FIVE CENTS.

LIFTERS NOT LEANERS

ARE wanted in this great work-a-day world, and so, very early in life, you should learn to become a "lifter." One of the most effective ways of lifting is to acquire leverage through the habit of saving; and this habit of saving comes to those who deposit their spare money with this bank.

CANNING FACTORY READY FOR PEACHES

LABOR FOR SIXTY WOMEN AND GIRLS.

And a Number of Men and Boys for a Long Season.

A large porch 16x28 is being added to the Canning factory on the east side for the comfort of the hands. The women and girls will be able to do much of their work in the shade and open air.

Work on peaches will commence as soon as the free stone fruit comes into market and profitable employment will be offered sixty women and girls, several boys and a number of men. The factory will be conducted on the "piece work" plan, so that women who have household duties to attend to can go and come as best they can, devoting all their spare time to the work. The scale is such that good peaches can make $1.00 and upwards per day. Those less expert and who devote only a portion of their time will earn accordingly; but each will be paid what she earns.

Manager Husted has provided rubber caps and aprons for the workers and Superintendent Sanders, who makes a strong point of making the help comfortable, promises a busy, profitable and satisfactory season to all concerned.

Those who wish to engage positions may do so with the Superintendent or manager at the factory.

A sewer has been constructed to carry off the factory waste; and large quantities of crates have been prepared. With the construction of closets and a little grading on the west side approach, the preparatory work will be completed.

The wholesale market is practically stripped of canned goods and prices are good and the demand almost unlimited. It looks as if the season should be a profitable one to the stockholders.

The product this year will be confined to peaches, tomatoes, apples and pumpkins and work will continue until winter.

Next season, small fruits should be added, if growers can furnish them in sufficient quantities.

A GOOD INSTITUTION.

The "Beasery" of Loveland & Forco, Lowell.

Loveland & Forco's bean elevator and picking establishment is still running "full tilt." It is a very neat and convenient outfit with electric light and power and motor helps that have been evolved by that mother of invention, necessity. Sixteen handsome women and girls are employed here, and judging by the chat the reporter heard as he ran the gamut, it is quite a happy family.

As the old crop still holds out and the season for a new one approaches, it will be seen, when counting Lowell's employing industries, that Loveland & Forco's "beasery" must not be omitted from the list.

"Faces We Shall See No More."

These Mason has received from his son Fred a photograph picked up by the latter at Mt. Pleasant, and the same has been going the rounds of our old residents and been closely scanned by them, reviving as it does memories of many former Lowell people, long since passed to their reward, of others removed to distant places and of still others who have lived and grown old here, and are reminded by this old picture of how they looked in Auld Lang Syne before Father Time sprinkled their heads and substituted wrinkles for the bloom of youth.

The card has the pictures of ninety men and women, most of whom were in business here twenty-six years ago. Of these only twenty-three are still here, and forty-four are known to be dead. Some are living in places near or distant and still others have been lost to the knowledge of their former townsmen, and whether living or dead is not known.

Thus we are reminded of changes time is making in all communities. Of the people in Lowell to-day, who will be here in 1928, twenty-six years more?

The Village is laying cement crosswalks east and north of Hotel Waverly.

Thomas & Giles bought and shipped their first peaches for 1903 Monday. They were of the Alexander variety.

FACTORY NOT SOLD YET.

SOME DOUBT OF COUNCIL'S POWER TO SELL

Public Property Without Submitting Question to Popular Vote.

The Village Council held a very interesting session Monday night, the story of which is completely told in the official proceedings elsewhere in this paper. The transfer of the Woolen mill property has not yet been made. Some doubt has arisen about the legality of such a sale by the Council without having submitted the matter to popular vote. President VanDyke stands ready to make the transfer as soon as he is satisfied of his right to do so; and in the meantime is waiting for a competent legal opinion in the matter.

On the streets a wide divergence of opinion is heard, some tax payers being in favor of making the sale and others as vigorously oppose holding the factory as an inducement to some manufacturing industry to locate here, as originally intended.

Under the circumstances, it would seem right to give the people an opportunity to express their wishes in the matter.

Northwestern Man Killed by a Fall

Mortimer, son of William Perrin, and grandchild of Wm. P. Perrin, of Lowell, was killed in Grand Rapids yesterday, by a fall from a second story window, which he was washing, to the stone sidewalk, his skull being crushed. He was 14 years old.

The remains will be brought to Lowell for interment.

Don't Fail To Try This.

Whenever an honest trial is given to Electric Bitters for any trouble it is recommended for a permanent cure will be effected. It never fails to tone the stomach, regulate the kidney and bowels, stimulate the liver, invigorate nerves and purify the blood. It is a wonderful tonic for run down systems. Electric bitters positively cures kidney and liver troubles, stomach disorders, nervousness, sleeplessness, rheumatism, neuralgia and expels malaria. Satisfaction guaranteed by D. G. Look. Only 50c.

Belding, July 20.—A destructive hail storm here this afternoon did considerable damage to the gardens of residents in the north part of the village. Fruit trees were badly dealt with and fruit was damaged. Many panes of glass were broken in residence and store windows. The path of the storm was about 40 rods wide and it was the most severe in character ever had here.

SHIRT WAIST SALE AT WEEKES'.

Why We Do It.

A dilatory season is responsible for this sharp price cutting on Shirt Waists. We were forehanded in buying, slightly over so, considering the way spring weather has hung fire. We are not getting anxious, just a little spiteful against the weather, and we are venting our temper on shirt waist prices. It is a bargain chance for you. All our 50c waists for 33c. All our $1.00 waists for 68c.

Pretty Sharp Price Cutting.

"Never look a gift horse in the mouth." The wise man who originated that saying snapped a bargain when he saw it and asked no questions. We make the following surprising prices on Shirt waists, not to create a sensation, but to hustle off the goods in a hurry. You will find these styles all that correct shirt waists should be, only the price is off. All our 88c waists for 50c. All our $1.25 waists for 75c. All our $1.50 waists for 98c.

Hang It! Hang What? A Hammock. We are selling good ones cheap.

A Cornerstown correspondent writes: "Miss Jennie Joyle of Grand Rapids spent Sunday at home." Now, if Miss Joyle is "of Grand Rapids" her home is there, and it is certainly not worthy of note that she spent Sunday at home. Millions of people do that every Sunday. Probably the correspondent meant to convey that Miss Joyle of Grand Rapids spent Sunday at her former home at Cornerstown. The above item is of the sort that was ridiculed by the Chicago Record-Herald recently. Another correspondent insists that Jack Jenkins "Sundied" in Jacksonsville, in spite of repeated suggestions as to the incorrectness of the term.

The Telephone.
It has not been many years since a noted scientist, in an exhaustive article, satisfied himself and thousands of others that the telephone could never be brought into practical use. To-day it is estimated there are 2,278,000 telephones in use in the United States alone. No man attempts to do business now without the aid of the 'phone. Business is transacted over the telephone, although the parties are separated by thousands of miles. The home and the office are brought together by means of the telephone. These instruments have now invaded the country districts, and the telephone and the free delivery of mail are going hand in hand. Here in Ohio thousands of farmers have the telephone in their homes, and they find it of immense advantage in a business and social way, and yet the telephone is not many years old.—Toledo Blade.
At Law Since 1856.
The Melbourne law courts have their Miss Fite, a character immortalized by Dickens in "Bleak House." An elderly woman may frequently be seen in the corridors, addressing the empty air—sometimes in passionate tones with outstretched arms, and again in low, threatening mutterings. During the progress of an argument in the county court, before Acting Judge Johnston, some reference was made to the absence of evidence on a certain point. Suddenly the court was startled at hearing a female cry out in irate tones: "I have given plenty of evidence since '56!" A glance around showed that the interrupter was the old lady of the corridors, who was advancing with determination toward the barristers' table.—London Globe.

Valley Forge.
My impression had been that Valley Forge was a wild glen high among the mountains, where winter frosts and snows held unrelaxing sway for many long, dark months every year. But really its situation is neither lofty nor remote, and the rigors of the cold are not nearly what they would be in our more northerly states. Comparatively little snow falls, and often there is not a week's sleighing the winter through. The valley is only 23 miles from Philadelphia, with which it has direct communication by a railroad that skirts along the Schuylkill river.—Clifton Johnson, in Woman's Home Companion.

A Royal Dislike for Finery.
The young empress of Russia, it is said, cares little or nothing about jewels, or, indeed, about any kind of finery, and in this respect presents a striking contrast to her mother-in-law, the still young-looking and even pretty Marie Feodorovna, whose jewel casket in the days when she was empress was the most famous in the world from a gem point of view, hardly second even in the matter of pearls to the collection of the empress of Austria.—Chicago Record-Herald.
