CUBA LETTER.

Another Message From Clarence Long.

Sabana, Cuba, July 10, 1898.

MY DEAR SISTER:

I received a letter from you last night dated June 26, so you can see how long it takes for our mail to get here. I am well as are all the Lowell boys. There has been no fighting for four days as they have been trying to negotiate a surrender; but it is said that the Spaniards have been using the time to put themselves in better condition for fighting and we expect to commence again to-day.

I have been out as scout and sharp-shooter every day, until yesterday when our company was detailed to help take care of the wounded. We put several hundred on the boats to be taken to Fort Monroe; but a great many are left because they could not be moved. The sights about the hospital tents are terrible in the extreme. The weather is so hot that the poor fellows can scarcely breathe and of course a great many die that would otherwise live. I think that I told you that the number of killed and wounded on our side is 1800. We get no papers here, at least have not seen any yet so I know nothing of what people in the U. S. think. But ever soldier is down here is anxious to fight it out and if they do every Spanish prisoner will be a dead one.

I hope that the war will not last long; but while we are here I want to see the thing done thoroughly.

I think that our loss of life the other day was due to carelessness on the part of some of the generals, who by the way took care to keep well out of range of the enemy's guns. Our company has 16 men in the hospital, some wounded and some with fever; but I do not think there are cases of yellow fever here. There are a great many Spanish prisoners here both women and men. They are a low looking set and have no more intelligence than pig. We have to watch them closely or the Cubans would cut every one of their heads off. There were two ship loads of soldiers arrived here last night, but do not know where they come from yet. If they attack the city again our company will probably go to the front; but you will know all about the events of the next few days, before you get this letter for I believe they have cable here now.

I hope it will not be long before I can go home and see you all; but of course cannot think of it until the war is over. Give my best wishes to all and write when you can.

Post Office Order No. 241.

On and after July 1, 1898, postmasters are prohibited from returning or forwarding 2d, 3d, or 4th class matter without the prepayment of postage on the same. Where matter is of obvious value the postmaster will send a card to the party notifying them of the amount of postage due and if the amount be sent the parcel will be forwarded, otherwise it will be treated as waste paper.

Ed. Hoagland's Escape.

Ionia, July 30—Ed. Hoagland, an inmate at the State House of Correction, sent here for six years for burglary from Grand Rapids, slipped from where he was loading lumber at 6 o'clock last night and made his escape. The dogs tracked him to the public highway, where the trail suddenly stopped, and it is supposed a carriage in waiting carried him away to safety. There is no clue.

Lowell, Michigan
Some men seem to have reduced understanding to a science.

Necessity is the foster parent of some queer conceptions.

The best thing about a man is the influence of a good woman.

The board of directors is the kind you get at some boarding-houses.

In time of peace soldiers should be prepared for war by getting married.

A sweeping political statement sometimes fits the victor's eye with dust.

The folly of fools attracts larger crowds than the wisdom of the wise.

From an Indian's standpoint it's America for everybody but the Americans.

It's about as hard to get money out of a bear as it is to get blood out of a tur-lip.

There would be fewer bachelors if they were not allowed to associate with married men.

Any old bachelor with plenty of money can obtain a situation as an ideal husband.

Some writers have a wealth of thought and all they have the thought of wealth.

Woman was made from the rib of man, but as to the origin of ladies' ribbons is painfully silent.

Some women are so backward that they are always several years when it comes to giving their age.

Some people have money and don't know how to enjoy it, while others know how to enjoy it but haven't got it.

The man who is always repeating the bright saying of his children is a good-natured person, but tedious at times.

No wonder the rural editor suffers from writers' cramp when he is asked to take little green apples in payment for subscriptions.

After a man gets in a hole it's surprising how many people there are who could have told him what path he might have taken to avoid it.

"In good health but had temper," is said to describe the condition of a certain famous author. And "if this were not" what hosts of people might claim kinship with genius!

It would have been a hideous thing for the Spaniards to mutilate the bodies of our slain soldiers. It was at least a deplorable thing to accuse them of it until the fact was proved beyond dispute. Better he had sent late news that is true than "too previous" with news that is not true.

The result of an election in the French colony of Guadeloupe affects in a literal sense the complexion of the Chamber of Deputies of the republic. The blacks and whites united against the mulatto element in the population of the island. The coalition was successful. The deputy chosen is described as a mulatto. Paris news extends and will be glad that the utmost possibility of coloring, in this particular direction, is expressed in the deputy's name.

The Madrid government sending its fleet and armies to certain doom is a peculiar spectacle in these modern days. Students of history, however, will recall that in one case the tribunal of the Inquisition once brought before it a culprit charged with being a heretic and atheist, but as he died before the inquiry was completed his judges gravely continued the trial, adjudged him guilty and ordered his body to be burnt. Spain has a good deal of the same medieval spirit yet.

Yellow journalism is a new name for an old thing, and to say that it pays to ignore some notable examples of the past. Many years ago the editor of an "English" paper which threw upon sensational gossip was sued for libel. (It may be timely to remark that all the "journalistic" maxims in this country today spring from similar institutions in England.) In the witness box he pleaded that he only sold what people wanted, and his profits were large. "I had rather starve," answered the counsel for the other side, "than pick spears out of the gutter." That brave speaker in today's London "Times" of England, while the editor still picks spears out of the gutter. Fifth and sixth go down before honor and cleanliness, the country over and the world around.

There is one good thing about the essay of the girl graduate. It does not meddle with current topics. It treats of abstract and ancient questions; and as it is not of immediate importance it may be translated any time during the next ten years without danger from the long delay. The dear girl will not be troubled herself with the "United States question, and therefore she will kindly refrain from instructing our militia and naval leaders how to win battles and as to what they had better do when the battles are won. For, bless the child! she is not an editor.

How Successful Farmers Operate This Department of the Farm—A Few Hints as to the Care of Live Stock and Poultry.

The Poultry Interest.

Frank W. Breed of California, writing in Gray's Poultry Culture, says: At present no industry in the world offers the field for development introduced by poultry culture. It is the youngest and already one of the leading agricultural pursuits of the nation. If statistics accumulated by those who are deeply interested in its development can be relied on, the gross earnings of the chicken industry for the year 1937 far exceed those of any other agricultural pursuit in which the skill of American enterprise is striving to erect a shrine to Mammon. The nearest approach to the $200,000,000 earned by the American hen last year is offered by the total value of milk cows, representing an investment of $263,955,545, closely followed by the entire cotton crop, valued at $239,174,610, with wheat, the money standard of the farmer and the breadwinner of the nation, a weak fourth with its offering in round figures of $238,000,000. Thus you and I find by a comparison of the buck, claws and feathers, roosting on the log, top or wood pile at night, and by just industriously examining the egg, that the combination of a hard-earned week's vacation in the neighbor's new garden, representing the greatest money-making branch of agriculture, is the chief source of a nation's wealth. My friend, did you ever consider what this means? Did it ever occur to you that this much-despised hen, that the men who admire her, commonly refer to as "chicken cranks," cut as big a figure in the enterprise of the nation as they do? A few years ago, or before I began to look into the commercial side of the poultry industry, had a man told me the despised barnyard hen was a bigger money getter than our great expanse of wheat fields. I would have looked on him with pity, but the very idea of such a thing would have been ridiculous, and he would only have had to add that the great growings of grain amounted to more than the total value of all the milk cows in the country, to make me and I forever stranger. I hate to be made a fool of.

Cost of a Hen—And now as to the cost of all eggs and keep well one year. It has been shown by those who know, or rather pretend to know, a bushel of wheat or its equivalent will until time we found them just as good as when put away. This is the rule, and you are sure to have eggs and fowls for your table, and no trouble to get them.

Keeping Butter Cool.

Here is a good plan for keeping butter cool in summer, says Indiana Farmer in the middle of the year. Butter floor dig a hole or vault 3½ feet deep and 3½ feet square. Wall it up with brick laid in lime mortar and cement and floor it with soft brick. Lay a frame of good hard wood in mortar upon the top of this vault. Hinge to the frame a trapdoor of plank two inches thick, making it close tightly when it is closed. Butter may be kept there in the agreeable coolness all year. Once or twice a week stir the vault and wash it thoroughly to prevent its getting moldy. Pour cold water upon the soft bricks of the floor. It will absorb it and cool it. This is a very successful way to keep milk, butter and cream cool in hot weather on farms where there is no ice.

What Bad Butter Color Can Do—Another case of fatal poisoning from swallowing "less than a teaspoonful" of a butter color supposed to contain arsenic is reported in a recent issue of the victim was a 2-year-old boy of Chipewaga county, Wis., who was discovered in the act of eating the contents of a bottle containing the color. It was taken away from him almost instantly, but the mother was not greatly alarmed, supposing that the child had been eating the material sold for the use of butter. It is a dangerous, and does not seem for a physician until four hours later, when the child began to vomit. Collapse and coma followed, succeeded by an agonizing death in the afternoon of the next day.—Am. Cheese-maker.

Protein in Milk—In the agricultural press of the corn belt protein is altogether the most important of the economic factors in farm feeding stuffs. For want of protein many crops are unbalanced and fail to give economical results. Skim milk contains per hundred furnishes protein economically than oats at 25 cents per bushel, and besides the fact of economy, no feed furnishes as many nutrients in a more available, palatable and digestible form than skim milk when properly handled. The cultural conditions will not long permit the extravagant waste of a product worth $100,000,000 a year.—Ex.

Strong Seed—The size and weight of the grain used for seed also have a marked influence upon the vitality and quality of the progeny. Mr. H. H. Boyley of North Dakota Experiment Station, says: Large, heavy seeds produce strong plants with a greater capacity for normal reproduction than do normally developed small seeds of the same variety.—Ex.

The Lowell Ledger.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY AT LOWELL, KENT COUNTY, MICH. - BY FRANK M. JOHNSON.

Entered at Lowell post office as second class matter. SUBSCRIPTION ONE DOLLAR YEARLY. ADVERTISING RATES. Business local 5 cents per line each issue.

JUDGE BURLEIGH, the old reliable, is prominently mentioned in connection with the Democratic nomination for congress.

AN ARMY quartermaster has been caught in the net of selling government supplies. Better keep an eye on that chap; he will be a patriot claiming a pension in a few years.

CUBA and Porto Rico are destined to become American states; and they ought to be. The man or party that they go to in the way that proposition is a dead duck, politically.

SAMPSON'S report of Schley's naval victory is chuk full of "I's" but his mentions of the fighting commander are p. d. few. Small potatoes, Sampson; but you can't fool the people.

THE Cubans are a source of disappointment, to say the least. Good American blood has been spilled in their behalf, and more may have to be shed to convince them that victory does not give the right to murder, destroy and steal.

IF our government goes to interfering with affairs on the farther side of the Pacific, how can it consistently ask foreign nations to respect the Monroe doctrine? That homely old saw: "What's sauce for the goose is sauce for the gander," seems to apply.

AND NOW Grand Rapids Democrats want to furnish the county with a candidate for sheriff. They had better lay aside that plum for their township friends. Mr. Kennedy of Calumonia would not object to a race for the office and he has friends galore.

THERE are times when the English language is totally inadequate to express one's feelings. After a man has spent several years in getting a nice tree to growing, and a double-dyed fool comes along and allows his horse to make a meal off it -

LOWELL has an opportunity to add to her employing industries, as mentioned in another column in this paper. We hope that the gentlemen who are presenting the matter to our citizens will meet with success in their endeavor. It is too good a chance to be lost.

PRESIDENT MCKINLEY's management of the war and the difficult and all-important questions connected therewith, show him to be a man of more wisdom and discretion than his political opponents have been willing to concede. Later developments, concerning the character of the Cuban insurgents and their so-called government, fully justify the recognition of Cuban independence. His course throughout, so far as known, has been wise and patriotic. The mistakes that have been made may be charged to his subordinates and to recent congresses that have refused to equip our army and navy so that they might be in readiness for war. If peace, and an honorable and glorious peace, at an early date puts an end to the Spanish war, as now seems likely, it will be in accord with the providential luck of the Republic party that it is in power; and Wm. McKinley as its representative has an excellent opportunity for a second term.

Now that Fred Alger has been sent home with a sore knee, perhaps we can get a report from Cuba that is not devoted to the goings and comings of that wonderful little made-to-order captain. If Jim McMillan could suit his toe, or be sent home with the colic, how the war correspondents could rest up.

SYLVESTER SCOVELL, the correspondent who eloped General Snafter, has very properly been dropped from the roll of the New York World. When Mr. Scovell has been sufficiently punished for his outrage, he may know more and show less. His case should serve as a warning to other sensational correspondents.

BISMARCK, the great German statesman, has followed the great Gladstone into the Unknown. Measured by actual results, perhaps Bismark was the most successful statesman, although Gladstone worked for greater freedom for the people while Bismark was defending "the divine right of kings." Gladstone's ideas will be realized in the coming time, while the imperialism of Bismark must sooner or later give way to the universal demand for popular government. Bismark's crowning ability was statecraft while Gladstone shines as the greatest all-around man of the nineteenth century.

MILLIONS Given Away. It is certainly gratifying to the public to know of one concern in the land who is not afraid to be generous to the needy and suffering. The proprietors of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, have given away over ten million bottles of this great medicine; and have the satisfaction of knowing it has absolutely cured thousands of hopeless cases. Asthma, Bronchitis, Hoarseness and all diseases of the throat, Chest and lungs are surely cured by it. Call on L. H. Hunt & Co., druggists, and get a trial bottle free. Regular size 50c, and $1.00. Every bottle guaranteed or price refunded.

Mrs. Stanton's little niece and nephew who have been making her a visit, returned home Saturday. Mrs. C. Cary and daughters visited at N. Blair Monday. Mrs. H. Anderson and Miss Cary called on Mrs. Griswold Tuesday. Mrs. H. Easterbrook, who has been suffering from a lame foot caused by running a mill into it, is on the gain.

It certainly looks like it, but there is really no trick about it. Anybody can try it who has lame back and leg twinges, neuralgia or nervous troubles. We mean he can cure himself right away by taking Electric Bitters. This medicine tones up the whole system, acts as a stimulant to the liver and kidneys, is a blood purifier and nerve tonic. It cures Constipation, Headache, Fainting Spells, sleeplessness and melancholy. It is purely vegetable, a mild laxative, and restores the system to its natural vigor. Try Electric Bitters and be convinced that they are a miracle worker. Every bottle guaranteed. Only 50c a bottle at L. H. Hunt & Co.'s drug store.

SEVILLE AND GIBALDA TOWER.

French fleet passed the English blockade at Toulon and formed a junction with the Spanish fleet at Cadiz. Together they sailed to the West Indies eluding pursuit by Nelson, who followed them across the Atlantic and back again to Spain. Nelson knew the united fleets were once more at Cadiz he returned to England and collected new ships and men. He set sail in his old flagship, the Victory, meeting the French and Spanish squadrons as they left the harbor of Cadiz. Nelson was killed in the engagement that followed off Cape Trafalgar, but he lived to know himself victorious.

THE FRIGATE BIRD.

His Powers of Flight are Wonderful and He Can Live with Little or No Exertion. The frigate bird is endowed with magnificent powers of flight. His wings stretch to an expanse of two or three feet; his body is about three feet in length; his bill is very powerful, and his feet are well, but quite small; but for these he has but little power.

DOCKYARD BATTERY, CARTAGENA.

Although it still has an extensive commerce. The harbor is safe, and it is conspicuous as the rendezvous of the Spanish navy. The city is built upon a rocky point. There are three powerful forts on the harbor. There are but two fortis that face the sea.

ret on the side. In the days of her commercial prosperity the merchants of Cadiz used to climb these towers to look for their galleons returning from the West Indies. Now they are unused, and are merely ornamental. The Phoenicians had their most powerful settlements in Cadiz. Their sailors thought that it marked the end of the world. In the year 206 B. C. Cadiz was conquered by the Romans from the Carthaginians. It was their last stronghold in Spain. It was in the harbor of Cadiz that the English and Dutch fleets seized 13 men-of-war and 40 ships laden with gold and jewels that had not been disembarked. The city was also captured. It was a terrible blow to Spain. In 1805, when France and Spain allied their fleets to cover Napoleon's intended invasion of England, the

Does Baby Thrive?

If your baby is delicate and sickly and its food does not nourish it, put fifteen or twenty drops of Scott's Emulsion in its bottle three or four times a day and you will see a marked change.

We have had abundant proof that they will thrive on this emulsion when other food fails to nourish them.

It is the same with larger children that are delicate.
Scott's Emulsion seems to be the element lacking in their food. Do not fail to try it if your children do not thrive.

It is as useful for them in summer as in winter.

Ask your doctor if this is not true.

advantage of her helplessness and kissed her one for every star on the national flag. And the next day another naval engagement was told of in the papers.—Ex.

The soldiers' home in Grand Rapids is caring for 595 inmates at present. Seventy-eight of the number are in the hospital.

The Otisco town board has purchased an acre of land from Jos. Cobb for $100, to be added to the Otisco cemetery. It adds a strip of land about five rods wide to both the south and west sides of the cemetery.

Vol. 1, No. 1, of the Reese Review, Charles James proprietor, has reached us, a neat six column folio. If Charlie makes half as good an editor as he was a devil some ten years ago he will deserve well of the people of Reese.

F. M. Douglass boasts an apricot tree growing on the lot occupied by him on West Main st. It is claimed that nearly two bushels of fruit have been taken from the tree this year.
The tree is not yet four years old.—

The editor of an exchange, who is something of a linguist himself, says there are 250,000 words in the English language, and most of them were used last Sunday night by a young lady who discovered after coming out of church that her hat was adorned with a tag bearing the legend, "reduced to 50 cents."

Mrs. P. E. Parker, of Lake Odessa, used gasoline to clean some clothing.
She left the residue of the fluid standing in an open dish in a closed room.
The gasoline filled the room with gas,
and when she entered it in the evening with a lighted lamp in her hand an explosion occurred. The house was saved after a hard fight.

The Ionia County Pioneer society will hold its annual meeting on the 11th of August at the church of Christ, in Ionia. A basket dinner is on the program, and speeches not to exceed 10 minutes in length will be made by the following old settlers:
A. Williams, Frank Chase, L. J. Barnard, William Mercer, Henry Rowley and others.

Henry Searing, of Lyons, was so disgusted because a heavy storm prostrated his wheat crop so effectually that it looked as if a roller had been run over it, that he offered half of it to anyone who would cut it.
Frank Steel took him at his word, and felt amply repaid when the eighteen acres threshed out an average of 40 bushels to the acre. Steel got over $200 by taking up the offer.

Eighteen miles of channel have been dredged in Grand River since June 2, 1897, the time that the work was started, the channel being thirty feet deep wide and eight to nine feet deep. The work this spring was started on April 4. Over five miles of channel have been dredged since then. Less than $30,000 of the $50,000 appropriated has been used, the amount left being sufficient to bring the present channel to Grand Rapids. Rocks, gravel beds and drift wood cause frequent stoppages in the work. In some places an average of 1,000 cubic yards of dirt are excavated from the channel every day. This estimate varies greatly, of course according to the condition of the bottom of the river.—Rockford Register.

I think you have succeeded in your endeavor to put The Journal on a high plane of excellence from a newspaper standpoint, and to make it fulfill the desires of Michigan Republicans for a daily newspaper of high character and wide influence.

I have been a daily reader of the paper for some years, and have been pleased to know of its growing influence and increasing subscription list. I hope for it all the popularity which its high character deserves.
