THIRD TRIAL GRANTED.

A new trial was granted Monday by Judge Grove in the case of Josiah Brown against the township of Bowne. The case has already been tried twice and decided against the township. Josiah Brown was driving a horse and buggy September 28, 1891, along a public highway in Bowne, when he came to a culvert. Owing to a rotten plank the horse fell through and in the plunge in regaining his feet Mr. Brown was thrown out. His right collarbone was broken and fractured and right shoulder joint dislocated. As a result he lost the use of his right arm and suffered great injury to his spinal nerves and the sciatic nerve also. His doctor bills amounted to $500 and his injuries are permanent. One judgment rendered was $1,500 in his favor, but the township claimed it is in no wise responsible for the accident.

At the Baptist church Sunday morning, a responsive bible reading and praise service. The singing will be under the direction of Mr. Roy McDiarmid. Bring your Bibles and Gospel Hymns.

Everything points to a good winter in Owosso, as far as plenty of work is concerned. Factories are running on full time, and it is almost impossible to find anyone to do a piece of job work.

Charles H. Bodenstein, a Grand Rapids clothing merchant filed five chattel mortgages on his stock to secure payment of notes given. The mortgages aggregate over $12,000.

It is possible that the heavy frosts a few nights ago, by which many potatoes were frozen, may after all be a good thing for the farmer, as it may stiffen the market for the tubers a little.

Get a bottle of that fancy catsup at Barber & Caw's for 10 cents.

Mrs. Al Kniffin of Grand Rapids spent Sunday in Lowell.

The "Ionia Interdenominational Ministerial Association" is the name of a new society which was formed in Ionia Tuesday, by the pastors of the different churches in Ionia, Palo, Greenville, Belding, Muir, Saranac, Lyons and Portland. Meetings are to be held monthly at Ionia, the purpose of the organization being the discussion of economic and religious subjects pertinent to the times.

Mrs. Emma Dean of Grand Rapids, Mrs. John Stuart and Heman Dawson of Saranac, Mrs. Zora Corrigan of Lyons and Mrs. John Ard of Capre were all in Lowell to attend the funeral of J. E. Moore.

You will be surprised when you ask Coons his prices on all wool clay worsted suits. They are very cheap this fall.

A "Free Silver" meeting is advertised to be held at Train's opera house to-night. The speaker is working in the interest of the Free Coinage Independent published at Grand Rapids.

Buy Boom-Town envelopes.

It is a brassy individual who will do all he can to break down home institutions and then come before the people for their suffrage every year. The LEDGER gives due warning that as far as it is concerned such conduct will not be tolerated. A word to the wise is sufficient.

Mrs. James Scott went to St. Louis Mich., last week Thursday, with her little daughter, Mary. The latter is being treated at the sanitarium for partial paralysis, with much hopes of success. They are boarding with people in a double house, the other half of which is occupied by our old friends, Rev. E. H. Shanks and wife. The elder and family are very pleasantly situated, and are enjoying life; which their many Lowell friends will be pleased to learn.

Money to loan on real estate. Low rates, no bonus. Lowell State Bank Lowell schools are progressing finely this term. Parents in surrounding towns desiring to give their children a good high school education cannot do better than to investigate the advantages offered by the Lowell schools.

Sexton Denick complains that some unregenerate individual has stolen the grave planks from the cemetery. Pretty mean business; but then, there's no business so low that some people won't stoop to it.

Irene, little daughter of Fred Stone and wife, lies very ill. Her recovery is hoped for.

Nelson Winters is very sick with pneumonia.

Now is the time to plant your holiday advertisements. Use a paper that is read, re-read and passed around the neighborhood. The LEDGER is that kind of paper.

Will M. Hine is taking subscriptions for the Ladies' Home Journal for 75 cents a year. This is just like Will, he is always giving some one else the best end of it, and if you write to him at 49 Pearl St. Grand Rapids, he will give you some extra bargains in other periodicals.

Grand Rapids, November 4—A bench show for charity's sake opened here today with 150 entries. The show is given by "The Butterflies" as a number of society young ladies have chosen to call themselves, and the proceeds are to go to one of the local hospitals. The feature of the exhibit is the unusually large quantity of pure-bred English bloodhounds. See our window, L. H. Hunt & Co.

P. F. Remington, state organizer for the Fraternal Aid association, a fraternal insurance society, is working Lowell in the interests of that organization, which claims for its chief features, reliability, great simplicity, equitably adjusted rates, absolute safety of members' funds, an adequate reserve fund provided, sick and distressed members cared for, protection at cost, economy and protection to totally disabled members, Charter Extra inducements to charter members. For full particulars apply to the organizers, whose present headquarters are with P. Reuteler.

A new thing—those 5A fit-all attachment blankets at Schreiner's.

The revival meetings continue with unaltered interest and attendance at the M. E. church under the direction of Evangelist McHardy. Sunday evening large numbers could not get into the church on account of the crowd. The meeting will probably continue through a large part of next week.

$10.00 buys an all wool black kersey overcoat that is extra quality, at A. L. Coons.

We wish to ask the members of the local G. A. R. lodge if they are aware that what little job printing they have to do, is being sent to out of town printing offices? Grand Rapids printing offices are hardly the ones that the Lowell lodges look to for favors. The LEDGER never makes any charges for notices published for the old soldiers; but does it cheerfully and asks no credit for so doing. Neither does it ask any favors; but with two printing offices in town, it seems an ungrateful, extravagant and mean piece of business to send such work out of town. We respectfully ask Lowell lodge, G. A. R., for an expression upon the matter.
