OFFICIAL PAPER

LOWELL, MICHIGAN, THURSDAY, MARCH 30, 1905

AVERAGE CIRCULATION IN 1904 1359

THE STEADY increase in our business shows that still more of the good people are opening accounts with us. We are daily adding new names to our already long list of depositors. There must be some good reason for all this. What is it? It is this: They have found that the road to wealth is by the way of the bank account, and that we, by our uniformly conservative methods, our courteous treatment of our customers, our desire to aid our depositors, our unprecedented growth and strength, and the popularity of our savings department have proven that this is the place to open that account.

STATE AID POSSIBLE

FOR PUBLIC WAGON ROADS IF YOU VOTE "YES"

April 3, on the Amendment to the Constitution.

Resolved by the Senate and House of the State of Michigan, that the following amendment to the Constitution of the State of Michigan be, and the same is hereby, proposed and submitted to the people of the State, that is to say, that section nine of article fourteen of said Constitution be amended so as to read as follows:

SECTION 9. The State shall not be a party to, or engage in, any work or internal improvement, nor engaged in carry on any such work except [IN THE IMPROVEMENT OF OR AIDING IN THE IMPROVEMENT OF THE PUBLIC WAGON ROADS] and in the expenditure of grants to the State of land or other property.

If a majority of the voters, vote yes, on the following, the amendment will be adopted; if a majority vote no, it will be defeated.

Amendment to the Constitution relative to the State aiding in the improvement of the Public Wagon Roads. [YES] [X].

Amendment to the Constitution relative to the State aiding in the improvement of the Public Wagon Roads. [NO] [].

In all probability the United States will grant national aid toward the expense of building good roads. Michigan's Constitution absolutely prohibits the State from having anything to do with such a project. Michigan's share of the appropriation that is planned by the Brownlow-Lattimer bill is $702,000; then if we do not change our constitution this money will go to the states that do not have such a prohibitive clause in their constitution.

Then a YES vote means in all probability $702,000 for Michigan, a NO vote means that this will go to other states.

Farmers should vote YES, for it means better roads at the cost of everybody, instead of at the expense of the farmer alone, as it is today.

Business men should vote YES, for the better the roads the more even is trade, and the more even trade is the more economically can business be carried on, for it is far better to have some trade all of the time than a rush in dry time and no trade in mud time.

Working men should vote YES, for it means public improvement all over Michigan, and the more work there is to do, the greater the demand for men, and the greater the demand, the better the wages.

If the amendment is adopted, prison labor can be utilized in crushing stone for roads, and every day's work for the convict in crushing stone will create another day's work to do, to apply it to the road.

Then the convict will be working for the laborer instead of against him, and then the honest work that the convicts are now doing can be given to the honest family supporting men to do.

Nobody on the green earth but what will be benefited by better Public Wagon Roads, then for heaven's sake VOTE YES.

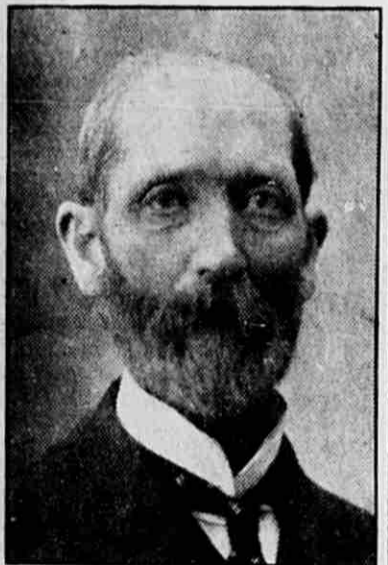

HORATIO S. EARLE,
State Highway Commissioner.

OBITUARY.

John R. Scott died Tuesday morning at two o'clock at his home in this village, after an illness of three months. Funeral services were held at the house this afternoon at two-thirty, conducted by Rev. Chas. Nease of Grand Rapids. Burial was at Oakwood cemetery, under the auspices of the Lowell lodge of Odd Fellows.

He was born in Grattan, Feb. 18, 1863. He was married to Miss Mary Wright at Belding, Feb. 19, 1886.

They moved to this village in December, 1891, and have since made their home here. He was brought up on a farm, and when a young man learned the blacksmith's trade, which he has since followed. He was a kind and indulgent husband, a good and generous friend and neighbor and made a good many friends. He never forgot his early religious training, and during all the suffering of his lingering illness he was patient and uncomplaining. Only a few hours before his death he rallied and recognized his beloved mother at his bedside. He leaves the following relatives to mourn his death: his wife; father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Scott of Fallsburg; two brothers, Omer of Alto and Will, of Grattan; two sisters, Mrs. Ira Potruff of Fallsburg and Mrs. Grover Sears of Grattan.

The "Queen of Purity" Cold Air Cream Separator and Aerator.

1st. It has the best cooling process of any separator on earth for these reasons: It has a COLD AIR TUBE TAKES IN THE AIR AT THE BOTTOM or the lower side of the can and is carried upwardly and discharged under the cover. You can see at a glance the cold air tube is surrounded with water, cooling the air as it passes upwardly through the tube and there it is discharged, making a circulation of pure cold air, which drives the animal heat, odors and all impurities from the milk, aerating and at the same time cooling the milk faster than any other way.

We use a CONVEXED VENTILATING COVER which covers both compartments, leaving the two compartments open to each other, therefore the water will absorb all impurities of the milk that have not already been carried off by our Cold Air Circulation Process.

Only the best material used in the construction of these Separators.

From Our Point of View.

Dr. Winsor in his lecture charges that everybody dislikes to pay taxes and that the school tax is the most begrudged of all. With all due respect to the Boston gentlemen, we think his word-painting of the close-fisted taxpayer more truly depicts the frugal New Englander than his stony, mountain-side farm than it does the thrifty Michigan granger with his broad and fertile acres. There are exceptions of course, but as a rule the school tax, which is usually half the entire levy, is cheerfully paid; and the grumbling heard is not because of taxation but because of the excessive taxation, because the villager with his little house and lot and the farmer with all his property spread out to view, are assessed vastly more in proportion than the rich man with his stocks and his money, who hides half his property and swears in the rest at half its value. Many times we have seen the childless or people whose children had long since left school, go on year after year paying taxes that their neighbors who have had them declare that it was gladly done. We call to mind one dear old man, who in early life lost both of his legs, was worked on cork substitutes for thirty years, whose farm was mortgaged beyond recovery, and whose helpful children died just as they reached manhood and womanhood. All those years he stood up at the annual school meeting and advocated liberal appropriations and improved facilities, while he himself needed new cork legs, which he never got and is now past using. Dr. Winsor's tirade against the money tax is no more than an insult to such noble men, who are scattered all over our land, from Maine to California and from the Lakes to the Gulf. Wastefulness and extravagance in school expenditures are no more than a nuisance than niggardliness, and a school with a thousand dollar teacher paid $2,000 is worse off than one which simply pays him what he is worth. Dr. Winsor is capable of doing much for the cause of education, but his usefulness will be enhanced if he will bear in mind that homely old saying: "You can catch more fish with molasses than with vinegar."

The death of Jules Verne, the universally known novelist, re-creative interest in the prophetic work, "Twenty-Three and Leagues Under the Sea," which scientifically demonstrated the possibilities of the modern submarine boat thirty years prior to its fulfillment. When this book came out in 1873, the writer—then a small boy—heard a man say of it: "I have just been reading the greatest lie that ever was written." If the man that lives, he has seen the great "lie" become a reality, which shows how the dreams and visions of one generation may become the common-place realities of another. We question the truth of an editorial statement in the Grand Rapids Press, that "Old Jules Verne has died in the midst of a generation that scarcely knew him," and that "he had outlived his day and his fame." When the world forgets its old prophets, it may forget Verne. Until then, his name and fame are secure.

SENATOR RUSSELL wants a State jail care establishment. The time to save drunkards is before they are made. The way to stop jugs is to stop the jug factories. You might as well try to dam a Grand river flood with a shoveful of mud as to cure the drink habit when it "Bleth like a serpent and stingeth like an adder."

PROTESTS from far and near are heard against the acceptance by the American Board of Foreign Missions of John D. Rockefeller's gift of $100,000; but the Board will accept just the same. There's an old-fashioned notion that who shares in the profits of thievery is as bad as the thief. Thank God for old-fashioned people and their notions.

MIGHTY fast is the way the Legislature is saving our Ferris tower for 1906. The plug-uglies who are fighting primary reform should remember that "Theodore Roosevelt will not pull them out of the slough of despond on the next day of reckoning." Said that the President will appeal to the people for aid in his fight with the Senate for much-needed reforms. He believes the masses are with him; and he is right.

Smith's Potato Bread

It Sells For 5c

It is the sweetest, purest, most wholesome bread made. It will keep moist and fresh twenty-four hours longer than any other bread sold on the market.

HOW IT IS MADE.

We make it from No. 1 hard wheat flour, adding mashed potatoes in just the right quantity to produce that sweet, nutty flavor that is so highly esteemed by the housewife.

Then comes the baking.

We have an oven that is peculiarly adapted to this kind of baking. It does not dry it out nor does it burn it, but bakes it to a beautiful golden brown color.

I honestly believe, in my twenty-five years' experience—man and boy—that it is the best, sweetest and most wholesome bread I have ever made.

We make it fresh every day and it is for sale by all the grocers.

Read what others say about Potato Bread

Chas. Alexander, Grocer.
My customers insist upon having Potato Bread and won't have any other. I use it at home and my folks say "it's great." I can't say too much in praise of it.

R. VanDyke, says:—
Potato Bread is a winner. I never saw bread that would keep fresh and sweet so long. Our trade in potato bread is increasing. I don't know why women will bake bread when they can buy such a fine article as this for 5c. Be sure and keep our case full.

Foster, the grocer, says:—
You can say for me that it is O. K. Our trade on Potato Bread is increasing, the people like it.

McCarty & Henry, say:—
Potato Bread is our best seller. Another thing—it keeps fresh better than any other bread.

A. L. Weyrick, says:—
If it was not the best bread in town I certainly should not sell it. Only first class stuff goes in this market.

G. W. Bangs, Says:—
We have a good trade in Potato Bread, personally I think it is the sweetest bread I ever tasted.

Matt Connelly, of the Imperial restaurant, says:—
I use Potato Bread in my restaurant and my boarders all like it, in fact they kick if they don't get it.

Mrs. Harkness, Hotel Central, says:—
My boarders all praise your Potato Bread.

John Giles & Co., say:—
We like it and our customers like it. Potato Bread is certainly a winner.
