Lowell grocery stores open, close and change

Just when you thought you knew which aisle the spaghetti sauce was in, the grocery business in Lowell was turned topsy-turvy. We've known for months that the new Family Fare food store would open and, as pre-arranged, Johnson's Food Basket would close. What we didn't know is that Eberhard's would remodel, change their name and completely re-set their store. So, you may have to do a little searching to find that spaghetti sauce on your next trip to the grocery.

Family Fare, a brand new 23,000 square foot grocery opens its doors for the first time today, April 1. The West Main business features Spartan products, a complete bulk produce program, fresh seafood, custom and self-serve meats, a full service bakery and deli. Store manager, Larry Coleman, a five year veteran with the nine store Family Fare chain, thinks Lowell shoppers are going to be impressed. "We run a very clean and organized store. Our prices are the lowest possible and we offer a 100% satisfaction guarantee", Coleman said.

Construction began on the new store last August. Coleman says the doors are opening right on schedule. About 90 employees have been hired according to Coleman. The Holland based firm has three stores in Holland, three in Indiana, one in Byron Center and one in Hudsonville. The chain was founded by Don Koop and Ron Kunnen about 25 years ago.

Family Fare will be open each Monday through Saturday from 8:00 a.m. until 9:30 p.m. Coleman noted that there are no beer or wine sales in any Family Fare stores. "The owners just don't believe in it, so we don't sell it," Coleman said.

Before the first spade of dirt was turned for the new Family

Fare, an agreement was reached with Phil and Lyle Johnson, owners of Johnson's Food Basket. The Johnson's sold out to Family Fare, and closed their business on Saturday, March 28. The Johnson brothers have their 505 West Main St. building for sale or lease. They say they have no immediate plans as to where they may go from here.

To throw another twist into the grocery business in Lowell, Eberhard's has changed its name to Food City. The new name and accompanying pricing, policies and promotions went into effect on March 30. The 1335 West Main store has been extensively remodeled. New pricing structures have been instituted and a 1,500 title video center has been added. The store's hours have also been extended to seven days a week and 24 hours per day.

Store officials say the Food City concept has been carried out in six Eberhard stores. Ionia, Lowell, Hastings and three stores in Lansing have undergone the change. The Food City format includes a much different marketing concept than is used in other Eberhard stores, so shoppers will find the store very much changed.

The new Family Fare food store on Lowell's West Main Street opens its doors for the first time today, Wednesday, April 1. The Lowell Eberhard's store is also celebrating a grand opening under the new name of Food City. The Food City concept has been instituted in six Eberhard stores.

stock Park, Wednesday, March 25.

Harlow Bailey of Schoolcraft and Dennis Anderson of Homer were elected to the Production Credit Association's board of directors.

Jerry Hale of Lowell and Warren Strefling of Galien were elected to the Federal Land Bank Association's board.

Jerry Hale has a dairy and crop farming operation near Lowell. He farms 1,250 acres, has been in business 24 years, is currently an FLBA director and a member of the planning committee. He is also a district delegate for the Michigan Milk Producers Association, a township trustee and a Lowell Rotary Club member. He has been a member of FLBA for ten years and a member of PCA for 20 years.

Directors of both associations serve three-year terms. PCA and FLBA comprise Farm Credit Services of West Michigan which provide credit and financial services for 6,000 member-borrowers in 20 western Michigan counties.

"Congress will probably provide some assistance to the Farm Credit System this year," said Larry Williams, executive vice president of FCS's seventh district in St. Paul, Minnesota.

Williams told stockholders at their annual meetings that he believes Congress will protect the stock investments of members and that lawmakers recognize the need for FCS to serve rural America.

"If government assistance is required, I believe we should accept the minimal amount necessary for the shortest term possible, protect the stock, and insist that farmers and stockholders retain control and that any assistance received should be repaid," Williams said.

"In addition, money should not be taken from other government programs that help farmers and given to FCS," said the speaker.

"Adversity has brought lenders and farmers closer together," Williams told the

Easter egg hunt slated

Sharp-eyed children participating in a scheduled Easter Egg Hunt have the chance to share in over $100 in prizes. Lee's Landing is hosting the Saturday, April 11 event to be held in Creekside Park. N. Leone & Sons, a Detroit based food broker, will also participate by donating the 720 eggs that will be used.

Scott Treglia, an employee of N. Leone & Sons, says the eggs will be hard boiled, dyed and hidden in the park the previous evening. Treglia says 30 eggs will be colored gold, and can be redeemed for one silver dollar. There will also be three $25.00 gift certificates to Toys-R-Us given as prizes. In all, over 700 eggs will be hidden throughout the park. Treglia says the egg hunters will be divided into three age groups: 3-5, 6-8 and 9-11.

The event kicks off at 10:00 a.m., and will take place rain or shine.

"Capitol Column"

By State Senator
Dick Posthumus

Who in the 1860s thought the combination of electricity and magnetism would generate today's communication technologies? Who in the 1920s imagined quantum mechanics would produce the semiconductor industry? And who in 1987 knows how the Supercolliding Superconductor (SSC) will ultimately alter our way of life?

We are offering legislation to help Michigan develop a successful bid proposal for what could be the most important economic development project ever. The SSC, a $4.5 billion accelerator 9,000 times larger than Michigan State University's (MSU) cyclotron, will provide about 2,500 high-technology jobs and 3,500 construction, geologic and engineering positions. It could even attract 500 visiting professors and scholars from around the world every year for research and study. Any project creating that many jobs and that much attention to Michigan must have the highest priority.

The SSC, which will be the world's largest atom smasher, has been discussed at the federal level for more than three years. Competition intensified after President Reagan announced he would seek funding for the project and that the U.S. Department of Energy will begin looking for sites. Bids are due by August of this year and a site will be selected in July, 1988.

Senate Bill 169 would create a SSC Commission responsible for developing our bid. A 17-member commission would include the directors of the Commerce and Natural Resources Departments, the physics chairs at the University of Michigan, MSU and Wayne State University, one nominee from the House Speaker and Senate Majority Leader, and ten appointees each from local government, major utility companies, environmental organizations, labor and business.

The SSC Commission would represent Michigan before the U.S. Department of Energy and other agencies and develop plans for Michigan's participation in the project. It would have the power to hold public meetings, contract research and services, acquire property and rights of way for the project, and be subject to the Open Meetings Act. Adequate funding for bid-related projects would also be assured.

Senate Concurrent Resolution 97 urges Michigan's Congressional delegation, the governor's office and the Legislature to act swiftly and thoroughly to promote Michigan as the best possible site for the SSC.

We have already scheduled hearings on our SSC legislation. There's no time to waste because we only have four months to prepare such a massive and detailed proposal. But our efforts will be well spent if we receive the project, since this type of research represents unlimited possibilities to improve our quality of life and advanced technology for everyone on this planet.

Letter to the Editor . . .

I feel compelled out of recent reports of racism on the University of Michigan campus to somehow counter the "media bashing" of one of the finest higher education institutions in this country. The isolated "racist" incidents that have occurred here at the university have attracted a great deal of attention both from the local and national press casting a great cloud over Ann Arbor.

I must emphasize that the incidents are isolated and that which has happened are both inexcusable and intolerable. They do not in any way, however, reflect the attitudes or conventions of the overwhelming majority of students and faculty here at the university. We pride ourselves on our diversity, our mixture of cultures from around the world, and above all the superior academic tradition which U. of M. has established.

The Gorman studies of 1983 nationally rated the University of Michigan 3rd both in undergraduate and graduate studies finishing only slightly behind some private East Coast institutions. Facts such as these seem to be forgotten when the media jumps on a "hot story" and attention is focused on all that is negative.

The people of the state of Michigan have a right to be proud of their public universities, not only because of their academic and athletic excellence, but also because they offer us continued hope for a brighter future by providing an environment where our children can continue their education while remaining in our fine state. GO BLUE!

It may never rain cats and dogs, but it did rain fish in England in 1859. According to RANGER RICK magazine, strong winds of a storm can sometimes suck up all sorts of small things from the ground or even the water. Then miles away, these things fall from the sky. In 1922, spiders rained on Hungary, and in 1982, two frogs dropped out of the sky in Dubuque, Iowa.

Homespun Devotions

By Pauline Spray

Looking diligently lest any man fail of the grace of God . . . (Hebrews 12:15).

One summer day while we were visiting relatives, our young nephew kept looking at a motto on the wall. Finally, in his fine southern accent, he drawled, "Gradmaw, why do you want us to 'keep looking up'?"

Peter made it fine as long as he kept his eyes on Jesus. But when he looked at his surroundings, he began to sink. If we look around, we are apt to get our eyes on the faults and failings of others. If we look down, the problems and burdens of everyday living will overwhelm our souls and we will sink spiritually.

In his book, I Will Lift Up Mine Eyes, Glenn Clark told about a man who was lost on a great body of water. When he realized his plight, he was terror-stricken. In his distress, he began to pray. Suddenly a brilliant star appeared in the sky. Keeping constant watch on the star, he rowed his small boat with all his might. Eventually he came to land at the very spot from which he had embarked.

To make a joyful landing on the heavenly shore, we Christians must keep our eyes on Jesus. We must "keep looking up."

Prayer: Dear Jesus, Thou art the source of all my encouragement, strength, deliverance, and delight. Keep my eyes on Thee always. Amen.

If you want to be distressed, look within.

If you want to be defeated, look back.

If you want to be distracted, look around.

If you want to be dismayed, look ahead.

If you want to be delivered, look to Christ.

If you want to be delighted, look up.

You can change risks in your life

Some risks in life you can't change - others, you can. Fortunately, some of the more weighty risk factors affecting your chances of suffering heart disease or stroke can be changed for the better.

Cigarette smoking is the most important risk factor increasing your chances of heart disease and stroke and also one of the easiest risk factors to eliminate - simply quit smoking. Smokers have twice the risk of heart attack as non-smokers, and of those who have a heart attack, smokers are twice as likely to die. Smoking narrows blood vessels and forces the heart, in turn, to work less efficiently. Smoking also increases the odds of suffering a stroke, most dramatically for women who use oral contraceptives.

"Several important risk factors are related to what and how we eat," said Dr. Andrew Hauser, cardiologist and president of the American Heart Association of Michigan (AHA/MI). Among those risk factors affected by diet are: high blood cholesterol, high blood pressure, diabetes and obesity.

High blood pressure increases the risk of heart attack, congestive heart failure, stroke and kidney failure. Once detected, however, this symptomless disease can be corrected through limitation of salt intake, weight reduction, regular exercise and medication.

High blood cholesterol levels can lead to atherosclerosis or so-called "hardening of the arteries," in which fatty deposits build up on the inside walls of arteries. These blockages can narrow and eventually close an artery, potentially causing a stroke or heart attack.

Cutting down on meats, eggs, whole-milk dairy products and other foods high in saturated fat will usually reduce blood cholesterol levels. If cholesterol levels (determined through a simple blood test) still remain high despite diet and exercise, your physician may prescribe medication to help lower it.

Diabetes is another factor that increases the risk of coronary heart disease. Most common among middle-aged, overweight adults, diabetes sharply increases an individual's risk of heart attack. However, diabetes can be controlled through diet, exercise, weight control and, if necessary, medication.

Lack of exercise hasn't been clearly established as a direct cause of heart disease, but may be a contributing factor. Your physician is the best person to consult before beginning any type of exercise program if you are over 40 or have risk factors for coronary heart disease.

One reason you should vigorously work at reducing these risk factors is that there are others you can't affect at all, such as age, sex, and heredity. Men are at greater risk than women for developing heart disease, and are about 30 percent more likely to suffer a stroke. A woman's risk of heart attack increases after menopause. If one of your parents, brother or sister has had heart problems due to coronary artery disease, especially while under the age of 50, your chances of developing heart disease also are increased.

The best way to improve the odds in your favor is to work on those risk factors you can change. The AHA/MI has a number of free publications on blood pressure, diet, exercise and cholesterol. For a list of publications available, contact your local office of American Heart Association of Michigan.

The American Heart Association of Michigan is a United Way agency.

Newly-hatched turtles, naturally attracted to the sea by the rising or setting sun, are easily disoriented by artificial lights from beachfront development. So, several Florida counties and towns have passed ordinances restricting beach lighting between May and October, the prime sea turtle nesting season. According to INTERNATIONAL WILDLIFE magazine, the protective ordinances require that beachfront lights be turned off after 11 p.m. or shielded so they don't shine directly on the beach. The penalty for not complying? A $500-a-day fine and possible jail sentence.

THE ELECTROCARDIOGRAM

Today we are going to review a common test that is performed at your doctor's office - the electrocardiogram. This test measures the electrical signals produced by the heart. The electrocardiogram is commonly referred to as an EKG or ECG. The test is usually performed to evaluate chest pain and to detect abnormal heart rhythms. Occasionally the test will be performed to obtain a baseline recording during a complete physical exam.

Interpretation of the EKG reveals information about the size, position, rhythm and possible inflammation of the heart muscle. It is especially useful to determine if a heart attack is a possible cause of unexplained chest pain.

The EKG is painless and takes 5 - 10 minutes. It is performed by placing metal discs on the arms, legs and at various positions along the chest wall. The metal discs detect electrical activity of the heart. You will be lying on a table and asked to remain very still as muscle activity will cause electrical interference. There is usually no risk associated with this test as the metal discs produce no electricity themselves.

Once a tracing is obtained a diagnosis can be made. Arrhythmias are easily detected with the resting EKG unless they are not present during the short time that the electrodes are in place. If this is the case, your doctor may recommend twenty four hour monitoring. This is called a Holter monitor. A small electrode will be placed over the chest area attached to a portable tape recorder which you will carry for twenty four hours.

Because a resting EKG is not always a reliable indicator for coronary artery disease (coronary artery blockage which can lead to angina or heart attack) a stress EKG may be performed. This is a tracing of the heart's electrical activity during exercise. Because the heart has to work harder during exercise, a deficiency of blood flow through partially blocked coronary arteries may be detected by subtle electrical changes.

In summary, the EKG is a valuable tool for diagnosing common cardiac problems without excessive risk, which usually can be performed in your doctor's office.

Dine designated early decision scholar

Lowell High School senior Rebecca (Becky) Dine is one of 23 high school seniors selected to participate in Alma College's Early Decision Program in its first year.

Introduced this academic year, the program awards qualified high school seniors up to $1,000 in additional scholarship awards for making a commitment, by December 1, 1986, to attend Alma in the fall of 1987.

Other incentives for participation in the Early Decision Program include learning about admission and scholarships early in the year and receiving priority housing and academic advisor selection. In addition to receiving such information some five to six months earlier than usual, those designated Early Decision Scholars also receive consideration for participation in Alma's Honors Program.

To be eligible to apply for Alma's Early Decision Program, seniors must have completed the ACT or SAT and have a cumulative high school grade point of 3.25 or above in academic subjects.

The quality of the students accepted in this first year of the program is exceedingly strong, according to David Groff, Alma's director of admissions.

"Of the 23 students accepted as Early Decision Scholars, 70 percent rank either first or second in their class," he said. "All qualify for Trustee Honors Scholarships, Alma's most prestigious, competitive awards given to students who demonstrate superior academic achievement and national test scores. Above and beyond their academic achievements, the students also are actively involved as leaders at their schools. All, we feel, will make considerable contributions to Alma College."

As a high school student, Dine is a member of Close-Up, Future Farmers of America, International Club, National Honor Society, Junior Woman's Club and

Michigan Bell prevents damage to fiber-optic networks

Michigan Bell is taking new steps to protect its recently developed fiber-optic network and will be working closely with contractors to prevent damage to the company's underground facilities.

Phil Gould, local corporate affairs manager, said Michigan Bell is planning a series of meetings in early 1987 with contractors statewide to discuss what can be done to minimize cable damage.

"We need to discuss what Michigan Bell can do -- and what contractors can do -- to better protect the telecommunications network," he said.

"With the advancements in telecommunications, two strands of fiber -- less than the thickness of a single strand of hair -- can transmit 8,000 telephone conversations at the same time," he said.

"A major cable cut has the potential to disrupt emergency calls to police, fire and hospitals. It can also cause millions of dollars in losses each year to businesses which rely heavily on computers and sending data -- like insurance and brokerage firms, travel agencies and government offices and many, many others."

Under a statewide cooperative plan, contractors can notify utilities of their plans to dig, blast or drill with a single call to "MISS DIG." MISS DIG is a call-notification system to avert damage to utility facilities. More than 500 utilities in Michigan -- including gas, electric, water, sewer and cable TV services -- participate in the effort.

A small Michigan Bell cable -- with a diameter the size of a dime -- cut in October near Holly impaired service for 500,000 residence and business customers throughout the Lower Peninsula, Gould said.

Gould said Michigan Bell in 1985 experienced more than 1,200 major cases of contractor damage to its facilities.

And, he said, Michigan Bell is aggressively pursuing lawsuits against those offenders who refuse to accept financial responsibility for the damages they have caused to underground facilities.

Michael Holmes, general attorney for litigation, said Michigan Bell has been very successful in requiring contractors to pay for the cost of repairs as well as for loss of the use of the network.

Holmes said Michigan Bell has gone to court twice since September to obtain injunctions ordering contractors to stop all excavation near Michigan Bell facilities, unless they take the extensive precautions required by Michigan law to prevent damage to underground facilities.

"Sometimes the only way Michigan Bell can get the full cooperation of a contractor more concerned about staying on schedule than avoiding harm to telecommunications equipment is to shut down its operations," Holmes said.

Students identified

We received several calls from folks who could identify some of the people in the above photograph when we published it two weeks ago. However, only one, Arlyn Witherell, identified everyone in the picture. According to Arlyn the photo was taken at the McIntyre School on Grand River Dr. near Kissing Rock Rd. in 1945.

Nice job Arlyn! The Ledger would be more than happy to publish similar photos that our readers may have in their possession. Judging from the number of calls we received regarding this photo, there are many of you who enjoy seeing these old photos.

Notice is hereby given that the Grattan Township Board officially amended the text of the Grattan Township Zoning Ordinance at a meeting held on the 9th day of March, 1987. The Zoning Amendment reads as follows:

ORDINANCE NO. 87-1

AN ORDINANCE TO AMEND THE GRATTAN TOWNSHIP ZONING ORDINANCE PURSUANT TO THE TOWNSHIP RURAL ZONING ACT, ACT NO. 189 OF THE PUBLIC ACTS OF 1943, AS AMENDED.

- Revise Section 3.12 to read as follows:
3.12 LOTS - ABUTTING STREET. All lots must abut on a public street or a private street approved pursuant to 3.30 (A) for a distance equal to the minimum lot width specified for the district in which it is located.
- Add new Section 3.18a as follows:
3.18a KEYHOLE DEVELOPMENT. The following restrictions are intended to limit the number of users of lake or stream frontage to preserve the quality of the waters and to preserve the quality of recreational use of all waters within the Township.
(1) Any multiple unit residential development in any zoning district which shares a common lakefront or stream area may not permit lake or stream access to more than one (1) single family home, cottage, condominium unit or apartment unit for each fifty (50) feet of lake or stream frontage in such common lakefront or stream area as measured along at the water's edge or normal high water mark of the lake or stream.
(2) Any multiple unit residential development shall not have more than one (1) mooring, slip or dock space for each one hundred (100) feet of lake frontage for mooring or docking of boats in any zoning district in the Township.
(3) The above restrictions shall apply to any parcel regardless of whether access to the water shall be gained by easement, common fee ownership, single fee ownership or lease.

A well maintained wire protective fence of not less than four (4) feet in height is permitted in the front yard in the C-2 and I districts.

- Add new Section 3.30(A) as follows:
3.30 (A) PRIVATE STREETS
(1) Location Permitted. Private streets are permitted as a Special Use only in the Residential Districts: "R-L" lake residential district; "R" residential district; and "R-R" rural residential district.
(2) Preliminary Private Road Permit. The Owner shall submit an application for a Preliminary Private Road Permit, together with the application review fee to the Township Planning Commission. The application package shall include a verbal description of the proposed development to be served, detailed site plans and construction plans (see Section 3.34), a detailed description of how the road will be operated and maintained, and how the costs of operation and maintenance will be apportioned and paid for by benefiting property owners.
In reviewing the preliminary application, the Planning Commission shall consider the impact of the proposed development on adjacent properties, whether the health, safety and general welfare of persons or property using or affected by the private road will be adequately protected, and whether the precedent set by allowing the private road in the circumstances under consideration will adversely affect the long term development policies of Grattan Township. An architect, engineer, or other persons will be consulted if deemed necessary. If the Planning Commission approves the preliminary application, the Building Inspector shall issue a Preliminary Private Road Permit to the owner

- upon payment of the Construction Review Fee.
- Final Private Road Permit. No construction shall begin on the private road or on adjacent properties which depend on the private road for access until the Preliminary Private Road Permit has been issued. The Owner shall notify the Township at least 72 hours prior to initiation of construction of the Private Road. During construction, the owner shall allow the Township to review construction progress for compliance with the approved site plan and construction drawings. Upon completion of construction, the Owner shall submit a certification signed by a registered engineer that the road has been completed in accordance with the approved site plan and construction plan. The Owner shall correct any deficiencies identified. Upon final review and approval of the completed Private Road improvement, the Township Clerk shall issue a Final Private Road Permit to the Owner. Building permits for construction on properties served by the Private Road shall not be issued until the Final Private Road Permit has been issued.
- Site Plans and Construction Plans. A site plan and construction plans showing the proposed location, adjacent properties, proposed street grades, drainage and proposed improvements, shall be prepared by a registered engineer or registered land surveyor and shall be submitted to the Township Planning Commission as part of the preliminary private road permit application and approval.
- Maintenance and Repair. Maintenance and repair and liability for private streets shall be the responsibility of property owners adjacent to the private street and not the responsibility or liability of the Township. The developer shall establish by appropriate deed provisions an Association which shall be responsible for road maintenance and repair and which shall have the authority to apportion and collect the cost of maintenance and repair from benefiting property owners.
- Design Standards.
(a) All private streets shall have a minimum 66 foot wide right-of-way easement granted to the adjacent property owners.
(b) The layout of private streets in respect to their location, intersection, cul-de-sacs, vertical street alignment, street grades, horizontal curves, curb openings at intersecting streets, etc., shall conform to the Kent County Road Commission Standards for platted streets.
(c) The construction of the roadway shall conform to the Kent County Road Commission standards for local road 22' wide with 6" gravel base (MDSH 22A), 6' wide grass shoulders, side ditches with 1 on 3 front slope and 1 on 2 back slope at 0.5% grade minimum. Ditches shall outlet into a cross culvert or drainage course. In impervious soils (clay or other unsuitable materials), a 12" sand sub-base, graded parallel to the road surface (extending into the front ditch slope), shall be constructed. Bituminous surfacing and storm sewer will not be required.
(d) Culverts shall be placed at all natural drainage courses or other waterways. Culvert sizes and grades shall be determined using the Kent County Road Commission storm runoff calculations formula. Materials for culverts shall also conform to their requirements.
- Add new Section 3.01(8) as follows:
3.01 Accessory Structures and Buildings
(8) No accessory structure in a residential district on a lot less than 20,000 square feet in size shall have an area greater than the first floor area of the principal dwelling.
- Revise Section 2.44 as follows:
2.44 STREET. A dedicated and accepted public thoroughfare or a private street approved pursuant to 3.30(A) including the right-of-way and roadway.
A copy of the amendments is available at the Grattan Township Hall during regular office hours. The zoning amendments are effective upon publication.

Sesquicentennial will help Michigan tourism

The year-long Sesquicentennial celebration should help pump $14 billion in tourism revenues into the state's economy and propel Michigan to its fifth consecutive record tourism year in 1987, reports AAA Michigan.
"With 150th birthday celebrations and special events planned in nearly every region of the state, tourism should grow about 5 percent in 1987," stated AAA Michigan Member Services Director Peter Erickson.
"This should be an exciting year in Michigan as Sesquicentennial celebrations, combined with Michigan's many popular tourism destinations, lure more travelers here than ever before," he added.
Nearly 50 million travelers helped boost state tourism revenues to $13.3 billion in 1986, five percent over the previous year. From 1983 through 1986, Michigan tourism revenues grew by $2.8 billion, or 27 percent.

Erickson said that 1986's record growth was helped by low inflation and the lowest average annual gasoline prices in eight years.
The cost for an average 4 1/2-day trip in Michigan, including camping and more expensive hotel stays, averaged the same as last year, about $151 per person.
"The fact that self-serve no-lead gasoline averaged 94 cents per gallon in 1986 compared to $1.24 in 1985 also was a major reason for the tourism increase," he added. "The average annual cost along main state highways was the lowest since AAA began keeping records for self-serve no-lead in 1979."
Figures from the Michigan Department of Transportation for 1986 show a record 70.6 billion miles were traveled in the state, up 3 percent from 1985. Michigan's main state highways leading to popular recreational destinations had 7 percent more traffic last year than in 1985.

"At AAA Michigan offices statewide, both requests by customers for routings to Michigan destinations and inquiries from out-of-state visitors for information climbed 3 percent over 1985," Erickson said.
Michigan is expected to spend about $12 million -- the same as last year -- to promote the state's 36,000 miles of rivers and streams, 11,000 inland lakes and 19 million acres of forests.

In India, it was once believed wearing copper earrings would ward off sciatia. Hanging coral on the bed post, people once believed, would prevent nightmares.

Free fishing weekend packets available

A free angling packet is available to groups planning fishing clinics, tournaments, seminars, parties and other fishing events prior to or during Michigan's free fishing weekend (no fishing license required) scheduled June 7, 1987.
"The packets are chock-full of select fishing information and brochures," commented John Scott, Department of Natural Resources (DNR) Fisheries Chief, whose Division, in conjunction with Michigan United Conservation Clubs (MUCC), prepared the packets. "We've already had more than 200 requests for them, and expect even more requests to come through as the date nears."
Items included in the packet are a step-by-step guide to setting up a fishing clinic/tournament, fishing booklets for kids, fish preparation and cooking and provided refreshments. It was a great day!"

Another 1986 free fish day participant, Ray Groop of the Wilderness Sportsmen's Club in Iron County, responded: "Over 60 people of all ages came to our free fish day tournament on the Paint River last year, including residents from Indiana and Illinois! Everyone fished, picnicked and many took home some fine fishing or camping prizes we offered. It was so successful, we plan on holding another fishing tournament and our club picnic on free fishing days next (1987) year."
Angling packets may be obtained from the DNR's Fisheries Division, P.O. Box 30028, Lansing, MI 48909, or call 517-373-1280.
For further information on free fishing days, contact DNR's Public Affairs Offices at 517-373-1214 or 371-1041.

Tiger home game tickets available now at AAA offices

Tickets for Detroit Tigers' home games in April and May went on sale March 30 at all AAA Michigan branches. Tickets for the home games (excluding Opening Day) are available on a limited basis for $8.50 reserve seats, with an additional $1 service fee for each ticket. The first game for ticket sales is April 8 with the New York Yankees. The game starts at 1:35 p.m.
AAA Michigan also sells a variety of other sports and entertainment tickets statewide.

Get a youth hooked on fishing!

Taking kids fishing sounds great, doesn't it? The Michigan 4-H Youth program is offering a weekend at Gull Lake, teaching how to reel in those fish.

The workshop is to be offered at Kellogg Biological Station, May 29 to May 31.

The goal of this program is to involve twenty-five pairs of adults and youths from across Michigan in 4-H fishing projects.

The participants will receive information on how fish live, behave, and are managed; how to care for streams; and how to use tackle.

The instructors are Fisheries and Wildlife specialists from Michigan State University, local anglers, 4-H Youth program staff, and volunteers.

Fishing licenses will be necessary to participate in this program.

The total cost for the program is $18.00 per person, which includes lodging, meals, bait, and equipment (if the angler doesn't have a favorite rod).

Program details and registration materials are now available at the Kent County Cooperative Extension Service office located at 836 Fuller, N.E., (616) 774-3265. This program is open to both new and current 4-H families. The application deadline is May 1, enrollment is limited. Contact Deb Schuster for more information.

More mystery kids

Hark back to the big Lowell Centennial parade 55 years ago, the summer of 1932. The Centennial Queen, Emma Kropf (Herron) and her court are known. But who can tell us the names of the children on the float?

member-borrowers, and he is optimistic about the future of the organization.

"The Seventh district which includes Michigan, Minnesota, North Dakota and Wisconsin still has a net worth of $700 million and the district's recovery plan is getting good results," he said.

"We've sold $140 million worth of acquired property and have received 104% to 105% of the appraised land value. Ninety percent of this land has been sold back to local active farmers.

"We're restructuring 50% of our loans that weren't paying interest," he reported. "Both borrowers and lenders have to make concessions, but we've finalized $1,300 restructured loans.

"We expect the farm economy to improve," Williams said. "Many members showing improved profits and the net farm income is expected to rise from 7% to 9% in 1987."

Carl Jessen, chief executive officer of FCS of West Michigan said the recovery program in West Michigan is making progress.

"We're restructuring loans and have reduced nonaccrual loans by $5 million since January 1 and we've sold nearly 5,000 acres of property for $3.8 million at or above current land prices," said Jessen.

"We're offering competitive interest rates on country home loans," Jessen added, "and we're continuing to try to improve our other interest rates."

Jessen says FCS of West Michigan is in better shape than lenders in some other parts of the country because western Michigan's crops are diversified and many members have off-farm income to supplement farm income.

"D.G.L." (Dexter Look?) writes an impassioned column in favor of the proposed road bonds, reminding readers that only 25¢ will get them a dollar's worth of road improvements, with funds from county and state.

Residents of Hudson Ave., which is also M-66, petition the State Highway Department to blacktop the clay street.

Congress votes to expand the Citizens' Military Training Corps, a 30-day camp which is "essentially a school in citizenship" for boys. Donald McPherson, a lieutenant in the Reserve Corps, receives applications in this area.

25 YEARS AGO IN THE LEDGER -- MARCH 23, 1962

The election board misses supper because of the crowds of voters, and ballots are recounted more than a dozen times, and at 1 a.m. the $1.1 million bond issue for a new high school is declared passed, 567-566. Operating millage for the new school passes by a slightly wider margin because non-owners of property could vote.

Showboat Garden Club plans to plant flowers at the Y, and reminds that the petunia is Lowell's official flower.
