THE EXPERIENCE SOCIAL.

Told How They Earned Their Dollars.

The Epworth League of the M. E. Church held an experience social at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ruben Quick, Tuesday evening for the purpose of raising funds with which to purchase a piano for the League rooms. The entire receipts will net between $50 and $60—some of which was earned in the following manner: Rev. McAllister cleaned his wife's bicycle, Miss Watts blackened a stove, Miss Bessie McCarty swept and dusted Dr. Hodges' office, Mr. Butts washed dishes and waited on table, Miss Maynard gave a shampoo, Miss Avery doctored a sick hen and lost the patient, Miss Libbie Lawrence took a feline boarder, Mrs. C. Quick rubbed the editor's back and laced his shoes, Mrs. McAllister acted as director for the Physical Culture club recently organized, while one lady was too modest to publicly relate her experience in practical humility, which, in imitation of the scriptural example, was to wash her husband's pedal extremities. She unwittingly dropped the information into the third ear of the LEDGER reporter. A large per cent of the funds was earned through sale of popcorn and fried cakes—Miss Winnie Johnson, notably, earning $1.50 in this manner. Miss Watts directed the musical program and Mrs. Chas. Quick had refreshments in charge.

A Warning to Rowdies.

Our attention has been called to the conduct of several young men who are old enough to be gentlemen but whose actions do not indicate it. Loafing on the streets and making insulting remarks at ladies passing by is low business and if persisted in will surely call for a dose of shoe leather if not something worse. Boys, go to school or get to work. At any rate, quit loafing and rowdiness. If you have no respect for yourselves, have some for your parents. Brace up and be decent, or prepare to take the consequences.

An Amateur's Poem.

It will be remembered by LEDGER readers that on the occasion of the departure from Detroit to New Orleans of Lowell's former efficient post office clerk, Miss Kate Edmonds, the employes of Parke, Davis & Co., by whom she was and is employed, gave a farewell reception and banquet in her honor. We are permitted to publish the poem written by W. A. Taylor, a fellow workman, and read by him on that occasion:

FAREWELL.

Now that your going seems
 One of the whims of Fate,
 Take to the Sunny South
 Sunnier heart, dear Kate.

Here in assembly joined
 We your credentials give;
 In languorous Orleans you shall be
 Our representative.

Show them the spirit bred
 Under our Northern skies—
 Spirit to honor wed,
 And womanly enterprise.

Think of us now and then;
 Long to be with us, do;
 Just for a moment, when
 We're longing most for you.

Vanish the thousand miles,
 Vanish the zone of cold,
 Vanish the wrinkles age will bring;
 Hearts can never grow old.

The Minister's Evidence.

Rev. W. N. Edwards, Baptist Minister, Buffalo, N. Y., says: "I do not hesitate to pronounce Dr. A. W. Chase's Ointment a positive cure for blind, itching piles. It has cured me after 15 years of almost constant annoyance and frequent agony from the terrible itching. I shall recommend it and use my influence to make known its wonderful merits." 50 cents, all druggists or Dr. A. W. Chase, Med. Co., Buffalo, N. Y. Free sample box for stamp.

Help... Nature

Babies and children need proper food, rarely ever medicine. If they do not thrive on their food something is wrong. They need a little help to get their digestive machinery working properly.

will generally correct this difficulty.
If you will put from one-fourth to half a teaspoonful in baby's bottle three or four times a day you will soon see a marked improvement. For larger children, from half to a teaspoonful, according to age, dissolved in their milk, if you so desire, will very soon show its great nourishing power. If the mother's milk does not nourish the baby, she needs the emulsion. It will show an effect at once both upon mother and child.

WHAT'S The Matter With it?

If there is anything the matter with your watch, let us take a look at it.

Don't let it go on ticking itself to destruction; a few particles of dust will, in a week, do more damage than the ordinary wear and tear of a year of keeping time.

Pan and Can Combined.

I saw a convenient article the other day in the poultry yard of a friend, says a correspondent in The House-keeper. It was designed to provide water for the little chicks without danger of their being drowned or wet. For each tank she took an old tin pail and a discarded pie plate. The pails were those in which extract of honey is sold, and held about four quarts. The covers were soldered firmly in place, and eight or ten small holes were punched around the pail close above the seam where the sides and bottom join. The bottom of the pail was soldered firmly to the pie plate, with the pail exactly in the centre of the plate. The pail can be filled with water by placing it in a larger dish of water. The water leaks out through the holes into the plate beneath as fast as it is needed, but it never runs over because the pail is airtight. The water never becomes foul by the chickens getting into it, and it cannot be wasted by being tipped over. The tanks are convenient to handle, having a bail to carry them by, and it is absolutely impossible for a chicken to get into them.

Mr. Lemuel S. Townsend of Myconse, N. Y., says: "I found New Strength, new vigor and youth in Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve and Blood Pills." Nature's great restorative for run down men and women. How to Kill Witch Grass.

As the city man rides along the country roads, and observes the farms you will frequently hear him inquire, "why don't you kill your witch grass?" This is a question that puzzles many a farmer. With diligence and industry the mouse gnawed off the cable mass, and so with diligence and industry the farmer may kill his witch grass. Cut your grass early in July, then break up your ground and harrow so to keep the grass out of sight until late in the fall. Then again, plow your land in order that the grass roots may be killed by freezing. The next spring plow, harrow, and horse rake until time for planting, and your witch grass will be killed. I have practised this for many years and know it to be true. Many of my neighbors are trying this method with pleasing results.—J. G. Rowe.

His Wife Saved Him.

My wife's good advice saved my life writes F. M. Ross, of Windfield, Tenn., for I had such a bad cough I could hardly breathe, I steadily grew worse under doctor's treatment, but my wife urged me to use Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, which completely cured me. Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, La Grippe, Pneumonia, Asthma, Hay Fever and all maladies of Chest, Throat and Lungs are positively cured by this marvelous medicine. 50c and $1.00. Every bottle guaranteed. Trial bottles free at L. H. Hunt & Co.'s drug store.

SWINE HERD, DONT'S.

Don't attempt to raise too many pigs. Don't over-commend your herd. It will not pay.

Don't talk about your neighbor breeder and his faults. Don't fail to send your culls to Chicago. That is where they belong.

Don't do business with these "shady" fellows. Stock from such herds is likely to be nearly unsalable.

Don't sell out because hogs are low, and by so doing be in shape to buy again when they are high.

Don't expect a "killer" from every litter. If you succeed in getting one really great pig in a year you are lucky.

Don't imagine you can build up your herd by attempting to pull some other herd down. Such attempts always injure your herd and sometimes only benefit the other fellow.

Don't neglect the pigs a while and then suddenly remember they need care and overfed them. Be a hog man every day in the year.

Don't be an imitator and use the same wording and general style in your advertisement as that used by some "big" fellow. It usually serves only to draw attention to the other man.

Don't claim to have the best lot of pigs you ever raised. The other fellows are sure to say all that; so you had better say something a little different.

Old People Made Young.

J. C. Sherman, the veteran editor of the Vermontville (Mich.) Echo, has discovered the remarkable secret of keeping old people young. For years he has avoided Nervousness, Sleeplessness, Indigestion, Heart trouble, Constipation and Rheumatism, by using Electric Bitters, and he writes: "It can't be praised too highly. It gently stimulates the kidneys, tones the stomach, aids digestion and gives a splendid appetite. It has worked wonders for my wife and me. It's a marvelous remedy for old people's complaints." Only 50c at L. H. Hunt and Co.'s drug store.
