DONE WITH A RUSH.

Twenty years in the state house of correction at Ionia.

These words fell with crushing effect from the lips of Judge Burlingame yesterday afternoon, upon the ears of Frank J. McCann, the highway robber. He had expected a light sentence and pleaded guilty so that he could begin upon his term at once.

The pursuit, capture and disposal of McCann are a source of much gratification to superintendent Carr. Sept. 20, Peter Murphy, a young farmer of Cannon township, came to this city with a load of fruit, and after disposing of it he went to the saloon of Jack Tierney, on Kent street. Falling in with a young stranger, he became very friendly with him. They shook dice and drank together until the young farmer was considerably intoxicated. Accepting an invitation to take a walk he went with the stranger to the eastern part of the city, north of Fulton street cemetery. Here the stranger suddenly pulled a coupling pin from under his coat and dealt Murphy a heavy blow behind the ear, felling him to the ground. When Murphy recovered he was bleeding and so dazed that he could hardly crawl. His pockets were turned inside out and $35 in money was missing. His condition was discovered by J. G. Alexander, who was driving by and who took him to the police station.

An investigation showed that the young stranger was Frank J. McCann a teamster. He could not be found in town but after a diligent search Detective Smith found a girl with whom McCann was keeping company. She was watched and "pumped" and after a few days she received a letter from her lover written from Lansing. Detective Smith went to Lansing but the man had gone. Other letters were received by the girl and on Monday Detective Smith again went to Lansing. Taking a rig he drove into the country and about 9 o'clock in the evening located the fellow in the farm house of Charles Elder, near the little town of Aruellius, where he was working as a hired man. McCann was asleep and the officer went at once to his room. Shaking him gently he awakened the sleeper. Rubbing his eyes, McCann sat up in bed and exclaimed: "Who are you?"

The officer explained his mission and McCann made no attempt to deny anything. Dressing himself, he bade farewell to the farmer and entered the buggy. He spent the night in the Lansing police station and arrived here yesterday at noon. At 3 o'clock he pleaded guilty in police court and was held for trial to the superior court. Half an hour later he stood in the superior court and pleaded guilty. He was given the usual private examination, but made no excuses and asked for no mercy. He showed no feeling until after the twenty year sentence was pronounced, when he almost broke down. He recovered in a moment, asked for a chew of tobacco and was led away. McCann has worked as teamster for several local parties, but is known but little and is not known to have any relatives. He is about twenty-six years old.

THE LEONARD CASE.

The division of the Leonard estate was accomplished Wednesday along the line laid down in the report to the commissioners to the probate court. Charles H. and Frank E. Leonard quitclaimed their interest in the Monroe street and Louis street real estate to Fred Leonard and Fred quitclaimed his interest in the business to them. This takes Fred out of the partnership and removes his interest from the business. Charles H. and Frank E. Leonard, who will continue the business, executed leases of the two stores, now occupied by the firm, the retail on Monroe street and wholesale on Louis street for a term of five years, dating from January 1st last, at an annual rental of about $3,500.

THEY KNOW HOW. (?)

The following from the Howard City Record contains a whole lot of truth which newspaper men, especially will appreciate: How often do we hear some one exclaim, "I wish I was running a newspaper, I would write them fellows up as they deserve it." Or, "why don't you give Mr. Soandso hades? He deserves it. You newspaper men are afraid to do your duty. It is a duty you owe the public to show up such men." Several times recently the scribe being thus addressed has replied: "The columns of the Record are open to you; write what you like and sign your name to it, and it shall be put in the paper." Each and every time the offer has been declined. Their idea seemed to be that the editor of a paper is the person who should bear all the burden of "showing up" people whom they conceived, either right or wrong, as doing things they ought not to do. Or in howling down corporations or classes of people with whom they differed as to methods or plans pursued. It is a difficult thing for some people to understand that newspapers are not personal organs, but are published for public good. How long would one of these very persons who growl at the editor take the paper should it run as they suggest.

DEATH'S CALL.

We are this week called upon to chronicle the sad death of one of Lowell's brightest and best known boys, Floyd Peckham, who died Thursday afternoon of diphtheria, and was buried the same evening. He was fourteen years of age and the youngest son of our well known citizen, A. H. Peckham.

Floyd was a favorite among his associates, and his pleasant smiling face will be sadly missed on our streets. He was agent for the Grand Rapids Democrat for several years.

He leaves a father, mother and four brothers who have the heartfelt sympathy of their many friends in their bereavement.

GOOD PUBLIC OFFICIALS.

The school board and village council are working harmoniously together to secure mutual interests in the sewer matter and will buy sewer pipes together. They have secured a good offer from Knowlson, the Grand Rapids sewer pipe man, and will probably close with it. The agent paid our council the compliment of being the best posted body of men on sewer pipe prices he had found in his wanderings, and the village and district will reap the benefit in the shape of low prices on sewer pipes. So much for officers who are competent, and take an interest in their duties.

A SURPRISE.

Oh Wednesday evening about thirty or forty friends of Mrs. B. C. Smith took possession of her home, the occasion being her birthday. The guests indulged in progressive pedro until a late hour, and before departing left a handsome case as a token of their esteem.

GOD'S WILL.

The twelve-year-old son of Jacob Johns died last Wednesday and was buried the same day. Another victim of that dread disease, diphtheria.

NEW BABIES.

Mr. and Mrs. John Brown, a boy.
Mr. and Mrs. Ed Miller, a girl.
Mr. and Mrs. Secord, a boy.

A Michigan man has invented a horse-power potato digger that roots them out on the locomotive cowcatcher system, rolls them along an endless belt until the dirt is removed, and drops them into a basket. Why not bring the potato bin out of the cellar and attach that to the machine instead of the basket?

One of the largest audiences ever gathered in the opera house greeted Pfaff & Goodman's original New Orleans "Uncle Tom's Cabin" company, on Tuesday evening, and every one appeared perfectly satisfied. The specialties introduced were very clever. The company includes a fine orchestra which adds much to the entertainment.—(Miner, Smethport, Pa., Aug. 21. Train's opera house, Oct. 27.

THE DAY'S DEMAND.

God give us men. A time like this demands strong minds, great hearts, true faith and ready hands;
Men whom the lust of office does not kill;
Men whom the spoils of office cannot buy;
Men who possess opinions and a will;
Men who have honor; men who will not lie;
Men who can stand before a demagogue
And damn his treacherous flatteries without winking;
Tall men, sun-crowned, who live above the fog,
In public duty and in private thinking.
For while the rabble, with their thumb-worn creeds,
Their large professions and their little deeds,
Wing in selfish strife, lo! Freedom weeps,
Wrong rules the land, and waiting Justice weeps.
—Dr. J. G. Holland.

What a glorious inspiration there is in being on the right side—on the side of God and humanity.

The saloons bring sorrow to thousands of homes where peace and plenty would have reigned if the dens of infamy were closed.

There is renewed activity all along the line. Prohibitionists cannot be killed off so easily as some think. They have some good staying qualities about them.

A man will insure his horse, his stock and his cattle, but he will vote to set human traps to destroy his boy. Every saloon is a trap, and thousands of lives are destroyed every month.

A young inebriate excused himself to a white ribboner by saying, "My heredity is against me," whereupon she made him this well instructed reply: "If you had lived up to your best heredity instead of down to your worst, you might have been a man of whom all your friends would have been proud."

A Saratoga county farmer who came to New York recently to buy horses returned home with a violent admiration for the great metropolis. "I got a hall bedroom for a $1.50 a week and was fed on 'fitoon' outside a day," he explained. "I found a saloon where they give bits of free lunch. I went there several, once and night, bought a beer each time." He is one of the wealthiest men in the country.

THE LEAST OF THESE.

She had little of earthly beauty. She had less of earthly grace. She had less of earthly charm. Such wearisome burdens bore!

Fashions in Coiffure. The world belongs to pretty women, and the fullness thereof is theirs, let the wise ones argue as they will of intellectual superiority and spiritual beauty.

Moved to a Deed of Charity. While Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt was speeding along one of the Central Park drives in New York recently, she saw a sight which induced her to stop her carriage.

That for Women Who Work. When you have learned your trade or profession, look for the best opening where you are needed most—and "open up shop" as "the firm" might say.

(Special Correspondence.)

THE DAUGHTERS IN GRAY, the beautiful women who are to meet in large numbers at the reunion of Confederate veterans in Birmingham, Ala., which opens in the middle of October.

northerners as well as those of the South, suggested that a feature of this reunion be a series of tableaux, in which each of the southern states should have as representative the most beautiful young unmarried lady within its borders.

These young ladies personate the South in this series of scenes. First—the states are on the stage of the "Winnie Davis" program, specially constructed for the occasion.

Second (time after Gettysburg)—The eleven states are seen dressed in black, knitting and working for the soldiers.

Third (time after the war)—Now Maryland, Missouri and Kentucky appear—among the southern states, he fourteen young ladies appear in Greek costumes. The tableaux in "The Soldiers' Reunion" is a masterpiece of scenic art.

BRAINS NEEDED IN BURGLARY.

Much Time and Labor Expended When the Booty Is Worth While. Few people have an idea of the immense amount of labor, forethought and scientific skill brought to bear on a burglary.

Of old soldiers. Birmingham also awaits Gen. W. L. Cabell, who empresses from the retirement of his Texas home in Dallas to lead his old comrades.

Another work to be accomplished is the creation of a fund for the maintenance of disabled soldiers and sailors. The South is full of gray haired veterans who must look to former comrades for the wherewithal that keeps them alive.

On another occasion a chambermaid was escorted out, with a view to matrimony (and burglary), for two months before the event came off.
