Lowell will be lively through the holiday season

Serving Lowell Area

The old tune, "It's Beginning to Look a Lot Like Christmas" has lyrics that describe Lowell very nicely. Visitors to the downtown will find that merchants are going all out to decorate their stores both inside and out. The Flat River Antique Mall is an excellent example. The entire front of the building is draped with fresh evergreen roping, bows and other decorations. Owner Ron McCollum talked with his neighbors at Hill's Shoe Store, Lowell Waterbeds and Bristol's Body Shop, and they all agreed to decorate their storefronts. Now most of the block is decked out for the holiday. The decorating spirit spread to several businesses across the street and in other blocks.

McCollum arranged to have all the trees along Main Street wrapped with evergreen roping and adorned with red bows. The city's contracted ornaments on of Commerce is also planning to light the Main Street trees with strings of white lights. The official lighting is scheduled for Wednesday, December 3 at 7:00 p.m. The switch will be thrown at the Municipal Parking Lot where a brief ceremony will take place. The Showboat lights will be lit, and a huge Christmas tree mounted on the top deck will also be lighted by the Chamber of Commerce. The Chamber of Commerce has also posted a holiday message on the municipal billboard.

All postal patrons in Lowell, Alto, Ada and Saranac will soon receive envelopes containing 22 money saving coupons good at. Lowell merchants throughout the holiday season. The packet also includes a flyer from the Chamber of Commerce detailing the events slated for the holiday season and a list of good reasons to shop in Lowell during the the Main Street utility poles were Christmas shopping season.

The Chamber of Commerce is again hosting a number of events throughout the holiday season. The annual Santa Claus Parade will be held on Saturday, December 6. It will form near the Methodist Church, and step off at 11:00 a.m. Anyone wishing further information about the parade should contact Arlene Lambert at Lambert Variety 897-9918.

Parents can have their children's picture taken with Santa immediately following the parade at Lee's Landing. The photos will be taken by Modern Photographics and the package will include one 5 x 7 and one 3 x 5 for $5.00. The Chamber is also sponsoring horse drawn buggy rides the evenings of December 10, 16 and 18. The rides begin at 5:30, and leave from the rear of Lambert's Variety where a warm "coach stop" will be provided. Lee brand jeans is partially funding the buggy ride project through an arrangement made by Pfaller's Clothing.

CHRISTMAS TREE WINNER

Carol Dozema of Lowell was the lucky winner of a 6-1/2 foot Christmas tree given away during the Christmas Open House hosted by Cousins' Cards and Gifts over the weekend. The tree is covered with Hallamark ornaments and is valued at over $500. Congratulations Carol!

MEET THE TEAM NIGHT

The Lowell Red Arrows "Meet the Teams Night" is slated for Tuesday, December 2 at 7:30 p.m. All the winter sports teams will be on hand for photo sessions. The event will take place at the Lowell High School gymnasium. Note that the 7:30 time is a change from the previously published 6:30 starting time. All Red Arrow fans are heartily welcomed to attend.

FIREMEN HOLD SUB SALE

The Lowell Fire Department is hosting a submarine sandwich sale. The sandwiches may be ordered now through Saturday, November 29. The cost $1.75 each, or $1.50 if ordered by the dozen. Saturday, December 6 is the date scheduled for delivery.

OFF THE BLOTTER

Arrested for driving under the influence of alcohol Thursday morning, November 2 was Frederick Mockerman, 22, of Lowell. Mockerman also was involved in a property damage accident when he lost control of his car and struck the curb at the intersection of Main and Grove streets.

Sharon Scharaswak, 25, of Lowell attempted to change lanes on West Main St. near West St. and struck the side of a vehicle driven by Tammy Holiday, 18, of Ionia. There were no injuries in the Friday morning, November 21, accident.

Selena Gunther, 19, of Mt. Morris, MI struck the rear of a car driven by Gary Orcutt, 24, of Flint on West Main near the First Baptist Church Sunday, November 23.

Cited into 63rd District Court on charges of defrauding a motel was Sharon Fisher, 36, of Clarksville, MI for non-payment of room rental at the Lowell Motor Inn.

Reported to Lowell Police Monday morning, November 24, was. the breaking of a window at the Shell Gas Station at Main and Hudson Streets. Vandals then removed a small amount of candy

The Chamber is also organizing church choirs to carol in the downtown on the evenings of December 16 and 18. Dave Davis is chairing this effort. He would like to hear from any groups that are interested in carolling those evenings. Davis can be reached at Straw Basket Collections at 897-5521.

Santa will appear several times between now and Christmas. Besides the photo session on December 6, he will appear from 7:00 until 8:00 p.m. at Pfaller's Clothing on December 9, Cousins' Card and Gift Shoppe on December 10, Lambert's Variety on December 16 and at Strawbasket Collections on December 18. Santa will also appear from 2:00 until 3:00 p.m. at Anderson's Shoes December 13 and Carole's Critters on December 20.

The Chamber is also sponsoring home decorating competition again this year. Homes will be judged the evenings of December 18 and 19. Details regarding the competition will be in future issues of the Ledger.

The Lowell Area Schools are also sponsoring several Christmas events during the holiday season. The Bushnell Christmas program will be at 2:45 p.m. on December 4. The Alto Christmas program will be held at 1:30 p.m. on December 12. The Runciman/Riverside Christmas program will be held at 2:00 p.m. on December 9. The Middle School Band and Choir will perform a Christmas concert at 7:30 on December 11. The High School Christmas music program is slated for December 17 at 7:00 p.m.

The Chamber of Commerce invites you to enjoy the Christmas season here in Lowell.

Appointments not always ell.

This holiday greeting on the municipal bulletin board is just one of the many activities the Lowell Area Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring this Christmas season. The Chamber invites you to enjoy the holiday season here in Lowell.

Remembering all ... with thanks!

Thanksgiving . . .a traditional day of thankfulness for the blessings of a bountiful harvest. And, in the day to day working relationship in our lives, we here at State Savings Bank have many things to be thankful for. One is our pleasant business associations with you, the people and the business community in which we exist. We hope that our association will continue in that same beneficent atmosphere for many Thanksgivings to come. We will transact no business on Thursday, November 27th, in observance of this fits this bill he is a fearful night crier. Here are some methods of dealing with each of these different night time dilemmas

Trained night criers -- If your baby does not awaken for food but still has night time crying, wait at least five minutes before going into the room. If the crying continues, go in, but do not stay longer than one minute. Reasuure the baby in a quiet voice and give some gentle pats. Do not turn on the lights or remove the baby, or bring him to your bed. Trained night feeders -- By age 4 months 95% of infants can sleep at least 8 continuous hours without feeding. Take the following steps if your baby still is sleepless:

1 - Increase the time between day time feeding to four hours 2 - Do not give the baby a bottle in bed, feed your child at bedtime, but do not let him hold or keep the bottle. 3 - Phase out night feedings. Babies over age 4 months do not need any calories during the night. Fearful night criers -- If your child sounds fearful, panics when you leave, cries until he vomits or cries nonstop for hours, go in immediately and reassure him. Stay as long as it takes to calm him, but do not lift him from the crib. Do not talk much and leave the lights out. Leave for a minute every now and then to teach your child that separation is tolerable. Do the same thing at naptime and bedtime.

FFA Landscape Team places in National Competition

The Lowell FFA Nursery/ Landscape Team representing the State of Michigan placed in the top twenty teams from across the nation. They won a silver award at the National Convention in Kansas City, Missouri from November 12-15, 1986.

Team members were: Becky Dine, Bob Dine, Sue Rittersdorf and Dawn Thompson was the alternate. Team members also received recognition for their efforts according to their coach and FFA advisor, Mr. Peter Siler.

Bob Dine and Sue Rittersdorf received silver pins and Becky Dine received a bronze pin for their individual efforts at the contest. According to Siler, 43 teams competed, representing states throughout the country. Contestants are judged on their ability to identify and place landscape plants, personal skills and general knowledge of the nursery landscape business.

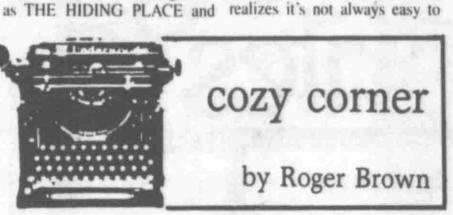

Other Lowell FFA members in attendance at the convention were: Jamie Cook, Shaun Wenger, Joe Grieser, Jeff Depew and Tom Nugent, Mrs. Sandi Thompson and Mr. Siler were chaperones for the trip.

which can double as targets on a rifle range. P.S. Terese has agreed to proof my column each Tuesday at lunch. So, if you happen to find a grammatical blunder, please point it Offset & Letterpress. Grand out to me so I can return the favor, and jump all over her case like she did me.

Last week I wrote about the difficulty I sometimes have in conjuring up material for this column. In the first paragraph 1 stated, "I've sat here at my video tube for nearly half an hour." Well, my wife read the column a couple of days after it was published, and I thought she was going to have a coronary when she came to the "I've sat here" bit

"Oh no, this is awful!" she exclaimed. She continued with, "This 'I've sat' should be. 'I've been sitting,' and the next sentence isn't even a complete thought! Who proofreads this stuff? For Pete's sake, let me proof it from now on! Oh, I can't believe it! I'm so embarassed!" The lecture continued from there, but you get the idea.

Whew! Nothing like taking a guy down a peg or two. I guess she paid more attention in English class than I did. If I had known _] was going to own a newspaper, I might have cracked the books little harder, but I doubt it. As I remember, I darned near spent another year in high school because of English. I finally got by with a D, it was more of a gift from a soft-hearted teacher than the grade I deserved.

On top of my troubles with English, I flunked typing . . . twice! It just doesn't make sense that I should end up in a job which requires that I pound away on a keyboard, and come up with sensible copy. The classes I really excelled at were metal shop. drafting and debate. By rights I should have a job designing, drawing and manufacturing sheet metal megaphones.

Come to think of it, there isn't much of anything I've ever excelled at that is much benefit in my work here at the Ledger. The reverse is also true. I've had trouble with just about every learning experience which could have helped me later with my job.

I excelled at football. I was an all-conference tackle and team MVP in high school. A fat lot of good that does me here at the Ledger. I can't remember the last time I threw a cross-body block on a customer or tackled an employee.

I was dreadful at math. I snuck by with a D in algebra, did a little better in geometry and flunked algebra II. I knew better than to take physics or calculus; consequently, there isn't a day that goes by in which I'm not presented with a math problem that gives me fits. For example: if 50 pound offset paper weighs 41 pounds er 171/2" x 221/2" sheet, and it costs so much per pound, how much will 10,000 41/4" x 51/2" cost me? A little math aptitude just might be handy from time to time.

I shot "expert" with the M-16 in the army. I could knock those silhouettes down at 300 yards like nobody's business,. but, it's a little difficult to put that particular skill into practice in the printing and publishing business.

I had a very difficult time in speech classes that I took, both in high school and college. I was self-concsious in front of an audience-I mumbled, my palms sweat, I blushed, I stammered, and did all the things you're not supposed to do. Now when my job requires that I speak in public, I mumble, my palms sweat, I blush, stammer and still do all the things I'm not supposed to do.

I always did well in my shop classes. I made a really nice walnut chest of drawers. After making a wood pattern I designed and built a lamp with a base, then cast it in brass and turned it out on a lathe. I turned out a brass hammer with a knurled steel handle that my father still has in his tool chest. I made all sorts of nice projects but I'll be darned if I can remember ever building a wooden newspaper or pouring a cast aluminum set of business cards. The list goes on and on, but you get the idea. I just wish I could find-somebody to do all the things at which I'm so inept, then I could get on with my life's work of building tackling dummies

The Cooks were among thousands of breeders of the finest purebred livestock in the world who exhibited over 3,300 dairy cattle, 8,700 sheep and beef cattle and over 2.200 quartere and draft horses at the North Amercian International Livestock Exposition (NAILE), in Louisville, KY. Nearly 14,500 animals from 48 states and Canada were exhibited November 8 - 21. Harold Workman, Executive Director of the NAILE, expects over 110,000 visitors from all 50 states and at least 18 foreign countries. The NAILE is the largest all-breed, purebred livestock show in the world.

This 250-foot replica of the Vietnam Veterans Memorial is a photomural of the original memorial in Washington, D.C. Nationally chartered veterans organizations in Michigan and the Adolph Coors Company cooperated in bringing the memorial to Michigan as a tribute to Vietnam veterans. There are 58,132 names inscribed on the memorial, more than 2,500 of them Michigan residents who were killed or are listed as missing in action. The replica will be at Cascade Sports Arena, near Grand Rapids, November 25-30.

"I was strongly impressed by this memorial replica when I saw it in Detroit earlier this month," LaMothe added. "It will make an impression on everyone who visits it."

The replica was commissioned by the Adolph Coors Company of Golden, Colorado. Coors has a lengthy history of involvement with veterans organizations, including sponsorship of another replica that has toured several cities. Roy Brown, Coors' Manager of Military Marketing, who is a Vietnam veteran, cited the company's record in the area of veterans affairs.

"Coors is a nationally recognized leader in the hiring of veterans," said Brown. "More than 30% of the company's workforce are veterans, and the company has been honored by several organizations for its commitment to veterans' causes. # Krause sponsors bill to aid Alzheimer victims

An area lawmaker sponsored part of a legislative package on Alzheimer's Disease, unveiled Wednesday by House Republicans, that would alllow nonprofit agencies around Michigan to develop local services for those suffering from the syndrome.

Representatives Vic State Krause (R-Rockford) announced the Republican initiative at a Capitol news conference. He was joined by House Republican Floor Leader Donald Van Singel (R-Grant)

The legislation includes an income tax refund checkoff for the Alzheimer's Disease Community Grant Fund. The tax checkoff allows taxpayers to designate $2 or more from a refund to the project.

Cancer Society greeting cards

The Kent County Unit of the American Cancer Society announces its offering of the 1986 holiday greeting card program. The society is making available to people in the Kent County area a selection of 12 different and uniquely designed greeting cards for the upcoming holiday season. Each style also has its own original greeting or message on the inside. Card designs range in the price from $10 to $17 per box with proceeds going to aid American Cancer Society programs in Cancer research, education and service to cancer patients. For a free illustrated brochure describing the holiday greeting card program with complete ordering information and an order form, contact: The American Cancer Society, 1447 Lake Drive, S.E., Grand Rapids, Michigan 49506 or telephone: Nancy Lyons (616) 458-1204.

This community program is especially interesting to Krause, who served as vice president of the West Central Area's American Cancer Society from 1976-82, where he was responsible for patient service and public education programs.

State matching grants would be available to both public and private non-profit community agencies for the development of adult day care, crisis intervention, and home respite care. Three-year pilot projects would be funded - 75 percent by state funds and 25 percent by local contributions.

"The program should produce volunteers that will provide respite care and coordinate family support groups," Krause said. "The low cost volunteer program would relieve the burden for Alzheimer's caregivers and would postpone or prevent institutionalization."

Other bills in the package would:

--create an Alzheimer's Disease Registry. The data base would be used for research in sorting out the confusing symptoms and progression of the disease. --establish an Alzheimer's Disease information and referral network to be administered by the state Department of Public Health.

each year. There is no cure for the disease, which usually strikes individuals over 65. Minor memory loss and confusion are early symptoms. Soon victims have difficulty with judgment and social skills. Their physical condition deteriorates until the patient must rely on others for assistance in feeding. dressing and bathing. In its last stages, patients are physically and mentally incapacitated, requiring 24-hour care.

"In Michigan alone, officials estimate that at least 100,000 people suffer from Alzheimer's. That doesn't include the families who must care for their loved ones. This package, if enacted, would lend them a helping hand and also build an information base for the future," he said.
