VOL. XI, NO. 23

LOWELL LODGE AT HOME TO TWO HUNDRED FRIENDS.

Fine Social, Musical and Entertaluing Event.

The reception tendered by Lowell Lodge, No. 90 F. & A. M., at their hall Friday evening, to their brother masons in the surrounding vicinity, their wives, and members of the O. E. S., was a success from every point of view.

L. S., what a success from every point of view. About 200 guests were present, in-cluding people from Clarksville, Sara-nac, Keene, Vergennes and other neighboring towns, and from appear-ance it is safe to say that each and everyone thoroughly enjoyed them-selves from "start to finish." On entering, the guests were wel-comed by the reception committee: Messrs, and Mesdames W. A. Watts, H. W. Hakes, M. C. Greene and S. Brower and Mrs. W. S. Winegar and C. G. Stone and after removing wraps were ushered into the hall where chairs were provided for all. Beauti-full bouquets of carnations and chrysanthemums were seen on every side.

chrysanthemums were seen on every side.
When all had arrived, Worshipful Master Watts called order and the program of the evening opened with a selection from the orchestra, which was made up of the following gentlemen: Planoist, R. D. Stocking; cornetist, Elmer White, clarinet, H. A. Sherman; flute, Arthur Sherman; violinist, Ray Gates.
Mr. Watts then made a few introductory remarks, stating the object of the gathering and announced J. B. Nicholson, who responded with an address of welcome.
Song by the following quartette: Mesdames Peckham, and Look and Messrs. Winegar and Hicks. A recitation followed by Miss Audie Post and a bass solo by Geo. M. Winegar, who responded to an encore. Mr. Watts then introduced the youngest Masonic brother, Rev. J. H. Westbrook, who made a brief address, and then Mrs. Emma Greene read a paper on "Friendship."
At this point, Mr. Watts announced that refreshments would be served in the dining room, and while part of the company filled the tables the remaining ones were liberally entertained by the orchestra. In the dining room, as elsewhere, the gentlemen showed themselves equal to the occasion, and no one was allowed to leave the table hungry:

After all had parta^ven, the remain-der of the program was carried out. Music by the orchestra, a recitation by Miss Donna Wisner, a few re-marks by Rev. Chas. Nease and an-other song by the quartet. Then the guests moved about the rooms, finding old acquaintances and making new ones, until a late hour, loth to leave the pleasant spot; and when, finally, they united in singing that expressive old hymn, "God be With You till We Meet Again," and the goodbyes were spoken, many were the expressions of pleasure and appreciation and many were the
