CHAMBER OF COMMERCE GET-TOGETHER

Plan now to attend an informal get-together sponsored by the Lowell Area Chamber of Commerce. Project chairperson Karin Hale of Cousins' Card and Gift Shoppe says the event is simply a chance for those doing business in Lowell to get acquainted and exchange ideas. The get-together will be held on Thursday, February 26 from 5:00 until 6:30 p.m. at the Lowell Area Arts Council Center on South Hudson Street. Light refreshments will be served, and those attending will also be able to view the photo exhibit, "A Year of Life in the Lowell Area." Don't miss it!

TOWN HALL MEETING IS FEBRUARY 28

A "Town Hall Meeting" with U.S. Congressman Paul Henry is slated for Saturday, February 28 from 3:00 until 4:00 p.m. in the Lowell Middle School Choir Room. Henry will be on hand to answer questions, solve problems and field complaints. Here's your chance to get it straight from the horse's mouth, so make plans now to attend.

Gus Macker may move downtown

The Gus Macker Tournament may be moving. Don't worry, they're not going far. City officials and Macker Council mempers will meet tonight at 8:00 5.m. in Lowell City Hall to discuss the possibility of moving the massive 3-on-3 basketball tournament to Lowell's central business district. This year's tournament is scheduled for Friday thru Sunday, July 10-12.

Scott McNeal, alias Gus Macker, and the Macker Council will be on hand to spell out their plans for this year's tournament. Last year's Macker attracted nearly 1,200 teams, and this year's event promises to be bigger and better than ever.

Lowell City Manager Ray Quada has contacted the State Department of Transportation and Kent County Road Commission in regard to closing off Main St. during the tournament and rerouting M-21 traffic. Quada said

Ray Quada will be leaving his position as Lowell City Manager on March 6. An open house has been planned in his honor for Thursday evening, February 26. The public is invited to Deer Run Golf Club from 8:30 until 10:00. No gifts please. Light refreshments will be served and a cash bar will be in effect.

KENT SKILLS OPEN HOUSE

On Tuesday, March 3, the East Beltline Skill Center will be hosting the second annual Lowell Open House at Kent Skills Centers. The program begins at 7:00 p.m. in the auditorium and is for Lowell sophomore and junior students and their parents, only. There will be free parking, and refreshments will be offered. You will have the opportunity to ask questions, visit classrooms, and discuss programs with Skill Centers personnel. Don't miss this wonderful opportunity to visit the Kent Skills Centers.

CHEESE COMMODITIES TO BE DISTIRIBUTED

Commodities will be distributed from 10:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. at the Lowell Moose Lodge located at 2101/2 Main St. on Thursday, February 26.

OFF THE BLOTTER

Involved in a property damage accident on Thursday, February 19, was Melinda Vanderweg, 33, when she failed to yield right-ofway at Valley Vista and West Main Street. Vanderweg struck a car driven by Donna Wheaton, 53. Both are Lowell residents.

Cited for leaving the scene of a property damage accident which occurred on Elm, East of Riverside Drive, on Thursday night, February 19, was Dino Sauer, 25, of Lowell. Sauer struck a parked car owned by William Mercer, also of Lowell.

Receiving an appearance violation for Unlawful Entry (entry without owner's permission) was Rickey Scott, 29, of Saranac, in connection with an incident which occurred in Lowell last week.

Arrested on a warrant issued by 63rd District Court was Sharon Fisher, 36, of Clarksville, MI for defrauding an innkeeper of Lowell in October of '86. She was transferred to the Kent County jail by Lowell officers.

Arrested for felonious assault this past week was Robert Gardner, 40, of Saranac. The arrest was made in connection with an incident which occurred on Monday, February 16, on West Main St.

Involved in a property damage accident on West St. near Main on February 17, were Courtney Snyder, 29, of Greenville when she struck the rear of a car driven by Alice Schoen, 19, of Ada.

Involved in a property damage accident in the parking lot of Bushnell school were Timothy Arnold, 19, of Alto and Mary Middaugh, 48, of Lowell. The accident occurred on Saturday, February 14.

Arrested by Lowell officers for entry to a residence with intent to commit larceny on Sunday morning, February 22, was Bert Iliff, 22, of Sikeston, Missouri. He was found inside the residence both authorities were willing to cooperate with the idea.

Merchants in the central business disrict seem to generally approve of the idea, though most express concerns about possible liability claims. A new city ordinance dealing with special events and a $1 million per occurence liability insurance requirement should resolve any problems that merchants and property owners might have with staging the tournament downtown.

The King Milling Co. does have a considerable problem with moving the Macker, at least during the scheduled dates. As most Lowell residents know, the city is filled with grain trucks during July as millions of bushels of wheat are hauled in from all over the state to fill King Milling's huge silos. Speaking on behalf of the company, Brian Doyle explained that this year could be a special problem. Doyle noted that last fall's wheat plantings were down about 40% because of the severe heavy rainfalls. "King Milling Company will need to buy every bushel of wheat they can get their hands on" Doyle said. With the wheat harvest likely coming into full swing just when the Macker is scheduled, the ensuing congestion is easily imaginable to those who are familiar with the traffic

Local Explorer is honored

A Lowell High School senior was among a select group of scouts to present the Governor's report on Scouting at the State Capitol on Monday. A Cub Scout, Boy Scout and Explorer Scout from each of the state's five Scouting districts was selected to present the report. Becki Mitchell, 17, a Fire Explorer with the Cascade Fire Department's Explorer Post, was chosen as the Explorer representative from the Io-Ke-Mo District.

Becki has been active in Explorers for three years. She has been elected president of her post the past two years and was named "Explorer of the Year" in 1986. The group of fifteen Scouts presented the report to Secretary of State, Richard Austin. Austin was Acting Governor on Monday as both the Governor and Lieutenant Governor were out of the state. The Scouts were given a tour of the capitol building and had lunch with the president of Michigan State University

If you're going to Africa, be emperor moth, is becoming a popular snack food there. In Africa, these caterpillars traditionally have been consumed fried, dried, stewed or raw. National Wildlifemagazine reports that the mopanie worm is now being marketed as a cheap, nutritious, fast-food item. But how do they taste? Some say they have a nutty flavor, others complain of a dry taste. Of course dryness can be avoided by eating them raw ... Bon appetit!

ANABOLIC STEROID USE IN ATHLETICS

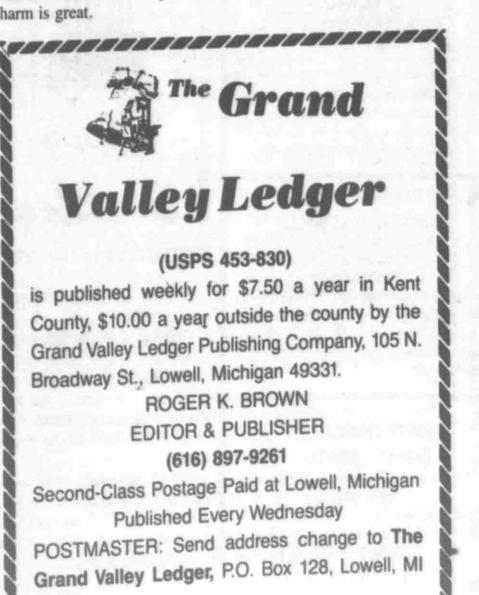

Much has been printed in the sports section of our daily newspapers regarding the use of anabolic steroids in athletes. Anabolic steroid use has spread from professional ranks to the college and even high school programs. Anabolic steroids were probably first used during World War II, reportedly, to increase the strength and aggressiveness of German soldiers. Later they were used by the Russian athletes. Since that time, use has spread. With currently available technology, detection of abuse has become commonplace and several athletes have been disgualifed from competition due to positive urine screens.

Anabolic steroids promote development of protein in skeletal muscles and other tissues. They increase lean body mass and enhance growth. It is a widely held belief, by athletes, that anabolic steroid use leads to improved performance. The most widely used anabolic steroid is methandrostenolone, which can be taken orally. The drugs are usually obtained illegally through other athletes, pharmaceutical houses and even through prescription by a physican. Legitimate use of anabolic steroids include treatment of chronically ill patients, victims of starvation or patients with certain hormone problems or anemia. Hardly problems encountered by the typical athlete!

It is difficult to determine the actual number of athletes who use anabolic steroids because of the secrecy surrounding the use of these illegal drugs. Athletes who use the drugs have stated that they have a significant increase in muscle strength, size and performance. They also notice increased aggressiveness and decreased fatigue. Some of this may be psychological, as many studies have shown no difference in strength or performance when compared to untreated groups.

The problems with anabolic steroid use is their adverse effects. Such side effects include changes in moods, increased aggressiveness and change in sexual drive. It can lead to breast enlargement in males as well as testicular shrinking. More serious side effects include liver dysfunction and liver cancer.

In summary, anabolic steroid use by any athlete is to be condemned. There are no proven benefits and the risk of potential harm is great.

With the heightening of radio drama in the 1930s through the '40s, WXYZ Radio in Detroit, Michigan created one of America's favorites -- the legendary Lone Ranger. Conceived by George W. Trendle, in April 1941, the show reached its climax with the growing popularity of Brace Beemer of Oxford as the Lone Ranger. Beemer was known for his incognito appearances since he always wore a mask while he was in costume. So popular was the program, that later the Lone Ranger appeared in Hollywood movies and on television.

But, I believe there each Scout is presented, by his is a deep down desire in us to get even with the surgeon, so we parent(s), with any and all blab to everybody how awful it was.

My dentist has been telling me for years to have my wisdom previous month. We are proud to teeth removed. He wouldn't do the work because two of mine announce this months recipients: were impacted. That's good, because we can still be friends. Every time I visited the dentist I was given a list of Oral Surgeons that I could see about my wisdom teeth. I'd leave the list lying around for a few days as I tried to muster some courage, and then eventually throw it away. I guess I just haven't watched enough John Wayne and Sylvester Stallone movies.

About three weeks ago I went in for a check-up and cleaning. The young hygientist gave me a pretty straightforward lecture about my wisdom teeth and the problems they were causing. She told me my teeth were pretty good, but my gums weren't so hot. Even I'm smart enough to know that teeth ain't much good without

So, I picked up another list of Oral Surgeons on my way out. This time I came straight back to the Ledger and made a phone call. First I had to schedule a preliminary examination. The surgeon who did the exam told me there should be no problems. He said everything looked like it should come out easily and listed the extractions on the estimate form as "soft tissue," as opposed to "boney." That made feel a little better. However, the surgeon who gave me the cheery forecast was leaving on vacation. I didn't want to have this ordeal hanging over my head for several weeks while he was off enjoying the sunshine, so I scheduled the surgery with another surgeon in the same practice.

They wanted to know if I would like all four removed at once, Oor two now and two later. I used my best John Wayne impersonation I said, "Do 'em all Pilgrim." I knew darned well they'd only get one chance at me. They also wanted to know if I preferred general Tanesthesia or just a local with gas. I'm afraid I sounded a little more like Don Knotts when I replied, "Put me under 'til I'm

Last Wednesday was the big day. It was like "High Noon," "The Gunfight at the OK Corral," and "D-Day" all rolled into one. Every time I thought about the surgery I broke out in a sweat. I could have used a truckload of whatever anti-perspirant it is that uses the slogan, "No matter what, never let them see you sweat."

When the sun came up on Wednesday, I'd been awake for hours. tried to think of anything except the surgery, but you know how that goes. They told me not to eat or drink anything for six hours prior to the big event. My appointment was at 1:15 p.m., so 7:15 a.m. was the cut-off time. I got up, had a small bowl of cereal, a couple cups of coffee, and that was it. Had I known it was my last meal for four days, I'd have beat it downtown to a restaraunt and ordered the entire left side of the menu!

Terese drove me to the clinic. They don't want you driving home on your own after they get through with you. I guess they're afraid you might crash into the clinic in an attempt to get even. The ride over was quiet, too quiet, as they say in the westerns. Terese tried to be supportive, but I would have none of it. I caught ner looking behind us a couple of times. I think she was checking to see if we were leading a procession of cars with little flags stuck on the fenders and the headlights turned on.

As you can see, I've rambled on for about as long as I usually do, and we haven't even arrived at the clinic yet. That is with good reason. I figure stuff like stains on our white carpet, a crumpled car fender, flooded basements, burglaries, insurance cancellations, etc. are all good material for my column. Oral surgery? . that's gotta be good for two, maybe three columns. Francis Scott Key lived through the shelling of Baltimore and wrote the lyrics for "The Star Spangled Banner." Kurt Vonnegut, Jr. lived through the fire bombing of Dresden and wrote the novel "Slaughter House Five." Oliver Stone lived through a tour in Viet Nam and wrote the screenplay for "Platoon." I lived through oral surgery, and I'm gonna write a few columns about it! Next week: "The Surgery!"

Before proceeding with regular business, Manager Quada asked permission to read a statement which was his formal resignation to be effective March 6, 1987. He stated the decision to make a career change was not easily arrived at and noted a number of the changes that had occurred in this community, some of which being the completion of the water treatment plant, new public works facility, creation of the rescue service, ambulance and fire equipment purchases, successful negotiations with the police department, revitalization of the Master Plan and the Zoning Ordinance update. He also noted items such as park development, volunteer fire department, police department and city staff which the community should be proud of. He expressed encouragement for the future of Lowell commercially, despite contrary feelings of some individuals. He emphasized the fact that his decision had been made with no ill-feelings or anger to the town, its residents or the council and on behalf of himself and his family, he extended his thanks for the past ten and one-half years.

(Second in a Series)

The Hospice program, which will be offering classes in Lowell on Tuesday and Thursday evenings beginning March 17, has a unique philosophy of caregiving. It differs greatly from traditionally understood acute care, extended care, and home care, because of the situation of the patients it serves. Hospice deals exclusively with those afflicted with terminal disease, where the prognosis is considered to be less than six months to live. It acknowledges that dying patients have different needs than patients with curable maladies; it therefore focuses on controlling the physical symptoms, rather than the underlying cause of the symptoms. In no way is the dying patient "cut off" from his or her doctor -- it is vital to the psychological well-being of the patient that the physician continue as a key figure in the care. Yet the focus of caregiving is changed: it is palliative care, not therapeutic.

The Hospice program simultaneously helps the patient and family members cope with the psychological, social, and spiritual problems which are part of dying and bereavement. As Dr. Cicely Saunders, founder of St. Christopher's Hospice in England has written, "nothing that we do should serve to separate someone who is dying from his or her family. There may be moments of difficulty or even despair, but it is of paramount importance that they come through to the end together. For just being present itself may ease the next stages for those who have to go on living afterwards." Even following death, the family is still considered a unit of care, and continues to receive support for up to a year. For in a terminal illness every member of the family is pulled in and affected by the illness. Adjustments to living without the patient take time to make.

Anyone interested in spending a few hours a week giving, caring, and sharing should call Hospice at 454-1426, and request further information regarding enrollment in the class.
