is selling. High tech electronics is what I'm guessing, but I couldn't be sure. A Madison Avenue ad agent would tell you the idea is to capture the viewer's interest, not bore him with details about computers. Well, they captured my interest all right, and I can't believe how stupid these commercials are.

One scenario shows a hunk of a guy in the shower, as in the beginning of dozens of soap and shampoo commercials. He then wraps himself in a towel, bolts out of the bathroom, nearly trips over a cat on the stairs, rushes past a beautiful woman lounging in his living room, ignoring her seductive smile. Finally, he reaches the phone, and soaking wet, he calls his boss with an idea he had in the shower. I'd love it if we could hear the voice on the other end. It would likely be saying something like, "Jones, you stupid moron. I can't believe you got me out of a hot shower to tell me this idiotic scheme, when we're going to see each other at work in an hour! You're fired!" Now that would be a commercial that would grab your attention.

Another Hewlett Packard plot looks like an episode from the old "Route 66" series. An aerial shot shows an Indiana Jones type zipping through the desert in a classic 1962 Corvette. He passes a little gas station that ought to have buzzards perched on the roof, pulls a U-turn, and asks for the phone. So, from the middle of absolutely nowhere, this jerk, who is supposed to be on vacation, calls his boss with an idea for hooking up some electronic gizmos.

All these conversations cut away when the person on the phone says, "What if . . ." My "What if . . ." is, "What if the guy gets his boss on the phone, starts to explain this brilliant idea of his, and a rattlesnake nails him on the ankle? The director could fade out with buzzards circling over the gas station. Definitely Cannes Film Festival stuff, don't you think?"

The last episode in the series shows a very attractive woman in a business suit, obviously working late. She has her feet on the desk, her shoes off, and seems to be deep in thought. Suddenly, she has an idea, and dials the phone. It's busy. She leaps to her feet, and races down the hall, hurdles (in a tight skirt mind you) the janitor's jumbo, electric floor polisher, and bursts into her boss's office. Coincidentally, he and some other guys just happen to be working late too. (More likely sharing carnal thoughts about the young typists in the office or the new lady executive.)

In my version, this lady executive wouldn't clear the floor polisher. She'd trip, and slide on her stomach down the newly waxed hallway, and into the janitor's bucket of mop water. She'd pick herself up, continue her sprint, and bolt into the boss's office. Soaking wet, she'd blurt out, "What if . . . I go home and change into some dry clothes?" And the boss would say, "Good idea, and don't bother coming back!"

Great stuff, uh? I think I missed my calling. I should have been a big time ad man. Hewlett Packard probably wouldn't sell much product, but TV would sure be a lot more fun.

Snowmobile trail completed

The West Michigan Snowmobile Trail is now complete from the Allegan Game Area northwards to Wabasis State Park in North Kent County. It has taken the combined effort of 12 clubs who are members of the Western Michigan Snowmobile Council to complete the trail. The groomer that is owned by the Council got as far north as the Deer Run Golf Course on Sunday and will be continuing to Wabasis Park this week. The trail is funded by snowmobile registrations through the Grants and Aids Program (Snowmobile) of the State of Michigan and administered by the Kent County Parks and Road Commission.

The trail enters Lowell across the South Division bridge then eastward across the flood plains and exits across M21 just inside the Kent County line. It passes through Fallasburg Park where there is a parking area plowed for easy access on McPherson Road.

Members of the Forest Hills Snowmobile Club and Flat River Snowmobile Club have done the clearing and leased the land from 60th St. in the Alto area to Wabasis Lake.

We are hoping for some fresh snow in order for the trail to be in the best condition. It has been used a great deal and the warm weekend wasn't ideal for grooming so it may be a little rough yet. There must be 4 inches of snow to ride the trail and we are asking that you guys with wheeled vehicles to stay off the trail as the damage done by wheels is excessive. Please cooperate with us so the snowmobilers realize a good return from their registration dollars. There is still a little brushing to be done from Deer Run to Lowell, so if you have an axe or chain saw and would like to volunteer a little time, it will be appreciated. Call 897-6509 if you can help.

Ed Marshall, treasurer of the Flat River Snowmobile Club stands alongside the odd-looking trail groomer owned by the Lowell based club in conjunction with nine other clubs in west Michigan. The tractor was purchased from a ski lodge in Vermont, and the grooming sled was designed and built by members of the Wayland Snowmobile Club. The groomer clears and levels an eight foot path through the snow. All four tracks are driven, and the rear tracks turn to oppose the front tracks when making corners. "It can be a pretty tricky rig to drive in the woods", Marshall said. That's likely putting it very mildly.

Arts Council receives grant

The Michigan Council for the Arts has recently notified the Lowell Area Arts Council that they are the recipients of a 1986 Small Arts Organization Grant totaling $9,508. The MCA is the funding agency established by the state government to award tax dollars for the arts. The LAAC has received over $25,000 from the MCA in the past two years.

Lowell residents can now see a very visible sign of these tax dollars at work in the new Lowell Area Art Center, in a building donated lease free to the LAAC by the King Milling Company. Recently finished, renovation of this building was funded by the MCA and Lowell's Look Memorial Fund. It was a result of a very positive on-site evaluation at the center, that Lowell received $3,500 more than was granted in 1985.

The list of activities planned for the coming months should excite all residents, since there is something for all to enjoy. In February, the annual community play will be staged. This year's performance will be "The Creature Creeps." In April, the very popular Boarshead Michigan Public Theatre will return to Lowell with a production of "Foxfire". In May, the Artrain will make its third visit to Lowell to help celebrate Memorial Day.

Happy Birthday

- JANUARY 15: William Bower, Don Hicks, Rick Meisner.
JANUARY 16: Dorothy Potter, Bob Dine, Don Sterzick.
JANUARY 17: Jim Moore, Debra Wieland, Aric Hendrix, Betsy Eldridge.
JANUARY 18: Duane Dickerson, Sue Wittenbach, Hazel Baird.
JANUARY 19: Tim Stencil, Susan Korte.
JANUARY 20: Megan Kirby, Lyle Johnson, Karen Lyn Serne, Dale Andrews, Ed Gahan.
JANUARY 21: Chayne Avery, Mark MacNaughton, Jamie Vezino, Tonya Stepek, Margery Ritzema.

And, of course, the Fallasburg Fall Festival will be bigger and better than ever in September. On-going activities at the Art Center will include classes in various art forms (elementary art and drama are two that have been finalized), and gallery shows on a regular basis, including a March show entitled "Made In Lowell" which no resident should miss.

As usual, the education committee is very busy. Led by Margaret McMahon, this committee oversees the re-granting of over $3,000. Besides funds funneled to schools, teachers, and students, the committee is working on programs for our community's Senior Citizens. While very generous, the MCA grant is only a portion of the total LAAC budget, with major fund-raisers and gifts, pledges, and memberships from the community necessary to make up the balance.

Anyone with interest in the Council or its activities can call Office Manager Dolores Dey between 1 and 5 p.m., Monday through Friday at 897-8545, or visit the Art Center at 149 South Hudson during those hours. When there is a show in progress, as there is now, there are also viewing hours on Saturday and Sunday. During the month of January and February visitors can see the work of Diane Bartnik of Grand Rapids.

OFF THE BLOTTER

Terry Mager, 34, of Saranac was the driver of a pickup truck struck by a vehicle operated by Lucille Green, 52, of Lowell. Green was exiting a private drive on Kent Street near Washington, and failed to yield the right-of-way. No one was injured in the Thursday, January 9 property damage accident.

Carol Robidoux, 29, of Lowell, was injured Wednesday, January 8 when her vehicle was struck by another vehicle driven by Randall McIntyre, 28, also of Lowell. McIntyre was attempting to make a left turn off Main Street on Valley Vista Drive when he collided with Robidoux.

A hit and run driver collided with a parked vehicle owned by James Hardy of Saranac causing property damage. Hardy's vehicle was parked on N. Pleasant St. when the Monday, January 6 incident occurred.

Robert Heemstra, 61, of Lowell, was cited by Lowell Police Officers to appear in 63rd District Court on charges of driving while his license is suspended.

A 16-year-old juvenile male from Saranac was slightly injured Friday, January 10 when the vehicle he was driving was struck from behind. The driver of the other vehicle was Denise Staskus, 29, of Lowell. The accident occurred on Main Street near Broadway.

Bequests to Lowell, continued . . .

Hudson. In 1887 the Schneiders moved to Akron, Ohio, where Philip managed the William Taylor and Company dry goods store. He later bought the business and established the P.H. Schneider Company. In 1905 he sold the store and took a period of rest from his strenuous work, remaining in lodge and community affairs. Eventually he became a business leader, a developer of real estate, president of the Schneider Building Company, owner of several downtown buildings, and an investor in the rapidly growing tire industry. As a well-known philanthropist in Akron, he was a benefactor of the YMCA, the YWCA, and a number of young college men.

Upon the death of Philip Schneider on October 7, 1935, it was learned that his will provided for the town of Lowell as one of the principal beneficiaries, setting up a trust fund "for the alleviation of human suffering" to be available following the death of his widow. (There were no children.) Other bequests were made to surviving relatives and to hospitals and schools in Akron.

Mrs. Jennie Schneider lived to the age of 96. After her death in 1965, assets of approximately one million dollars in value were placed in the Philip H. and Jennie Winegar Schneider fund, and an advisory committee was appointed as specified in the will, with representatives from the Old Kent Bank and Trust Company, the Village Council of Lowell, and the Lowell Township Trustees. This group was given the responsibility of carrying out the terms of the will, to use the income from the trust fund "toward the alleviation of human suffering and for human welfare in times of need, in the Village of Lowell and the Township of Lowell." When the income is not immediately needed, it is to be accumulated with the principal; if this accumulation becomes "excessive" it may be expended toward the construction and/or equipping of a hospital or other public uses in the Village of Lowell, Michigan as the Advisory Board may designate."

From time to time, requests for funds made only through churches have been considered by the Board as to whether or not they meet the requirements of the will, and allocations have been made in appropriate cases. However, most needs for the type of social services apparently envisioned by Mr. Schneider had come by the time of Mrs. Schneider's death thirty years later to be taken care of by public agencies. Furthermore, the costs of building, equipping and staffing a hospital had risen beyond the capacity of the funds available through the Schneider source and the problems of supervision to meet regulations for such an institution also made the establishment of a nursing home impractical.

By the close of the 1960's it was determined that low-rent housing for senior citizens was a high-priority need. Lowell Area Housing Incorporated, had already been organized in 1966 as a charitable foundation; its first grant was received from the Schneider Fund, and the construction of Schneider Manor was begun in February, 1970. Twenty-four attractive apartments were built on the north side of Bowes road west of Hudson Street; with later additions, also made possible through grants from this trust, the complex now consists of seven, eight-apartment buildings, which contain fifty-three rental units and large community room. Rent is kept low due to the non-profit status of the corporation, and the apartments are much in demand by eligible senior citizens of Lowell and Lowell Township.

Currently the members of the Schneider Trust Fund Committee are a trust officer from the Old Kent Bank; Philip Schneider, great-nephew of the original benefactor bearing the same name, who represents the Lowell City Council; and Harry Yeiter, a trustee on the Lowell Township Board. The Lowell Area Housing, Inc. Board consists of Stanley Gardner, S.D. Wingeier, Robert Ellis, King Doyle, Ray Zandstra, Rev. Glenn Marks, Philip Schneider and Harry Yeiter.

This article will be continued in next week's Grand Valley Ledger.
